SUMMARY.

The statement that King Leopold agreed to aid Germany to invade France is said to have been confirmed.

Doctors consider that the outbreak of plague in Manchuria is the most contagious and virulent in the world's history.

There are scarcely any recoveries, and the Yersin serum has no effect.

Twenty-six bodies were found along the railway south of Tientsin.

Cholera has broken out among the troops at Hodeida, in Yemen, Arabia.

A feature of the discussions at London bank meetings is the depreciation in Consols.

Speakers urged the popularising of the securities. Lord St. Aldwyn favoured £5 bonds, issuable at post-offices.

The "Morning Post" ridicules the Liberal assertions that the dominions are turning from imperial reciprocity.

Six persons were killed and 12 injured by a gas explosion at a steel works in France.

The North German Lloyd steamers Oldenburg and Darmstadt have been sold to Turkey for troopships.

The death rate of children in England and Wales for 1910 was 10.6 per thousand.

The figures represent a saving of 151,000 lives during the year, as compared with the death rate in 1904.

On Anniversary Day Sir George Reid addressed a meeting of commercial men in London.

A steam trawler cut a vessel in two near Olhao, on the south coast of Portugal, and 11 persons were drowned.

Four masked men rang the door-bell of an apartment of a house in New York, then entered and looted it.

The Ihumata, the new vessel of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, has been launched at Antwerp.

The French Government has ordered 70 large locomotives in Glasgow.

A secret court-martial at Constantinople has exiled three democrats for libelling Ministers.

Richard Strauss has attained a great success at Dresden with his new comic opera, "Rosenkavallier."

Playing in a billiard match at Cardiff, George Gray made a break of 1092.

Madame Melba is now in London. She has recovered from her recent illness.

The death is announced of the Rev. Dr. John Paton, at the age of 81.

In London on Thursday bar silver was quoted at 2/0¾ per oz standard.

Speaking at Mudgee the Minister for Defence said that other countries were arming to the teeth.

Teeming countries were within eight days' sail of Australia, and their vast populations were on the verge of subsistence.

"Why should Australia," he asked, "be exempt from the price nations had to pay for being worth conquering?"

Unsuccessful attempts have been made to float the steamer Eastern, which is aground in Moreton Bay (Q.).

Upwards of 70 tons of rice has been thrown overboard.

At the German Consulate-General yesterday a reception was held in celebration of the birthday of the Emperor.

In the cricket match New South Wales v Victoria, the home team made 337 in the first innings.

M'Elhone contributed 101, and Bardsley 78. When stumps were drawn Victoria's score was no wickets for seven.

On her last trip from Sydney to Melbourne the A.U.S.N. Company's Arawatta encountered very stormy weather.

Big billows broke over the vessel and flooded the decks.

During the last few days the rainfall has been almost general east of the Darling.

The totals were greatest, however, on the coast. Byron Bay had 1084 points, Bodalla 880, and Seal Rocks 687.

The weather on the New South Wales coast yesterday continued squally, with rough seas.

The Union Steamship Company intends to equip all its passenger steamers with wireless telegraphy.

The French cruiser Montcalm arrived at Melbourne yesterday from Sydney.

A 900-acre wheat crop has been destroyed by fire at Tourello (Victoria).

Passengers from Manly to Sydney had a very rough passage on Friday morning.

The builders' labourers in Brisbane are still on strike.

At Collarendabri a lad named Rolls was savagely attacked by a young horse he was holding.

The total quantity of coal exported from Newcastle during the week amounted to 67,139 tons.

Several of the old directors failed to secure reelection to the board of the Australian Bank of Commerce.

The bush fires which have been raging in Mildura (Vic.) were yesterday extinguished by rain.

A lad named Burchell, who had been missing from Mirboo (Vic.) since Monday last, has been found.

After being in an unconscious condition for two months Mrs. F. E. Stevens died in St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday.

Deceased was crossing Oxford-street on November 28, when she was knocked down by a motor car.

John Whittaker (16) was thrown from a horse yesterday at Ipswich (Q.) and killed.

A large volume of business was transacted on the Stock Exchange yesterday at full late rates.

Business in the Import market was brisk, groceries having very large attention at quoted rates.

The oil market was very firm, linseed and turps again advancing.

An unexpected feature of the Mining market was a buoyant movement in copper stocks.

There was very little action in the Produce markets, but quotations were unaltered.

Forecast.—Rain, clearing to the north-east, and becoming temporarily fine. Thunder and rain developing inland; north-easterly winds.

Farmers are heavy losers by the Bathurst Waterspout. Mr. John Soden lost £200 worth of crops.

The value of minerals other than gold, coal, or precious stones, won in Queensland last quarter, was £414,432.

The Queensland Minister for Railways has approved of an expenditure of £124,870 on further rolling stock.

At Christchurch (N.Z.), Orlowski lowered the Australasian paced cycle records previously held by "Plugger" Bill Martin.

The Premier of Tasmania (Sir Elliott Lewis) will represent that State at the Coronation.

The Broken Hill reservoir has risen 1ft 10in. All fears of a water famine are thus ended.

Tomaso Compagnoni, a well-known caterer, was found dead yesterday in an outhouse at Oatley.

A two-days' cricket match between a Hamilton (Vic.) sixteen and the South Africans was commenced yesterday.

A young Victorian engineer has invented and built a bi-plane. He has made several successful flights.

Farmers at Wollongong are experiencing the greatest difficulty in getting competent dairy labour.

The body of Stephen Moodie, father of Olive Moodie, was exhumed at Avoca yesterday.

The internal organs and brain were in an excellent state of preservation.

There is a proposal in Western Australia to appoint a Royal Commission to inquire into the timber industry.

The P.L.L. Conference last night discussed the referendum proposals, and almost unanimously decided to support them.

TWO-PIECE FLANNEL SUITS

READY FOR WEAR, 25s.

February is a hot month—and it's a changeable month.

It's these changes that make it needful for a man to dress so that he will be cool in the heat and run no risk of chill when a sudden change happens along.

Flannel is the one material that answers this requirement—its woolly nature protects one from chill, while its rapid absorption and evaporation of moisture keeps the body cool and equable.

We have suits of a very fine range of silver, dark, and middle grey Flannel—also in subdued tones of Browns and Greens that you'll find very suitable for February wear.

PRICE 25s.

PAST AND PRESENT.

Good as the engines were that we built a few years back, at the inception of the industry, the engines we build now are better, because they have been kept STRICTLY UP TO DATE, abreast of every real improvement in the science of motor construction.

Not only that—we have also added many new types, so that we can meet ANY demand. Here are some of types:—

Model "K."—Slow Speed. Heavy Duty. Four-Cycle. Two-Cylinder. 15 H.P., 25 H.P., and 40 H.P.
Model "S."—Slow Speed. Heavy Duty. Four-Cycle. Four Cylinder. 30 H.P., 50 H.P., and 80 H.P.
Model "R."—Slow Speed. Heavy Duty. Four-Cycle. Single Cylinder. 3-4 H.P., 4-6 H.P., 6-8 H.P.
Model "W."—Medium Speed. Four-Cycle. Double Cylinder. 9-12 H.P., 15-20 H.P., and 21-28 H.P.
Model "W."—Medium Speed. Four-Cycle. Four Cylinder. 25 H.P.
Model "O."—Medium Speed. Four-Cycle. Double Cylinder. 6-8 H.P.
Model "P."—Slow Speed. Heavy Duty. Double Cylinder. Four-Cycle. 10-14 H.P.

Besides these, there are types adapted to special purposes, a complete range of excellent two-cycle engines, a long list of stationary engines for farm and station use, for running chaffcutters, shearing machines, etc., and combined sets for pumping or electric lighting.

If you are interested in any of these lines write to us for illustrated price lists, giving specifications and all details.

The fact that in the last eighteen months we have TREBLED OUR STAFF, and that in the last twelve months we have DOUBLED OUR TURNOVER, is EMPHATIC TESTIMONY to the good work we are doing, and the general satisfaction we are giving.

NIAGARA MARINE MOTORS.

ACTIONS LOUDER THAN WORDS.

The following facts speak for themselves:—The launch Niagara, fitted with one of these motors, has started this season in five events under the direction of the Motor Boat Club of N.S.W., gaining first place on three occasions, and second the other two. Could anything better exemplify power and reliability?

REDUCTION OF FARES TO APPRENTICES AND OTHERS.

COMMENCING MONDAY, 30th JANUARY.

It is notified for public information that on and after the above date apprentices and others of both sexes under sixteen years of age may on production of an application form signed by their employer and parent or guardian obtain tickets at concession rates to enable them to travel from their homes to place of employment once daily.

Fare for any portion or whole of journey not exceeding four sections (by Apprentice Ticket only), 1d.

Concession rates only available on trams reaching any termini not later than 8.30 a.m.

Forms of application, giving particulars as to age, address, and place of employment, and signed by the applicant, employer, and parent or guardian, must be furnished quarterly, and a certificate obtained in exchange for same, which must be shown to Conductors when paying fares with Apprentice Tram Tickets.

Only one purchase of tickets per quarter can be arranged, tickets to be purchased in advance. Maximum not to exceed the number of week-days in the quarter, or pro rata if first purchase is made after the commencement of the quarter.

Tickets may be obtained at the Tramway Offices, 61 Hunter-street; all Tramway Depots; City Booking Office, Sydney; and Railway Stations, Newcastle, Honeysuckle Point, Parramatta, Burwood, Ashfield, Arncliffe, and Kogarah.

Forms of application are now procurable at the Offices and Railway Stations named above, where further particulars as to conditions, etc., may be obtained.

The Morning Telegraph, New York, Thursday, Oct. 13, says:—
"The 'Seven Days' engagement is one of the most phenomenal in more recent theatrical history, because of late years long runs have not been so frequent as in the times when there were but few theatres and a few popular players. Within the last ten years there have come and gone other farces acclaimed with outbursts of praise equalled to that showered upon 'Seven Days,' yet a few months at most have sufficed to give the metropolitan public its fill of them. Granted that 'Seven Days' possesses a high order of merit of its class, that fact alone does not explain the unyielding hold it has had upon Manhattan. The play possesses that indescribable something which is as puzzling as electricity, and which all theatrical managers hope to make theirs at least once during their careers. For, once found, a fortune is assured."

A CONVINCING PHOTO ARGUMENT.

WE WANT TO BRING IT HOME TO YOU, clearly and unmistakably, that our remarkable success in business, which has enabled us to grow from the humblest proportions, five years ago, to

OUR PRESENT COLOSSAL DIMENSIONS, indicated by the fact that our Studios now occupy half the Third Floor of the giant Queen Victoria Markets, and constantly employ nearly

ONE HUNDRED HANDS,

is due to the excellent value and sterling workmanship of our Rococo Portraiture, as presented for years past in our

12 CABINET ROCOCO PHOTOGRAPHS

(TOGETHER WITH A HANDSOME FRAMED ENLARGEMENT) FOR HALF A GUINEA.

This unquestionable instance of our low tariff will be found repeated in all our other styles and grades of portraiture, in each of which

WE ADHERE TO BEDROCK RATES,

rigidly relying upon a large turnover to recoup us, rather than exploit our customers for their last penny. The truth of this is evidenced in the constant stream of visitors to our Studios and our universal popularity.

ART PHOTOGRAPHS AT A REDUCTION.

We are known all over Australasia as producers of photographs of superior quality, but in order to further popularise our work we are making the following offer for a limited period:—

FOR THE SMALL SUM OF 10/6 WE WILL SUPPLY A DOZEN SPLENDID CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS AND A BEAUTIFUL 10IN X 18IN ENLARGEMENT, MOUNTED ON A FIRST-CLASS PLATE-SUNK MOUNT. OR YOU CAN HAVE A DOZEN SUPERIOR PARIS PANEL PHOTOGRAPHS AND A LIFELIKE ENLARGEMENT FOR ONLY 20/.

We are also making liberal concessions on all our prices for High-class Portraiture. Come in to-day and have your photograph taken, or make an appointment for a sitting by telephone, Central 2014. We are open all day on Saturday.

PROSPECTUS FOR SEASON, 1911,
OF THE
SYDNEY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SYDNEY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
Conductor, JOSEPH BRADLEY.
Owing to the largely increased success of this Orchestra, it has been decided to extend the field of operations so that the coming season will consist of
SIX TOWN HALL MATINEES,
Which will be held as usual on Saturday afternoons, commencing early in April. A series of glorious Orchestral Programmes will be found to contain Standard Works and many important novelties. Special attention is directed to the Fourth Concert on June 16, in conjunction with the Famous SHEFFIELD CHOIR, the finest body of Choristers in the World. Intending Subscribers will please note that the price of seats for this Concert will be 10s 6d. SUBSCRIBERS WILL, HOWEVER, RECEIVE THEIR TICKETS AT THE USUAL RATE.

The ORCHESTRA will consist of 75 players, carefully selected from the best Orchestral and Solo Artists in Sydney, and, it is believed, will this year excel even the high standard attained last season. The most EMINENT SOLO ARTISTS available will also be secured.
The following FIRST PERFORMANCES will be rendered during the season:—
Kaiser March .... Wagner
Klingsor's Magic Garden .... Wagner
Siegfried's Journey to the Rhine .... Wagner
Symphony No. 3 in C Minor .... St. Saens
Romanza—Eine Kleine Nachtmusik .... Mozart
March Marocaine .... Berlioz
Overture—Benvenuto Cellini .... Berlioz
Ninth (Choral) Symphony .... Bethoven
(In Conjunction with the SHEFFIELD CHOIR.)
Suite—Raymonda .... Glazounoff
Overture—In the South .... Elgar
Symphony—Harold in Italy .... Berlioz
Fantasia—Francesca da Rimini .... Tschaikowsky

CHAPTER X.—Continued.

"If I go to prison he will go also," she responded. "He is ignorant of the true extent of my knowledge."

Jervoise was silent for a few moments. They had nearly arrived at the new hotel on the summit of the Canford Cliffs.

"And as regards the connection of Grinevitch with this man?" he asked presently. "What is your surmise?"

She looked at him quickly. The mention of Paul's name reawakened all those terrible suspicions within her heart.

"How can I surmise anything?" she stammered, in an endeavour to evade his question.

"What connection had Grinevitch with Bourtzeff?" he asked.

"They were both Russian," she said, "and they were friends."

"How do you know that?"

"Because, when Grinevitch arrived at Semmering, Bourtzeff recognised him in the hotel garden, and coming to me quickly, declared that neither of us must be seen. Don't you recollect that we both suddenly disappeared from the hotel, and were absent four or five days? He evidently did not wish to meet the new arrival."

"It seems much as though Grinevitch had made his peace with Bourtzeff, and intended to join him."

"Certainly. That is my theory."

"You have no knowledge of the relations which previously existed between the two men?" asked Jervoise, recollecting how vigilant had been her watch upon the house in Keppel-street, and how, from the first moment, she had been ready to assist him in prosecuting his inquiry.

She hesitated. On her part she was still suspicious that the story he had told her regarding the events in Christiania was not exactly the correct one. He loved Thyra, and had been the bitter enemy of Grinevitch.

Alza Dresler was a girl of exceptionally keen intellect. To practise any deception upon her was, indeed, difficult, for her own life was wholly a fraud and a deception. In Dick's story she had from the very first recognised a flaw. He had not told her everything, and that fact piqued her; for was she not his friend, was she not acting wholly and entirely in his interests, acting in disregard of her own peril, performing for him a service in return for his own generosity when he had caught her a thief redhanded?

"Bourtzeff was evidently in fear lest your friend should recognise him," the girl remarked at last. Then, when they paused together in their walk a few moments later, she turned her eyes to his again, saying:

"You were very devoted to Helene Marquet in those days, M'sieur Dick. What happened afterwards? She no longer sings her song, 'Ma Fanchonette,' I suppose? Do you remember how fond you were of it!

Ma Fanchonnette,
Svelte et simplette.

Revets tes atours gracieux:
A la folie,
Faiste jolie,
Et le charme de tous les yeux.

And she glanced again into her companion's troubled face.

"Yes," he answered, in a thick, husky voice. "I remember, alas! I remember only too well."

"And you are recollecting—as I, alas! am recollecting—those moments when you found me in her salon," she said, in a slow, pensive voice.

"No, Alza; I am not," he protested. "No. That is a memory long past and forgotten. I am thinking of something else—of what happened afterwards."

"And what did happen?" she inquired, recognising from his drawn features that whatever was the memory it was a painful one. "I know that you and Paul Grinevitch were rivals in Helene's affections."

He started, staring at her.

"How did you know that?" he gasped.

"I overheard your quarrel in the hotel on the day I returned," she answered frankly.

He stood rigid, as though turned to stone. Even she, the woman criminal and a thief though she be, had become suspicious—she was reading in his eyes the tragic truth!

"Where is Helene?" repeated the girl, without affecting to notice his agitation.

"Surely you know? Why ask me?" he protested, in the same hoarse voice.

"I do not know. I have never seen her since you and she left Semmering."

He was silent, his face turned to the low-lying coast across Poole Harbour.

"Helene is dead," he answered in a low tone, scarce above a whisper.

"Dead!"

"Ah, yes, Alza," he cried despairingly. "You knew her—you knew that she was once my dearest friend; therefore you may know the end. That winter she went to her villa on the hillside at Beaulieu, while I lived at the Bristol, down on the bay. She went there to rest, prior to fulfilling an engagement in New York. Well—how shall I explain it! Paul Grinevitch came unexpectedly, and lied to her about me, as he had lied before. In consequence I was dismissed. She, to whom I was devoted, gave me my conge, and Paul usurped my place in her affections. He proved heartless and cruel, like all his race, who would rule their women with the knout. I know it, for she wrote me a pitiful letter of farewell, and in it told me the painful truth. I have that letter now, Alza," he added, looking straight at the girl who stood facing him. "The hand that penned it was, half-an-hour later, lifeless! She took her own life with chloral, because Grinevitch—the accursed blackguard that he was—had wrecked her life and afterwards deserted her!"

"And that man," remarked the girl in a slow voice, full of hidden meaning, "has received his deserts! The debt is paid."

CHAPTER XI.

ON THE RIPLEY ROAD.

Owen Odd worked hard through the early part of March, for it was his busiest season. An epidemic of influenza had again broken out, and in all the districts of the metropolitan area that of Hammersmith was the most affected.

Therefore, being out both night and day, he saw but little of Dick, who, seated in his high-up flat on the opposite side of the long suspension bridge, pursued his studies.

He ran up to Perthshire for a fortnight's curling, and to play in a match on Corsbreck, but returned earlier than he intended, for Thyra was still in London, and he longed to be again beside her.

Their constant association constituted in itself a grave danger. They were both only too well aware of that. Yet somehow there existed a magnetic attraction which drew them towards each other. Those grey eyes held him in fascination now just as they had done on the first evening they had met.

Whatever suspicions aroused in the mind of Jorgen Berentsen by Peter Sundt had apparently been allayed by Dick's frank, open manner. Only Jorgen knew of Sundt's presence in London. The man, living at his ease in the best suite at the Ritz, had extracted a solemn promise from Jorgen to tell no one of his whereabouts, hinting as the reason that in the city were some busy speculators who were worrying him to sell his fishing interests in the north to a public company, and who if they knew him to be in London would allow him no peace.

Hence, old Jorgen kept the secret, and had not even told his widowed daughter.

There being a spell of dry, frosty weather, Dick had on a good many occasions hired a motor car, and taken Thyra and her father for runs to various places around London, such as Hitchin, St. Albans, Chelmsford, Guildford, and down to the Metropole at Brighton.

To the girl-widow, who had spent most of her days in the bleak Arctic, motoring along those country roads was a new sensation, in which she delighted. Hitherto her only experience had been that of taxi-cabs, but in a "forty" the run was so much more exciting and exhilarating.

The old whaler, too, grew fond of travelling by car, and many pleasant days were thus passed together. Father and daughter had decided to remain on in London till the warmer weather, the old fellow having obtained further leave of absence from his post as harbour-master.

The character of the mysterious "business" upon which he was so often absent from Talbot-road was never revealed. The truth was, however, that, aided by Sundt, both financially and otherwise, he was making diligent inquiries in Russia concerning the antecedents of Paul Grinevitch.

Peter had telegraphed to his agent at St. Petersburg, and in consequence the man had duly arrived at the Ritz. Then, after several interviews, at which Jorgen was present, the Russian had received instructions to proceed to Tula, Kiev, and other places, and make inquiries. The result of these both men were now awaiting.

Notwithstanding the grave suspicion cast upon Richard Jervoise by Peter, the old captain, nevertheless, liked him. He had taken to him from the very first day when Martin had introduced him at Vardo.

On several occasions, when he had arrived at Talbot-road with the car, Dick had found that the Captain was unavoidably absent "on business," but Thyra was always there to welcome him warmly. Of late she had, it seemed, grown fonder of his company than hitherto, though at times he was quick to notice the slightly thoughtful frown which clouded her white brow.

One morning, when he called with the car, and found the Captain out, he proposed that they should wait till his return after luncheon. But she pointed out that it would be too late to go for a run of any length, and suggested that they should travel down to Guildford and lunch together at the inn where they had lunched a week previously.

This they did, going by way of Kingston and Ripley, duly arriving at the inn, where they had a pleasant tete-a-tete meal, no one else happening to be present.

After a few sentences on indifferent matters when the waiter had left, the pair had fallen silent. They exchanged glances, but Thyra spoke within herself, as was her habit, and made note of a sudden and sad discovery. Dick was changed! No; this time it really was not mere fancy! He was changed.

She became puzzled. What could it mean? She held her breath when she recollected all the past—that bitter, never-to-be-forgotten past.

She sighed for that free life at Vardo, with the fresh wind from the ice-pack, those rolling, open seas, and the brilliant Northern lights that so often lit the sky. Ah, how happy was her life there! How very different from that stifled existence on a drawing-room floor at Bayswater.

And yet? She looked into her companion's face, and her gaze wavered. And yet, alas! there was that bond which she could not now break!

He was proposing to take her father and herself to a play at the Garrick on the following evening. But she said almost mechanically:

"Is it wise? Remember that you should not be seen with me so much! You never know who may be watching."

He laughed a scoffing laugh that was new to him. He was scornful. Was of herself? Fancies! Folly! Peril!

"My dear Thyra," he said, "you are so full of apprehension. What have we to fear? Our secret is surely safe—as it always will be."

And he looked at her again with that strange unusual gaze that caused her to shudder.

NOTES.

Western Suburbs C.C.—Chessplayers desirous of forming a Western Suburbs C.C. are requested to communicate with Mr. J. H. Prowse, Parramatta. Burwood to Parramatta, Liverpool, and Beecroft, with headquarters, say, at Strathfield or Burwood, should be able to form a strong club.

Sydney C.C. Continuous Tourney.—Play is very brisk, and the following are recent results:—Berry beat Corkhill, Joseph (3), Nicholls, and Spence (5), Bignold beat Henderson, Britton beat Spence, Craig beat Joseph and Spence, Henderson beat Bignold, Joseph beat Craig, Nicholls beat Berry (4) and Joseph, Spence beat Berry (2), Craig, and Parker.

Cologne is to have a masters' tourney this year, in the good company of San Sebastian and Carlsbad.

Shanghai C.C. This cosmopolitan club numbers 24 British, 11 Portuguese, 7 Germans, 2 Americans, 2 Danes, and 1 each Austrian, Cuban, Norwegian, Russian, Spanish, Swede, and Swiss. (W. D. M.)

Chess and the Public.—Chessplayers, in Sydney at any rate, neglect many opportunities of securing recruits for the clubs. Social evenings, for example, like the very successful one recently held by the N.S.W.C.A., bring many within the fold. Beginners, who fancy that, because one is a strong player, one must move with the utmost deliberation, see lightning play like that of Mr. Jonas, for example, and are encouraged to join a club. Others who fancy all members of clubs must be, as a matter of course, strong players, see men playing and enjoying the game who are not, and dismiss all idea of wanting to be in the first class. Lookers on, who are popularly supposed to see most of the game, realise that chess, by its infinite variety, is suited to every temperament and every degree of proficiency. The horse brought to the water cannot be compelled to drink, it is true, nor will any means compel a man to undertake a pastime which to him is a labour; but to the large number of people who are hesitating whether they will join a chess club or not the inducement to do so afforded by chess smoke concerts and social gatherings is not to be overlooked.

SYDNEY AND SUBURBAN CHESS UNION.

The annual meeting of this union will be held on Thursday, February 2. All chessplayers and members of chess clubs are invited. Business:—(1) Report and statement; (2) reorganisation of the union; (3) election of officers, president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, delegates to council of the N.S.W.C.A. General (a) Suggestions from report; (b) suggestions for committee to act on during ensuing year.

The following are the suggestions referred to in item 4 (a) on the business paper, in the acting-secretary's report, which clubs intending to be represented will please consider, so as to facilitate the business:—(1) That the rules in existence (now somewhat ancient) be at once revised and amended; (2) that the affiliation fee for clubs should be reduced, and that only new clubs entering into affiliation should be charged the affiliation fee; (3) that each club shall pay a registration fee annually for every playing member; (4) that provision should be made for determining the strength of players for each grade lower than "A" grade, so as to ensure full competition in all grades, as the best means of encouraging young players to aspire to the higher grades; (5) that only two prizes be offered in these competitions, viz., to the first and second player, who shall in all grades secure the greatest number of wins in the interclub matches; (6) that, at the close of the year's series of matches, a tournament should be held, in which only those players who take part in the interclub competitions during the year shall be eligible to compete, and that the award in such tournament be the right to the title of S. and S.C.U. chess champion for the succeeding year, with a small trophy as a memento of his win.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

E. J. Stenning, H. Beechey, G. E. Shoebridge, King's Pawn. Noted: S. Bateman. The former of the two problems in each issue is for the ordinary section. [illegible] Prowse: Many thanks. G. C.: No. 1348. The [illegible] is BK16. The solutions QK12 and QK15 are foiled by KQ6, dis. ch. We think that either Rayner's Problems or Law's Two-move Chess Problem will meet your wishes.

A Servian teacher, M. Medakovitch, has instituted the most successful method of teaching yet discovered. In his school each pupil is provided with a chocolate alphabet, and as soon as he can put his name together correctly he is allowed to eat it. Word-making is taught on the same plan. M. Medakovitch's pupils on an average can read fluently in three days.

IN AGONY WITH ITCHING RASH.

"Some three years ago I suffered from a slight rash which grew gradually to such a pitch that it developed into weeping eczema. So bad was I, the disease spreading over my face and whole body, that I would only go out wearing a veil so extremely thick that my features were unrecognisable, and I myself could hardly see. In addition to this, every night on account of the terrible itching and sores, my hands had to be bound up and then tightly tied behind my back, and as even then so intolerable was the agony that I would scratch where possible with my feet and rub my face against the bedclothes. My parents had eventually to firmly tie my feet together and bind a silk handkerchief all over my face.

"I mention these facts with reluctance, but they show the condition to which I was reduced. This went on for nearly two years, in spite of specialists and treatments at two hospitals, but all gave me up as incurable. I was then advised to try Cuticura, and, being desperate, did so. I slept better the first night, and, persevering, the itching gradually grew less, and the sores disappeared. Now I am free from blemish, rid of the irksome bandages, and can dispense with a veil. My cure is so wonderful and complete that I feel I should like others to know of this, and though you will quite appreciate from the above facts my not disclosing my name, I hope that you will see fit to publish this letter for the benefit of others. I am now only 20, so you will understand what my cure means to me. L—y G—m, 'Grand-parade, Eastbourne, England, Aug. 27, 1909." Reference: R. Towns and Co., Sydney.—Advt.

CURRENT LITERATURE.

THE YOUTH OF NAPOLEON.

Mr. Norwood Young has found a good subject in "The Growth of Napoleon." In spite of the vast bulk of Napoleonic literature, there is little in English dealing with his boyhood and his boyhood's surroundings. The author is thus able to give his readers a large amount of material that will be new to them. He calls his book a study of environment, and is apt to make rather absurd generalisations, such as, that a boy coming between two girls in a family must necessarily be meek and mild, while the eldest son will be fierce and dogmatic. Apart from these little aberrations of genius, however, he is a safe guide.

A modern writer of ability and learning has succeeded in tracing the ancestry of Napoleon to Charlemagne; though, for the matter of that, the genealogist admits that most of us could say the same. Napoleon was far more Ligurian than Corsican. Ajaccio was, in fact, founded by emigrant Ligurians in 1486. There Napoleon lived up to the age of nine, and while he is growing up the author gives us an interesting discussion of Corsica and Corsican character. Napoleon, he says, caught much colour from his environment. The Bonapartes had been pretty prominent people since Francesco settled at Ajaccio, and died there in 1540. He was a Genoese mounted mercenary, and so, after him, was his son Gabrielle. The third generation sent a member to the Council of Ancients—an honour that became in a way hereditary. Many of the Bonapartes were lawyers; never very rich, but generally well-to-do. Carlo, Napoleon's father, was an ambitious, restless, and clever man, who had graduated in law at Pisa. He had several children before Napoleon was born in 1769. His mother appears to have been a woman of character and determination; the father was too indolent and pleasure-loving to take much notice of the children. Joseph, the elder brother, was like his father; Napoleon was active and aggressive. At a little over nine and ten and a half respectively the two brothers were sent to school at Autun to learn French and French ways; but a few months later Napoleon was removed to Brienne. There was nothing military about the scheme of education. Latin, French, mathematics, German, and English were taught, with some history and geography. Pichegru was a mathematical master. Napoleon was best at mathematics and geography—the latter subject stirred his imagination. He also read for himself a good deal of history and biography. His monastic school surroundings, the cold, bad climate, the contempt of the French boys for Corsicans, all combined to make him gloomy and morose. In 1784 he passed out to the Military College as preparation for the artillery. This was one of the most extravagantly managed schools in the world, and was suppressed in 1787, two years after Napoleon left it. He went to the Valence garrison, where one of the best artillery regiments was stationed. His father, Carlo, had died a year or two earlier, and Napoleon possessed only very slender resources. He was still a mere boy—about 17—and at that age revisited Corsica for the first time since he left it. He was quiet and industrious, a great reader, with no very special preference for military subjects. In 1788 he rejoined his regiment, removed to Auxonne, and there he had the first experience of the Revolution. A mob at Seurre murdered two merchants who were suspected of cornering grain. At Auxonne Napoleon worked hard, and read hard. Three or four hundred pages of his notes on books have survived. Unluckily, he could neither write well nor spell well, and the deciphering of his manuscript was a Chinese puzzle. The author deals fully with these notes, which appear to have been random and discursive. His most important interest was that in political systems. From 1789 to 1791 he was again in Corsica, where Joseph was now a rising advocate, and Lucien was a bright boy of 14, and Louis was the baby of the family. When Napoleon returned to Auxonne he took Louis with him. The boy had had little education, and Napoleon undertook to teach him. The two were now very poor, having only Napoleon's pay as lieutenant to live on. Napoleon's best asset at this time was a certificate that he was a 'pure patriot.'" Events, too, went against the Bonapartes in Corsica. There the winds of revolution veered from one side to another, and the upshot was that all the Bonapartes had to take refuge in France. It was that which made Napoleon a Frenchman. Toulon baptised his new nationality. When the siege was over citizen Bonaparte sprang at a leap to the rank of General of Brigade. The trained officers who had the misfortune to be nobles had, by this time, all been cashiered, and there were thus abundant careers open to the talents. By the end of the Terror the road was not only open but swept clean. In the turmoil, indeed, Napoleon had not come off scot free. He had been disgraced and dismissed, but he was at hand as a volunteer when the whiff of grapeshot was urgently needed, and Barras gave him the guns. In a few weeks he was Commander-in-Chief of the Army of the Interior. (Murray, through George Robertson.)

OVERLAND TO INDIA.

Sven Hedin gives us another great book of travel in "Overland to India" (Macmillan). The journey proper began at Teheran. Outside the gates of Teheran is the desert, and there is nothing but desert all the way to India. But Sven Hedin's two large volumes blossom as the rose. The feat accomplished was certainly of no mean dimensions—from Teheran to Nushki the deserts run for 1490 miles, sometimes baked and parched, sometimes a land of mist and snow. Sven Hedin had no need to go through them to get from Persia to India, but he had, of course, to find an unfrequented route. He diligently avoids "routes trod by the feet of others." This is a matter of personal tastes. In this case the result was that for months and months he saw nothing but yellow, white, or brown wastes stretching in every direction, and even the description of them in two exceedingly bulky volumes grows monotonous. There were no exciting adventures, and one day is exactly like another. At the same time, the author is so vivid and vigorous, and he has such a healthy belief in the interest of his own writing, that the book can at no point be described as dull. The worst that can be said is that it is trivial. But that is certainly not the writer's fault. In a desert every little detail is doubtless a god-send. By way of variety there are several historical chapters dealing with the adventures of Marco Polo, the march of Alexander, and so on; and there is an informing summary of what various people have said as to probable post-glacial climatic changes in Persia. However, Marco Polo's narrative seems to show that the oases were as scarce six hundred years ago as they are now, and the water in the wells was just as salt. Sven Hedin himself is not a believer in the climatic change theory. The book is fully illustrated, and the photographs are clear and good. (Dymock.)

MODERN RELIGIOUS PROBLEMS.

Constable and Co. begin the issue of a series of shilling volumes on "Modern Religious Problems," under the general editorship of Dr. Vernon. Professor Burkitt deals with "The Earliest Sources for the Life of Jesus," and discusses the synoptic problem and the possible sources of "Mark." The writer holds the view that Mark was the originator of the synoptic "norm," and thinks it improbable there was any common evangelical tradition at all about the course of our Lord's ministry. There is also some discussion on modern lines of the relation of Matthew and Luke to Mark. "If the outline given in Mark be not historical, the extant material does not allow us to construct any other." Dr. Moffatt writes on "Paul and Paulinism." "The subsequent literature of the primitive church shows that the majority of Paul's distinctive conceptions were either misunderstood, or dropped or modified in the course of a few decades. Paulinism was a type, it was not typical of early Christian thought." E. W. Knox writes on "The Gospel of Jesus," and W. Hyde on "Sin." Dr. Vernon writes a general introduction, explaining the purpose of the series to be to give briefly the results of modern liberal scholarship in the recasting of religious problems. The series should prove very useful to Sunday-school teachers and others who are apt to be the victims of tradition.

A HUNTING BOOK.

Mr. Hesketh Prichard's "Hunting Camps in Wood and Wilderness" (Heinemann) is a very readable account of big game experiences. The author is known as a cricketer, and as a novelist in partnership with his mother. He happened to be a neighbour of F. C. Selous, and the veteran appears to have fired his young imagination. The present book contains a very varied record from the Pampas of Patagonia to the Cordillera of the Andes, and from Labrador to Norway. The author also hunted to a considerable extent in Canada and Newfoundland. He came home on each occasion laden with spoils and notebooks. The text is an unpretentious story, with a good deal of genuine observation behind it. The illustrations are a strong feature. Besides the author's numerous photographs, they include some accurate and spirited drawings by Lady Helen Graham and E. G. Caldwell. The book has been most excellently produced by the publisher.

MENTONE PAST AND PRESENT.

Dr. George Muller, a cousin of the celebrated Max, lived in the neighbourhood of Mentone for about 30 years, and died there in 1891. He was a man of considerable culture, and wide scholarship, and he gradually collected a great mass of interesting material about his adopted home. Like his cousin, he was half an Englishman, and he wrote his manuscript in English. His editor describes him as effusive, exuberant, and verbose to an extraordinary degree, but in book form he has undergone some judicious pruning. The book is the result of research stretching from 1870 to 1890, and probably there is nothing knowable about Mentone that the author did not discover. He begins with the dawn of history, when the district around Mentone formed part of Liguria, and he is great at Latin inscriptions. From that time to the present he follows its vicissitudes, and treads many neglected by-paths of history. The editor has filled up whatever gaps he could find, and added an interesting collection of photographs. (Hodder and Stoughton, through Angus and Robertson).

STORM AND SUNSHINE IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Under this title John Murray publishes a long but readable volume of random reminiscences. The author, Miss Southey, was a near relative of the late Sir Richard Southey, and spent much time in Africa with various relatives there, between 1893 and 1904. Her elder sister was in the country during the later stages of the war, and from her diaries and letters the latter portion of the narrative has been compiled. General Sir John Dartnell, another relative, also contributes entertaining matter, and the whole has been arranged by Frances Slaughter. There is a great deal about early conflicts with Boers and Zulus, and as Miss Southey came in contact with most South Africans of importance we get many little portrait sketches of interest. Country life is well described, and there is a good deal of sport. Those who have time for much minor detail will find the book fill in several hours.

A SCOTTISH NOVELIST.

Mrs. L. B. Walford writes a readable volume of "Recollections" (Williams and Norgate). She was born in 1845, and learned to read at the immature age of four, and mixed precociously with more or less literary relatives a little later. The book opens with some pleasant little pictures of family life in the early Victorian period. The author wrote her first novel when still in the schoolroom, in 1858; but it was not until she was nearly 18, and had learned Latin and algebra, that she made another venture. Edinburgh and the Highlands alternated with London, the lady being blessed with many relations who were people of importance. This was the day of albums, and Mrs. Walford soon had one full of her own little compositions. She also painted in water-colours, and had a "herring-boat becalmed in mist" hung at the Scottish Academy. She married Walford in 1869. It was five years later that Blackwood accepted "Mr. Smith." Years after Coventry Patmore was to bracket its author with Thomas Hardy. Mrs. Walford chats pleasantly enough about her literary experience through the several closing chapters.

THE SHAVING OF SHAGPAT.

A very serious-minded Scotch gentleman by name James M'Kechnie undertakes to explain to us the allegory of Meredith's fantasia. His explanation would have been more successful if he had not tried to be as like Meredith as he was able to be:—"In the realms of Rabesqurat Shibli Bagarag's dreams, foolish though they were, had in them no taint of grossness. They were vanity inspired dreams, revellings in imaginary fame. The first and second temptations in Aklis were to him scarcely temptations at all. But the third temptation as making appeal to his vanity proved irresistible. The case of Shibli in the Hall of the Duping Brides thus surely is that he is entangled in his own weakness. Sweet to him is this novel, but long-looked for, applause, and for the sweetness of it, he is as one in the midst of a very rose-garden of young beauties, such as the blest behold in Paradise." The whole book is a translation of that sort, and it is sufficiently well done if it needed to be done at all. The Meredithian author writes an introduction, in which he compares "Shagpat" to the "Pilgrim's Progress." He evidently thinks that "Shagpat" is an apology for the true Christian religion. He may be right, but he has transposed the characters of the allegory. Was not Shagpat shaved? Wherefore the shaving of Shagpat? (Hodder and Stoughton, through Angus and Robertson.)

RECENT FICTION.

R. H. Benson's "None Other Gods" (Hutchinson) is about a spiritually-minded young man who leaves Cambridge in a hurry, and sets off to tramp about Yorkshire, where the grace of God came to him through contact with humanity. Father Benson develops his hero with much sympathy and insight, and half wins us over to the sweet reasonableness of mystical religion. There are many characters in the book.

Mr. Burgin can write French-Canadian stories without limit. "This Son of Adam" is his thirty-ninth, and is well up to his usual standard. There is a high-sounding French lady with a past, and she wishes to be white-washed by matrimony. There are minor love episodes between minor characters. The whole is readable and clever. (Hutchinson, through George Robertson.)

Cosmo Hamilton's "The Infinite Capacity" (Hurst and Blackett) is the story of a genius —a violinist who becomes a European craze. After many adventures such as befall violinists he meets a "pure English girl," the daughter of a statesman. With her he elopes, and the story ends, naturally, in tragedy. It is well worked out.

Edgar Jepson's "The Girl's Head" is a most glorious melodrama. It opens with a brown paper parcel found to contain a girl's head, and goes on to Russian intrigues, and the title of Sir John Messiter, and love and a countess, and, of course, a wicked baron. No more could be desired. (Greening.)

David Whitelaw in "Princess Gaiva" (Greening) writes a conventional Ruritanian romance with an out-of-date city clerk and the island State of San Pietro as its leading motives. It is very complex, but sufficiently clever in the well defined way expected of this type of story.

Mrs. Baillie Reynolds in "The Girl from Nowhere" (Hodder and Stoughton) opens out with two intending suicides and ends up in Siberia. The characters allow themselves to become the puppets of an elaborately worked up plot, as artificial as it is interesting, and having suffered in this way for a long time they marry and become quite ordinary.

Those who like robust out-of-door tales cannot do better than Ridgwell Cullum's "The Trail of the Axe" (Hodder and Stoughton). This is a vigorous and thoroughly well-written story of life in a lumber camp in Western Canada, with plenty of vivid narration and what is called "a strong human interest."

Reginald Evans, in "Dear Loyalty" (Hodder and Stoughton) tells how a wicked Spaniard stole a lottery ticket from a poor girl, and how still more wicked Spaniards made him much worse than he otherwise would have been. There is a very attractive Cardinal, who acts the part of first good angel, and the story has a certain charm of manner.

SHORTER NOTICES.

Duckworth adds to his "Readers' Library" a volume of the "Obiter Dicta" of Mr. Augustine Birrel. Both first and second series are included, and the reprint was worth while.

Helen Keller is usually worth reading, and those who like verse will find "The Chant of the Stone Wall" (Hodder and Stoughton) much to their taste. It is a chant of patriotism and New England, with plenty of optimism and idealism thrown in.

Mr. John Mills in "The Liwe of a Foxhound" (Hodder and Stoughton) writes an imaginative animal book to the accompaniment of many spirited illustrations by J. A. Shepherd. Those who know their hounds will appreciate the intelligence of the author.

The third thousand of Victor Daley's "At Dawn and Dusk" is now issued by Angus and Robertson. The first edition appeared in 1898. It does not say much for Australian verse consumption that it has taken all this time to reach a second reprint. It would be almost impertinent to remark that while not always poetry Mr. Daley's verse was always among the best Australia has produced.

"Bells and Bees" (Lothian) is a volume of verse by Louis Esson. It shows no particular promise; but has some vigour and originality. Quite an interesting little book of "Poems" is by "W.R.W." The author set and bound the volume himself, only the machining being done by the printer. The writer has considerable lyric facility, and his enthusiasm is worthy of praise. We are afraid he has chosen very unpopular topics, however. Most of the verses are an attempt—quite praiseworthy—to rationalise the Old Testament; and an admirable little prose commentary makes the meaning clear. (Prince, Stanley St.).

Mr. Henry Sharpe is a volunteer of twenty-three years standing, who knows little Latin and less Greek. He is not good at Anglo-Saxon, and is entirely unacquainted with Welsh. He was thus somewhat handicapped in a praiseworthy attempt to write an account of "Britain B.C." (Williams and Norgate). None the less, he does very well, and collects numerous stray passages from the classical writers that throw some light on the subject. There is naturally a great deal about Caesar, a person with whom even the lower forms of schools tend to become familiar; but other authors from Ammianus Marcellinus to Willelmus Gemmeticensis are freely drawn on. The author reaches several conclusions of interest. He argues that the Cassiterides were close to the west of the north-west corner of Spain, and that the Phoenicians did not come to Cornwall; that Pytheas of Marseilles went to Iceland about 300 B.C., and called it Thule; but that subsequently the name was applied to some island on the coast of Scotland. He thinks there have been great changes in the Kent and Sussex coastline since Caesar's invasions, and that the French coast has also changed considerably. The first invasion, he says, started from Wissant and landed between Deal and and landed as before. The book is worth the attention of teachers preparing Caesar.

NEWS AND NOTES.

From the "Otago Witness" we learn that Mr. R. Holmes, the Scottish international player, who came to Sydney during the last week in December, is visiting Dunedin, where he has not lacked capable opponents across board, being well catered for by Messrs. J. A. Boreham (champion of Australasia), D. A. Brodie, and W. M'Ilwick. Messrs. J. Abernethy and F. E. Hilliker being out of town on holiday, had not met the visitor, who is reported to be suffering with an affection of the eyesight, which necessitates limiting the amount of play.

Mr. Alex. Bryson, of the "Draughts World," has been laid aside for a time by sickness, but he manages things so well that his indisposition did not delay the publication, on due date, of the "evergreen" magazine.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

R. B., Granville.—Re your proposed correction of solution to Problem 1225, after your fifth move, the following is the position:—Black 3, 18, 22, 23, K's 25, 32. White 11, 12, 27, 28, K's 6, 17. Now you play 28—26 and White wins, but 23—30, 17 19, 32—7 Black wins.

F. S., Cessnock.—The only book devoted to the humorous side of the game of draughts is Hill's "Magpie Sketches," published in 1892, second edition 1902.

Inquirer, Singleton.—To become a draughts player you must begin by studying well, then you must remember well, then you must practise well, then you will soon learn to play well.

J. A., Dunedin.—Thanks for slips, but no more need be sent, as your papers are on file here.

The Dundee whaling fleet recently completed the most successful season it has had for 10 years. The whales captured numbered 17, against 15 last year, and the walruses 1447, against 730. The whalebone harvest was doubled, but prices are lower. The fleet encountered many stirring adventures, one vessel, the Iantina Agatha, being lost, although the crew was rescued after living an entire winter with the Esquimaux. Two of the whalers had narrow escapes from being crushed by the ice.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Mr. Hugh Ward's production of the farce-comedy "Seven Days" at the Palace Theatre next Saturday will be vested with additional interest, since he will therein bid farewell to Sydney audiences as an actor, to reappear six months hence as a directing partner of the J. C. Williamson management. "Seven Days" is the joint production of Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart and Miss Avery Hopwood. Mrs. Roberts Rinehart (the wife of a Pittsburg doctor) is the author of a series of clever stories, including "The Circular Staircase," "The Man in Lower Ten," and "When a Man Marries;" while Avery Hopwood affords an example of the "journalist turned playwright;" and represents the modern school of American dramatists. "Seven Days," the first fruit of their collaboration, has yielded each a fortune since the farce-comedy ran for 402 nights in New York, and for six months in Chicago. The critics were unanimous in their appreciation of the wholesome atmosphere that surrounds the play, in spite of the fact that the motive of the action is—Divorce! The whimsical dramatic scheme shows a wife who, although she loves her husband, seeks divorce on the ground of "psychic cruelty," which, divested of high-sounding verbiage, resolves itself into the fearful crime of growing fat! The esthetic temperament of the wife revolts at the idea of a stout husband; but in the end Love laughs at Leviathans!

Although the main body of playgoers enjoys the new comic opera of "Tom Jones" merely for its rhythmic flow of dance measures and ballads that contribute to the essentially rustic atmosphere in which the old-fashioned story of love and intrigue is enveloped, yet the whole forms an interesting link both with the romance and the music of the eighteenth century. The literary history of the operetta shows that Mr. Robert Courtneidge and his associate librettists secured the outline of their plot from "The History of Tom Jones," written by Henry Fielding in 1749, a masterpiece which stands between "The Adventures of Joseph Andrews" and "Amelia." Byron called Fielding "the prose Homer of human nature," whilst the poet Coleridge wrote, "What a master of composition Fielding is! Upon my word, I think 'The Oedipus Tyrannus,' 'The Alchemist,' and 'Tom Jones' the three most perfect plots ever planned!" It is not to be supposed that any such idea can be conveyed within the limited scope of an opera libretto, but many people will recall the production, also at the Sydney Criterion, of Robert Buchanan's comedy "Sophia." This was by the Brough-Boucicault Company in March, 1888, and the piece was revived for another run four years later, besides forming ultimately the occasion of a benefit to Cecil Ward. This actor, who, after a long absence in America, is now appearing in London in "The Man from Mexico" at the Strand Theatre, made the one great hit of his career as Tom Jones, the "pretty fellow" described by Honor (Miss Pattie Browne) as having "a hand for his friends, a kiss for a pretty girl, and a smile for all the world." Mrs. Brough was Sophia, Mr. D. G. Boucicault was the Squire Western, the late Myra Kemble was Lady Bellaston, and Mr. G. S. Titheradge was Partridge. This graceful costume-play lacked the vigour, body, coarseness, and power of Fielding's great novel, and indeed the change of title to "Sophia" hinted at the transformation which had made of it "a very ladylike romance." In so far that Fielding's Sophia herself presented a sweet and fragrant picture of undimmed innocence, the change was justified, but the hero's constancy to his charming mistress, and his indifference to the amorous passion of Lady Bellaston, involved radical departures from the original. In the pretty opera now running at the Criterion there is more than a hint in the scene at the inn of the erring, but intensely human, creature painted by Fielding when he limned the portrait of Tom Jones.

Miss Eva Mylott sang at Carnegie Hall, New York, on November 28, as contralto soloist at the first appearance in America of the Imperial Russian Court Balalaika Orchestra, after which four more concerts were to be given at the Lyceum Theatre and New Amsterdam Theatre, with Rita Fornia (prima donna soprano, Metropolitan Opera House), Charlotte Maconda (coloratura soprano), and Myron Whitney (basso), as vocalists for the balance of the New York series. The Australian contralto forwards a prospectus of this musical enterprise, for which she is engaged as the only soloist during the subsequent tour, which is under the direction of Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger, the theatrical managers who originally produced "Ben Hur." Miss Mylott, who is doing exceedingly well in America and the United States, was engaged for seven different performances of the "Messiah" between December 22 and January 5, and at the end of her engagement with the Russian Orchestra, was to tour in the West, still remaining as principal contralto with Mr. Johnstone, a leading entrepeneur. Miss Mylott, who writes from New York, states that she keeps her health perfectly, in spite of 'leading the strenuous life,' due to an hour or two of study every day under the famous French baritone, Victor Maurel, who is preparing her for an operatic career. In this direction, besides other influential friends, Miss Mylott has the now all-powerful Francie Alda on her side. The one-time Sydney soprano has married Signor Gatti-Casazza, director of the Metropolitan, who has on that account promised to "place" his wife's fellow-countrywoman as soon as she is ready with a contralto repertoire. Miss Mylott's tall and superbly statuesque figure is expected to advantage her, more especially in heroic characters, the dramatic significance of which is likely to be still further accentuated by the richness of her voice.

Whilst "Our Miss Gibbs" is now extending towards a possible 150 performances at the Theatre Royal, its long run at the London Gaiety Theatre came to an end some weeks ago at 640, and the house has since been occupied by a dramatic company, with "The Captain of the School," by Judge Parry and Fk. Mouillot. Mr. George Edwardes, who revived "A Waltz Dream" at Daly's early this month will resume the musical comedy season at the Gaiety in a few days, with a new piece (unnamed when the mail left) by George Grossmith, jun., music by Leslie Stuart, of "Florodora" fame. The novelty will be in two acts, the first being laid in the lounge and barber's shop of a big London hotel, and the second showing the outside of a Continental casino. Mr. Edmund Payne and Mr. George Grossmith will be chief comedians, the latter as a cheery adventurer, who, at the instigation of the villain, impersonates Mr. Payne's enormously rich, and long-lost, uncle from abroad. Their sweethearts will be Miss Olive May and Miss Marie Fairie. Miss Fairie, though English-born, comes from Paris, with the reputation of being a favourite actress and dancer from the Moulin Rouge. There is this interest for Australian playgoers in the production that all the Gaiety pieces are pre-empted by J. C. Williamson, who has also secured "The Quaker Girl," now running at the Adelphi Theatre. It may be added that, although "Our Miss Gibbs" ranks amongst the most successful of the George Edwardes' productions, it has been eclipsed in length of run for the same class of piece by "San Toy" (800 performances), "The Geisha" (760), and "A Country Girl" (700).

Next Saturday the new Clarke-Meynell Company, which has been appearing in Melbourne in "The Gay Gordons," with pretty and petite Florence Imeson as prima donna, will produce "The Gay Grisette," and after the run of this new piece, followed by a brief tour, will come on to Sydney. Mr. Chas. A. Wenman received a cablegram during the week, notifying the sudden death of Miss Lilian Dundas, the beauty-actress engaged for "The Woman in the Case." Another artist has since been secured in London, and will join the George Willoughby Company at the Criterion in the new comedy-drama, towards Easter.

Mr. Cyril Maude has produced a Christmas piece at the Playhouse (London), entitled, "Our Little Cinderella," a modern society setting of the fairy legend, with music by Hermann Lohr. The actor-manager appears as the Baron, Lord Punterfield (with a comic review of the Yeomanry!), and his youthful daughter, Margery Maude, is credited with a winsome rendering of the name-part. The poverty of "Lowater Hall," the ballroom, and a beautiful garden, which Cinderella waters with her tears, after the fatal hour has struck, until the fairies dry them, and join her in a dance whilst dawn breaks rosily over the scene—these are the allurements of the children's musical comedy.

JAMES TAYLOR, Esq., F.C.P.A., National Mutual Chambers, 85 Pitt-street, Sydney.

This Company is being formed for the purpose of acquiring from J. E. Tatham the whole of his right, title, and interest in and to the invention and Australian patent entitled "Means for Preventing the Combustion of Films in Cinematographs and other similar appliances," and to control the patents to be applied for throughout the world.

DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.—One of the great dangers incidental to the use of Celluloid Films in Biograph Machines is the exceedingly inflammable nature of the material of which the films are composed—this substance being so sensitive to heat that a standing exposure of less than a second to the concentrated light and heat rays from an arc lamp will cause them to catch fire. The principal cause for fires taking place at Picture Shows is owing to the film on which the pictures are printed being arrested while passing through the powerful light required for their proper projection on the screen. This light is focused down to a very small area, and acts in exactly the same way as the well-known burning glass does when held to focus the rays of the sun. The film is wound from a spool situated above the biograph machine, and led down past the focussed rays of light and heat; and should the film break or be momentarily arrested in its passage, it will instantly burst into flame, and may cause panic and injury to the public, great loss to the proprietor of the show, and danger to the building of being destroyed.

IT IS CLAIMED FOR THIS INVENTION THAT IT IS THE ONLY ONE THAT WILL PREVENT THE FILMS FROM CATCHING FIRE WHILST BEING OPERATED, NO MATTER HOW LONG THE FILM MAY STAND EXPOSED TO THE CONCENTRATED HEAT RAYS FROM THE LAMP. LIKE MOST SUCCESSFUL INVENTIONS, THE APPLIANCES ARE OF A VERY SIMPLE CHARACTER. THE WHOLE SECRET LIES IN DIRECTING A SMALL STREAM OF AIR ON TO THAT PART OF THE FILM WITHIN THE GATE OF THE BIOGRAPH MACHINE WHICH IS EXPOSED TO THE CONCENTRATED LIGHT AND HEAT RAYS FROM THE LAMP, THUS CARRYING OFF THE HEAT, AND PREVENTING THE FILMS FROM FIRING, AND COOLING THE GATE THROUGH WHICH THE FILM PASSES.

Demonstrations have been witnessed by the Principal Picture Show Proprietors, Insurance Managers, Fire Brigade Officials, the Assistant Government Architect, in addition to many leading citizens, whose unanimous verdict is that the invention fully justifies the claims of the author.

As the result of the inspection of the appliance in operation by specially appointed Government officials, it is confidently anticipated that a regulation will shortly be framed whereby the installation of FIRE PREVENTION APPLIANCES (such as the Tatham invention) will be made compulsory at all Picture Shows. The numerous fires which have recently occurred as reported in the newspapers render such a step imperative both in the interests of the Public and of the Picture Show Proprietors themselves.

The invention is to be patented throughout the world under the provisions of the International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property.

It is proposed to let out the appliances to Picture Show Proprietors, making a charge for installing and a rental of from 5/- to 10/- per week, according to the number of machines employed by any one user.

A fair idea of the earning power of the invention may be gauged from the fact that at the present time there are upwards of 200 Picture Shows in New South Wales alone, all in active operation. Assuming that the State of Victoria supports a like number (200) and the rest of the States an equal number (200), total of 600 in all, the revenue produced (at the rate of 7/6 per week) will amount to £11,700 per annum, and after providing for working and other expenses it is confidently anticipated that there will be a net return of 30 per cent. on the capital subscribed.

The above paragraph refers to AUSTRALIA ALONE, but the rest of the world remains to be exploited. Under the circumstances it is difficult to put the limit on the dividend-earning capacity of the invention, as there are thousands of shows all looking for an invention such as this. Applications for patents have been made in 20 countries.

The Directorate have the initial arrangements well in hand, and the Company will be in a position to commence operations almost immediately after the allotment of shares.

It is believed that the only material contract is an agreement bearing date the 5th day of December, 1910, and expressed to be made between James Taylor as Trustee for the Company of the first part, and the Promoters of the second part, and J. E. Tatham of the third part. A copy of this contract can be inspected at the office of the Company's Solicitors during the usual business hours.

The inventor, Mr. J. E. Tatham, has agreed that until the capital of the Company is fully subscribed to accept on account of the said consideration payable to him one fully paid-up share for every two shares subscribed.

The application for Shares will be closed on the 14th day of February, 1911, or (in the discretion of the Directors) at such earlier date as the full number of Shares shall be applied for.

Practical demonstrations of the invention may be witnessed at the Vacuum Cleaner Stores, Wynyard-lane, off Margaret-street, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., or by appointment. Tel., 200 Central.

Applications for Shares will be dealt with in the order in which they are received. Should the Shares applied for exceed the number allotted in any instance, the surplus application fee will be placed to the credit of the applicant, in respect to the amount payable on allotment.

PROSPECTUS AND APPLICATION FORMS MAY BE HAD AT SECRETARY'S OFFICE OR AT 2 WYNYARD-LANE.

Applications will be received by the Secretary, J. TAYLOR, F.C.P.A., 85 PITT-STREET, SYDNEY.

The following Copy of a Report and Opinion by the eminent Equity Counsel (Mr. F. Leverrier) will show that the invention has been adequately protected in Australia, and that it is a MASTER or PIONEER PATENT.

The copies of testimonials by experts engaged in Moving Picture Exhibitions tend to prove that the invention fills a great public want, and will be welcomed both by the great Public and by enterprising Picture Show Proprietors.

Copy of Opinion by F. LEVERRIER, Esq., Barrister-at-Law, dated 17th November, 1910.

I have carefully perused and considered the specification accompanying the instructions and examined the diagrammatic drawing to which the specification refers. The invention is, in my opinion, sufficiently described in the body of the specification and drawings, which appear to me to be ample for the purpose of enabling the ordinary skilled workman to carry it out. The claim is also, in my opinion, free from ambiguity, and sufficiently defined in regard to the scope and limits of the invention. Assuming that the idea of using a blast of air or other non-inflammable gas for the purpose indicated is novel and has not been previously employed for any other obviously analogous purpose, I am of the opinion that the patent when granted will constitute a pioneer or master patent for the use of a blast of air or other non-inflammable gas directed towards the gate by means of nozzles or their equivalent.

Copy of Letter from HENRY GEE, Esq., General Manager, West's Pictures Ltd., dated 18th November, 1910.

Many thanks for the invitation to see the experiment with your new invention to prevent Cinematograph Films from firing. As an old Bi-unial and Cinematograph operator, it is needless to say I was very much interested in your invention, and very much surprised (as will every operator when he sees it) why I had not thought of it myself. It's so simple, but I suppose, like many other inventions, that will be the secret of its success. As to its efficiency to do what you claim, I hereby certify that I tested it thoroughly, and, in my opinion, the operator who fires a film when your apparatus is attached to his machine will do so by the means of a lighted match above or below the gate.

Copy of Letter from A. EMMELHAIN, Esq., Head Operator, Spencer's Theatrescope, dated 19th October, 1910.

In compliance with your request as to my opinion of your invention for the prevention of fire in Cinematographs, I have much pleasure in saying that after seeing the remarkable manner in which a film may be exposed to the full light and heat rays without any appreciable damage, and for apparently an indefinite time, I really cannot give it too much praise. In my opinion, the device fulfils all you claim for it, and it is absolutely perfect in its action. It is unnecessary for me to say more than that I am recommending the adoption of your invention to my principals (as soon as it is available) for the Lyceum, and the Olympia in Melbourne, and have no doubt that Mr. Spencer will interview you at an early date with a view to its installation.

Wishing you every success, which I have no doubt your clever invention will command.

Copy of Letter from R. CLEMENTS, Esq., Head Operator, Castle Theatre, Manly, dated 18th October, 1910.

I was greatly impressed with the demonstrations of your invention for the prevention of fire in Cinematograph Films, and, as a practical operator, I have no hesitation in saying that it is undoubtedly the only invention extant that absolutely prevents the film from firing at the gate, no matter how long it is exposed to the light. Wishing you every success.

Copy of letter from THOMAS MAUGHAM, Esq., Head Operator, Glaciarium, Sydney, dated 11th November, 1910.

Having inspected your patent for the prevention of fire at Cinematograph Entertainments, and seen same put to the severest tests possible, I have come to the conclusion that when the said patent is used during the passage of the film through the gate, under any amperage, that it is a matter of absolute impossibility for the film to catch fire, even if left in the gate for any indefinite time. I might also state that there is no other device that I know of that has the same advantages as this patent, and I personally recommend it, as a professional operator of eight years' standing, to all Cinematograph Managers of Companies using film.

HEARNE'S
BRONCHITIS CURE.
THE GREAT REMEDY FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.

A DOSE OR TWO IS GENERALLY SUFFICIENT.

THOSE who have taken this medicine are amazed at its splendid healing power. Sufferers from Bronchitis, Cough, Croup, Asthma, Hoarseness, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain or Soreness in the Chest, experience delightful and rapid relief; and to those who are subject to Colds on the Chest it is invaluable, as it affects a complete cure. It is most comforting in allaying Irritation in the Throat and giving Strength to the Voice, and it neither allows a Cough nor Asthma to become chronic, nor Consumption to develop. Consumption is not known where "Coughs" have, on their first appearance, been properly treated with this medicine. No house should be without it, as, taken at the beginning, a dose or two is generally sufficient, and a complete cure is certain.

LIFE IN LONDON AND THEREABOUT.

(CHRONICLED BY HENRY LUCY.)

Business of the New Parliament—The Parliament Bill—Mr. O'Brien's Defeat—Preparing for the Coronation—Political Magnanimity—Christmas Greenstuffs.

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 30.

In considering the order of the Ministerial programme in the new Parliament, it has been finally settled, with the concurrence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, that Ireland shall take precedence over Wales. A Home Rule Bill will be carried through the Commons before the problem of Welsh disestablishment is approached. It is quite possible that both measures may be dealt with in the same session, always with precedence given to Home Rule. But it will not be the session that opens on January 31. As stated in this column last week, its earliest days and nights will be devoted to the Parliament Bill, upon which debate will be prolonged. The case involving a great constitutional change is obviously not one in which the assistance of the closure can be early invoked. It will be held in reserve as a weapon against extreme obstruction, but will be used only in such case. The remnants of last year's Budget will be taken in hand as soon as the Parliament Bill has gone on to the Lords. With Home Rule definitely promised, Irish opposition is not anticipated by the Government Whips, and with a united majority at their command they do not fear any other. The next legislative undertaking of the session will be the abolition of plural voting. This, I gather, is as far as plans have yet shaped themselves. At a Cabinet Council to be held immediately other topics to figure in the King's Speech will be considered.

Now the general election is over, and decks are being cleared for action at Westminster, there is noted a decided change of attitude and tone on the part of the less hysterical supporters of the Opposition in the press. They begin to recognise, grudgingly to admit, that a majority of 126 is a stubborn fact that cannot be disposed of by declaration of intention to ignore it. Apart from the steady, irresistible forward tramp of the Liberal majority in Great Britain, the Unionists have suffered disappointment in another quarter. Mr. O'Brien, who went into the fight with Mr. Redmond with the confident assurance of capturing at least one-half of his strongholds in the constituencies, has been badly beaten. The loss of Tim Healy is of itself equal to defeat in a dozen boroughs or counties. When at the outset of the fray Mr. O'Brien won Cork, sending Willie Redmond to the right-about, and installing Tim Healy's brother, the editorial columns of the widest-circulated Unionist journals flashed a friendly signal. There seemed prospect of forming an alliance with a strong, brilliantly-led Irish contingent, that might make things uncomfortable for the Government, in spite of their six-score majority. The scanty following at the command of Mr. O'Brien—it has been reduced at the polls from ten to eight—does not make it worth while to sacrifice another principle by coquetting with him, and what promised to be an interesting manoeuvre is stillborn.

It is probable that in neither House will the Parliament Bill be met by a direct negative. In both places attempt will be made to defeat its purpose by engrafting upon it some of the provisions embodied in Lord Rosebery's scheme of reform. This will have the effect of delay and the opening up of possibilities of a friendly settlement on the basis of a conference. It does not require a special gift of prophecy to forecast failure of these tactics. Were he so disposed (which he is not), Mr. Asquith dare not dally with the task committed to him. A huge majority fresh from the polls, thrice within a period of five years acclaimed as exponents of the popular will in respect of the relations between Lords and Commons, mean business, and will see that it is carried through in the coming session. Earlier or later, the Parliament Bill, in the short and simple form in which it is drafted, will pass the House of Commons. The Lords will, with equal certainty, transform it, and it will come back to the Commons in the mangled state of earlier measures approved by a majority of the representatives of the people. There the points of similitude disappear. The Government will not again be puppets in the hands of the coronetted backwoodsmen. The only matter in doubt is whether Lord Lansdowne can succeed in holding his team in hand, or whether Mr. Asquith will be driven to exact fulfilment of the pledge he holds, and redress the balance of parties by the creation of new peers. However that be, in one way or the other, the Parliament Bill will be added to the statute book before Coronation Day.

Lloyds are doing a big business just now in insuring tradesmen against the possibility of losses, consequent on the postponement of the Coronation. The price current to-day is, I have ascertained, at the rate of 30 guineas, ensuring payment in full of 100 per cent. of loss in the event of the Coronation not taking place by June 30, that is, within a week of the appointed date. Recollections of losses suffered by the postponement of the Coronation of King Edward VII. inspire this curious form of business. The rush marked during the past few days is due to a circumstantial rumour that, owing to an event affecting the health of the Queen, the Coronation cannot take place in the month of June. I learn from a source certain to be well-informed that there is absolutely no foundation for this expectation.

The bestowal of the vacant Garter upon Lord Minto is a fresh example of the magnanimous absence of partisanship with which the Liberal Government, re-established under the Premiership of Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman, disposes of great party prizes. Whilst of late somewhat recklessly abandoning ancient principles, the Unionists have remained stubbornly attached to the old Conservative axiom that assigns the spoils to the victors. One does not remember Lord Salisbury or Mr. Balfour giving away Garters or assigning great Governorships to political opponents. It so happens that during the Premiership of Campbell-Bannerman and his successor, Mr. Asquith, four of the great dependencies of the Empire have been governed by men in political opposition. Lord Dudley, Unionist Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland in Mr. Balfour's Administration, was actually appointed by Mr. Asquith to the Governor-Generalship of Australia. Earl Grey, it is true, was appointed to Canada in the year preceding the downfall of the Unionist Government. But when, in 1905, the inevitable was obvious, Mr. Balfour, with a "slimness" that must have excited the admiration of the Boers, hurried on affairs so that a critically short time before he was bereft of office he installed Lord Minto as Viceroy of India, making room for Lord Grey in the post vacated at Ottawa. All these were left in undisturbed possession, a pleasing incident in party politics.

The business of providing London with Christmas greenstuff is widespread in its ramifications, and many men and much money are employed in carrying it on. The capitalists are accustomed to make excursions into the greenstuff-growing counties, and fix upon likely woods and plantations, for the privilege of cutting which at Christmastime they make suitable offers. A bargain struck, the lessee begins to look after his "lot" early in the autumn, often spending a week or so in trimming the underwood, so that the bushes may in due season come out in neat and trim style. Once these speculators were nearly all London men. Of late years, I am told, the country has begun to wake up to its own interest, and it would now be difficult to find a likely bit of plantation or line of hedgerow not already locally farmed. In the second week in December cutting of the greenstuff begins, the boughs being fastened up in bundles, for which there is neither prescriptive weight nor determinate number of constituent pieces, but which generally turn up in the London market pretty even in size and weight. Hampshire, Essex, and Surrey are the principal gardens for the greenstuff markets of the metropolis, greenstuff meaning all sort of Christmas decorative shrubs, except mistletoe. Mistletoe comes further afield, France sending over no small contribution, Jersey and Guernsey adding largely to the bulk.

A WOMAN'S LETTER.

Tight Skirts.

LONDON, W., Dec. 23.

There is not much at this late season of the year to tell you about fashion. But there is this to chronicle—the prevalence of black velveteen costumes. I have never, as a body, seen women look so well as in their neat, trim, short velveteen coats and skirts. It suits all shades of complexion, and is so refined-looking one welcomes the softness of the black against the skin. The skirts still remain very tight, and at times there is a grotesqueness in the gait of women so hobbled. It does not make for grace, though those who wear them say the joy is in being able to wear such beautifully light skirts. I asked a professional cutter of patterns a day or two ago whether the tight skirt was to remain in fashion with the turn of the year. He said he thought it would be difficult to bring in walking costumes with fuller skirts. And thus the much-ridiculed hobble will last some time yet. Of course, these tight skirts do not obtain for golf or any athletics where freedom of limb is required. And there is coming in quite rapidly the cult for what I may call the indoor gown, the kind of dress that one wears in the afternoon on one's at-home day, and these may be as long in the train as you like. It is quite the mode to wear long house dresses, and they may be as decorative as your purse will buy. We find for this purpose that fine cashmeres are made Empire fashion, as all indoor gowns are made this season, with guimpes and cuffs of soft lace; or you may have them more ornate still of satin and ninon and gold and silver lace veiled with the decorous ninon.

I saw a pretty toilette of this kind at the Strolling Players' concert the other evening. The gown was of some soft blue stuff—a pretty shade of blue—the skirt was brought high up on the waist, and the bodice was partly black fine lace and part gold lace, clear over the throat and bust, with a high gold lace collar; but it was all veiled in blue chiffon or ninon, and was, I thought, one of the prettiest gowns I had seen.

Some New Gowns.

Amongst the newer gowns is one brought out by a French house, made of black brocaded satin. Mark you, brocades are fast coming again into fashion. It is made with a tunic opening in front, over a long tablier of white point lace, which is turned back at the lower edge under the opening of the tunic. This lace is repeated at the sleeves, vest, and collarband. A classical-looking evening gown is made of white satin, veiled with apricot ninon. The underdress is made quite plainly, and a somewhat close-fitting skirt. There is some trimming in the Greek key pattern design on the under-sleeves. Then comes a long tunic apparently all cut in one piece. It begins at the centre, which is made of gems and a cameo, mounted in metal work, and is in fine folds over the shoulder. Or, I ought to say, the jewelled ceinture is put over the tunic, which falls diagonally from the right side, the other portion of tunic is then brought round the hip and across the right shoulder, where it is confined with an ornament. It is very Greek looking, and I think if you have a mind to order one, I should rehearse the part with a long sheet first, or the draping may get wrong, owing to my not being able to send you a drawing. The gauge of this drapery is worked in floss silks in a scroll design, you could, of course, improvise in any way suitable. The design could be painted in water and body colour, with embroidery outlining the edges.

For this I would advise a really good quality of ninon, as it would wear better, and a large drapery, such as this is, would be a useful asset in any girl's wardrobe. I need not point out other combinations of colour, save that girls are having several tunics to wear over one good satin frock, and thus ring the changes possible by that means. Another favourite idea for evening gowns are those tunics made of a ninon, into which are woven, not stuck on, what look like tiny gold, silver, or steel beads. They are tiny bits of metal, and, being firmly fixed in the manufacture, they do not rub off or come out. In these there are great possibilities. And even for whole dance frocks they are quite delightful. You could have the whole gown of them, using any old slip you have by you, gold and black steel on black or grey, and all manner of colours. The newest finish is an all-round skirt with a border of fringe, which just escapes the ground. Then the sleeves are finished in the same way. The fringe used is made of beads, and it can be had in many shades. A pink accordeon-pleated voile was treated in this manner by a French modiste. It would be a charming gown for a debutante in snow-white voile over satin, edged with crystal fringe. I am wondering how you will like the draped, fichu-like bodices, which the French are bent on bringing in. They are worn with low dresses, and the sleeves are to the elbow. In all white it would be very soft and becoming.

Blouses and Decorations.

Blouses are made to fit very smoothly under the coats, and are prettier than I have seen for some time. I see a great deal more lace used for them than has been the case for some time, but as I always tell you the lace is veiled like all else this year. There are no collar bands to these blouses. You may wear an under guimpe with a collar if you wish, but these I see are made of fine ninon, plain across the front, with a few pin tucks at either side far back, near the shoulders. The plain part may be embroidered; it very often is, and done with gold, silver, or copper cord embroidery, or rat's tail, which I am a convert to for finishing off my sachets and small things. If I want it wide I plait it, and the effect is lovely. You can vary the flat decorations of the front of your blouse with rat's tail plaited, and introduce a little solid filling in of the new Grayona silk, which is very glossy and works quickly. I did some motifs in the summer for a tussore cloth, and found it wear beautifully. Then there are beautiful colours to be had in soutache, which can be worked in, and bits of plain silk put on first where the solid embroidery has to come. Anything practically comes into use for dress embroidery provided you use the colours well and are deft at mixing your materials. On little circles or devices of shot glace silk, round which you are braiding or embroidering or cording, you can sew some gold, silver, or steel beads, especially of you use some green and blue shot silk. You veil it afterwards; and there is also a word to be written about your colours. If you are going to veil your silk be sure and get it ever so much brighter than if it were to be exposed. The thinnest veiling dims colour in the most wonderful way. I saw a smart blouse to be worn with a kind of dull mole-green tweed. There was in the tweed a mere hint of pale blue. The blouse to go with that costume was made of the brightest, strongest shade of turquoise blue veiled with mole ninon, and there was a guimpe of silver lace with collar band, en suite. The effect when on was that of just the shade of the tweed, exceedingly pretty and smart. In making one of the royal blue blouses veiled with black ninon—a very popular mixture—your blue mus. be tremendously bright, or when veiled it will not be blue enough. These little things make all the difference in the effect of a gown afterwards. These new accordion-pleated house-frocks are delightful if worn over suitable colours.

Children's Hair.

I have been studying the different ways of doing children's hair lately, having a very young niece with me for the holidays. First and foremost, the ribbon for tying children's hair is much wider than it used to be, and of a peculiarly soft quality. Thus you may tie these wide ribbons in large bows at either side of the head or in one large bow at the back or on the side of the head, the aim and object being to keep the strands of hair away from the child's eyes. At schools just now it is the fashion to take the hair into two plaits, on either side of the head, tying these with large soft bows. It makes for neatness, and relieves the plainness of the face when all the hair is put so drastically under subjection. The fashion of the Velasquez bow tied as is the case in the portrait of the great master's Infanta, has died the death of all things which become too popular.

VIA AMERICA.

A CITY WITHOUT A PARALLEL.

(BY OUR SPECIAL COMMISSIONER.)

WANAMAKER'S STORE.

John Wanamaker's, the biggest shop in New York, is not quite as large as Marshall Field's, in Chicago. It has only 32 acres of floor space, as against 35. But probably not even Marshall Field's has such a mass of wealth piled through all its departments. There is a whole rich room full of cut glass; a whole gallery of pictures; and a specimen house furnished as well as any millionaire's.

It is worth strolling round that "House Palatial" in Wanamaker's just because, when you come away from it, you will know that you have seen the limit of comfort that money can buy on this earth at present. If you went into Mr. Rockefeller's house you could not get more, because there is nothing more to be got, except in the way of artistic treasures or curiosities. There are all the rooms that you have ever dreamed of—exactly the ideal night nursery, with its sweet dainty pink cots and colouring; and the day nursery, with a cushion seat on the floor all round, and the floor left free to romp on, and just toys enough, not too many; there were the Elizabethan library with its great fireplace, dark wooden roof beams, polished floor, rich rugs, its stag's head and tiger skin mat—exactly the place into which the head of the ancient family in a novel calls his spendthrift son when he is going to have that last serious talk with him; every room was the perfection of some famous style, Sheraton, Jacobean, Georgian, Flemish, Marie Antoinette, all planned by artists and architects—and there are twenty-two of those rooms, including an Italian courtyard, and pergola with the creepers drooping from it.

They showed me from there into a theatre—at least one took it for a theatre. It was plain but rich, with leather upholstered seats. "Just try one of those," said one of the officials, pointing to them. One sank back into it—you do not know what comfort is till you have tried one of those chairs.

It was not a theatre. It was a concert hall. The idea is that at the end of a day's shopping tired women can go in there and listen to music, and be refreshed. That is also the reason for those seats. In the busier seasons two concerts are given there a day by well-known artists. You do not pay—you just walk in—it is all part of the business.

In the big square central hall under the glass dome in Wanamaker's they were putting up some wooden structure when we passed. It is unusual to see unnecessary wood in the big buildings here, so I asked what it was. "Why, that's just another idea of Mr. Wanamaker's," was the answer. "That's going to be a facsimile of Piccadilly, London. There will be the shops on both sides, and ladies will just walk through and do their shopping right there. He's bringing out some young Englishmen, the most English he can find, to sell in those shops. . . . There's no one in America can touch John Wanamaker for ideas," he added enthusiastically.

There is a quarter not so very far from the back of Wanamaker's into which there pours annually a good part of the overflow of Central and Eastern Europe. There is nothing to prevent those poor dregs from the European slums and villages from entering the great store if they care to do so, and they do wander through it, gazing enviously. And as they pass the piled-up counters the chances of slipping some trifle into a skirt pocket are often irresistible. "Those poor people don't think it a crime, you know, to steal from a 'white' person," said the official who was telling us. "We have to keep a special force of detectives—we always have between 15 and 20 detectives of our own under our chief detective. You must have passed several of them in the shop, but you didn't know it. There's a special room here where they take these poor people when they find them—I've been in before now and seen 10 Poles or Italians waiting round that room at the same time. Sometimes in a serious case we go on and prosecute; but as a rule we let them go—there's no use in punishing these poor women that wouldn't understand it."

THE OTHER SIDE IN NEW YORK.

Perhaps Americans have got used to it; but real poverty in its back streets haunts one almost like a nightmare in New York. You go down one street which is a blaze of lights, automobiles hurrying back after theatres, and pouring out cargoes of priceless rustling silks and exquisite furs to obsequious porters in front of dazzling and almost fantastically luxurious hotels and restaurants; you turn round the first corner and double back up the street which runs just at the back of those hotels and restaurants and theatres, and you could swear you were in Naples. They haven't even the same colour of hair or complexion or cast of features. They are not the very poor of New York—those live in the Bowery, the corner of Manhattan Island, where once the old Dutch farms used to lie, but which is at this day crowded with tenement houses crawling with Italian and the poorer European population. But even in 42nd street, where the fashion of New York new runs crowded day and night, you have only got to turn the corner to see the obverse.

One could not help thinking of the big, dazzling, lively street as a piece of stage scenery. Out there they were all trying to play at being the happy, prosperous, fabulously rich Anglo-Saxon people—as though there were not these plain, ugly, unvarnished props just at the back of them all the time. Fashionable New York seems to try to live, utterly ignoring the fact that those props exist; and, indeed, as long as you have money, New York tries to give you the impression that its only reason for existence is to give you pleasure, and that this is a picture that has not got any back. The rich people must sometimes shut their eyes very tight to pretend they believe it.

THE GREAT HOTELS.

I stayed just one night, in one of the biggest and richest hotels in New York. You want to be a millionaire to enjoy the hotel properly, though, perhaps, you could go there on a capital of £100,000 without feeling miserable. It is not the hotel itself that grates on you—that is well planned and well managed. It is the atmosphere of money-worship and sycophancy that gets on your nerves. It is apt to make the ordinary impecunious tourist feel like a criminal from the moment he enters—liable to be detected and arrested at any moment on suspicion of not being able to afford it. The dining-room was fabulously sumptuous, Turkey carpets softer than moss, marbled walls, soft shaded lights, a small orchestra rendering perfect music for the entrees, and still more perfect for the joints. The guests did not all wear evening dress, but, as they marched from the room, they seemed to ooze gold; and the head waiter bowed them out of the room with a smile which seemed to say: "Oh, why will you not let me rub my forehead in the carpet?"

One asked for one's bill, and fled from the hotel before breakfast next morning, bag in hand, without looking round, and never stopped to draw breath till one was safely in a comfortable place down the city where the waiters were black, and the meals, if you were not hungry, need not come to more than 4s or 5s each. It only remains to be said that weeks afterwards, when one found, some 3000 miles away, that one had left some little article of no great value on one's way across America, the officials of that great hotel went to the trouble of finding it, forwarding it to England, paying for its carriage, and trusting one to refund the amount.

A MAGNIFICENT EQUIPMENT.

Of course every bedroom in both these hotels had a telephone—even in third-rate hotels they have that. The line goes first to the clerk on your landing—in some of the big hotels they have a clerk on every floor—and then on to the hotel exchange, and anywhere you wish to speak to. You may ring up the valet and hire a complete outfit of evening clothes, opera hat, neckties, shirt, dress buttons, collar, pumps, and stockings—there is a special notice on your writing table to tell you so. You may ring up the medical masseur any time of the night or day. You may ring up the taxicab office, news stand, bookstall, theatre ticket office, two cable and telegraph offices, and a messenger service office—they are all in the hotel. If you are unused to the ways of the New York shops a lady shopper will be furnished at the hotel office to go with you. There is a special broker on one of the lower floors to do your business; and any time you pass the manicure department you will see serious-looking men sitting at little tables having their finger nails manicured by young ladies. You can post your letters on any floor of the hotel—they run down a glass shoot to the basement; and practically every bedroom has its own exquisitely-fitted bathroom. At least one great hotel has, in addition to all this, its own underground passage to the subway.

I heard an Englishman ask another on the Marama, "Don't you wonder they haven't got any first-class hotels in Australia?" His friend didn't wonder. "Australians wouldn't pay more than 15s a day," he said, "and what could you expect for that?" All one can say is that if "decent hotels" mean the smirking and obsequiousness toward the rich, with all the sycophancy and poverty in the background, which appear to accompany the sumptuous hotels in New York, may Australians never be civilised enough to acquire a taste for them!

[The seventeenth of this series of articles appeared in the "Herald" of last Saturday, January 21, and also dealt with New York city.]

AMERICA AND JAPAN.

PACIFIC COAST UNDEFENDED.

A STARTLING MILITARY REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.

The diplomatic corps is still smiling over a recent disclosure of the crude, easy-going methods of American administration. Congress has been busily working on the appropriation bills, and the committee on military affairs called upon the War Department for a special report upon which to base the Budget for the coming year. This came in the shape of a long statement of the most startling character from Major-General Leonard Wood, marked "confidential"; and it had been sent in without taking counsel about it with the President or the Cabinet.

But the House has no power to receive "confidential" reports; and in the routine handling of the paper it was passed along, with other Executive documents, to the clerk's office, where such matters are open to public inspection. Already, however, some points of the paper had become common gossip—for example, that the Pacific coast was undefended, save by 3000 regulars and 5000 militia, and that Japan could in 30 days land 200,000 men, seize and fortify the passes through the Rockies, and get a foothold from which it would take years of time and billions of money to dislodge them.

Even if true these are facts better kept secret. But of course the sole purpose of the report—the department advisers of the Secretary being privy to the scheme—was to scare Congress into making new and more liberal grants of men and money. And luckily, one of the Treasury watchdogs, Mr. Tawney, hearing of all this, rushed to the White House, and within 20 minutes the report was recalled. Having been scolded by the President, the Secretary in turn roundly reprimanded his own secretary, and under-secretaries; and possibly they, too, in turn berated General Wood for having gone beyond reasonable limits.

ANSWER TO THE SECRET REPORT.

The answer to the Wood report is that even should a landing be made on the Pacific coast, this country could surely destroy the railroad lines to the passes, and hold the latter until the fleet could cut the line of supplies across the Pacific, and thus enclose the enemy in a trap. An invading army of less than 200,000 would have hard work to resist direct attack, for more than 10 years ago, after a conference at Washington of the railroad presidents and the army chiefs, plans were drawn up to ensure the massing of 140,000 troops in 30 days, upon any given point of the Canadian border, and better than that could be done to-day, even on the Pacific coast. But the cost of transporting a great invading army and its supplies several thousand miles away from its base is prohibitive. One curious fact about the American army is that shifting it about the country during the last 11 years has cost more than double the pay of the men—16 dollars a month per man; the soldiers getting 125,799,234 dollars, and the railroads 260,186,271 dollars.

Possibly the railroads have had friends in the army who did what they could to give them a chance to earn dividends; but the necessary cost of moving large bodies of men over a thinly settled territory is very great. Counting in pensions as a defence expenditure, out of every 100 dollars raised by Federal taxation 72 dollars is now paid out for purposes of wars past or wars to come, the other 28 dollars being left for the courts and all civil officers, the salaries and junketings of Congressmen, the improvement and maintenance of waterways and harbours, and all other needs of peaceful routine.

MUNIFICENT GIFT BY MR. CARNEGIE.

Mr. Carnegie has just given for the establishment of a permanent peace propaganda 10,000,000 dollars worth of bonds that sell at 15 above par in the open market—making, by the way, a total of 179,000,000 dollars—one-fifth of the net American debt—relinquished by him for public purposes. And, as he cheerily tells us, there is much more to come. Yet, could this latest gift bring the nations to see the suicidal folly of squandering money in shaking fists at each other—and in most cases with a very marked aversion to coming to actual blows—it would yield a hundred-fold greater harvest than all his other benefactions.

It is significant, perhaps, that at the International Conference held here, at Washington, a fortnight ago, "for judicial settlement of international disputes," the most forcible speech was made by the editor of the "London Economist," who, almost on the eve of the Wood report, declared that "war scares are largely inspired by armament contractors, who ultimately would drag various countries into the bankruptcy court." And, when the Panama Canal is open, the enforcement of disarmament on the Pacific will quite probably become the one crucial point of American foreign policy.

The delicacy of the Pacific situation is significantly illustrated by the reluctance of both this country and Japan to end the existing treaty, although negotiations for a new one have been pending ever since the close of the Russo-Japanese war, when Mr. Roosevelt insisted that under no circumstances should Japan get an indemnity war-chest for future predatory operations, and perhaps did indirectly promise that she should have generous recognition in all her peaceful enterprises.

EXCLUSION OF JAPANESE.

In regard to the matter of coolie exclusion, the existing treaty is—no doubt because its makers on both sides meant it to be so—a model of ambiguity. While ensuring to each of the contracting parties absolute freedom to trade in the territory of the other, unrestricted admission of each to the ports of the other, etc., it specifically provides that nothing which it contains shall be construed in any way to "affect the laws, ordinances, and regulations with regard to trade, the immigration of labourers, police, and public security which are in force, or which, may hereafter be enacted in either of the two countries."

Washington maintains that this gives the right to exclude; Japan says it does not, because European immigrants are freely received; but has agreed for the sake of peace that she will voluntarily keep objectionable Japanese away; but wishes to have the point definitely cleared up in the next agreement. The present treaty may be denounced by either party after July 17th, 1911; but only after a year's notice; and five months therefore have gone by without either party venturing to make a positive move. But Japan has twice shifted her Washington Ambassadors; and has sent princes and potentates galore on American tours; and, as is believed, placed many scores of young men of attractive personality in the leading American universities—all for the purpose of getting a plain recognition of equal rights of entry with Italians and Russian, Jews and Polacks.

But the adverse sentiment of the Pacific states and of the Far West is adamantine; and no American administration could possibly get through the Senate a treaty admitting yellow men as permitted immigrants. To pass such a treaty would almost mean civil war; and in the middle and Atlantic states, the anti-Japanese feeling is not very much less decided than in the west.

WAITING FOR PANAMA CANAL.

The object of present American diplomacy is to prolong the negotiations until the canal is open; and, of course, the Japanese fully appreciate this phase of the controversy. The best feature of the situation is that as neighbours, living apart, but trading one with the other, both countries can help each other very greatly. Each produces many things that the other has not got, and can never easily get; and two or three centuries of profitable commerce might bring the average Japanese and the average American into the same relations of mutual respect and friendship that already prevail between the more enlightened and advanced representatives of both races. There are very many Americans who rank the yellow man Wu Ting Fang, for several years Chinese Ambassador at Washington, very little lower—if at all—than Emerson or Roosevelt, or even Lincoln or Washington. And at one American university, with 5000 students—more than a score of whom are Australians—a Chinaman last year took by vote second place, speaking English, of course, as a debater to send forth as a protagonist in oratorical contests with rival universities.

THE UNIVERSAL RACES' CONGRESS.

Next year, in July, at the Universal Races' Congress in London, all these matters will probably come up again, in even a more impressive form before the general public of the world; for the call to the meeting has been signed by eight British Premiers, and 12 British Governors, 25 presidents of Parliaments, 40 colonial bishops, and many other important persons hailing from no less than 50 countries.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

SUBURBAN AND COUNTRY EXAMINATION.

Appended is the second instalment of the results of the 1910 examinations of the suburban and country technical colleges and schools (except Newcastle).

All the results have now been published, excepting those for plumbing (all centres), bootmaking (Erskineville), and carpentry (Galston).

The honours passes only are published in order of merit.

Lacemaking.—First year—Honours: Clara Willard.

Geometrical Drawing (Day Carpenters).—First year—Honours: Arthur Morris.

Dressmaking (teachers' course).—First grade: Mary Kinnear, Winnie L. Gregory, Elsie V. Kessell, Isabell M. Elliott. Second grade: Jessie I. Linklater, Mary Macourt.

ADELONG.

Wood Carving.—First year—First grade: Maud Witts, Lilian M. West, Henry E. Lewis. Second grade: Lucy I. Foord, Mary J. Lewin.

ALBURY.

Chemistry.—First year—Second grade: Thomas S. Barling.

Carpentry.—First year—Second grade: Thomas S. Cosson.

Wood Carving.—First year—Second grade: Gertie Selle. Third year—Second grade: Helen L. Aikins.

Geometrical Drawing.—First year—Second grade: B. H. Jacobs.

Freehand Drawing.—First year—First grade: Osborne Abbott. Second grade: Louisa A. Fellowes, Hannah Ferguson, Essie Brann.

Agricultural Elementary.—First year—First grade: John E. Frew, Robert M. Bellis. Second grade: Henry J. Elliott.

Agriculture (advanced).—Second year—First grade: John N. Starkey.

Perspective.—First year—Honours: Robert M. Bellis. Second grade: Angelina E. Boyd, Thomas S. Barling.

Freehand Drawing.—Second year—First grade: Stanley Temple.

ARMIDALE.

Design.—First year—Second grade: Elsie M. Allen, Evelyn J. M'Intosh.

Wood Carving.—First year—Second grade: Ada L. Knapton. Second year—First grade: Lucy J. Mallam.

Freehand Drawing.—First year—First grade: John McN. Smyth, Marjorie Lewis, Isabel M'Bean, Evelyn J. M'Intosh, Albert J. M'Bean, Cyril Griffiths, Mary Pitkin, Leonard G. Webb, Pearl M'Laren. Second grade: Lizzie Star, Mary Mahoney, Marjorie C. Jackes, Hettie Benjamin, Phyllis M. Richardson, Regd. M'Donald, Arthur R. Chapple, Hilda B. Chapple, Archie J. Cunningham, Walter J. Williams.

Carpentry.—First year—Second grade: Evelyn J. M'Intosh.

Still Life Painting.—First year—Second grade: May Cropper, Isabel M'Bean. Second year—First grade: Elsie M. Allen. Second grade: Stella M'Alpine.

An interesting discovery has just been made at Wittenberg, in Saxon Prussia, which is of great interest to all Protestants. While repairing the weathercock of the town church, "Schlosskirche," the workmen found under the cross a metal ball, which they noticed would open. On examination it was found to contain two documents. One, dated 1530, is written by Martin Luther. This consists of four pages, of which three are written by the hand of the great reformer, the fourth, bearing an attestation to the fact that Luther had written the document himself. The second document, dated 1556, also of four pages, is written by Philip Melancthon, the friend and disciple of Luther, the handwriting bearing the characteristics of the "Confession of Ausbourg." Both these manuscripts will shortly be published. Both Luther and Melancthon are buried in the Schlosskirche.

SCROLL SALMON

SCROLL SALMON is one of the most important, nutritious, and appetising of fish foods. Its culinary advantages are as numerous as they are valuable. SCROLL SALMON may be eaten in so many different ways that it readily adapts itself to the requirements of breakfast, dinner, luncheon, or supper, giving a seasonable variety for every meal.

SCROLL SALMON has two opposite qualities of sterling merit. It may be served straight from the tin, for the fish is thoroughly and scientifically Cooked and sterilized during the process of canning. It is always ready for immediate use when the unexpected visitor comes along, or with very little trouble can be prepared to fill the more elaborate demands of a full-course dinner.

SCIENCE NOTES.

METALLIC RADIUM.

The method by which Curie and Debierne prepared metallic radium was as follows:—A liquid amalgam of radium was first prepared by electrolysing a solution of radium chloride by means of a cathode of metallic mercury and an anode of a platinum-iridium alloy; the amalgam was rapidly dried and placed in an iron boat, which was then heated in a quartz tube in an atmosphere of hydrogen, the pressure of which was maintained at a point above the pressure of the mercury vapour. After the most of the mercury had been expelled the temperature was raised, and the last of the volatile metal was driven off at about 700deg. C. The residue was a bright white metal, volatilising at a slightly higher temperature, and attacking the quartz tube. It blackened rapidly on exposure, apparently owing to the formation of nitride.

RECAPITULATION AND GEOLOGY.

Much argument centres in what is called the recapitulation or biogenetic law. If all organisms are connected in descent, it is reasonable to suppose that a particular individual in his development gives a sort of compressed summary of the history of the evolution of the animal or plant group to which he belongs. In brief, ontogeny recapitulates phylogeny. This statement has been severely criticised by embryologists, because they often fail to find the organism going through the intermediate forms required. It is perhaps true that the law was in the first case stated somewhat too crudely, and that more was expected of it than was reasonable. Taken broad and large, it undoubtedly holds; but details disappear, as they must necessarily do, in a recapitulation. It is interesting to note that paleontologists almost universally accept the recapitulation theory, the reason being that they compare adult stages with adult characters of geologically older species, while the embryologist is apt to compare embryonic stages with adult stages of existing species. It has also been pointed out that in recapitulation we have to do with morphological characters only, and that structures in two organisms may easily be morphologically the same, though physiologically different. More particularly in the case of the invertebrates is the paleontologist able to point to clear evidence of recapitulation.

GLACIATION AND CORAL REEFS.

The subsidence theory of coral reef formation has been for a long time at a discount, but the rival theory of elevation or accumulation on drowned volcanic peaks is equally weak. A novel suggestion is put forward by Daly. He supposes a positive movement in sea level in the coral reef zone, and tries to show that the melting of Pleistocene glaciers was the cause of this. Most of the plateaus from which annular and barrier reefs arise are credited to marine erosion on Tertiary islands, shoals, and continental shores. The author, of course, takes the view that quaternary glaciation affected both north and south hemispheres; the total glaciation area he estimates at six million square miles. The removal of water to form these huge and immensely thick ice sheets would tend to produce a general lowering of sea level; to say nothing of the gravitation effect of the ice. The author estimates that these causes would produce a general lowering of equatorial sea level by thirty fathoms. Conversely, when the ice melted there would be a corresponding rise. Pleistocene islands were subject to the attack of waves and currents operating near a sea-level which shifted up and down with the maximum and minimum of glaciation, and the net result was the preparation of broad benches or platforms at a depth of about twenty fathoms. Coral reef growth would thus be in the main post-glacial.

STEGOSAURUS UNGULATUS.

This armoured dinosaur was perhaps the most grotesque reptile the world ever saw. It was first described by Marsh in 1877, and he constantly added to our knowledge of it, so that a recently-erected model at Yale probably gives a very true impression of its appearance. It had a sharply arched vertebral column, a remarkably short neck, and small head, a lank, narrow body, and enormously strong limbs. The tail was armed with sharp plates and spikes, and was the animal's principal weapon. Huge dermal plates stick out all along the backbone. The teeth were small. The brain only weighed about two and a half ounces, though the animal was larger than an elephant. Elephant's brains weigh about eight pounds.

PLANT-ANIMALS.

Under this title F. Keeble describes some interesting cases of symbiosis, namely, those of two simple marine worms, the Convoluta. They are unsegmented animals about an eighth of an inch long, which may or may not form colonies. The bodies are slimy, and covered with cilia. But their special peculiarity is the presence of green or of yellow-brown cells just beneath the body surface; making the body look like a minute fragment of leaf under the microscope. Moreover, there is no circulatory or digestive system, which again makes the animal approximate to a plant. These marine worms, in fact, even when under close observation, have never been known to eat—except that very occasionally they eat each other. The explanation, of course, lies in the green or brown colour cells, which, after the manner of the similar cells in plants, manufacture foodstuffs from inorganic material. What then are these green cells? To begin with, the case is not unique, as similar cells appear in a few radiolaria, hydrocorallines, and other groups. It is next worthy of remark that while the adult does not eat, the young are voracious feeders, while the old eat the green cells themselves. These cells are, in fact, much modified simple algae, which have taken to living in the animal tissues. Where they come from, however, is a puzzle, for there are no green cells in the newly-hatched animal, and it is usually impossible to discover them in the water in which it is being grown in the laboratory. It has, however, been shown that they pass through a resting and colourless stage, during which the infection of the animal probably takes place.

SLEEP AND HIBERNATION.

Is man a hibernating animal? Probably it depends on circumstances, though most physiologists are inclined to deny true hibernation in man. Leaving out the stories of Indian fakirs, however, there is something very like hibernating among the Russian peasantry. A recent writer draws attention to their case. They suffer from chronic famine, which becomes more acute at the end of the year, and more or less severe according to circumstances. In these cases when the head of the family sees, towards the end of autumn, that by a normal consumption of their supply of wheat it will not last the family through the winter, he makes arrangements to diminish the rations as much as possible. Knowing that it will be difficult to preserve their health and keep up the physical force necessary for their work in the spring, he and his family plunge themselves into a condition known as "lokja," which means simply that everybody goes to bed, lying down on the top of the flat sleeping-place, and there they stay during the four or five months of winter. They get up during this time only to replenish the fire, eat a small piece of black bread, and take a small drink of water. The peasant and his family try to move as little as possible and sleep as much as they can. Stretched out on the brick stove top they preserve almost complete immobility. Their only care during the long winter is to keep down the body metabolism, to waste as little as possible of their animal heat, and for that reason they try to eat and drink less, move less, and generally to reduce the activities of their bodies. Their instinct commands them to sleep as much as possible—obscurity and silence reign in the hut, where, in the warmest place, either solitary or crowded, the occupants pass the winter season in a condition closely resembling hibernation.

"CRICKET REFORM!"

AUSTRALIAN INFLUENCES.

THE NO-BALL RULE.

A NEW SUGGESTION.

(BY DR. L. O. S. POIDEVIN.)

A number of ideas have sprung from the practice of the game in Australia. The general attitude of the Australian towards sport, as to almost everything else, is rather different from that of the Briton. Progress is his watchword; if anything he errs on the side of innovation. It is no argument with him that this or that custom will still do because it has answered its purpose for many years. It must answer the needs of the moment. That new ideas, under the circumstances, should frequently appear in regard to cricket in Australia is inevitable, and that they should sooner or later come up for review before county cricket authorities is the natural consequence of the comparatively frequent interchange of international visits. The new ball rule (i.e., a new ball every 200 runs), the "closure" custom, the "follow-on" rule, the "Saturday starts" to county matches are all evidences of Australian influences in English cricket.

It was "Archie" MacLaren who, within the last few years, suggested that it should be optional for the fielding side to have a new ball after every 200 runs scored with the old one. That did not in any way contain a criticism of the present-day make of cricket balls. If the ball be a bad one it can still be replaced at any time on appeal. I have seen a new ball requisitioned before 100 runs had been knocked out of it. No fewer than six new balls were used in the record innings (918 runs) of New South Wales against South Australia. In English county cricket the new ball rule was merely an imitation of the Australian custom, which had already been in vogue for very many years. It is a great help to the fielding side, more so in England than here; it gives new life, especially to the swerving bowlers, who can impart a great deal more swerve to their deliveries in the denser Northern atmosphere than is possible under Australian conditions. Hence the advent of the new ball brings about the termination of many a big partnership, and often disastrous results in the second half of the batting order.

Both the "closure" and the "follow-on" rules were amended to meet Australian conditions. More recently, some of the counties, hoping to give an invigorating tonic to their financial indisposition, have tried to imitate us again by commencing one of their weekly first-class matches on a Saturday. There are many other examples that one might mention of colonial "influences" in the direction of reform adopted by English cricketing authorities, and some also, such as, the improved scoring board at the Sydney Cricket Ground, that have never "caught on."

The suggestion of the M.C.C. committee that the no-ball rule should be altered so that: "The no-ball becomes dead immediately on its being called. Two runs shall be added to the score under the heading of 'no balls'" is quite a new one. It is not the least likely to develop into one of the several hardy annuals which, like the spirit of cricket reform itself, blossom into transitory flower usually some time before the serious business of each season begins, and wither away without bearing any but journalistic fruit. This suggestion survived the secretaries' meeting at Lords in December, and, being made into a definite proposal, has been submitted to the counties and other cricket bodies for consideration.

The proposed alteration is not framed, as has been supposed here, primarily in order to increase the penalty for carelessness in delivery, though most cricketers, I fancy, would support it on this ground alone. Two runs added to the score for every no-ball might very well become a serious consideration for those bowlers who are not too particular about their delivery. Of course, hitherto, the no-ball promptly "called" by a good umpire, always gave the resourceful and aggressive batsman an excellent opportunity for hitting a "boundary," and adding, thereby, four runs to his own and his team's aggregate without risk. That opportunity would be cancelled by the new proposal, and it is just a question of practical experience whether the penalty to the bowler and to his side is actually increased or not. Probably, since there is an additional proposal that the two runs for each no-ball should be debited to the bowler's own average account, some of those bowlers who have grow careless may be induced to exercise more care bout their delivery in future. In any case, the proposed new rule would admit of very straightforward and unambiguous interpretation, and it would be a welcome reform even on that account alone.

The most urgently needed reform, however, in my opinion, is one that I am glad to have this opportunity of bringing forward, largely because it is one that might easily be pioneered upon our own world-famous cricket ground—the Sydney Cricket Ground. Now, it always seems to me one of the anomalies of our summer game that we allow the weather to mar the progress of it to an inordinate degree, even to completely spoiling it as a test of relative merit and skill, and all we do is to regard these things as "the luck of the game." Over and over again, in the experience of every one of us, has this "luck of the game" decided the issue of particular matches, apart altogether from every other consideration. It has done so for years and years, and it will continue to do so until some active steps are taken towards equality of conditions for both sides. The first Test match on the Sydney Cricket Ground against the South Africans might be taken, for instance, as an excellent example in order to emphasise the desirability of instituting a reform in this direction. On that occasion, owing to the heavy rain, the South Africans batted under conditions entirely different from those experienced by our men. Under the circumstances the match quite lost its significance as a test. Everyone, I think, must be agreed that everything possible ought to be done to bring about, as far as possible, equal conditions of play for both sides, especially in Test cricket. My suggestion is that a covering should be used for the pitch, to be brought into use at any time when necessary, after the commencement of the match, when play is not in progress.

The salient point is that it should come into operation only after the beginning of the match, the idea being merely to preserve the initial conditions, whatever they may be, throughout the game. Please note I do not say anything about covering the pitch before the game begins. The Australians in the first test match recently enjoyed in their innings the most perfect batting conditions obtainable; why should we not endeavour to preserve those conditions for the enjoyment also of our visitors? To-morrow the tables may be turned. It is true that we do make some attempt towards preserving an equality of conditions in the daily use of the roller; and it is true also that we go further in our attempts in this country than they do elsewhere. I refer to the rolling of the wicket at the close of the day's play when rain has interfered or when that rolling is calculated to improve the condition of the wicket. But the rolling at best is only an effort to correct the damage done by the rain. Does it not seem more rational to endeavour to prevent that damage being done? Objection may be taken to the suggestion on the score of practicability. Well, I have no doubt whatever upon that score. Last season in England the Surrey Club devised and used a tarpaulin structure as a covering, not only for the holes made by the bowler and the place where the batsman stands, but also extending the whole length of an ordinary bowler's run. This tarpaulin was raised in the centre, and the water after running to the sides was collected and conducted right away from the centre of the field through an appropriate length of hosepiping. I need not go into any further details. The object of the whole thing was to prevent delay in re-starting the play after rain, by ensuring a sound foothold for the bowler the moment rain ceased, the customary reason for delay being the difficulty likely to be experienced by both bowler and batsman in getting a reasonable foothold, despite the liberal use of sawdust. The moment the players were driven off the field by rain at the Oval last season out came three or four attendants, and the structures were quickly placed in position at both ends. As soon as rain ceased under ordinary circumstances, the structures being quickly removed, it was possible to resume play at once. To my mind, it is only a question of degree to the covering of the whole pitch. By so doing the initial condition of the pitch would be preserved as far as possible throughout the game; moreover there would be none of those tedious delays waiting for the pitch to dry. During non-rainy periods spectators would always be certain of seeing play; but the many advantages are too obvious to need recapitulation or emphasis. I commend the suggestion to the practical genius of the Sydney Cricket Ground authorities as an opportunity of bringing about the most desirable reform in the game of cricket. All other reforms are dwarfed into insignificance beside the simple but eminently practical measure.

IN THE GARDEN.

SUMMER TREATMENT OF HEDGES.

During recent years much attention has been given to plants most suitable for hedges, which, in many gardens, have superseded wooden fences, always out of place amongst handsome shrubs and beautiful flowers. It is often necessary, of course, to maintain a paling or similar boundary fence to protect the garden from animals, etc.; but beyond that wooden fences are often a decided eyesore. Well-grown and carefully-tended hedges answer the double purpose of ornament and shelter from prevailing winds to more dwarf and tender vegetation, besides screening any unsightly objects from view. Recently-planted hedges should receive frequent attention during the growing period. All the developing shoots should be kept clipped fairly short in order to ensure a dense growth at the bottom, without which a hedge soon becomes unsightly, and the young plants should be kept free from weeds and grass. Established hedges, formed of such plants as duranta, hawthorn, olive, privet, saltbush, and those having small leaves, may be kept in a trim condition with a pair of garden shears. But those composed of plants having comparatively large leaves, like the common laurel, should be pruned with a knife or secateur to avoid disfiguring the foliage, for that would be inevitable if shears were used in the trimming operation. This summer treatment does not, of course, apply to Tecoma capensis and similar plants, which are grown as permanent floral hedges, and are still in bloom. In such cases only the too-vigorous-growing, non-flowering shoots should be shortened, and the annual trimming deferred until the blooming period is over. Old hedges that are badly infested with the Indian wax scale may be relieved of this insect pest by the infested branches and foliage being thoroughly syringed with a solution consisting of one and a half pound of washing soda dissolved in four gallons of water.

HIPPEASTRUMS.

Amongst the many exotic very beautiful flowering bulbous plants that can be successfully grown in Australian gardens, none have received more attention at the hands of both professional and amateur horticulturists than hippeastrums. Soon after the introduction of these plants successful attempts were made to improve them by cross-fertilisation, and the work is still being carried on with most gratifying results. Those who have had the privilege of inspecting the famous European collections of hippeastrums cannot but admire the excellent work that has been done in New South Wales. Many of the locally-raised varieties are of a high order of merit, and compare most favourably with the best the world has produced. Their rather tall stems are surmounted by large funnel-shaped flowers of every shade of colour, the white and dark crimson ones being particularly fine. Some of the blooms are elegantly striped and mottled, whilst in others the richest colours are blended. In the coast districts the season has arrived for planting the bulbs to produce flowers in late spring and early summer. Hippeastrums will grow on a variety of soils, provided they are of good depth and well drained, but the best results are obtained on deep, fairly strong, rich loam. They produce the most brilliant effect in bloom when grown in a bed by themselves, provided their colours are arranged to harmonise; but they show to advantage when planted in groups of three or five at intervals in the mixed flower borders. The large bulbs should be planted one foot or more apart, but the smaller ones will not require so much room. After the bulbs are planted it is not advisable to disturb them until they become over-crowded. When planting, the crown of a well-developed bulb should be left covered with about three inches of fine, light soil. In the cold districts these bulbs should be grown in pots under glass to attain perfection.

NOTES.

On some rockeries in the neighbourhood of Sydney Crassula coccinea is now producing its scarlet flowers very freely, and they make a brilliant display. This easily-cultivated succulent plant thrives in ordinary sandy loam in dry situations, and is admirably adapted for growing in vases in the open in the warmer parts of the State, but requires the protection of a glasshouse to grow it successfully in the colder districts. Fine specimens can be grown in ordinary flower-pots.

Crocosmea aurea, the Cape crocus, is now flowering very profusely in some gardens. It's brilliant orange-red flowers, which are well displayed on long stalks, produce a fine effect in the borders. The Cape crocus is an easily-cultivated, hardy, perennial bulbous plant, thriving on well-drained, rich, sandy soils.

Calodendron capense, the Cape chestnut, is one of the most handsome, umbrageous, evergreen, exotic trees in cultivation. In some parks and gardens in the coast districts just now this very fine tree is literally covered with richly-coloured, pinkish heliotrope flowers, producing a very beautiful effect. The Cape chestnut is well worth planting, where it is not already growing, if plenty of room is available. It thrives in any good garden soil.

If any dahlias still remain unplanted they should be got in without further delay. Vigorous young plants set out now in the coast districts in deep, rich soils, will with ordinary care and attention, produce flowers in profusion about Easter time, when the finest blooms of the season are usually developed.

In order to have pansies in bloom in early winter in the coast districts the seed should be sown this month or early next month, preferably in a shallow, well-drained seed box that has been filled nearly to the rim with fairly rich, light, sandy soil, pressed firmly down. On the smooth, level surface the seed should be sown very thinly and evenly, and left only very lightly covered with fine soil. Place the sand box in a shady, but airy, position, and never allow the soil to become dry or germination will be retarded. The seedlings must never be allowed to suffer from the want of moisture at the roots.

Wallflower seed may now be sown in the warmer parts of the State to provide for plants for flowering during the coming winter and spring. The seed should be sown under similar conditions to those recommended in this column last month for stocks.

On the eastern side of the Dividing Range small sowings may be made of candytuft, cornflower, and English marigold, to provide plants for flowering in early winter. A little mignonette seed may also be sown, but this is best done where the plants are to grow and flower, for the seedlings do not bear transplanting very well.

In the coast districts seeds of anemones and ranunculuses may now be sown in light, rich soil, and with a little care and attention the resulting seedlings will flower freely in spring. It is too early to plant the tubers of these charming and very beautiful flowering plants. When the proper season arrives it will be noted in this column.

The autumn-flowering climbing plants are developing great growth since the bounteous rainfall. All the shoots should be regulated and evenly trained to their supports, so that when in bloom they will show to the best possible advantage. If any climbers have put forth coarse, succulent shoots that are not likely to produce flowers they should be removed or well shortened, for if allowed to remain they will only rob the flowering ones of their nourishment.

BUSHHOUSE.

Where the recent heavy rainfall has washed some of the soil out of the flower pots, tubs, or hanging baskets, the space should be filled up with new compost as soon as possible, for the plants will be likely to suffer if the surface roots are left exposed too long.

If the golden-rayed lily of Japan, Lilium auratum, is grown in pots or tubs in the bushhouse (and the plant thrives and flowers more profusely in this structure than in the open in this part of Australia), it will now require attention. Before the gorgeous and lovely flowers expand, the stems, if weak, should be tied to neat stakes to keep them in an upright position. Care must be taken when driving the stakes into the soil that the bulbs and roots are not injured. If the soil in which they are growing is not too rich the plants will be greatly benefited by receiving an occasional watering of weak liquid manure.

Cyclamen tubers that have been at rest since the last flowering season may now be started into growth again to provide plants for blooming in winter and early spring. If the tubers have been resting in the soil in which they were growing last year, carefully remove them from it, and repot them in a compost consisting of two-thirds fibrous, sandy loam, and the remaining portion of equal parts of leaf mould and well-decayed cow manure, all thoroughly incorporated. Place each tuber in a well-drained four-inch flower pot, and do not cover it too deeply with soil. Water very carefully until growth becomes active.

Now that many pot plants are growing vigorously they should be turned round on the staging occasionally, for unless the light is equal all round them they will make one-sided growth, more especially in a lean-to structure.

POULTRY.

Questions relating to fancy or commercial poultry keeping, diseases, etc, should be addressed to "Ancona," Herald Office.

Eastwood.—What appears to be a growth around the eyes is either a swelling through a cold and the forerunner of roup, or some tubercular deposit. At any rate it will be quite safe for you to foment occasionally with hot water and dry thoroughly.

Wentworth.—It is quite easy to know when a fowl is crop bound. The crop is full and hard, and withholding food does not relieve it. Pour three or four tablespoonfuls of warm water down the bird's throat, knead the outside of the crop with the fingers, then take the bird by the legs with head hanging down, and squeeze and work the crop gently. She can thus be relieved of the accumulation through her mouth. Do not keep her in this position long at a time or she may choke. After one or two such operations a teaspoonful of sweet or salad oil should be given, when she will likely be all right.

The Bungalow.—Some ducks and fowls occasionally lay very large eggs and also very small ones. All breeders experience this. Instances of one small egg being found within a large one are not uncommon. These are all abnormalities, and the birds producing them are either too fat or have ovarium or oviduct disease. No need to forward the egg as suggested. The birds which lay these abnormalities are unprofitable.

Poultry men the present week should be in high glee at the distinct advance in the price of eggs, 1s 6d per dozen being freely quoted. The advance of 2d or more in the week was largely the result of restricted supplies, due to the weather, which affected production. But even when normal conditions return the hens will be largely going into moult, and it is scarcely likely that a reduction will take place. Certainly by March there will be an increase.

At a recent meeting of the Orpington Club of New South Wales, Mr. J. Gamble presiding, a satisfactory annual report of the club's doings was presented. The following officers were elected for the current year:—President, Mr. W. C. Forster; vice-presidents, Mesdames Scott and Waldron, Messrs. H. A. Jones, L. Rolleston, J. Gamble, W. H. Jones, C. A. Cameron, E. A. Thomas; committee, E. Waldron, C. H. Hawkes, A. G. Greenwood, W. C. Mann, H. Ekin, W. Bastin, E. Thornton, H. Minogue; hon. secretary, W. C. Warner. A list of contributors to a prize fund in connection with the club's show was presented. The date of the show will shortly be announced.

At a recent meeting of the Parramatta Poultry Society, the resignation of the secretary, Mr. A. Robinson, was announced. The vacancy was filled by the election of Mr. W. Hemsworth, of Wyandotte Grange, Parramatta.

The secretary of the Utility Poultry Club of Christchurch, N.Z., forwards the schedule for the seventh annual egg-laying competition, to be held in the club's property at Papanui, commencing on April 1. The pens are to consist of six birds each, between five and twelve months of age. The entrance fee is two guineas per pen, and a five shillings club entry fee. The pen laying the most marketable eggs in twelve months will receive £10. The sum of £50 is divided among the other leading competitors. A duck competition is also to be held on similar lines. A New South Wales breeder won the second test of the above club, and perhaps some of the State's good breeders many again try for the big money.

The climatic and other conditions for poultry keeping must be ideal at Gatton College (Q.), for every year from the first egg-laying competition till the present time of year records, both individually and collectively, have been put up there. In the current competition, as will be seen from the following figures, although second to Roseworthy in the three highest pens, Gatton leads in the average for the whole competition for the nine months.

	Per hen for nine months.
ROSEWORTHY, S.A.
A. H. Padman, W. L.	193
Mrs. A. E. Kinnear, W. L.	191
Moritz Bros. W. L.	189
GATTON, Q.
A. H. Padman, W. L.	186
R. H. Porter, W. L.	184
Mrs. A. E. Kinnear, W. L.	183
HAWKESBURY.
F. J. Brierley, W. L.	180
H. Hammill, W. L.	172
Hillcrest Farm, W. L.	170

The average for the entire flocks are as follows:—Gatton: 150 hens, average per hen for nine months, 162.

Roseworthy: 534 hens, average per hen for nine months, 154.

Hawkesbury: 240 hens, average per hen for nine months, 140.

At Subiaco (W.A.) competition, A. H. Padman's pen leads with the big record of 190 eggs per hen for eight months; and at the Roseworthy test for heavy breeds, Cowan Bros., of this State, continue at top with Black Orpingtons.

A late issue of the English "Feathered World" says:—"Messrs. Whittaker and Tootill have sold to an Australian customer, who has visited their yards, for delivery after Sheffield, their first and special Crystal Palace White Orpington cockerel, at what is, we think, a record price for a youngster. The cockerel is to be accompanied by the hen winner first and special for best in show Cresswell, first Saddleworth, etc., and a very choice 1910 pullet." The cockerel won at the Palace show in a class of 30, and, with the three other winners, were described as follows:—1, Whittaker and Tootill, all to be desired in colour, lacks graceful curves, crooked breast, inclined to roach back; 2, Bell, we prefer, good size better curves, pure colour, beautiful type, eye, bone, legs, and feet; 3, Gilbert, rare eye, head and type, and low set; 4, Countess of Derby pretty type, good colour and eye. The description is not a flattering one for such a coveted position in a popular breed at the most classical poultry show in the world, and brought denials from the owners. The reporter, however, who is also a prominent judge, replied confirming his statement, and concludes:—"I appreciated my duty fully, and wrote my criticisms honestly and without fear, favour, or affection, and while I did not agree with the Orpington judges in every instance, I believe they acted bona-fide, and judged according to their lights."

The three classical poultry shows of England are the Dairy, the Palace, and Birmingham, which usually take place in the order named in October, November, and December. Particulars of the last—the 62nd show of the Birmingham Agricultural Society—are to hand. The entries in poultry were in excess of the previous year, a feature being the very large entry of Cochins, a breed now extinct in this State. The Birmingham show is always noted for its great display of Game fowls, and despite the breed's decadence there was a splendid entry, some of the classes receiving over 20 exhibits, while a total of over 400 of the several varieties of the breed appeared. Table poultry is a prominent feature of this show. The birds are shown and judged alive, killed and exhibited the following days. In a class of 19 crossbreds for table, the Earl of Plymouth won first and second with Indian Game-Buff Orpingtons and Indian Game-Dorkings, 6½ months of age. E. Frome was third with Indian Game-Orpingtons. The Duke of Sutherland was reserve, and Lord Rothschild h.c. Indian Game-Dorking won for Mr. Frome in the pullet class; the Earl of Plymouth second and third with the same cross as his winners in the cockerels. In a class for eggs preserved four months, waterglass was the preservative used by both first and second winners, while some of the others were heard of a few days after the show at an election meeting. Birmingham Agricultural Show has long been noted for its great turkey display, and the late event was no exception. There were 12 entries in the cock class, and 10 hens, and a huge display of 40 cockerels and 19 pullets, all of the bronze variety. The exhibits in whites numbered a dozen. The section was described as the best ever seen at Birmingham, several of the cockerels weighing up to 30lb each, the old birds going from 33lb to 39lb each.

While several Continental countries and America, which supply England with poultry and eggs, are now, through increased local consumption, restricting their shipments to that country, new sources of supplies are occasionally announced. The latest is China, whose initial trial consignment of dairy produce reached England 18 months ago, and which was so favourably received that others followed, the successes culminating in a full steamer-load, which reached London in December last, and embraced the following huge quantities:—9226 packages of frozen eggs, 6270 carcases of frozen pigs, 8083 carcases of frozen wild ducks, 1504 packages of lard, 3744 packages of frozen wild geese, 3716 packages of frozen wild snipe, 1690 packages of beans, 500 packages of frozen wild ducks, 1883 barrels of pickled pork, 130lb of caviare, and a large quantity of frozen salmon. Dr. Hoee, medical officer of health for the city, stated that the Chinese consignment was absolutely correct so far as health and Government regulations were concerned, and was, of course, admitted and certified in the ordinary way. From the above it will be seen the Chinese are thoroughly acquainted with the English taste for assorted game.

A TEN-YEAR-OLD SWIMMER.

Leslie Mawer, aged 6 years, was playing with a number of other boys on Brown's wharf, Woolloomooloo Bay, on Monday, when he overbalanced, and fell into the water. The cries of his comrades attracted the attention of John Dunn, a 10-year-old schoolboy, who was standing on the wharf. Without divesting himself of his clothing he jumped in, and succeeded in catching hold of the drowning boy. A landing could not be effected at the spot, so Dunn placed the boy on his back, and swam a distance of 30 yards to a timber punt, where they were hauled out. Edgar Gray, 18, dived in almost at the same time as Dunn, but was outstripped by the latter in the rescue race. Superintendent Sherwood, on receiving his report, forwarded it on to the Inspector-General, with the recommendation that the boy's gallant conduct should be brought under the notice of the proper authorities.

BICYCLES AND MOTOR CARS.

"TRIUMPHS" ARE TRUSTWORTHY— THEY ARE WORTH ALL THEY COST.

They are made for the men who prize dependability and simplicity above all else. That is why "Triumphs" are so popular with doctors, commercials, and others whose work takes them out in all weathers, and over all roads.

They are the machines that are built for service—hard service, and lots of it. The engine is powerful, operates at a high speed on the hills, and never gives rise to troubles which inferior workmanship or materials would cause.

Yet the price for a "Triumph" is but £67/10/—not expensive for the high-grade machine you get in exchange.

If you would like to arrange for a trial trip you can easily prove all the claims we have made, and it will not bind you in any way. Telephone or call and let us show you one.

Or, if you cannot call during the day time, remember our Pitt-street Depot is open till 9 p.m. on Fridays. Write for Catalogue if it is impossible for you to get in.

THE ORIGINAL GOOD CARS. RENAULT AND WOLSELEY.

The reputation of these Cars dates back to the pioneering days of motoring.

They were then the world's best cars, and to-day they are still foremost, both in quality and in numbers.

The name of Renault or Wolseley (Vickers, Son, and Maxim, Ltd.), on a motor car is sufficient guarantee of its worth.

MOTOR LORRIES.

FOR LIGHT LOADS, 10cwt and 20cwt.

The Renault light lorry is a speciality in itself, and it has no equal for work of this description. The chief points are:—

Strength, Simplicity, both in driving and mechanical construction, and low maintenance cost. Prices of complete chassis, £375 and £475.

BELSIZE CARS.

14/16-H.P., £425. 20/30-H.P., £500.

The finest example of British manufacture at so low a cost is only obtained in the Belsize. Silent and sweet-running, plenty of reserve power on hills. Unequalled durability.

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT

of the great part the Carburettor plays in the successful running of your car? Ignition, Engine, transmission, etc., can be in the best of order, but without a Carburettor giving good results the car is very little better than an old crock. Have you ever had the WHITE and POPPE explained to you. Although you may not require a Carburettor, the W. and P. is well worth seeing. The sensational speeds obtained at Brooklands (Eng.) in the Vauxhall v Star Match were by cars using W. and P. Carburettors. Seven out of eight aeroplanes competing for the De Forest Trophy, also a great number of well-known airmen, are using the W. and P. When their lives depend on perfect mixture and greatest reliability the W. and P. is chosen. There must be something in it. If you are in need of a Carburettor (it is cheaper in the long run to have the best) ask for the WHITE and POPPE.

BICYCLES AND MOTOR CARS.

NEW CARS AT ANGUS'.

THE "FLANDERS" (20-H.P.) AND THE "E.M.F." (30-H.P.).

A FOREWORD:

For half a century, we have made and imported the highest class of vehicles used in Australia. We go always after the best in its class. We never have handled, and never will handle, second-rate goods. Since adding the sale of motor cars to our long-established business, we have made great headway, notably with the magnificent "ARMSTRONG-WHITWORTH" car. Most of these superb vehicles (ordered from the greatest engineering firm in Great Britain) have been bespoke before arrival, and stand unchallenged to-day as the finest examples of motor-mechanics ever seen in the Commonwealth. In commercial motors our "ARROL-JOHNSTON" (of the type used by Shackleton on the South Polar ice) is doing fine work all over N.S.W., users writing us in enthusiastic terms of its qualities as a saver of time, labour, and expense. Again, we say, we always go after the best in its class.

THE TWO NEW CARS.

These are from America. From the 55-year-old and world-famous house of Studebaker. They are submitted now as representing the best brains in the automobile industry of the States. Enormous capital has been sunk in the enterprise, enabling Studebaker's to put forward two cars that, while moderately priced, are of splendid construction, and equipped with latest improvements, while costly experimentation has given place to standardisation throughout.

The "FLANDERS" is a 20-H.P. MAGNETO-EQUIPPED, 4-CYLINDER RUNABOUT, designed and manufactured, respectively, by men at the summit of their profession—Flanders and Heaslett, the latter renowned as manufacturer of some of the highest-priced cars in the States. The "FLANDERS" is backed by Studebaker's 55-years' reputation, and most Americans in N.S.W. will tell you what a guarantee that signifies! The "FLANDERS" was secured by us to meet local conditions. It has extra-high clearance, very quick turn, will stand wear and tear, runs smoothly and surely, and is particularly light on tyres. In addition, it is equipped with acetylene headlights and generator, side lights, folding-glass screen and horn. Its low cost (£250) has only been made possible by the enormous number turned out annually, and we recommend it to our customers. Had we not been prepared to do this, we should not have taken the agency.

The "E.M.F." is a 30-H.P., 4-CYLINDER, 5-PASSENGER TOURING CAR, equipped similarly to the "FLANDERS." Perfect manufacturing organisation and long experience together enable the "E.M.F.," like the "FLANDERS," to be turned out in huge numbers, and, therefore, at moderate cost. We have been fortunate in getting this agency. We are confident the "E.M.F." will sell fast when its qualities become known. All essential features of the high-priced car are in the "E.M.F." The workmanship is sound and honest; there is no cheap material, and we unhesitatingly recommend the car. Both Studebaker's name and our own go with these cars.

"CLEMENT-BAYARD" MOTOR CARS, 1911 MODELS.

The first shipment of 1911 Models just arrived is creating a sensation among Motorists, as they are three years ahead of other Cars.

The improvements shown are the latest evolved in Motor science to simplify and perfect Motor traction.

The new features of interest are the Thermo-syphon water cooling, with a fan in the centre of the tank, and radiators at the sides, thus ensuring a continuous run of hundreds of miles without heating.

The introduction of a new form of Axle, giving high clearance; an assemblage of parts, giving extreme accessibility; a novel, artistic tapered bonnet, on hinges.

The suspension of the body by lubricated new balance arrangements.

The use of greatly-improved Carburetter, and the utilisation of part of the exhaust round it to accelerate vaporisation, and a number of smaller improvements, that all tend to simplify and perfect the Car.

A new system of automatic lubrication, that saves 75 per cent. of oil bills, and yet is simply fool-proof, and prevents under or over lubrication.

A new device, doing away with all back kicks. A new foot brake, adjustable without a spanner.

Every part is SO SIMPLIFIED that A CHILD CAN EASILY DRIVE THE CAR.

The thousand and one details that Motorists know make for perfect running, and the exhilaration that results from the Car simply springing at a touch of the accelerator.

"CLEMENT-BAYARD" CARS are made by Mr. A. Clement in his great works at Levallois, Paris, where 3000 men are constantly employed. He is recognised as one of (if not the) leading Motor Engineers of Europe, and all his latest triumphs appear in the 1911 Model Cars just to hand.

When the British Government wanted huge Motors for the three great War Dirigibles, now building, they went to the "Clement-Bayard's" Works for them.

When a nation's very existence might depend on a Motor, must be ensured, and that is the characteristic of "Clement-Bayards." In addition to this they are framed for great strength (yet lightness) and power, to stand up against hard, continuous wear, and yet they are extremely light on tyres and naphtha.

RELIABILITY

Call and allow us to explain the reasons why our prices for Cars generally, Commercial Lorries, and High-wheel Buggies, will be found to be 25 per cent. lower than the usual Sydney quotations.

8 14 H.P. 4-CYLINDER, with DOUBLE PHAETON, Side Entrance Body, with Detachable Back, £375.

20-30 H.P. "CLEMENT-BAYARD" SIX-CYLINDER with side entrance body, for five, £575.

F.I.A.T.S ARE GOOD ON ANY ROAD.

They are just as reliable and trustworthy on rough country roads as they are when bowling along the paved streets of the city.

They start gently, run smoothly, and are so comfortable that they help you realise the joys of motoring to the fullest extent.

The H.P. available are 12-15, 15-20, and 28-35, and a Special New Six-cylinder 20-30 h.p. Model. Ask to see the new 2-ton F.I.A.T. Commercial Lorry.

"ROVERS" ARE RELIABLE.

The "Rover" is one of the best cars in this class that you can get.

THE 8-10 H.P. DE DION IS A DOCTOR'S CAR,

Or a car for any other man who requires a thoroughly reliable, speedy, silent machine that he can depend on to take him "there and back" with the least delay. We are making a very decided cut in the price of a small shipment now here.

THE CLAYTON "KARRIER" COMMERCIAL LORRY

is easily the best one on the market. Let us give you full details of the size you need.

THE LATEST SUCCESS.

The moderate-priced car that is built as well as any car can be built, is the 30-H.P. COLE, 30-H.P.

It has ample power; it runs smoothly and sweetly; it is beautiful to look at, and is a prize-winner for speed, economy, and endurance.

The COLE RECORDS for April and May, 1910, are:—April 9: WORLD'S RECORD, 50-MILE RACE, Los Angeles, 43 minutes 19 seconds. April 17: FIRST PRIZE, 10-MILE RACE, Los Angeles, 8 minutes 16 seconds. May 5, 6, and 7: FIRST PRIZE, ATLANTA, 15, 60, and 12 Mile Races. May 15: FIRST PRIZE, 24-HOUR ENDURANCE RACE. May 19: FIRST PRIZE, CHICAGO, FUEL ECONOMY TEST, average 23.6 miles per gallon. These prizes were won against the most expensive cars in America.

We shall be pleased to supply further information upon application.

We are Agents for the famous British Car,

THE SHEFFIELD-SIMPLEX,

THE MARVEL OF SCIENTIFIC SIMPLICITY. We can show many testimonials in praise of this car from experienced Motorists.

We are also Agents for the T.A.C. (Touring Auto Cycle), combining the comfort of the car with the adaptability of the Motor Cycle.

BRUSH RUNABOUTS, £150.

FOR COMMERCIAL USE AND LIGHT DELIVERY,
1900 TO 1911.

ONE MODEL, AND THAT PERFECT.

This is the time to introduce the BRUSH as a Light Delivery and Traveller's Car. Sound business propositions.

MR. BUSINESS MAN.—This is NOT an unreasonable proposition. The little BRUSH Car is as well able to stand commercial work and hard unsparing use as any car built. You have heaps of work for a little delivery car, which will carry heavy parcels, and as a Runabout will slip through the traffic and save one hour of your well-filled day.

There are several BRUSH Cars fitted for parcel delivery and commercial work now running about the city.

Ask the owners what they cost to run—how much time they save. Give the BRUSH fair consideration as a business proposition, and you will find that it has made good in Factories, Department Stores, Breweries, etc., in America, and that it is a coming factor in your business.

Public Service Board,
4 O'Connell-street, Sydney,
25th January, 1911.

APPLICATIONS are invited for the following Positions, and should be made on a form for the purpose, obtainable at the Office of the Board or from Clerks of Petty Sessions in country districts, and must reach the undersigned not later than the dates specified:—

MONDAY, 6th FEBRUARY, 1911.

SANITARY INSPECTOR, Department of Public Health. General Division. Salary, £210 per annum. Applicants must not be more than 40 years of age, must hold a certificate of competency as a Sanitary Inspector. Practical experience in discharging the duties of a Sanitary Inspector is desirable. Other things being equal, preference will be given to candidates who are also tradesmen. Applicants already permanently employed in the Public Service will receive first consideration.

TEACHERS FOR ARTISAN AND COMMERCIAL SCHOOLS.

Applications are invited from persons qualified to act as Teachers of Woodwork (Carpentry) in Artisan Schools, and as Teachers in Business Principles and Practice and Shorthand in the Commercial Schools to be opened in February under the Department of Public Instruction. The positions will be temporary, and pay will be at the rate of 5s per hour for Woodwork and Shorthand, and at the rate of 10s per hour for Business Principles and Practice. Applicants should state their qualifications, and furnish testimonials as to character and efficiency. Those who have had previous teaching experience should give information regarding such experience.

SEAMEN (temporary) on Pilot Steamers, Sydney and Newcastle. The rate of pay is £111 per annum, increasing by annual increments of £5 up to a maximum of £132 per annum, subject to satisfactory service and to Parliament providing the necessary funds. Applicants should be not more than 40 years of age, and have served at least four years before the mast. They will be required to pass a medical examination, and also the eyesight test prescribed by the Departmental Regulations. The names of selected applicants will be entered in the Board's books for consideration as vacancies occur. Their employment will be subject to the provisions of section 44 of the Public Service Act, 1902, and should they be retained beyond that period therein prescribed will be subject to the provisions of section 3 of the Public Service (Superannuation) Act, 1903.

By order of the Board,
(9a-87) R. A. GILFILLAN, Secretary.

MACHINERY.

A LITTLE BETTER THAN SEEMS NECESSARY.

That is the principle upon which THE DEPENDABLE ATLAS is built.

Atlas indisputable records prove that it pays to do it, even though it costs us more. The satisfaction to Atlas buyers proves that it pays, because they always get an engine that will do more than we claim for it. Six months' Australian sales show that the principle is right, because we cannot supply engines for bulls now building by the time they are completed. That alone should be reason enough for YOU to investigate the Atlas.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

A PICTURESQUE WARFARE.

There is a picturesque war being waged in this State—a war requiring vigilance, skill, and pluck. Yet little is heard of it. In the far north-eastern corner of New South Wales, where the sparkling waters of the Tweed River—fed by the copious rains of that sub-tropical region—thread their way around innumerable brush-covered hills, spangled here and there with the brighter green of the canefields and paspalum pastures, lurks a great danger to this State's most profitable industries. It is the dreaded cattle tick, the living instrument which creates tick fever in bovines, and spreads that deadly complaint and the equally virulent redwater. This is why the tick is being fought so sedulously by the Stock Department of this State. The pest has threatened danger for some 12 years, and for seven years the struggle was confined to the borderland of this State and Queensland, when the vigilance of the border guards was at last beaten. The first ticks to gain ingress into the Tweed country made hosts of a team of working bullocks. This caused general dismay, as this particular team had been worked almost from one end of the Tweed to the other. This fact necessitated the establishment of a quarantine area large enough to more than cover the ground over which the team of bullocks had operated.

Then commenced a relentless effort to eradicate the tick from the quarantine area. So far honours are almost even, and the struggle has extended over a period of four years. Some idea of how effectually the pest is being kept in check may be gauged from the chief inspector's report for the six months ended December 31 last, which shows that of 149,314 head of cattle examined during that period, only 74 head were found to be tick-infested—and in nearly every instance the infestation was limited to one tick, invariably a female. Whilst, unfortunately, the tick has not been eradicated, still, invaluable work has been accomplished by reducing the evil to a minimum. The warfare against the pest has been so sedulous that the pest has not increased in numbers since it first made its advent over the border. This check to the pest's numerical increase has completely nullified the dangers which follow in its wake—tick fever and redwater. But the same cannot be said of the contiguous Queensland country, where the ticks exist in countless millions, and where tick fever and redwater are as recurrent as the rains of that region.

In this stalwart fight against an ever-threatening danger, there is much of the picturesque. It is war of a kind, bloodless war, but not the less grim. And the aim of the campaign is serious enough, for defeat may mean devastation to the dairy and beef herds of this country. A prevailing opinion fosters the belief that climatic conditions are a natural protection against the enemy, that the tick can only exist within certain boundaries, and beyond that nothing need be feared. But as we have previously pointed out, this is an opinion or theory that has not been proved. To practically prove or test it means an enormous risk, a risk too great to be tolerated. There is only too much reason to fear that the tick would flourish right down south through this State and Victoria, at least in the humid coastal country, and such a prospect is appalling. It points alone to the necessity of making this a Federal work, and alone portrays in full earnestness the value of the war that is being waged by the stock officers. And as we have said, there is certainly a picturesque interest about that work, a touch of the famous old-time American Cowboy days, although to the people vitally affected, that view is necessarily lost in the more intimate loss and inconvenience that accompany the quarantine business.

In the quarantine area the fighting equipment consists of a corps of tick inspectors—graded much on the same system as the police force—and a complement of cattle-dips throughout the area. Outposts are established on the roads which lead into or out of the quarantine area, and horses and stock must be accompanied by permits to secure ingress from the clean areas of this State, whilst total prohibition exists against live stock entering from the Queensland side. No cattle within the quarantine area are allowed to pass the buffer area gates into clean New South Wales country. All stock within the area are periodically examined and reported upon, and any found tick-infested have to be dipped regularly once a fortnight for a period of six months. This may entail some hardship on the owner, but he benefits in the end, as experience has already proved. Were not such stringent methods adopted, the tick would have a much greater hold on New South Wales to-day. The ticks are given no chance to breed, they can only do so on cattle, but continuous and regular dipping prevents their increase.

The task of fighting the tick calls for an efficient service, hence only tried and trusted men are employed. The stock office keeps a record of every herd in the area, and any stock found to be missing at an inspection has to be accounted for by the owner. Every Saturday Murwillumbah boasts an aggregation of tick officers, who have come in to report to head office. The men represent the true type of the Australian bushmen—men fairly wedded to the saddle. Garbed in corduroys, wearing Wellington boots, hats that are first cousins to the American sombreros, carrying whips, and accompanied by the inevitable cattle dog, they form a notable feature in life on the Tweed to-day. In fact, they certainly form a near approach to the famous American cowboys, as stated, albeit their trappings are not so extravagant and fantastic as the boys of the wild west. A lasso always dangles from the saddleflaps on a tick officer's horse, and the owner is generally very expert with the rope. The writer once saw a young tick officer put up a remarkable record with his rope. He had a particularly recalcitrant mob to inspect, so he used his rope on them. He succeeded in roping 17 before making a miss. Undoubtedly, some of these young officers would be very much at home in any hippodrome.

When the tick extended westward to Kyogle, where the holdings are much larger than on the closely-settled Tweed, and where cattle are raised in a semi-wild state for fattening purposes, the Stock Department recognised that it had a difficult task set it. Hence, the most expert men on the Tweed were taken to Kyogle to grapple with the difficulties of entirely different conditions. At the outset their task was indeed a hard one, but later on crushes and proper yards were erected, and then the officers had a comparatively easy time of it. Naturally, the handling of semi-wild cattle was attended by considerable danger, especially when the handling had to be carried on under primitive conditions. Some of the best men met with serious accidents, but, fortunately, the casualty list was not tarnished with any facilities. When the work of the tick inspectors is reviewed, it must be conceded that they have accomplished much. Their record is eminently satisfactory to stockowners, although it must be admitted that the complete elimination of the pest would produce greater satisfaction.

That, however, can be hoped for in time. To-day these men are playing a striking role, and it says much for the resourcefulness of our bushmen that such work should be just taken for granted and occasion little more than passing notice.

ITEMS.

Messrs. Warden Harry Graves, Limited, report having held a successful sale of Coolindra wheat farms at Canowindra on the 21st inst. The farms sold up to £8 6s, and averaged £7 per acre, which is said to be practically a record for wheat farm areas in the particular district.

ORCHARD AND NURSERY EMPLOYEES.

Mr. James E. Justelius, president of the Orchard and Nursery Employees' Union, submitted the claims of his union to inclusion in the schedule of trades under the Industrial Disputes legislation to the Minister for Education on Friday. He said that the union was about 18 months old, and it desired the privileges of other workers. The hours were long, and the work poorly paid. Instances of the difficulty of making ends meet were given by various speakers.

Mr. Beeby replied that he had a number of new entries to put on the schedule, and he intended to provide in the proposed new industrial legislation for the recognition of such workers as these. The primary producers would be put into the same position as other workers early this year. He hoped the members of the union would continue to use their influence to increase their numbers.

THE WOOL TRADE.

BETTER MARKET CONDITIONS.

When auctions were resumed on Monday last it was soon evident that some of the depression entered upon in interstate markets immediately after the holidays, and continued up to last week throughout all selling centres, had passed away. There was a better tone, and a more general demand. The trade had evidently been summing up the supply and demand position, and arrived at the conclusion that it was a sound one at firmer rates than had been ruling of late. Up to Monday last Yorkshire and Japan practically had the market to themselves, while this week the Continental section had to be reckoned with to an appreciable extent, aided by some orders on American account. These better market conditions naturally had a firming effect on values, and while there were some irregularities at times, the rates generally were in sellers' favour. The improvement was not up to the rulings in force prior to the December recess. The demand generally was on medium to good wools, all lines showing quality and length of staple being keenly competed for at firmer rulings. The Continental section was mainly concerned with fine wools. Best scoureds were in active request, but faulty scoureds were dull. Wasty, burry, heavy conditioned, and skirty wools were irregular. Crossbreds were very firm. Upon that basis the market ruled for the week.

THE SUPPLY POSITION.

The position with regard to stocks and trade generally shows no material change. As the season advances so the prospects of moderate supplies become more pronounced. The receipts of wool in Sydney this week, compared to the corresponding week last year, show a decrease of rather more than 3000 bales, and the net seaboard increase for the season to date is now under 8000 bales. Up to Wednesday last, the Victorian decrease in receipts was 8441 bales. Thus there is an actual decrease for the two States of some 500 bales. The prospects are for a further reduction in the slight increase in New South Wales, and any increase in exports over last year can only come if autumn shearing becomes more general this year than last. Under these actual circumstances it seems an unaccountable state of things that some English wool writers should continue to insist that there is a probability of an increase of 200,000 bales from the Commonwealth this year. As late as December 24 last, the colonial wool correspondent of the "Economist" said:—"All my reports from Australia show that the pastoral outlook throughout the Commonwealth could hardly be brighter, and all the indications point to a much larger clip than that of last year. I venture to put it down at 2,125,000 bales, or about 200,000 bales increase upon that of last year."

BOLSTERING UP ORIGINAL ESTIMATE.

It would seem from the foregoing statement that there is great persistence on the other side in bolstering up the "Economist" guess estimate, made in July last, although estimates made from data obtained over a wide area of pastoral country was issued, and cabled to England in November last. In the "Economist" of July 16, 1910, it was stated by the colonial wool correspondent that:—"So far as supplies are concerned, although the exports of wool from Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa during the past wool year have been easy records, it is quite certain that these prosperous colonies will export far more wool this year than last. Taking the present favourable pastoral outlook in all these colonies into account, it looks as if their united clips will amount for the first time to more than 3,000,000 bales, to which total I calculate that Australia will contribute more than 2,100,000 bales, New Zealand about 520,000, and South Africa not less than 450,000 bales." From which it can be seen that in July, before any reliable data could be obtained as to the weight of the present season's clip, the Commonwealth exports were put down by the "Economist" writer at "more than 2,100,000 bales," and five months later, when the clip was practically shorn, and only a moderate increase assured—the same writer "ventures to put it down at 2,125,000 bales," or 25,000 bales more than when the original guess was made.

A GENERAL "BEAR" POLICY.

The only conclusion that can be arrived at in trying to solve the problem of insisting on such "estimates," in the face of available information from general sources showing the contrary, is that it is part of a general "bear" policy. English consumers want wool as cheap as they can buy it, and an "enormous" increase of 225,000 bales by the "Economist," and still higher increases by other English papers, doubtless helps them to obtain it. A paragraph preceding the last "Economist" estimate, of December 24, 1910, seems to indicate that underlying the "estimates" is the necessity for cheaper wool—based upon ample supplies. The paragraph is as follows:—

> Wool is arriving in large quantities from both Australia and South Africa. Since the lists were closed for the last London auctions about 118,000 bales of colonial wool have arrived, of which 66,000 bales have been forwarded direct to various consuming centres. Bradford has, of course, got its share, and supplies at the great Yorkshire centre are ample for all requirements. The "squeeze" so freely prophesied by the bulls last August and September seems to have been adjourned sine die, and the market for tops has been gradually declining for many weeks past, until now merino tops can be bought at a reduction of fully 3d per lb upon the rates ruling three months ago. Nor does it appear as yet that the bottom has been reached. This state of things at the consuming end of the trade is affecting values in all oversea markets, and both in Australasia and South America values for the raw material are weak.

QUANTITIES FOR TWO DECADES.

To have follow upon that summary of the position, during the Christmas-New Year recess, the statement that the writer ventures to predict a 200,000 bales increase this season is doubtless liable to cause uneasiness in consuming centres, and calculated to weaken their primary markets. If there were any possibility of such an increase there would be some justification for such a statement; but there is none, and all buyers in Australia are cognisant of the fact. As already shown, the wool receipts of New South Wales and Victoria for the season, to date, are a shade below the quantity received last season, and any increase from these two States must come from an extension of autumn shearing, and the shipping of what might be a portion of next clip prior to the close of the 1910-11 statistical year on June 30 next. To suppose that a 200,000 bales increase is coming from Queensland, Western Australia, South Australia, and Tasmania is absurd. With this talk of increase year upon year, it may be thought perhaps that Australian production to-day is far beyond anything in previous history. A comparison of the production for the past 10 years with the previous decade is therefore of interest. The exports from the Commonwealth for the two periods are as follow:—

THIS WEEK'S SALES.

There were only three sale days this week, owing to the public holiday on Thursday last. Seven catalogues were submitted on the three days, the offerings totalling 29,608 bales, and the realisations at auction 25,737 bales. The total clearances by auction and private treaty were 29,526 bales. There was very little change in the character of the offerings, comprising a fair sprinkling of well-grown wools in nice order, with some specially fine lines, while the bulk was made up of small clips from the closer settled districts. In scoureds there was a moderate display. Greasy sold to /12¾, and scoured to /21¾ on Monday; to /13¼ and /21, respectively, on Tuesday, and /12¾ for greasy on Wednesday.

Rates for the principal descriptions of staple may be quoted as follows:—

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

Sales have been proceeding in Melbourne and Geelong. The catalogues are showing signs of diminution, and the offerings have not been so large as previously. There has been a better tone at both centres than last week. At Geelong on Thursday the rates were reported 5 per cent. higher than at the opening of the second weekly series, and in some cases equal to December rulings. A Melbourne journal says that owing to delays in wool arrivals, as well as the disinclination of some growers to meet the market, it seems now probable that sales of larger magnitude than usual will be held during the second or third week in February, when offerings in Melbourne are likely to total about 15,000 bales.

The offerings and sales in interstate markets to the dates given are as follows:—

SYDNEY WOOL RECEIPTS.

The quantities of wool now coming into store are very light by both rail and boat. There has been a decrease in arrivals for the week of 3070 bales compared to the corresponding week last year. This brings the net increase in receipts for the current, compared to last season, to date, of 7941 bales. The figures are as follows:—

BRADFORD HARDENING.

Our Bradford cable of yesterday's date states that the market is cheerful, and prices are hardening. The only alteration in quotations, however, is in forties (coarse crossbred) tops, which are ½ higher. On the corresponding date last year the market was cabled as very firm, but with very little business doing. Merino prices were unchanged, while crossbred tops were ½d down. Prices compare as follows:—

	64's.	Super 60. (Merino.)	Com. 60.	46's.	40's. (Crossbred.)

NEXT WEEK'S SYDNEY ROSTER.

The roster of sales for large lots next week, when about 40,000 bales will be catalogued, is as follows:—

Monday, January 30.—1, John Bridge and Co., Ltd.; 2, Schute, Bell, and Co., Ltd.; 3, Hill, Clark, and Co., Ltd.

Tuesday, January 31.—1, Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Ltd.; 2, Pastoral Finance Association, Ltd.

Wednesday, February 1.—1, Winchcombe, Carson, Ltd.; 2, New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Ltd.

Thursday, February 2.—1, Co-operative Wool and Produce Company, Ltd.; 2, Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Ltd.; 3, Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company, Ltd.

WOOL SHIPMENTS.

Wool exports this week, as a result of the resumption of public sales, has been on a larger scale than for the past few weeks, but not so heavy as on the corresponding week last year. Five vessels have cleared the Sydney Customs for the United Kingdom and foreign ports since last review, with a total of 9838 bales; as compared with nine vessels, aggregating 31,569 bales, for the corresponding week last year. Vessels with quantities for the week, and totals for the season to date compared to last year, are as follows:—

	Bales.
Arrino, Jan. 20, for Dunkirk and Antwerp	1,549
Osterley, Jan. 21, for London	2,843
Port Chalmers, Jan. 21, for London	2,414
Nera, Jan. 23, for Marseilles	784
Yawata Maru, Jan. 25, for Japan	2,248
Total from Sydney since last review	9,838
Total from Sydney and Newcastle from July 1, 1910, to date including transhipments)	589,056
Corresponding period last season (including transhipments)	557,739

THE OVERRUN.

"W. G. C." writes:—In your issue of Wednesday, 18th inst., "Overrun" directed attention to what he termed "an apparent overpayment by one of the co-operative dairy companies on the North Coast for cream used during the month of December." On referring to the paragraph from which he culled the figures he referred to, which appeared in your "On the Land" column of the 16th inst., it so happened that I had a resume of one company's report and balance-sheet session, intending to forward it to relatives in the old country, to show them how we did things in the butter business on this side of the line. Before sending the papers away, however, on account of "Overrun's" remarks anent the figures, I made a few simple calculations based on the figures as published. The report states "2270 tons of butter were manufactured, and sold at an average of 11.82d per pound. Cream suppliers received an average of 11.32d per pound." From these figures it would appear that the total cost of manufacturing, etc., charged to the farmers for supplying the cream was .50, or ½d per pound. Your correspondent "Overrun" expressed surprise that the cost had been reduced for the month of December to 16/25ths of 1d, but here we find that they have been reduced to even a lower figure. A little further on in the report, however, we find it states "the cost of manufacturing butter per pound, including selling, was 1.55d per lb." Now, the most ill-informed "Man on the Land" must know that it is absolutely impossible to pay 1.55d with .50d. If he attempted to do so, he would find that he still owed 1.05d; but here we find that the apparently impossible has been accomplished. The question the farmer should ask himself is, "How is it done," and "Why?" If he reasons the matter out to its logical conclusion he will arrive at this hard fact—he did not receive, as he was led to believe, 11.32d per lb for butter, but, as a matter of actual fact, received an amount equivalent to about 10.27d per lb; that is, the average butter sale price, 11.82d, less manufacturing and selling cost, 1.55d, equals 10.27d; and this figure must be even further reduced unless the 1.55d includes (and in all probability it does not) all manufacturing costs and charges, such as proportion of profits, depreciation of plant, administration expenses, etc. The farmer must always bear in mind that he has no alternative; he must pay the whole of the costs and expenses of the factory, as the only sources of revenue are from the sales of butter and butter milk, which are the products of the cream he supplies. Unfortunately, the figures relating to the buttermilk sales are not available. The amount would, however, be small, and could not affect the present calculation to any extent. Now, from the figures available, let us calculate the overrun at this factory for the period.

We find that the difference between the selling price, 11.82d per lb, and the price paid to the farmer, 11.32d per lb, is .50d. This is apparently the manufacturing cost. We learn, however, from the report that the cost of manufacturing the butter, including selling, amounted to 1.55d per lb, and, seeing that only .50d has been deducted from the farmer, 1.05d has yet to be accounted for, and must have been produced by the sale of butter manufactured over and above that paid for. With butter selling at the average rate of 11.82d per lb, 1.05d would equal .08883 of a pound of butter; this multiplied by 100, equals 8.883lb, or nearly 9lb of butter, which is the average overrun for every 100lb of butter manufactured. If reduced to money values, this equals 8/9 per 100lb of butter. I readily admit that for the safe working of a butter factory, there should be, and naturally would be, a small overrun, but an overrun of nearly 9lb per 100lb is unquestionably excessively high. I have noticed with regret that this baneful system of working on an inflated overrun has been gradually creeping into our butter factories. Some of the factory directors have, I know, been reluctantly compelled to adopt it in self defence. To hold their suppliers they must pay at the same rate per lb as the factory in the neighbouring district, and if that factory is working on a good solid overrun, they must do the same or pay less. I am pleased to see by recent reports that the directors of one of our North Coast companies resisted the temptation, and had the courage to pay at the true rate per lb last month.

Our dairy farmers should note well the following peculiar facts. The possibilities of covering up the expenses of a factory under this pernicious system will be realised when I explain that a butter factory manager could by a skilful and persistent, and shall I say, scientific, inflation of the overrun, apparently produce butter at no cost at all to the farmer, or he could even go further, and pay a premium (apparently) to the farmer to send his cream along. Most of the dairy farmers of this State are sensible men, and I would urge them to take this matter in hand, and request the Government to introduce legislation to regulate this evil, which is gradually growing in the butter factories. The Act should make it compulsory for all factories to issue to their suppliers monthly statements showing:—(a) Cream supplied by the farmer. (b) Test of such cream. (c) Commercial butter manufactured from such cream (calculated by an approved table). (d) Average selling rate or value. (e) Cost of production, handling, etc., per lb, and an arranged amount per lb to cover such costs and charges as depreciation of plant, profit, reserve, etc. (f) The amount due to the farmer. This amount would be the total lbs of butter manufactured from his cream, less the costs as shown on the statement. And as a footnote the overrun for the whole of the factory's turnover for the period.

With such a return, the farmer would be in the position to see at a glance exactly what it had cost to produce the butter, and extravagant management would be readily detected. Under the present system of working on an overrun, the management of a factory may be extravagant, and the cost of production abnormally high, but the figures are so cloaked and hidden that detection by the ordinary farmer is almost impossible; and whilst this may be the true state of the affairs at the factory, the rate paid per lb for butter each month may apparently be higher than that paid by another company in an adjacent district which is actually working on much more economical lines, and, as a matter of fact, paying better, although their rate of pay per lb of butter may be lower.

SYDNEY SHEEP SHOW.

The schedule of prizes for the seventeenth annual sheep show to be held by the New South Wales Sheepbreeders' Association on June 28, 29, 30, and July 1 next, is to hand. In furtherance of the work of the association, the committee has increased the prize-money, which now totals £892 6s. The additions made are briefly as follows:—Grassfed unhoused section; ram and ewe classes for sheep under 1½ year, once shorn. Pens each of ten rams and ten ewes over 2 and under 2½ years; and in the farmers' sections medium classes have been added for both rams and ewes, 3 years old and over, and 2 years old and under 3 years.

It is thought that these additional prizes will be the means of stirring public interest, by inducing larger entries, and drawing exhibits from fresh districts. When compared with 1910, the increase shows a total of £67 7s over that year, and to meet this, the necessity of a larger membership is urged upon sheepmen.

It might be noted that the conditions for the "Sydney Morning Herald" special prize have been altered, and will now be awarded to the most successful exhibitor in farmers' sections, N, O, and P, the award to be decided by points; each win to count as follows:—Champion prize, 5 points; first prize, 3 points; second prize, 2 points; third prize, 1 point.

VARIETIES OF WHEAT.

DEPARTMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS.

Following the precedent established last year, a conference of departmental officers was held last week, for the purpose of discussing matters connected with wheat-growing. One of the objects of the conference was the revision of the list of varieties of wheat recommended by the department for cultivation. It was resolved that the wheat districts of the State be grouped together in the following divisions:—

1. Very dry and hot.—(Of which the Nyngan Farm is typical.)
2. Dry and hot.—(Of which the Wagga Farm is typical.)
3. Medium dry and hot.—(Of which the Cowra Farm is typical.)
4. Cool.—(Of which the Bathurst Farm is typical.)
5. Cold and moist.—(Of which the Glen Innes Farm is typical.)
6. Coastal.—(Embracing those districts bordering on the coast, and which are specially subject to rust.)

It was further decided that the following varieties of wheat should be recommended for cultivation during the year 1911:—

Variety.	Period of Planting.	Districts.
Bobs	Mid-season and late	Very dry and hot; dry and hot; medium dry and hot; cool (on poor soils).
Bunyip	Mid-season and late	Very dry and hot; dry and hot; medium dry and hot.
Cleveland	Early and mid season	Cool; cold and moist.
Comeback	Mid-season and late	Dry and hot; medium dry and hot; cool.
Federation	Mid-season and late	Very dry and hot; dry and hot; medium dry and hot; cool.
Haynes' Bluestem	Early and mid-season	Cold and moist.
Jonathan	Early and mid-season	Cool; cold and moist.
Marshall's No. 3	Early and mid-season	Dry and hot; medium dry and hot.
Rymer	Early and mid-season	Dry and hot; medium dry and hot.
Thew	Early, mid-season, and late	Coastal.
Warren	Mid-season and late	Coastal.
Yandilla King	Early and mid-season	Very dry and hot; dry and hot; medium dry and hot.
Zealand	Early and mid-season	Dry and hot; medium dry and hot.

All of the above with the exception of Federation, are dual-purpose wheats, and are recommended as suitable for cultivation for either grain or hay in the districts named. Federation is recommended for grain alone. In addition, the following varieties are recommended for cultivation for hay or greenstuff but not for grain:—

Variety.	Period of Planting.	Districts.
Firbank	Mid-season and late	Very dry and hot; dry and hot; medium dry and hot.
Huguenot	Early, mid-season, and late	Coastal.
John Brown	Early, mid-season, and late	Coastal; cool.
(For greenstuff)	Early	Very dry and hot.
Medah (for greenstuff)	Early and mid-season	Coastal; cold and moist.
Steinwedel	Early and mid-season	Very dry and hot.

The following varieties were selected as being suitable for continued experiments with wheats and manures at the experiment farms and in the farmers' experiment plots:—

Variety.	Period of Planting.	Districts.
Bayah	Mid-season and late	Very dry and hot; dry and hot; medium dry and hot.
Cedar	Early mid-season and late	Cold and moist.
Florence	Mid-season and late	Very dry and hot; dry and hot; medium dry and hot.
Genoa	Early and mid-season Early	Cool; cold and moist. Medium dry and hot.

The varieties Jumbuck, Uppercut, and Nutcut have been removed from the list, and are not now recommended; whilst of those considered suitable for trial only last year, Warren and Yandilla King are now definitely recommended for cultivation as dual-purpose wheats, and Huguenot for hay, each in suitable districts.

CONTROL OF RESERVES.

MOLONG.—Mr. Whitmill submitted an important proposal to the Molong Pastures Protection Board in reference to the control of reserves, and in favour of the abolition of the system of annual leasing of reserves. His motion was to seek the co-operation of all other p.p. boards in the central and eastern divisions of the State, asking them to co-operate with the board in asking the Government, through the member for the district, to so amend the Act as to do away with all annual leasing of travelling stock reserves in the two divisions, and to place them under the control of the p.p. boards, with the right to impound straying stock, to charge travelling stock a travelling rate at per hundred per mile, and to use the proceeds of such rate, with other revenue, to improve the reserves by ringbarking, making tanks, destroying rabbits, etc., and so make them of some use to travelling stock, as they considered that under the present system of annual leases the reserves were useless for the persons they were intended to serve. In support of the proposal, Mr. Whitmill urged that at present all grass was eaten off the reserves by the sheep belonging to the annual lessees, and that if they were properly improved owners of travelling stock would be quite willing to pay a small fee. Mr. Whitmee seconded the motion. In a general discussion, some of the directors took exception to the proposal as involving too heavy work in supervision, and that the present system was preferable. On division the proposal was defeated by four votes to three.

GRASSHOPPERS.

CANOWINDRA.—There is a plague of grasshoppers in the district at present. Millions of the pest are to be seen in some paddocks.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

YERONG CREEK.—The continued showery weather has caused much delay in harvesting operations. The standing crops have suffered to a considerable extent, and a great deal of loss will follow. Fortunately the greater part of this work had been completed before the wet weather set in. In other respects the season has been all that could be desired, the days and nights being delightfully cool and pleasant. There is a splendid shoot in the grass, and stock of all kinds are in a very healthy state. Rabbits are more numerous this year than they have been for a considerable time, the season being very favourable for the multiplication of the pest.

PROPERTY SALES.

MURRUMBURRAH.—Messrs. Dillon and Noonan report having sold by auction, at Nubba, on Thursday, in the estate of the late S. Purcell, the farm, at £9 10s per acre, Mr. James Barnes, of Harden, being the purchaser. This is the record price for farming land in the Nubba district. Fat bullocks realised £5 12s 6d, fat cows £4 17s, vealers £2 3s, yearlings £1 8s, horses from £19 to £32.

SOCIAL.

It has been hard the past week to realise that we are in midsummer. The cool southerly breezes and the perpetual showers have turned the season topsy-turvy, and our thoughts have wandered from surf-bathing and muslins to the prospect of dances and the next season's millinery. In spite of the continuous rain, it has been a pleasure to go out, for a cool day at this time of the year, even though a wet one, is a welcome change from the accustomed blazing heat of January. All the world is washed fresh and green; paddocks stretch in emerald beauty; and early risers are rewarded by large baskets of mushrooms, which delight the heart of cook and epicure. Suburban gardens are overflowing with roses of every shade, and the late fruit is swelling prodigiously. Sydney has seldom looked prettier than at present, and those of us whom the fates have kept at home feel that we have nothing to grumble at.

There was a large gathering on board the Blue Funnel liner Aeneas yesterday afternoon, when a number of people had been invited by the proprietors (Messrs. Watt, Gilchrist, and Sanderson) and Captain Walker to take tea on board the new ship. The ship is beautifully fitted up, the prevailing colour being deep blue, which makes a charming contrast to the light woodwork of the cabins. The smoking-room, which is upholstered in dark green, came in for special notice, with its carved panels of hunting scenes. Tea was served in the saloon, which is furnished in blue, while the band played in the lounge above. The visitors were received at the gangway by Mr. Milne and Mr. P. Storey (directors) and Captain Walker. Amongst those who accepted invitations were:—The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Knox and Miss Knox, Mr. H. Y. Braddon, Mr. E. Trelawny, Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson and the Misses Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. D. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. M'Arthur and Miss M'Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. G. Merivale and the Misses Merivale, Hon. and Mrs. A. W. Meeks, Mr. H. N. Lethbridge and the Misses Lethbridge, Colonel and the Misses Burns, Mr. and Mrs. O. Plate, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hixson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell French, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Dibbs, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Massie, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Scott, Lieutenant O. A. Tunbridge, Sir William and the Misses M'Millan, Judge Mrs. and Miss Fitzhardinge, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Gordon, Major and Mrs. de Boos, Sir Albert Lady and the Misses Gould, Sir Francis Lady and the Misses Suttor, Judge Mrs. and the Misses O'Connor, Captain and Mrs. Hallett, Mr. P. Arthur Allan, Mrs. Mort, Mr. and Mrs. Kelso King, Mr. Owen Cox, Mr. G. S. Yuill, Captain and Mrs. Green, Captain Banks, Commander and Mrs. Douglas, Dr. and Mrs. D'Ombrain.

Preparations for the All Nations Fair in aid of the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital are going ahead. The ladies of the tearoom and provisions stall, of which the Lady Mayoress is president, are arranging a bridge and euchre party, to be held at Baumann's on Monday, February 6, in aid of the stall.

The annual festivities inaugurated by the Bong Bong Picnic Race Club took place on Thursday and Friday, January 19 and 20, under most favourable climatic conditions. Some days previous to the gathering heavy, incessant rain fell, and the committee were in a quandary as to whether the meeting would be postponed or not, but the weather clearing at the eleventh hour, it was decided to carry on, with the happiest of results. Luncheon parties were given by Hon. H. E. and Mrs. Kater, who entertained the Government House party; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Badgery, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Badgery, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Yeo, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sherwin, Dr. and Mrs. Sly. The annual ball at the conclusion of the meeting took place in the Moss Vale Hall. Among those present were Mrs. H. E. Kater, Mrs. Langer Owen, Mrs. Dudley Gibson, Mrs. H. G. Miller, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. W. E. Manning, Mrs. Fred. King, Mrs. Maddrell, Mrs. R. Laidley, Mrs. Bruce Smith, Mrs. Alf. Morrice, Mrs. Gavin George, Mrs. Fitz-Hill, Mrs. T. A. F. M'Carthy, Mrs. Norman Kater, Mrs. Blomfield, Mrs. F. E. Badgery, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Maddrell, Miss E. Maddrell, Mrs. Bowman, Miss Enid Badgery, Miss Yeo, Miss Blomfield, Miss Alice de Mestre, Miss M. de Mestre, Miss Johnson, Miss Joyce Young, Miss Salway, Miss Nora Throsby, Miss Quigley, Mrs. Ferguson, Miss King, Miss M'Leod (debutante), Miss Dorothy Nicholson (debutante), Miss Edith Blomfield (debutante), Hon. H. E. Kater, Dr. Kater, Dr. Stevenson, Messrs. F. H. King, T. A. F. M'Carthy, Justin M'Carthy, Ralston, R. Medcalfe, Roy Buckland, Irving Keys, W. Stevenson, B. M. Osborne, T. H. Throsby, Black, Oliver Osborne, W. E. Dodds, H. C. Osborne, Baird, E. and C. R. Halloran, C. Maddrell, S. F. Osborne, Captain Lloyd, R. J. C. Maddrell, P. L. T. and F. E. Badgery, H. and G. Maddrell, Rankin, Single, Gordon, E. A. Hamilton, Austin de Lauret, A. E. Morrice, T. Yeo, R. de Mestre, J. Stafford, Dudley Gibson, W. E. Manning, L. Jacques, D. Grant, V. Maddox, Frank Manning, G. Massy, W. M. Beaumont, W. C. H. Roberts, and many others.

A meeting of the Woollahra committee of the "All Nations" Fair (Royal Prince Alfred Hospital Nurses' Home) was held on Tuesday night at Woollahra Council-chambers, the Mayoress (Mrs. Fairweather) presiding, when it was decided to hold a progressive euchre party in aid of the stall at Oddfellows' Hall, Ocean-street, Woollahra, on Monday, February 27, at 8 p.m. It is desired that the residents of Woollahra will show their sympathy in the committee's efforts by purchasing tickets.

It will be surprising if the little matinee caps which fashion has promised us do not become very popular; for those that are worn in "Tom Jones" are bewitching examples of how becoming they can be. A little soft frill of lace adds softness to most faces, and they are suitable and becoming to grey-haired matrons as to younger people. "Tom Jones," being a "costume" play, is not remarkable for its dressing, although the pretty eighteenth century gowns and becoming hats and caps are very attractive after a course of hobble skirts and "Merry Widow" hats. It is a period to which we might go back for our models with advantage.

Great interest is being taken in a matinee to be held at the Palace Theatre (kindly lent by Mr. Hugh Ward) on February 11, in aid of St. Vincent's General Hospital. A meeting was held at the hospital last Monday in connection with the matinee, at which a large number of ladies were present, including Mrs. Rolleston, Mrs. Toohey, Mrs. Herbert Marks, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. G. Lane Mullins, Mrs. Deery, Mrs. Arthur Deery, and Mrs. Kenna. Mrs. Toohey was elected president of the committee; Miss Nea Mort and Miss Austin, hon. secretaries; Miss Egan and Miss Kathleen Austin, hon. treasurers. The programme for the matinee will consist of two short plays and "Pierrot Minstrels," in which will appear Mrs. Hugh Ward, Mrs. A. Deery (Miss Aggie Thorne), Miss Dorothy Brunton, Mrs. Herbert Marks, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mr. and Miss Blaxland, Mr. M'Keown, Miss Rhoda Anderson, and Mr. Rolfe, supported by a chorus of well-known society girls and men. There will be a professional orchestra under the direction of Mr. Edgar Rice (who has kindly offered his services), and Mr. Sydney Stirling (late of Nellie Stewart and J. C. Williamson's companies) will stage manage, as well as appear in a play.

On Monday, the 16th inst, Mrs. W. E. Ardill, of "The Moorings," Manly, invited some intimate friends to an afternoon tea party at the A.B.C., for the purpose of saying "good-bye" to Miss Louise Mulligan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan, of Manly, and sister of Alderman J. J. Mulligan, who left for London by the Runic on Wednesday, 18th inst.

At St. Mark's, Darling Point, on the evening of Wednesday, January 18, the wedding of Flora Hamilton, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Hollinworth Gordon, of Gragin, Warialda, and Kamilaroi, Darling Point, to George Paget, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sayers, of Euroka, North Sydney, took place. The Rev. Willoughby Flower officiated. The church, decorated with a massed effect of white Shasta daisies on a background of green palms and ferns, and an immense white lovers' knot above the chancel steps, looked very beautiful. The bride was given away by her father, and wore her beautiful gown of Venetian lace over banana-tinted satin. She discarded the conventional veil and bouquet, wearing instead a cap and wreath of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Dora Gordon, wore pale blue satin with a tunic of white lace, and a lace cap with diamond buckles. She carried a sheaf of red roses with blue ribbons. Mr. Henry Marsh was best man. The bells of St. Mark's were pealed as the bridal party left the church. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Gordon held a reception at Kamilaroi. The grounds, lighted with myriads of Chinese lanterns, which hung from every tree and bush, and marked the paths and hedges in long lines, were an entrancing fairyland. The wedding breakfast was laid in a large marquee on the lawn. The bride's table was decorated with water-lilies and roses from Mrs. Sayer's garden at Euroka. Dancing was afterwards enjoyed. The bride left in her wedding dress with a cloak of tomato-red satin. Both bride and bridegroom are well-known in athletic circles as amongst our best tennis players. Mrs. G. Hollinworth Gordon wore smoke-grey ninon, with gold embroideries. Miss Gordon, white lace over white satin, large hat with pink roses, and black velvet; Mrs. H. R. Munro, (Kiera), blue crepe-de-chine and black hat, Mrs. Maurice Barton, vieux-rose ninon, large hat with roses; Miss Sybil Gordon, white lace dress, with big black hat, and posy of pink roses; Miss Gladys Gordon, pale blue crepe-de-chine, with blue cap and ribbons; Mrs. Hugh Gordon, apricot crepe-de-chine and black hat; Mrs. Sayers, hyacinth silk voile, with irridiscent trimmings; Mrs. A. A. Wilson, white ninon, gold embroidery; Mrs. Menzies, mauve Charmeuse and silver trimming, black hat; Miss Flo Menzies, champagne ninon over white satin. Other guests were: Mrs. Gordon Macarthur and Miss Macarthur, Miss May Hume, Mrs. Maclean and Miss Flora Maclean, Dr. and Mrs. Mackinnon, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Scrutton, Dr. and Mrs. Fitzhardinge, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Macmaster, Miss Macmaster, Miss Dorothy Bray, Mrs. Acheson, Miss Acheson, and Miss Plunkett, Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. German, Miss Husband, Mr. and Mrs. Doust, Mr. and Mrs. M'William, Mr. and Mrs. Somerville, Miss Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. H. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Scott, the Misses Kendall, Miss M. Jones, Mrs. Williams and Miss Stella Williams, Messrs. Hamilton Gordon, Maynard Throsby, Arthur Fisher, Marriott, Gordon Wright, Campbell Allen, Ken. Allen, Lance Addison, Philip Chambers, Eric Wood, A. B. Lyon, Victor Bell, Dr. Bowker and Dr. Moxham. Mr. and Mrs. G. Paget Sayers left by motor (lent by Mr. H. R. Munro, the bride's brother-in-law) for Brindabella and the trout streams of the Snowy River district.

A wedding was celebrated at St. John's, C.E., Parramatta, on Saturday, the 7th inst, between Lieutenant James Murdoch Archer Durrant, Permanent Staff, Commonwealth Military Forces, youngest son of Mr. J. W. Durrant, of Adelaide, South Australia, and Clara Ellen, youngest daughter of the late Mr. Henry Birk and Mrs. Birk, of Percy Villa, Westmead, N.S.W. The Revs. G. Middleton and S. Osbourne Goodchild, A.K.C., were the officiating clergymen. The church was filled with interested spectators. Miss Amy Spier presided at the organ, and the service was choral. The organist played the "Bridal March" as the bride entered the church, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the bridal party retired to the vestry and during the signing of the registers. Exquisite floral decorations, palms, and greenery were tastefully arranged on the altar table and in and about the sanctuary, part of which comprised a massive arch and marriage bell. A special and much-talked-of feature of the decorations was an artistic lettered scroll bearing the inscription, "Amor vincit" (love conquers), hung on top of the bell and directly beneath the arch. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. F. W. Birk, was attended by Miss Hilda Gander and Miss A. Jowers as bridesmaids, and by her niece (Miss Winsome Amy Birk) as maid of honour, and Master Keith Murdoch Durrant (nephew of the bridegroom) as page. Mr. G. Philip Birk acted as best man. The bride was charmingly attired in a beautiful gown of white charmeuse satin, veiled with silk net and trimmings of silk Brussels lace, and wore a coronet of orange blossom and a silk-embroidered veil. She also carried a shower bouquet, and wore a gold watch and muff chain (gifts of the bridegroom) and a handsome jewelled bangle (the gift of the bridegroom's father). The bridesmaids wore pale blue crepe-de-chine gowns, trimmed with Malines laces and insertion, and large black net hats trimmed with black ostrich feathers. Each carried posies of pink roses with pale pink streamers, and wore gold bangles (gifts of the bridegroom). The maid of honour was dressed in a frock of white satin, with trimmings of guipure lace and white satin shoes, and wore a gold brooch (gift of the bridegroom). The page wore a suit of white satin, with collar and cuffs of guipure lace and white shoes. After the ceremony a reception was held in the Masonic Hall, Parramatta, where a large number of guests were entertained. Later the newly-married pair left the hall and motored to Sydney, en route to the South Coast, to spend their marriage tour, the bride travelling in a pale blue Shantung silk coat and skirt, with soutachings of black, and black hat trimmed with black net and large white ostrich feather. Lieutenant and Mrs. Durrant will proceed to Brisbane after their marriage tour, where they will reside for some time.

The Methodist Church, Annandale, was the scene of a pretty wedding on December 28, 1910, when Norman Claridge, third son of Mrs. Blunt, of Durban, Ashfield, and Mary Elizabeth (Lily), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Norton, of Leichhardt, were married by the Rev. Frank E. Fletcher. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was dressed in a gown of ivory silk, and wore a wreath of orange blossoms and a tulle veil, which was beautifully worked by a friend of the bride, and she carried an exquisite shower bouquet of water lilies and white carnations. She was attended by two bridesmaids—Miss Alice Norton (sister of the bride) and Miss Elsie Blunt (sister of the bridegroom). They were dressed in white embroidered dresses, and wore white chiffon hats, and carried shower bouquets, which, together with a pearl and ruby brooch, were the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. Ritchie Blunt (brother of the bridegroom) acted as best man, and Mr. Ted Bradley as groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, and later on the newly-married pair left for their honeymoon, the bride travelling in a suit of mole linen.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at St. Barnabas' Church, Waverley, on Saturday, December 24, when Thomas William, the elder son of the late Thomas Rice and Mrs. Rice, of Queenton, Waverley, was married to Rosena, second daughter of Mr. Sloan, of Leichhardt. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. J. Knox. The bride was given away by her father. Her beautiful wedding-dress was of white ninon over white paillette, with trimmings of Limerick lace, and made with a square neck and train. She also wore a tulle veil, richly embroidered, and a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower-bouquet of beautiful white roses and carnations, veiled with tulle and satin and tulle streamers, which, with a diamond ring, were the gifts of the bridegroom. There were two bridesmaids in attendance, Miss Edith Sloan (sister) and Miss Lucy Rice (sister of the bridegroom), who were dressed alike in Swiss embroidered dresses, with Tagal straw hats and Mechlin lace. Mr. E. W. Varney was best man, and Mr. A. Livingstone groomsman. A reception was held in the school hall, where the wedding breakfast was served, and later the bride and bridegroom left for their honeymoon in Melbourne.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated on Saturday, December 17, at the United Friendly Societies' Hall, Lane Cove-road, North Sydney, when Mr. Leslie G. Tom Carter, youngest son of Mr. Charles Carter, of Camberwell, Victoria, was married to Elsie Esther, eldest daughter of Mr. G. H. Moxham, of Sydney. Rev. J. E. Walton, of Harris-street Baptist Church, performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her brother, wore a trained gown of cream embossed silk, trimmed with applique and Malines lace, and a wreath and veil. Her Nellie Stewart bangle was the gift of the bridegroom. Miss E. Geeves, of Rockdale, was the bridesmaid, and was dressed in white muslin. The bridegroom's gift to her was a very pretty wreath brooch, set with rubies. The handsome bouquets carried by the bride and maid were also the present of the bridegroom. Mr. A. H. Smedley acted as best man. The hall was beautifully decorated by the friends of the bride, and a large company assembled to witness the ceremony. Included in the wedding presents, which were both numerous and costly, was a very handsome hot-water kettle and a muffineer set, presented to the bride by the members of the North Sydney Baptist Gospel Mission as a token of esteem and appreciation of the valued services rendered by her as organist. After the reception the happy couple left by train for Newcastle, where their home is to be.

A quiet wedding was celebrated in All Souls' Church of England, Leichhardt, on December 28, when John Horace, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Boughton, of Stanmore, was married to Helene Berthe, second daughter of Professor and Mrs. Hermes, of Stanmore. The Rev. H. M. Begbie officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white glace, with an overdress of crepe-de-chine, with embroidered net and Honiton lace. Her large picture-hat was trimmed with white ostrich plumes and tulle, and she carried a shower-bouquet of lilies of the valley and Gueldor roses, which, with turquoise and pearl necklet and earrings, was the gift of the bridegroom. She was attended by Miss Violette Hermes (sister of the bride) and Miss Dorothy Boughton (sister of the bridegroom), who were in white embroidered muslin, trimmed with Valenciennes lace, white picture-hats trimmed with white and pink sweet peas, and carried shower bouquets of bouvardias and pink carnations, which, with gold bangles and turquoise hat-pin sets, were the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. O. H. Boughton acted in the capacity of best man, and Mr. A. R. Hermes was groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held at Rotorua, Percival-road, Stanmore, the residence of the bride's parents, when about 50 guests were present. The bride and bridegroom left by motor for Manly, where the honeymoon was spent, the bride wearing a dress of saxe-blue Shantung silk, handsomely braided, and a black and white picture-hat.

TEMPERANCE EDUCATION.

IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

MR. BEEBY'S COUNTER PROPOSAL.

Yesterday Mr. Beeby adroitly turned aside the necessity for the direct answer that makes adversaries, when he replied to a request for the instruction of temperance in the public schools by special teachers.

From the introductory remarks of Mr. A. Bruntnell, M.L.A., and the more complete utterances of Messrs. G. D. Clarke and F. Reed and Mrs. Burdett, it appeared that the deputation was organised by the I.O.G.T., in order to advocate the scientific teaching of the uses and abuses of alcohol in the Public schools.

Mr. Clarke pointed out that every country in the world was dealing with the liquor problem. The Russian Government was providing counter attractions to the drinking shops, Sweden gave a subsidy to the Good Templars—an example which the present Government might follow—medical authorities had induced the Government of France to issue warnings respecting alcohol, and the German Emperor had recently said that the next great war would be won by the nation that consumed the least quantity of alcohol. The nations recognised that the use of alcohol caused physical deterioration. He asked the Government either to prohibit the sale of liquor or supply children with information in the schools, which would enable them to fight against alcohol when they were grown up. It was not a new proposition. Every Minister spoken to on the subject during the last 25 years had given the matter some consideration, and Mr. Perry had advanced it most. He asked the Minister to allow qualified persons to go into the schools as ministers of religion did, to give temperance lessons, and to allow the extension of the curriculum respecting temperance to the second-class pupils.

Mr. Beeby said he felt strongly sympathetic with the idea of making the teaching of temperance a strong point of the State system of education. The question of temperance was undoubtedly connected with the physical development of humanity, and the department was certainly doing something to show what the conscience of the community should be. The matter was certainly one of importance, and, as he could not pretend to know all the details of the department, he thought he would, with the assistance of Mr. Board and the Chief Inspector, Mr. Dawson, be able to make certain changes that would be acceptable. He thought a good deal of the falling away of youths was due to the lack of continued mental occupation, and he wished to make a counter-appeal to the members of the deputation. The department by establishing continuation schools had the object of getting hold of boys from 14 to 18 years of age, in order to continue their training. He therefore made an earnest appeal to the deputation and the interests it represented to induce youths to take part in the training in these schools. They were not night schools in the old meaning of the phrase. No doubt they were used to the inevitable reply that their request would receive fair consideration, but he must say that the request for outside teachers to be allowed to come into the schools for the purpose indicated must be very fully considered. Others might claim the same right.

Mr. Clarke: I would point out that the temperance wall-sheets are down in many of the schools.

Mr. Beeby: I will see to that.

MANLY FERRY SERVICE.

SECOND AGREEMENT WITH COUNCIL.

The Manly and Port Jackson Co-operative Steamship Company, Ltd., has recently been criticised at Manly. The company controls the wharfs at Manly, holding them on lease. The Harbour Trust leases the wharfs to the Manly Council, which sublets them to the Manly and Port Jackson Company. The conditions were that the lease should be given to the company for a term of 10 years, providing the company paid to the council £400 for the upkeep of the reserves. At the expiration of the 10 years the council had power again to make alterations as to the conditions and amount to be paid. The first term should expire at an early date, and the council has entered into the second term with the company.

The local aldermen were divided on the question, a minority demanding further concessions from the company.

Alderman Quirk, in a very stormy speech to the ratepayers, emphasised the point that Manly was not receiving its full rights through the lease. In lieu of £400 a year, Manly should demand a percentage on the company's profits. If it was £1000 or more it was not too much to pay to Manly by the company, seeing the profits they were making.

Alderman Donovan criticised the agreement in warm terms, and argued that the payments should be made per capita.

Alderman Dargan wanted the council to have their own wharf, and encourage an independent service. The Port Jackson Company were receiving the wharfage rates that should go into the revenue of the Manly Council.

In fairness to the company it should be stated that the Mayor of Manly, Alderman James Bonner, and Aldermen Ogilvy and Mulligan speak in the highest terms of its generosity. The company erected at their own expense a magnificent wharf for private boats and yachts. Furthermore, it could not raise the fares or increase the freights without the permission of the council.

DAMAGED BY THE STORM.

BULLI SHIRE'S REQUEST.

A deputation consisting of members of the Bulli Shire Council waited upon the Minister for Works yesterday, and made two requests. The first was that a special grant should be made to the shire to enable it to make good the damage done to the roads by the storms of the past week. In support of this it was pointed out that the shire had received no endowment for the first three years; that the valuation made on behalf of the Government was excessive, having been raised from £5 to £25 per acre—an increase of 400 per cent.; which, however, had been reduced on appeal by up to 350 per cent.; and that the main road had been considerably damaged by the rain and by the operation of Government officials engaged in laying water pipes. The shire had just been able, by good management and economical expenditure, to place the roads in a fairly good condition, when their work was destroyed by the storms. It was also pointed out that the shire had 17 or 18 miles of coastal road to look after as well as 14 miles of tourist road to the Bulli Pass. The second request was that some steps should be taken to resume land in the vicinity of Scarborough and Coledale, which was now private property, in order that miners in the vicinity might be able to provide homes for themselves; a third matter was brought before the Minister, viz., that the practice of miners travelling on the railway on weekly tickets had been stopped by the Chief Commissioner, and the men compelled to pay their fare in addition to a fine of 3d, for not having a ticket.

The Minister, in reply, said he had nothing to do with the latter matter, but he considered that having been deprived of the endowment for the first three years they were entitled to consideration, and he certainly would give them something. It was obvious they had got into their present state through being deprived of what they should have had from the beginning. Then, Bulli Pass road could never produce a revenue. The matter was urgent, and he would let them have £200 at once. He would then go into the matter, and see how much they ought to get to make up for the deficiency. He would also send an officer down to make a report in regard to the request for land resumption, and another on the matter of seeing whether it was advisable to provide the shire with a road roller and stone crusher, to be repaid for by instalments in not later than five years.

FIJI NEWS.

SUVA, Jan. 18.

Mr. A. Ehrhardt, Acting Chief Justice, accompanied by Mrs. Ehrhardt, returned from Tonga by the steamer Tofua to-day. Mr. Ehrhardt conducted the case Tongan Government v Cameron, the result of which has not so far been made public.

The Government steamer Ranadi, which was damaged by striking a reef at Mokogai, two months ago, was repaired at Auckland, and returned to Suva on January 16. Wireless telegraphy will be installed on the steamer when the stations which are now being erected throughout the group by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company are completed.

A drowning accident occurred at the Tamanua River on Sunday, January 8, the victim being Miss V. Smith, daughter of Mr. W. H. Terry Smith, of Suva. The deceased, who was unable to swim, got out of her depth.

There has been continued expectation of a hurricane for some weeks past, the barometer having read between 29.57 and 29.62. Many residents of Suva have had their windows and doors protected with battens, and fear unbattening them until the glass shows a considerably higher reading.

The banana crops are rapidly increasing, and shipments for January should total between 30,000 and 40,000 bunches.

You can give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as confidently to a babe as to an adult.—Advt.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

CURED BY CLEMENTS TONIC.

'OUT OF MY HEART COMES MY PRAISE, AND WHO WOULD NOT BE GRATEFUL FOR BEING RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH THROUGH YOUR WONDERFUL MEDICINE, CLEMENTS TONIC.'

Here is a letter all Sydney women should read, especially those who are nervous, run-down, anaemic, prostrated with nerve weakness, biliousness, sick headache, indigestion, lassitude, palpitation, sickness after eating, melancholia or low spirits, or weakness after maternal periods. The letter here published from Mrs. Rose Ford, of South Melbourne, is but one of many daily received, and proves the value of CLEMENTS TONIC.

THE KEY WITH WHICH SICK SYDNEY WOMEN MAY UNLOCK THE DOORS OF HEALTH.

CLEMENTS TONIC LTD.

344 Ross-street, Port Melbourne,
12th January, 1911.

"My husband and I have had it in our minds for some time to send you a few lines, for out of the fulness of the heart the mouth speaketh, and what person would not have a grateful heart to be restored to perfect health and strength, especially if they had passed through one quarter of what I did. The three doctors that attended me all agreed that my case was nervous prostration. Although I had a kind husband and a good home, with the best medical attention, I got no better. I was then an inmate of three Melbourne hospitals. I tried the Convalescent Home, was sent to Ararat in the hope that change of climate might do me good, with no better results. I only took sufficient food to keep me alive and sleep was almost a stranger to me when a lady inmate of one hospital advised me to take Clements Tonic. When I had taken two bottles I could feel the blood flowing through my veins, my hands were steady, and that longed-for refreshing sleep came to me, with the result that I was once more restored to perfect health. You may use my humble testimony as you think fit for the sake of the women who are ill and seek health.

"Yours gratefully (Signed) ROSE FORD."

Only another letter showing what Clements Tonic can do, especially in cases of Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Decline or Anaemia. The medicine that is the weak, nervous woman's friend is Clements Tonic, and it specially proves its value in cases of Chronic Constipation, Biliousness, Nausea or Sickness after eating, Nervous or Sick Headache, Indigestion, Palpitation caused by distension after meals, Lassitude, or Weakness. A consistent and timely use of it creates health and saves doctors' heavy bills. Thousands know this. Send for it and for health at the same time. Those who keep it are in a sense insured against illness, and this shows their wisdom.

£100 STANDARD MILK COMPETITION £100

The above sum will be given in prizes by the Standard Dairy Company for collections of the outer Wrappers covering their well-known brand of

FULL CREAM STANDARD MILK CONDENSED

For Largest Number of Wrappers collected	£25 0 0
For Second „ „	15 0 0
For Third „ „	7 10 0
For Fourth „ „	5 0 0
For Fifth „ „	2 10 0
20 prizes of 20/ each for next largest series of collectors	20 0 0
25 prizes of 10/ each for next largest series of collectors	12 10 0
50 prizes of 5/ each for next largest series of collectors	12 10 0
100 prizes in all, totalling	£100 0 0

The above prizes are given for collections of Wrappers only, which are the outside coverings of Standard Milk tins and easily removed. The Wrappers when collected should be made into a neat parcel, the sender's name and address written legibly enclosed therein and the parcel then addressed clearly and posted to STANDARD DAIRY COMPANY, LIMITED, 90 Pitt-street, SYDNEY, so as to arrive on or before the 15th June, 1911. The competition closes on that date, and the names of the prize winners will be published on the 24th June, 1911, and remittances sent to successful competitors. A collector may win one prize only.

The herds supplying our Condenseries are Australia's finest dairy breeds, fed on beautiful verdant pastures. The milking is done under the Company's inspection, absolute cleanliness and care being the motto. The milk is scientifically purified and pasteurised on the dairies and receives up-to-date treatment at the Condenseries. Everything that science can suggest in every detail is effected to produce a high-class product in a rich, wholesome and pure state for the consumer; and that our methods are successful is evidenced by the highest awards being obtained at the Franco-British Exhibition against the world's milks, and at Australian Exhibitions. The public throughout Australia have confirmed this judgment by their extensive patronage.

STANDARD CONDENSED MILK is more economical than fresh milk; being pasteurised it is safer for infants and all domestic uses, and is always on hand. Used in tea, coffee, or cocoa, it gives a better flavour, and when mixed with cold water it makes a delicious and nourishing beverage; for all culinary purposes it takes the place of fresh milk with advantage.

Purchase a tin from your Grocer to-day—see that the Wrapper is attached—and commence collecting at once for one of our valuable prizes.

BEWARE of inferior and cheaper brands. BE SURE you get the right article:—STANDARD BRAND. Every Tin is guaranteed under the Pure Food Act.

FAMOUS CENTENARIANS.

Length of years is commoner than of old—centenarians are on the increase. This is partly due to greater enlightenment in matters of hygiene, but not a little to those famous centenarians, Cockle's Antibilious Pills, which have been regularly prescribed by the medical profession since the year 1801. Truly a glorious record! They are simply unrivalled as a remedy for all disorders of the liver, stomach, and bowels.

COCKLE'S PILLS

LENGTHEN YOUR LIFE.

REMEMBER—

REMEMBER— THE MAIN POINT OF LIFE IS TO KEEP YOUR STOMACH, LIVER, AND KIDNEYS IN ORDER.

REMEMBER— ABRAHAM'S PILLS ARE PREPARED FROM CHOICE MEDICINAL PLANTS.

REMEMBER— ABRAHAM'S PILLS ARE NATURE'S REMEDY, AND THE BEST.

REMEMBER— ABRAHAM'S PILLS ARE JUST WHAT YOU REQUIRE.

THE CHURCHES.

In the Church of England to-morrow it will be Anniversary Sunday. The provincial Synod, as wel as the Sydney Diocesan Synod, requested the celebration of the day in Anglican churches. In Victoria also the day will now be observed, and while the history of the Church in Australia will not be forgotten, prominence will be given to her duty in moulding on right lines the national life. In St. Philip's, York-street, the Bible and prayer book will be used brought out by the first clergyman, Rev. Richard Johnson, B.A., in 1788. These historical books were rebound about 70 years ago, and have been carefully preserved.

The Archbishop of Brisbane, in a recent address, referred to the way in which the Bible should be read and studied in this age. He deplored the widespread ignorance of the Bible, even among educated people, and attributed the fact that the Scriptures were not read as they were 50 years ago to the effect of modern criticism. But instead of ignoring the Bible now, when it was recognised that it was not a text-book for geology, astronomy, and modern science, he urged that the Scriptures should be read in the light of modern criticism, and then it would be found that the Bible was a more glorious book than ever it was before.

At a meeting in the Chapter House last week of clergy and laity from parishes which support the Australian Board of Missions, it was resolved to ask churchwardens and parochial councils to consider (1) the desirableness of giving one whole Sunday's collections in each financial year to foreign missions; (2) a suggestion that contributions to foreign missions should be estimated at a distinct proportion of the income of the parish. In reference to this latter proposal it was pointed out that one diocese is proposing to give no less than 10 per cent. of its parochial revenues to this object. It was also decided to ask the Archbishop to commend these proposals to the various parishes if they were approved by him. Various promises of substantial help were received at the meeting.

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Harmer, Bishop of Rochester (formerly Bishop of Adelaide), speaking at a meeting of the Kent Colonising Association, said it passed his comprehension that thousands of workers remained in Great Britain while Australia was calling loudly for labour. Australia, he said, was truly a workman's paradise. There was remunerative labour in every direction, and men with grit were able to rise to almost any position.

To-morrow morning Cardinal Moran will make an appeal for St. Mary's Cathedral Building Fund at St. Francis', Paddington. In the afternoon he will lay the foundation-stone of the new church at Erskineville.

The Rev. Archibald Surges-Bayly, late of Clare College, Cambridge, and formerly Anglican curate of Raynes Park, near Wimbledon, was received into the Roman Catholic Church at St. Anthony's, North Cheam, on December 6.

The Rev. Father H. Ward, who has been assisting in parochial work at Scone for some weeks, has returned to Maitland to resume duty at St. John's Cathedral.

The Right Rev. Dr. Clune, the new Roman Catholic Bishop of Perth, Western Australia, will be consecrated in March in his own Cathedral. Cardinal Moran will journey to Perth to perform the ceremony.

Bishop Chanrion, S.M., Vicar-Apostolic of New Caledonia, who has been visiting Rome, arrived in Sydney on Monday by the F.M.S. Yarra. He was accompanied by 10 Marist sisters for his mission, also by two Sisters of St. Joseph of Cluny for the diocese of Ballarat, Victoria. Dr. Chanrion, who is at present at Villa Maria, was appointed Vicar Apostolic of New Caledonia on December 1, 1905, succeeding Bishop Fraysse, who died during September of the same year.

The death is announced of Canon Ryan, of Galbally, Tipperary. Canon Ryan was 78 years of age, and celebrated the golden jubilee of his priesthood in 1907.

Preaching at the Ashfield Presbyterian Church last week, the Rev. R. J. H. M'Gowan said that Australia was a great heritage. Never before had one whole continent been given into the hands of one people. They had difficulties, but also many advantages. They had not the squalid poverty and wretchedness that existed in older lands. Up to the present they had immunity from war. During the last 60 years there had been war on every continent of the world except Australia, but their shores had been unmolested. The tramp of armed men had not been heard. But the destiny of Australia would be determined by the character of her people. It looked as if the conscience of the people was being aroused over the question of the aborigines. The aborigines of Australia were a special charge on Australian Christians. They should remember their own race scattered over the inland portions of the continent—those on newly-selected land, seeking to make a home for their families, those in isolated townships and on distant mining fields and on inland stations.

The Rev. J. Ballantyne, formerly in charge of the Presbyterian Church at Taree, Manning River, died yesterday morning at Coramba.

The Rev. P. F. M'Allister was inducted to the charge of the Presbyterian Church at Junee by the Wagga Presbytery on the 21st instant.

The Presbyterian congregation at St. Marys is taking steps to call a minister in succession to the Rev. W. J. Holt, B.A., who was translated to Tasmania.

The Rev. J. A. Malcolmson is to be inducted to the Presyterian charge of Ashford by the Presbytery of Moree on Monday next.

The Rev. John Paterson, of Broken Hill, is at present in Sydney.

A cable has been received at the Presbyterian Church office from the Rev. Professor Macintyre in connection with the work he has in hand of obtaining ministers and missionaries for the Home Mission committee of the Presbyterian Church. The first minister who comes as the result of Mr. Macintyre's work in Scotland should arrive in Sydney on February 3.

Messrs. Fairley and Little have conducted a successful mission at the Grahame Memorial Church, Waverley.

Miss Toshack, from Darlington (Eng.), will succeed Sister Ruth in the Central Methodist Mission. She will be known as Sister Annie.

A loyal message of thanks was sent to Her Majesty the Queen for her kindness in consenting to become patron of the Young Women's Christian Association. This message was despatched at a recent meeting of the Y.W.C.A. British National Council.

Among the speakers at the Y.W.C.A. Conference, which opens next week, will be the Bishop of Tasmania, the Bishop of Bendigo, the Rev. F. W. Boreham (of Hobart), Mrs. Kaye (N.Z.), Miss Heard, Miss Meager, Mrs. W. E. Cocks, Mrs. Wood, B.A. (Sydney), Miss Stillwell, M.S.C. (of Bendigo), Mrs. Birks, and Miss Anderson, Ph.B. (of Adelaide). Through the favour of Lady Barron, a reception of delegates will take place at Government House. A number of girls from Queensland were taken over the Young Women's Christian Association-building, as they spent a few hours in Sydney en route for the Hobart conference.

The ninth conference of the World's Student Christian Federation will be opened at Constantinople on April 26. The conference will review the progress of the Kingdom of God among students throughout the world. There will be discussion of some of the most important problems of the various national student movements; the needs of some of the most difficult fields will be considered, and opportunities for effective work will be carefully studied. The conference will promote fellowship and co-operation in service among the leaders in various nations; and much time will be set apart for intercession on behalf of the work of Christ among students everywhere.

A new avenue of interest in foreign mission work has recently been opened up amongst the junior members of the Y.M.C.A. A prominent worker in the junior department, Mr. H. C. Fusedale, has decided to undergo two years' training in a missionary training college in Adelaide, preparatory to prosecuting work in China. At a social reunion of the members of the late Christmas camp, it was unanimously decided to support Mr. Fusedale's decision with prayer and money. Mr. Fusedale is to be entertained on Wednesday next.

The oldest living member of the original Y.M.C.A., founded in 1844, is Mr. M. H. Hodder, of the firm of Hodder and Stoughton. He has just attained the age of 80 years. His membership dates back 64 years.

The death of Sir Henry Bale, C.M.G., of Pietermaritzburg, is a great loss to the Y.M.C.A. organisation in South Africa, where he has for many years, in various ways, forwarded the interests of the association.

Honolulu has just commenced a new Y.M.C.A. building which will cost £45,000.

The arrangements for the children's demonstration in connection with the ter-centenary celebrations of the authorised version of the Bible are proceeding satisfactorily. It has been decided, owing to the limited space at the Town Hall, to reserve all the seats for Sunday-school teachers and scholars. Even then the number of scholars from each school will have to be a matter of arrangement. The original idea of a pageant representing the various books of the Bible has been altered to allow of a series of historical tableaux representing the introduction and expansion of the English translation of the Bible. The various missionary societies are to be asked to furnish these reproductions. A popular speaker will be secured to give an address, and a most interesting meeting is anticipated.

The annual report of the Young Men's Christian Association, which has just been published, indicates that that institution is playing an important part in the matter of young men arriving in this country. An agency has been established in England by the Association which deals with the young man proposing to emigrate, and an officer on this side deals with him on arrival. Within the last two years, close on 500 young men have arrived and passed through the department. These have been advised regarding their settlement in the city or country, and when remaining in the metropolis, have been assisted to obtain suitable lodgings and congenial employment. Many introductions have been given to country employers, particularly farmers, which have secured for their bearers suitable employment. The North Coast dairying district has been well supplied with such men. The report also indicates that amongst the religious features of the work the "week of prayer" was one of the best ever experienced. The foreign work department has now been established on a very firm basis. The past year has been a busy one, and the aim of the organisation in combining with other associations to place a man on the Indian field has been attained. In making possible the much-needed music and social room, the ladies' auxiliary accomplished an excellent piece of work. The residents of the association have not been behind hand in exhibiting the real association spirit, and in assuming the work of a reception committee, they have added much to the social life in the building. Scores of visitors have been shown through the rooms, and made familiar with the work, and a good number of these have since affiliated as members. The membership of the association has still further been consolidated, and now reaches a total of 1617. New activities have been established in the form of Esperanto, surfing, tennis, rambling, and camera clubs. At the present moment, an ambulance class is being organised. Respecting the physical side of the work, the gymnasium has been 12 months under the direction of the new instructor, Mr. H. P. Gaze, and is more than maintaining its popularity, and the whole of the various clubs have been unified by the supervision of the physical work committee.

A DROVER CHARGED.

SHEEP FROM HOMEBUSH.

At the Ashfield Police Court yesterday, before Mr. W. Burton Smith, D.S.M., Frederick Sydney Martineer, 45, drover, was presented on six charges of stealing sheep from Flemington Saleyards. The first charge was stealing 38 sheep, the property of Thomas Alfred Field, valued at £19; 21 hoggets, the property of Thomas Alfred Field, valued at £10; five sheep, the property of Thomas Mahoney, valued at £2 10s; 11 sheep, the property of Jordan Bros., valued at £5; and eight sheep, the property of Alfred Dennis Lynch, valued at £4.

Mr. D. S. Bathgate, of the Crown Law Department, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. J. W. Abigail for the defence.

Constable W. A. Pearce gave evidence as to visiting Edwards' slaughter yard at Botany, where he found sheep branded in a certain way. He telephoned for Mr. Edwards to his shop in Regent-street, Redfern, and on his arrival took possession of six crossbred hoggets and brought them to the police station at Botany. He also obtained skins from Winchcombe, Carson, and Co.'s skin shed, branded in a certain way. Subsequently he went to Mr. Edwards' place and took possession of 35 more sheep, and also more skins from Winchcombe, Carson, and Co. On January 19 he saw accused at Flemington Saleyards, and questioned him as to what sheep he took delivery of at the previous sales. Witness detailed the conversation, and said that he afterwards took accused to the police station, and charged him with the present charge.

To Mr. Abigail: Accused said he counted the sheep along the road in daylight. He did not say "I roughed them along the fence." It was usual for sheep to be dropped by one drover and picked up by another. Sometimes sheep were killed by butchers before they were paid for. Harrison was the drover of some of the sheep in question, but others were stolen from the yards. According to Mr. Edwards, accused only delivered 244, instead of 255.

William John West, manager and buyer for T. A. Field, said that on the day in question he took charge of sheep for Lynch and Mahoney. He could identify the brands on these sheep. Mr. Field's brand was a half-circle with a triangle alongside, and Mr. Jordan's sheep were marked JH (conjoined), with a tar daub on the rump. Lynch's sheep were branded with a tar daub on the head and rump. Mahoney's were marked with a tar daub on the wither. On January 13 he counted some sheep of Harrison's drove, and made them 305, making Harrison 62 short. These were 38 of Field's, 11 of Jordan's, eight of Lynch's, and five of Mahoney's. He sent Harrison back to Homebush to see if he could pick up the lost sheep, but he said he could not find them. Witness reported the matter to the owners, and made inquiries among the drovers, and also reported the matter to the police. He gave evidence supporting the previous witness's testimony regarding the visit to Edwards' slaughter-house, and also that paid to Winchcombe, Carson, and Co.'s skin house.

In cross-examination witness said that when Harrison returned from Homebush, and said he could not find the sheep, he brought a number of other sheep with him. He said he got them from the yards, and was advised to take them. Witness knew accused had not been driving for 18 months. He had worked for witness for 12 months, and his conduct had always been satisfactory. Witness was aware that droves had been delivered short at Glebe Island. These shortages were seldom found, but when they were they were either given back or paid for. That was occurring every day in the week at Glebe Island. The extra sheep that Harrison got from the yards were afterwards handed over to one of Winchcombe, Carson, and Co.'s men.

William Harrison, drover, said that on January 12 he took charge of 355 sheep, 200 of Field's, 75 of S. Mahoney's, 46 of Jordan's, 20 of Lynch's, and 20 of Mahoney Bros.' He left Flemington about 7.30 p.m. The sheep were correct when he counted them just before. On arrival at Granville he put the sheep in the yard, and fastened both gates. He did not lose the sheep after leaving the yards. He saw accused over at the yards that night. He offered to help witness out with the sheep, but witness declined his assistance. The sheep were counted at Granville next morning, and were found short. They might have broken as they came out of the yard at Homebush. He went back to have a look for them, but could not find any.

To Mr. Abigail: Witness had never lost such a big lot before. The 90 he picked up he did not know their brands, but he though they might have been his. The boy he left in charge of the sheep while he was away was about 14 years old. His 355 sheep came out of five different yards.

Phillip Murphy, drover, said that on January 12 he put 30 of Mr. Field's sheep in pen 82, all branded. He heard something, and went out to Edwards' slaughteryard at Botany, and saw some of his sheep there.

Ernest Broomfield, drover, said he delivered 230 sheep to accused on January 12. The pens where accused got his sheep from adjoined pen 82. A couple of rails divided them.

Other evidence for the prosecution was given.

Mr. Abigail submitted that there was no case to answer. It was merely a case of suspicion.

The magistrate ruled against the solicitor.

Frederick Sydney Martineer, the accused, said he was a drover, residing at Roselle. On January 16 he was engaged by Mr. Edwards to drive a number of sheep from Flemington to Botany. He should have got 240 sheep and 40 lambs, but when he went to the pens 20 lambs were gone. He started with the sheep about 8 p.m. When he had got 11 or 12 miles along the road he found that he had more sheep than he ought to have. There were 50 over; he counted them. He reported the matter to Edwards, saying he had picked them up on the road. He also told several others that he was a number of sheep over. On the Monday Mr. Edwards asked him did he find out the right owner of those sheep. Witness said he had not, and that everybody seemed to have lost lambs, but no one seemed to claim sheep. Edwards said, "Come on, then; we will see about lambs." Mr. Perry accused witness of taking the lambs from a pen, and witness replied, "Mr. Perry, I never took them, and I have a witness to swear it." Mr. Perry said, "Reid says you took them." Witness saw Reid, who said, "We heard you took them." The matter, however, was cleared up. The pens witness took his sheep from were 30 yards from No. 82 pen.

Other evidence was given, and the further hearing of the case was adjourned to the Burwood Police Court on Tuesday next at 11 oclock. Bail was allowed, accused in £100, and one surety in £100.

Edward Harry Edwards, 34, slaughterman, who was charged with receiving the sheep, knowing them to be stolen, was also remanded till Tuesday, at the Burwood Court, bail being allowed himself in £[illegible] and one surety in a like amount.

ANGUS AND COOTE'S PICNIC.

The third annual picnic arranged by Messrs. Angus and Coote took place on Anniversary Day at Wentworth Estate, Vaucluse. The heavy rain prevented a large number from attending. Still 50 picnickers assembled at the grounds, and a thoroughly enjoyable day was spent. During a lull a sports programme was carried out, and prominent among the novelty races was a "hobble skirt race," which afforded immense amusement. The prize-giving was presided over by Mr. Coote. Several toasts were honoured at the luncheon.

ANNIVERSARY DAY INCIDENT.

Before Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., yesterday, at the Water Police Court, Claude Minor, 21, was charged with having, on Anniversary Day, assaulted Benjamin George Howe.

Prosecutor, a railway employee, stated that on the evening of the 26th instant he got on to a tram, where he saw accused with other men and three young girls. On the way to the Quay one of the girls smiled at him, and he returned the salute. They all arrived together at Circular Quay, witness alighting after the accused. As witness was walking along accused approached him with two male companions. Accused said, "You made me look small on the tram when you smiled at my girl," and witness replied that as the girl smiled at him he could not help it, and that he did not know the girl was in accused's company. The three men offered battle, and witness threatened to call the police. Accused then struck witness in the mouth, breaking three of his natural teeth, and damaging his artificial teeth to the extent of a guinea. The three men then ran away, followed by witness, who was told by accused if he gave him in charge he would charge him (witness) with attempting a serious offence on the girl.

The accused, a dentist, said that on the night mentioned he was in a tram in company with some male and female companions, when he saw prosecutor smile at one of the girls. On arrival at Circular Quay, as witness and his girl were passing prosecutor, the girl made a complaint to witness. Witness then asked prosecutor why he wished to force himself on the girl's attention, whereupon prosecutor said he was quite able to look after himself. As prosecutor had caught the girl by the hand, he (witness) was annoyed, and struck the prosecutor.

Erna Dalton, 17 years of age, said that while on the tram prosecutor made signs to her, and when they alighted at Circular Quay he tried to slip something into her hand.

Accused was convicted and fined £5, or in default two months' imprisonment.

POLICE COURTS.

CRUELTY TO A HORSE.

At the Water Summons Court on Friday, before Mr. Maitland, D.S.M., Inspector Trenchard proceeded against Walter M'Master, of 77 William-street, for having, on January 6, driven in Abattoirs-road, Pyrmont, a horse suffering from sores calculated to cause pain. It was stated that the animal had two large sores beneath the saddle, which were red and raw. Defendant, who pleaded guilty, was fined £2, with 6s costs, or in default 21 days' imprisonment.

UNJUST MEASURES.

At the Water Summons Court on Friday, before Mr. Maitland, D.S.M., Chas. Degotardi, an inspector of weights and measures, proceeded against Gilbert Deakin, a hawker, of Bourke-street, for having, on January 13, in his possession, where goods were exposed for sale, a half-pint measure which was found to be unjust to the extent of one fluid ounce and two fluid drachms. He pleaded guilty, and was fined £1, with 6s costs, or in default 14 days' imprisonment.

At the same Court, John Cowan, of Bourke-street, was fined 20s and costs, or in default 14 days' imprisonment, for having in his possession, where goods were exposed for sale, a half-pint measure, which was one fluid ounce and two fluid drachms unjust.

THROWING DICE.

Before Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., on Friday, at the Water Police Court, William John Murphy, 19, was charged with throwing dice on the footpath in Castlereagh-street, to the annoyance of pedestrians, on Anniversary Day. In being fined 20s, or in default seven days' imprisonment, accused was advised to give up the practice, or he would render himself liable to be brought up under the Vagrant Act.

TWO PLATED TANKARDS.

TAKEN IN A JOKE.

Walter Stoneham, 20, was charged at the Water Police Court on Friday, before Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., with stealing an electroplated tankard, valued at 13s 6d, the property of Walter Halifax Watson, licensee of the Paragon Hotel, Circular Quay, on the 26th instant. The evidence of Constable Best was to the effect that he was informed by the prosecutor that a pint tankard had been taken from his hotel. Witness said that he then went to an oyster saloon at Circular Quay, where he saw the accused sitting at the table with several others. Witness asked them if any of them had been in Watson's Hotel that night, and two of the men replied in the negative. They were informed that a pint tankard had been taken from the hotel, and asked if either of the two had taken it. They said "No," and offered themselves for search. Witness looked under the table, and found the pint measure produced. On the way to the station accused said that he had taken the tankard in a joke. Accused, who pleaded guilty, and said that he intended returning the tankard, was fined £3, or in default one month's imprisonment.

At the same Court, Francis Paige, 26, was charged with stealing a half-pint tankard, valued at 12s 6d, the property of Mr. Watson, licensee of the Paragon Hotel, on January 26. Accused, who said that the tankard was in his pocket, but how it got there and who had placed it there he could not say, was fined £3, or in default one month's imprisonment.

ROMAN CATHOLIC CLAIMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Among the many letters which have appeared on the above matter I do not recollect having seen one from the pen of a Roman Catholic, openly confessing his admiration for the State education system. I am aware that there are many such who not only admire the system but are themselves indebted to it for a good education, and consequently good positions, and whose children are in addition availing themselves of its advantages. As a Roman Catholic, therefore, I need offer no apology for asking you space to express views which, according to his Eminence, should not exist in the mind of any member of his Church. I claim some qualification to voice an opinion, having been a pupil at Public schools, as well as at Roman Catholic primary and secondary schools.

First, as to the educational advantages to be derived, the State primary school stands easily first. It is, as a rule, well equipped, and the ability and training of its teaching staff undoubted. This is true of schools even in the more remote and thinly-populated districts, as I know from personal experience. The Roman Catholic primary schools are, except in a half-dozen large towns, presided over by nuns. These nuns, against whose personal character no fault is ever found, are recruited as a rule from convent schoolgirls between the ages of 16 and 18, whose educational attainments (except in music) are as a rule inferior, and whose training (on which, by the way, the State authorities rightly set much store) is practically nil. From that time on they are given classes to teach, mostly without supervision of any kind, and plod along in a go-as-you-please fashion, with a minimum of teaching and a maximum of prayers. There is no system of any kind in the teaching, and the result is that at the leaving age of 14 or thereabouts a pupil steps out into the world (if not intended for a secondary school) with the poorest kind of education imaginable. I am not mentioning an isolated case, but what is true of nine-tenths of the convent primary schools, for, as I have mentioned above, there is absolutely no training given in any of the Roman Catholic institutions to thoroughly fit a teacher to impart useful knowledge in a proper manner. At the same leaving age (say 14) the State school pupil has had the advantage, even if in a very small town, of instruction from teachers who have been carefully and properly trained, and whose future prospects and advancement depend on the amount of ability and industry they display in their avocation. This leaves the convent school-trained pupil hopelessly in the rear of his State school rival as far as education is concerned, and practically out of it in the race for positions of any kind. Now comes the point on which his Eminence, and his bishops and priests, so constantly harp—the religious training. It is to be inferred by the average person reading the attacks on the morality of the State schools that they are, as one prelate described them, "sinks of iniquity," and that the pupils of Catholic schools, where a large portion of the day is devoted to prayers, hymns, religious instruction, etc., are on the other hand paragons of piety. I speak from personal experience when I say that I heard more bad language, indecent and even filthy expressions, in one Catholic secondary school than I heard in four State primary schools. This is said in no sense of criticism of or disrespect to the masters of the secondary school, who were kind, gentle, and refined priests of scholarly attainments, but who had no voice in the early home training of their pupils. It is this home training that makes or mars the future character of the citizen, and it is the prayers that are lisped at our mother's knee, the principle that she gently but firmly inculcated into our childish minds, the example set, that accompany us in the battle of life, fortify us in the hour of trouble, and cheer us in our last struggle, when the prayers, hymns, and dogmatic teachings of school days are forgotten.

To support these primary schools is a heavy burden on unfortunate Roman Catholic parents, who belong almost entirely to the poorer class. And if the education imparted at the State schools is satisfactory (which it is), and prayers and religion are taught in the home (as they should be), then I contend the need for the maintenance of the denominational primary school does not exist, and the Catholic parent should be freed of the tax and allowed to send his children to schools whence he will derive the best results, and where not only will his religious views be not interfered with, but ample opportunities will be afforded his priest of visiting the school and imparting such instruction as he should deem necessary. I may here mention a most cruel and unjust law of the Catholic Church, namely, that all rites of the Church are to be withheld from parents who send children under the age of 12 to State schools. It is only those in the Catholic Church, in whose breasts the articles of its faith are deep-rooted, that can understand the true significance of this punishment, and they allow the education of their children to suffer rather than imperil their salvation, as they consider they would be doing by being deprived of their sacraments. I am in the position myself of having young children who have been for two years attending a convent school, where the weekly school money is fairly stiff, and I am forced to admit that the two years have been almost absolutely wasted. At the same time other children of the same age have been attending the local State school, with results that must be gratifying to their parents. When I was the same age my father defied the ruling of the Church and sent his children to the school in which he deemed they would get the best results, and for that reason they owe him a great debt of gratitude; but my wife, who is impregnated with notions of the utter wickedness of State schools, insists on her children going to the convent school. However, she is now teaching them for an hour daily after school, to try to make up for the deficiencies of their teachers. I have here gone into detail somewhat, but it is merely in order to bring out the unfortunate disadvantages under which the average Catholic parent is labouring.

As to the teaching of the Catholic secondary schools, I have only admiration for it. It is quite up to the best standard, and its results, both at public examinations and elsewhere, speak for themselves. These schools are, however, only for the children of the well-to-do, who pay a liberal pension, and it would be manifestly absurd for schools of such a type to expect State aid.

I should here like to touch on a matter which has much to do with the attitude adopted by the Catholic hierarchy in regard to State education, and it is the intolerant and inexcusable bigotry of the Irish priest, which extends from his Eminence, the most bigoted of them all, down to the last raw curate that landed from Maynooth. To such nothing good can come out of England, or be done by the English. No virtue can exist amongst Protestants—in fact, it was not till I became a pupil of a Jesuit College that I ever understood anything but that a Protestant, good, bad, or indifferent, was doomed to eternal damnation. Hours are spent teaching of the persecution that Ireland suffered, of the penal laws, of the generally downtrodden Irish, which could with infinitely more advantage be devoted to lessons in Australian history and Australian life generally. The study of English history is merely an opportunity for continued and bigoted criticism of England. You never hear about the excellent land laws at present in force in Ireland, but you are taught to sing "High upon the gallows-tree, swing the noble-hearted three." You hear much of the awful persecutions of Elizabeth, but you are not taught that Mary did anything of the kind. The question set by the professor of history in last year's University examination is read out as a sample of the bigotry of a Protestant professor, but it is not explained that the question was on a matter of historical fact; and so on ad infinitum. Is it, then, a matter of surprise that it takes a year or two of contact with his decent Protestant fellow-citizen to eradicate from the Catholic student the bigotry driven in by the lectures of bitter Irish priests.

The pity of it is that when his Eminence sets out to say something particularly insulting or uncharitable, his words are accepted as the sentiments of every Catholic citizen of the State. Now this is a wrong done to quite seven-tenths of the Roman Catholic community. On this point I speak with some degree of certainty, as it is a matter that I have discussed backwards and forwards with co-religionists ever since the Cardinal set out to stir up a particularly dirty kind of sectarian mud, and it is surprising how few there are who do not deprecate—who are not, in fact, greatly pained by—his Eminence's utterances. But the press will persist in giving the matter what appears to us to be undue prominence, and hence our Protestant brethren, with whom we would wish to have cordial relationship, turn from us in coldness, and in retaliation say things that are hurtful. Small country storekeepers who are Catholics lose their good Protestant customers, others suffer proportionately, bitterness is engendered, sectarianism comes into politics and municipal life, and, Catholic though I be to the backbone, I have to say that no ten men in the State of New South Wales to-day have done as much to bring this state of affairs to pass as Cardinal Moran. Why should not our Catholic schools be allowed to take part in Empire Day celebrations? Are we not all under the one flag, which wherever it is flown stands for a grand and a glorious freedom that is the admiration of the world, and which is not to be found in any other part of the known globe, no, not even in the United States of America? It is unfair for the press and for the average citizen to assume that we Catholics are all tarred with the same brush as his Eminence; for while his Eminence preached pro-Boerism we had Catholics, and many of them, fighting side by side with loyal Orangemen in the contingents. But we had no renegade Arthur Lynch. It needed Catholic Ireland to produce his traitorous type to turn and fight against the flag that had sheltered him. It needed Catholic Irishmen to stand and cheer the news that a brave British regiment had been wiped out of existence by a hail of Boer bullets. How nauseating it becomes, and all for grievances that existed before our great grandfathers were born. Catholics are permitted to worship as often and as much as they wish at St. Mary's or elsewhere. What is to be gained then by his Eminence constantly reiterating the difficulties that Catholics encountered in worshipping somewhere in the year 1800 or thereabouts.

If Protestants will understand once for all that their Catholic fellow-citizens wish to live with them in peace and amity, to pull together for the advancement of this magnificent and prosperous country, for the encouragement and promotion of a broad Imperialism, then much will have been accomplished, and the vapourings of his Eminence will occupy the position they deserve—the main column of a certain Sydney Roman Catholic weekly.

I am, etc.,
AN AUSTRALIAN ROMAN CATHOLIC.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Let me begin by frankly admitting my satisfaction at your editorial footnote to my letter in your issue of yesterday. Evidently you regard the point as crucial, and the issue as decisive. You are right.

As an introduction to the reference for which you ask, I will now show that Parkes knew thoroughly the injustice he was about to perpetrate, and fully realised that the Act would "throw out" the Catholics from the State system of education. The speech from which I quote will be found in your own files of December 11, 1872, but the extracts below were made by Dalley in a speech in the House ("Hansard," 1879-80, page 1434).

"He (Parkes) believed, from what he knew of the Church of Rome, and its thorough determination to have its children reared in its own dogmas and in the supremacy of its priesthood, that they would not send their children to these schools.

"It would be impossible to inflict a wrong like this upon a fourth of our population without kindling a flame which they could not extinguish, because, say what they liked, he felt assumed they would not send their children to the schools; and, while they were compelled to pay for the support of Public schools, they would have to pay in addition for the support of their own. There would then be this injustice created, for which there would be no excuse or justification, and which they could not defend before the public and the world."

Are we "sectional," then; are we "anti-national;" are we "separationist," because we did not accept a system which inflicted an injustice for which there was "no excuse or justification," and which even Parkes "could not defend before the public and the world"?

But, to come to the later speech, for which chapter and verse are asked. It was delivered on February 25, 1880, on the third reading of the Public Instruction Bill, which had been introduced at the close of 1879 (vide "Hansard," vol. 2 of session 1879-80, page 1284). Here are the exact words:—

"No doubt some of the priests of both Churches—and nearly the whole body of the priesthood of one Church—are opposed to the bill, because enlightenment—the rearing of the children in the free exercise of their faculties—is death to their calling. The peculiar genius of the Roman Church is to thrive upon the enslavement of the human intellect."

Were we to blame, then, for rejecting with indignant scorn a bill which the State Premier declared would be death to our calling? Even now, after the ashes of thirty years have been heaped over the feuds of that narrow time, we Catholics cannot read without indignation the speeches made in Parliament on the second and third readings of the bill. And in this looks like exaggeration, it is easy to bring it to the test. I defy you, then, to outrage the sense of decency of your readers by publishing the filthy charges made against us by Buchanan when speaking on the third reading. You published them, no doubt, in 1880; but you would not dare to do it now. You will find the matter I refer to in your own files of February 26, 1880.

Lastly, the best proof of the spirit in which the Act of 1879 was conceived will be found in a letter written by the venomous and dyspeptic old "Sage of Chelsea" to Parkes, in which Carlyle glories in Parkes' shame. That Parkes should have published it in his "Fifty Years of Australian History" is the best indication that he accepted the congratulations as deserved. Kindly look it up, and you will be quite as ashamed of the "blind bigotry"—to adopt Dr. O'Connor's phrase—of 1879 as even

Teach me from my heart to say
Thy will be done.

Inserted by her daughter and son-in-law, Florrie and Arthur Prentice.

BLAIR.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dearly beloved mother, Mary Jane Blair, who passed away January 28, 1907, aged 48 years.

As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

Inserted by her loving daughters and son, Mabel, Stella, and Reggie.

BLAIR.—In loving memory of our dear beloved mother, Mary Jane Blair, who departed this life January 28, 1907.

Mother is gone, but not forgotten,
Nor is the good advice she gave.
Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger
Around our darling mother's grave.
Long days and nights she bore in pain,
To wait for cure was all in vain;
But God alone, who thought it best,
Did ease her pain and give her rest.

Inserted by her loving sons, Fred. and Bert.

BRENNAN.—In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Brennan, who departed this life January 28, 1909; also darling mother, July 25, 1906.

The faces we loved they now lie low;
The fond, true hearts are still;
The hands we often clasped in ours
Lie now in death's cold chill.

Inserted by their loving children, Tom, Dave, Annie, Jim, Nell, and Joe Brennan, Alfred-street, North Botany.

DALE.—In sad and loving memory of our dear niece and cousin, Olive Isabelle, who departed this life January 28, 1909. Inserted by her loving uncle and aunt and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dale and family, Glenorie.

DUGGAN.—In sad but loving memory of our dear mother, Margaret Duggan, who died January 28, 1907, age 29.

The very best that God could send,
A true fond mother and faithful friend;
Forget her, no, we never will,
Though years roll on we love her still.

Inserted by her loving sons, Edward and James Duggan.

DUGGAN.—In loving memory of Margaret Duggan, who died suddenly January 28, 1907.

When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear sister how we long for you.
There are days of bitter anguish,
When tears begin to fall,
But the parting with you, dear sister,
Was the hardest of them all.
We mourn for you in silence,
But not with outward show,
For those who mourn sincerely,
Mourn silently and low.

Inserted by her loving brother and sister, Edward Robson and Mrs. Goff.

ELLIOTT.—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, John William Elliott, who departed this life on January 28, 1910, aged 25 years. Inserted by his loving mother and father, brothers, and sisters, Millie and Jack, Edie and Wall., George and Alfred.

Pale death could scarcely find another—
So good a son and kind a brother.
In all his actions he was kind,
He left his loved ones all behind.
No more he'll rise up early and away to work will go;
No more we'll watch his coming when the sun is sinking low;
No more his dear face with happy smiles we'll greet.
It seems so hard to think we'll see him here no more.

ELLIOTT.—In loving memory of our dear brother and uncle, John William Elliott, who died January 28, 1910. Gone, but not forgotten.

One year ago, no tongue can tell
How anxiously we stood
Besides our darling brother's bed,
To keep him if we could;
He bore his pain, he bore it well,
And what he suffered none can tell.
Peacefully sleeping, rest at last,
Life's weary pains suffered and past.

Inserted by his loving sister and brother-in-law, George and May Worthington, and nieces, Elsie (Nellie) and Minnie.

GLOVER.—In loving remembrance of my dear mother, Sarah Jane Glover, who died January 29, 1905; also my dear brother, Edward, who was killed March 1, 1906, through injuries received by a lift accident. Inserted by her loving son and brother, H. L. Glover.

HAMMOND.—In sad and loving memory of my dear husband and father, Abner Hammond, who departed this life January 28, 1910.

A better husband never dwelt on this earth,
Or proved to his children a true father's worth.
With actions so noble, generous, and kind,
Few in this world his equal to find.

Inserted by his loving wife and family.

HAMMOND.—In affectionate and everlasting remembrance of our loving father, Abner Hammond, who departed this life January 28, 1910.

Long days and nights he bore his pain,
To wait for cure was all in vain.
Short and sudden was the call
Of him so dearly loved by all.

Inserted by his loving daughter and son-in-law, Grace and Ern.

HAMMOND.—In affectionate remembrance of our dear father, Abner Hammond, who departed this life on January 28, 1910.

He bade no one the last good-bye,
He waved his hand to none;
His spirit fled before we knew,
That from us he had gone.
Only those who have lost are able to tell
The pain of the heart at not saying farewell.

Inserted by his loving daughter and son-in-law, Ethel and Alf.

HEMING.—In loving memory of our dear father and mother, who departed this life, January 28, 1906. Inserted by their loving children, Fred., Millie, Gladys, and Gordon.

HUGHES.—In loving memory of my dear wife and our dear mother, Honora Hughes, who departed this life January 25, 1907. R.I.P. Sweet Jesus have mercy on her soul. Inserted by her loving husband and children.

LOGAN.—In sad but loving memory of my dearly beloved wife and mother, Kathleen Logan, who departed this life January 29, 1910.

As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

Inserted by her loving husband and daughter, Ivy.

LOGAN.—In loving memory of my dear sister, Kate, who departed this life January 29th, 1910. Inserted by her loving sister, Rose. At rest.

MEDINA.—In loving memory of our dear brother, Alfred Medina, who departed this life January 29, 1908, aged 22 years. Inserted by his loving brother and sister-in-law, Harry and Liney Medina.

MURRAY.—In sad but loving memory of my dear husband, Andrew William, who departed this life January 28, 1910, at Jupiter-street, Gladesville. Inserted by his loving wife and child Harold.

MURRAY.—In sad but loving memory of my dear son and brother Andrew, who departed this life January 28, 1910. Sadly missed by his mother, sisters, and brothers.

O'TOOLE.—In loving remembrance of our dear brother, George Albert, who was accidentally killed at Gravesend through a fall from his horse, January 29, 1907, aged 20 years. At rest. Inserted by his loving sister and brother-in-law, J. K. Gaff, Gorman-street, Willoughby.

PITTAWAY.—In loving memory of my dear husband and our dear father, Daniel Pittaway, who died at Granville, January 29th, 1910.

God saw that his footsteps faltered,
And saw that his heart was weak,
So He bade him rest for a season,
As the pathway had grown too steep.

Inserted by his loving wife and family.

RILEY.—In loving memory of our dear daughter, Linda Ruth, who passed away January 29, 1910. Sadly missed. Inserted by her loving mother and father.

One year has gone, we miss you sadly,
Never shall your memory fade,
Our thoughts of you will ever linger,
Around the grave where you are laid.
Sleep on, darling Linda,
Your trials and sorrows here are o'er,
And soon we shall meet in heaven,
Where we shall rest to part no more.

RILEY.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Linda Ruth, who passed away January 29, 1910. Sadly missed. Inserted by her loving sister and brother, Amy and George Moore.

One less at home,
The charmed circle broken; a dear face
Missed day by day from its accustomed place,
But cleansed and saved and perfected by grace,
One more in heaven.

RILEY.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Linda Ruth, who passed away January 29, 1910. Sadly missed. Inserted by her loving sister and brother, Addie and Jack Illingworth.

Beyond this world of sadness,
Where no sorrow's cloud can fall,
There's a God of love and a home of Peace for the loved ones He may call.

IN MEMORIAM.

RILEY.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Linda Ruth, who passed away January 29, 1910. Inserted by her loving sister and brother, Josie and Richard Jacobs.

To live in the hearts of those we love
Is not to die.

RILEY.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Linda Ruth, who passed away January 29, 1910. Inserted by her loving brother and sister, Dick and Ivy Riley.

For many years our family chain
Was firmly linked together,
But oh, that chain is broken now,
One link has gone for ever.

RILEY.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Linda Ruth, who passed away January 29, 1910. Inserted by her loving brother and sister, Joseph and Nellie Riley.

There is a grave not far away
Where our dear sister sleeps;
Who seemed alive but yesterday,
How fresh her memory keeps.

RILEY.—In loving memory of my dear cousin, Linda Ruth, who passed away January 29, 1910. Inserted by her loving cousin, Nell.

The midnight stars are shining
Upon a silent grave,
Where, sleeping without dreaming,
Lies one we could not save.

RILEY.—Linda Ruth, died at Lindaville, Abercrombie-street, January 29th, 1910, the beloved friend of Teena Patterson.

RILEY.—In sad and loving memory of my dear friend, Miss Linda Riley, who departed this life January 29, 1910. Always in memory. Inserted by her little friend, Stella Irene Bastian, Rozelle.

RITCHIE.—In sad and loving memory of our beloved daughter and sister, Louisa Jane, who departed this life January 28th, 1907. Inserted by her loving father and mother and brother and sister, Reggie and Elsie Killick. Though lost to sight to memory dear.

RITCHIE.—In sad and loving memory of our dear sister, Louisa Jane, who departed this life January 28th, 1907. Inserted by her loving sister and brother-in-law, Florrie and Ted Werrell. Never forgotten.

RITCHIE.—In sad but ever-loving memory of our dear sister, Louisa Jane, who departed this life January 28th, 1907. Inserted by her loving brother and sister-in-law, Fred. and Lyla Killick. Sadly missed.

ROSS.—In loving memory of Andrew Ross, M.D., who passed away 29th January, 1910. Inserted by his loving wife and son.

SHANKLAND.—In loving memory of my dear wife, Mary Emily Shankland, who died January 29, 1909. I did not know how much I loved you until I lost you. Oh, how my heart grieves. Robert Shankland.

SHANKLAND.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mary Emily Shankland, who departed this life January 29, 1909.

It was a dreadful shock.
'Tis God and I only know—a painful blow,
For since you left we had naught but grief;
Silent sorrow is our only relief.
Although you had not time to say good-bye,
Your face in our memory shall never die.
Our loss is great—we will not complain,
But trust in God to meet again.

My sweet mother, Fitz Hugh Shankland.

SHANNON.—In loving memory of William Shannon, aged 28, who was accidentally drowned at Picton, New Zealand, January 25, 1910, eldest son of the late John Shannon.

Cast your hopes upon the water,
You who have abundant store;
It may float on many a billow,
It may strand on many a shore.
You may think he is lost for ever,
But as sure as God is true,
In this life or in the other,
We will always think of you.

Inserted by his loving mother and brother Fred. New Zealand papers please copy.

SHERIDAN-MOORE.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear grandmother, Flora Sheridan-Moore, who departed this life January 29th, 1910. Inserted by her loving granddaughters, Rene and Flora.

SHERIDAN-MOORE.—In affectionate and loving remembrance of Flora Sheridan-Moore, who passed to the higher life January 29, 1910. To live in the minds and hearts of those we love is not to die.

SLOUGH.—In loving memory of our dear father, Frederick Slough, who departed this life January 28th, 1910. Inserted by his loving sons, Frederick and George.

STEVENS.—In loving remembrance of my dear wife, Rose Stevens, who departed this life January 28, 1910. Inserted by her husband, Geo. Stevens.

THOMAS.—In memory of Clara (Clare) Thomas, who passed away at North Sydney, January 28, 1908. Gone, but not forgotten. Inserted by her affectionate cousin, Jean.

THOMPSON.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Ann Jane, who departed this life at Ryde, January 29, 1910.

Twelve months have passed, our hearts still sad,
As time goes on we miss her more,
Her loving smile, her dear, kind face;
There's none can fill my mother's place.

Inserted by her loving daughter, Annie.

TURNER.—Sacred to the memory of my dearly-loved mother, Louisa A. Turner, who passed away at her residence, Vaynor, Bourke-street, Darlinghurst, on January 29, 1908. Peace, perfect peace. Inserted by her affectionate daughter, Irene.

VAUGHAN.—In loving memory of our dear father, William Henry Vaughan, who departed this life January 24, 1898. Peace, perfect peace. Inserted by his son and daughters, Jack, Prudence, Emily, and grandchildren, Bertie and Emily.

WALKER.—In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband and our dear father, William Walker, who died January 28, 1903, at the Western Suburbs Cottage Hospital, aged 56 years, through injuries received while working at the Enfield brickworks. Sadly missed. Inserted by his ever affectionate wife and family.

WARREN.—In fond memory of our dear baby, Thomas John Leonard, who passed away January 29, 1910, aged 1 year and 11 months. "Love's remembrance lasts for ever." Inserted by his loving mother, I. M. Macey, grandma and auntie, E. and E. Walton.

WARREN.—In loving memory of our dear little grandson, Thomas John Leonard, who died January 29, 1910. Inserted by his loving grandparents, W. and L. J. Welch.

WORDSWORTH.—In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Wordsworth, who passed into higher life January 28, 1910, aged 79. Inserted by his loving son and daughter-in-law, James and Pauline Wordsworth, Rookwood.

AN APPEAL TO HISTORY.

The claim of the Roman Catholic Church in respect of education has again been stated authoritatively by a conference of her bishops and clergy. Furthermore, it has been stated in the traditional manner of that Church. There is thus no novelty either in the nature of the claim or in its manner of presentation. It is a claim, as it always was, for State aid to Church schools set up in opposition to State schools. It is a claim for State ratification of a system confessedly at antagonism with the convictions of the State; and it is a claim, moreover, on behalf of a section of the community for that very recognition which an overwhelming majority of the community has repeatedly refused them. In its one aspect it simultaneously takes up a position of active antagonism to the State, and asks the State to support that position. In its other aspect it demands for a minority rights and privileges constitutionally belonging only to the majority, and it makes that demand with confident assurance, as though it had not been dismissed long since as unwarrantable. The foundation of the Roman Catholic claim, as stated in the resolution adopted by the conference, is that the present system of State education therein protested against was "devised in a spirit of hostility to the Roman Catholic Church." "The champions of the Bill," we are told, "made no secret of their purpose"; while that "avowed purpose of destroying the faith of Catholic children continues at the root of the whole system." Now the appeal to history is demonstrably full of danger, for there is no history either of people, or institution, or sect, that has run a clear, unsullied course toward fulfilment. It is of the essence of history that as it is made up of the imperfections, as well as the virtues of men, its pictured achievement must of necessity project more of grim shadow than may ever be justified. And, allowing that, less than most can the history of Roman Catholicism affect to discard the portent of failure. When, therefore, she appeals to history she does so at more than common risk; of which fact her account of the origin of the Public Instruction Act is present proof enough. For so far from showing the Roman Catholic Church as crushed under oppression, or miserably set upon by denial of due justice, the history of that time shows conclusively that the State had good reason for its specific direction of events. It shows that the present education system came into being not from desire of oppression of the Roman Catholic Church, but because of the arrogance of the Roman Catholic demand, and the suicidal insistence of the Church upon rights that she never possessed, and upon claims to privileges that the sense of the community would never concede.

The history of that time shows also the education system established as an ordered development of State supervision of the needs of the country; but more than all it shows that development immeasurably helped, made imperative indeed, by grossly slanderous attack upon the Public schools by the head of the Roman Catholic Church and his bishops with him. The Roman Catholic conference appears anxious to appeal to history; it makes no reference however to the famous pastoral letter of the Archbishop of Sydney, and his bishops, of June, 1879, and the attack of that pastoral upon the State schools as "seed plots of future immorality, infidelity, and lawlessness, calculated to debase the standard of human excellence, and to corrupt the political, social, and individual life of future citizens." It makes no reference, either, to the roar of indignation that swept across this country as a result of that attack. Yet, in after years, remembering that pastoral, and seeing all that had issued from it of disadvantage to his cause, Archbishop Vaughan might well have mourned the knowledge that he—

> Viewed his own feather on the fatal dart,
> And winged the shaft that quivered in his heart.

But the sectarian protest had been vocal long before then. When the Public Schools Act of 1866 abolished the old system of 1844, there was no "spirit of hostility to the Roman Catholic Church" in the change. On the contrary, the new Act preserved the principle of denominationalism. It not only allowed all Roman Catholic schools to be certified, and so become eligible for State assistance, but it provided for the establishment of new Church schools wherever they were required. Yet, against that Act the Roman Catholic Church made vigorous campaign. It retained its old privileges, but it was not satisfied; and its only valid reason for dissatisfaction was in the fact that it well knew that the incoming Act, by its extension of the range of the education system generally, would cover the country with the State schools which the country needed, but could not obtain under the old Act. It knew also that the new Act would put an end to the bad old system under which small and inefficient Church schools were freely set up. Hence the anger of the Roman Catholic Church with the Act of 1866. But the country was against the Church, and the Act was passed.

And the Roman Catholic claims against it not only failed to secure acceptance. They aroused antagonism, and they fanned it into a flame that was presently to envelope the country from end to end. Inspired by it denominationalism became more and more subject to criticism, and the complete withdrawal of State aid from Church schools more and more an objective of popular direction. And the trouble not merely grew as the result of agitation by the newly-founded Public Schools' League and its advocacy of secular education. It was precipitated by the Roman Catholic Church itself. The "seed plots of future immorality, infidelity, and lawlessness," had a body of support that received that charge with a fierce outburst of indignation, and hurled it back in the teeth of those who made it. In a series of subsequent pastorals read in St. Mary's Cathedral by Archbishop Vaughan, that distinguished man brought to the occasion all his great gifts of oratory. Each of his letters became a text of discussion that flued the country from end to end. Pulpits launched their thunders in attack of them. The press teemed with denunciation. Public meetings had but a single platform, but many shoutings of defiance. Everywhere people were stirred to unaccustomed activity of anger; and the trend of their feeling had but one way. The pastoral letter of June, 1879, and the Public Instruction Act of 1880 were cause and effect. The recent conference specifically attacks Sir Henry Parkes in respect of his advocacy of the change. In that, the appeal of the conference to history is no less unfortunate. Sir Henry Parkes was a statesman by virtue of lofty outlook upon the many needs of a young nation. In no respect was that breadth of view more manifest than in his treatment of the education question. He was never an advocate of secularism. It was he who introduced the Public Schools Act of 1866, and in the controversy thereafter he consistently upheld the principle of respecting the convictions of all persons. He is even to be found pointing to St. Mary's School, among others, as justifying the 1866 measure of denominationalism; while in 1875, and again in 1877, he made eloquent defence of that measure against proposals to withdraw assistance from Church schools. But in his speech introducing the Public Instruction Act of 1880, he told how he had been forced to act afresh because of the assault upon the system by Archbishop Vaughan, "the very man," he declared, "for whom the compromise (of 1866) was established." And he went on to say how impossible it was—"how utterly impossible for me with my deep convictions upon the general question, to stand still and see this wise, beneficent, and freely-accepted system attacked as the nursery of criminality and vice," and to see, further, the clergy exhorted by their bishops to do all in their power to destroy the Public schools. That is Sir Henry Parkes on the subject, and that is history. The Roman Catholic conference is welcome to its appeal to the malice of the one and the authority of the other.

THE FUTURE OF THE SOUTH SEAS.

There are few thoughtful people in Australia who do not realise what British occupation and possession of the islands of the Southern and Western Pacific might mean to us in the days to come. It is the thought of international distribution of power amongst the islands contiguous to this continent that causes some apprehension of the possibly not far off future; and lends the deepest interest to the movements of diplomacy amongst the nations of Europe. The seemingly inevitable expansion of Germany in the direction of the North Sea, involving as it must the subordination of the Dutch to the interests of their powerful neighbour, threatens not only a probable challenge to Great Britain, but suggests a possible alteration in the map on this side of the world. Broadly speaking, all the island territory from Timor to Bougainville, with the exception of British New Guinea, is a possible, if not actual, sphere of German influence. New Caledonia and the Loyalty Islands are in the possession of France, whilst that very unsatisfactory arrangement, the Condominium, is responsible for the government of the New Hebrides. It is recognised that the Germans have considerable strategic advantages in Samoa, and the French at Tahiti; whilst Fiji and Tonga balance matters on behalf of Britain. Germany actually controls six groups of islands in the Pacific, whilst France has an interest in about an equal number of less strategic importance. It is quite conceivable that successful diplomacy might lead to the transfer to Germany of Dutch interests in the Malay Archipelago, and New Guinea, in which case the power of Emperor William II. to inconvenience Australia would be something more than appreciable. We have not yet reached the stage at which the proximity of New Caledonia in the possession of a foreign Power is felt to be a danger to our peace of mind, but the recent discussion of the arrangement by which the New Hebrides are governed by the joint authority of France and Britain opens one's eyes to the inherent possibilities of trouble seriously affecting Australia. What we fear is that the Imperial authorities may be tempted to pursue a policy of laissez faire so far as Australian interests are concerned, or perhaps be much more sensitive over offending the sensibilities of our excellent friends, the French, than over advancing and conserving the legitimate interests of their own people in the New Hebrides. Hence it would seem that the lack of encouragement given to Australian enterprise so greatly in contrast to the vigorous support rendered both by Germany and France to their subjects in this part of the world would imply that the Colonial Office has no real appreciation of the situation of Australia as the dominating power in the southern seas. Whatever happens in islands remote from our shores, it must be regarded of vital importance to the future of this continent that by every legitimate means Australian and British interests generally shall be abundantly safeguarded. The very suggestion of weakness in the administration of the Condominium in the New Hebrides makes the people of this land uneasy, more on account of what it reveals concerning the attitude of the Imperial authorities than of alarm for the safety of those dwelling in savage lands.

Another phase of the future of the southern seas will come into view with the opening of the Panama Canal—an event now not far off. If the Pacific Ocean is to be what Colquhoun calls "the new theatre in which the world drama is to centre" we may depend upon it Australia must sooner or later take its part on the stage. At the present moment the United States occupies the boards, not only because it is a newcomer in the Pacific—having been established but recently in the Philippines, Samoa, and Hawaii—but on account of what the Panama Canal is to do. The new era will open with the procession of America's reorganised navy from the Atlantic to the Pacific; and according to all accounts our American cousins are destined to take a leading part in whatever is staged in this "new theatre." The first act in the world-drama that is to be presented will doubtless take place north of the equator; and although one may well hope that recent pessimistic statements are largely exaggerated, yet the questions between Japan and America are of such a serious character as to leave room for apprehension of a rupture between the two nations. Whatever the result of a contest between Japan and America, there is nothing more certain than that the brown and yellow races must come south in course of time, and we may well pray that their migration may be postponed until such time as a great population in this continent and New Zealand shall give us some chance to resist the coming attack. But, supposing the fortunes of war were to result, as at the outset is most probable, in Japanese occupation of America's possessions in the Pacific, whilst we are morally certain that in the long run America, by sheer weight of numbers, wealth, and brains must win, is it at all certain that Japan would necessarily be ousted from what she had gained? Would the game be worth the candle to America? We may depend upon it that both Japan and China are going to have something to say about the future of the South Seas, and it all depends upon the nature of Australia's preparations as to whether that something will not involve a more serious situation to this continent than most people dream of. It was the contention of the late Mr. Dalley that in settlement by foreign Powers in the Pacific Australia was to be advantaged, both by the differing culture and the national strength thrown into friendly competition. There is an aspect, too, in which we Australians might feel a certain reassurance, by reason of such settlement adjacent to our continent, that in years to come we shall not be left alone to bear the brunt of Eastern invasion, but that both Europe and America in their several colonies will share in our task. But the main idea to an Australian community now really for the first time taking large views of its place in the Pacific is that within its sphere the British race shall be supreme in the South Pacific. It is in view of such considerations as these, considerations that are of vital concern to this country, that we regard with apprehension the possibility of foreign expansion in the South Seas. That the indifference or sentimental bias of the home Government lost us a great opportunity in New Guinea is a matter of history, and for that supineness and lack of foresight we may yet have to pay dearly. It has been presciently stated by keen observers of political tendencies that Britain may yet have to decide between her colonies and some European Power in respect of the matter of national ascendancy in the Pacific. Our surest guarantee and best insurance for the future is the encouragement of Australian settlement, and the education of the mother country up to the point at which full acknowledgment of the real situation in the southern seas is made. For the rest we appear to be getting on the right lines in respect of a national scheme of defence; but we must ever bear in mind that our highest safeguard consists in the strengthening of the Imperial bond, and the closer co-operation in everything that makes for the preservation of the Empire to which we belong.

To-day's "Herald."—Sir Henry Lucy (p. 5) again forecasts the course of business in regard to the Parliament Bill, which he thinks will be placed on the Statute Book before the Coronation. By the way, touching that Solemnity, as it is officially called, Sir Henry says that there is nothing in the state of the Queen's health that will prevent the Coronation in June. All the same, Lloyd's are assuring against postponement at 30 guineas per cent. The writer of "A Woman's Letter" (also on page 5) discusses what's worn at a length and minuteness worthy of the great theme. Tight skirts are to be the wear some while longer. Our special commissioner, in the eighteenth of his articles "Via America" (page 5), briefly touches on such marvels of New York City as John Wanamaker's immense shop, the contrasts of wealth and misery, and the splendour of the great hotels. Our correspondent at Washington, under date of December 24 (page 5), makes a rapid but illuminating survey of the situation as between America and Japan, raised by a calculated "indiscretion" in the publication of Major-General Good's alarmist report. Dr. Poidevin develops in his paper on Cricket Reform (page 7) an idea of novelty and importance in so protecting the whole pitch of the Sydney Cricket Ground as to give to both sides a reasonable security against losing the match on the weather. Our contributor of "In the Garden" (page 7) sketches a full measure of work for the amateur.

Registration Still Lagging.—Inquiries at headquarters yesterday elicited the fact that although the cadet registrations have been speeding along during the last few days, there is still a large percentage of the estimated total of the lads liable to serve who have not submitted their papers. The area officers have met with more success in the country districts than they have in the metropolitan areas. This is a remarkable feature, seeing that the difficulties placed in the way of an early country registration are often far greater than in the city, but it is not altogether out of keeping with the spirit which up to the present has prompted such a satisfactory percentage of the residents in rural districts to join the Light Horse regiments, which for the most part are recruited in the country. The time for registration will elapse on Tuesday next. It is thought in some quarters that an extra fortnight's grace will be granted, but the Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) last week emphatically stated that the period for submitting registration papers would positively close on January 31, and that steps would then be taken to impose the penalties provided under the Act.

Limestone for Bricks.—With reference to a sample of limestone recently tested by instructions of the Minister for Works, and which showed pure carbonate of lime, 94.73 per cent., Mr. Griffith stated that was superior to anything now obtainable in Australia. Yesterday he received a letter from the managing director of the Commonwealth Portland Cement Company, Limited, stating that the company's limestone shows from 97 to 99 per cent. of carbonate of lime, and asking if the Minister would give publicity to this fact, as otherwise the company's products might suffer from a public misconception as to their quality.

Miners' Accommodation at Kurri Kurri.—The Minister for Mines (Mr. Edden) with the Under-Secretary (Mr. Pittman), and Chief Inspector Atkinson, will visit Kurri Kurri next week and make inquiry into the conditions under which men are housed on mining leases there.

Stage Children.—The Minister for Education (Mr. Beeby), who is responsible for the administration of the Children's Protection Act, has decided upon a strict enforcement of those provisions of the Act which check the employment on the stage of children under 14 years of age. The power to grant exemption permits will be very sparingly used in future.

Profitable New Occupation.—A few men have for a considerable time been earning over £5 a week each at the novel occupation of catching worms for anglers. Those who work the noisome flats of Botany Bay catch the most. They operate for about two hours of the ebb tide and two of the flow with shovels, and place the worms in jam tins, which they collect from garbage heaps or depots. Others find their most profitable field on the sea beaches, where they very cleverly capture marine worms often 4ft in length. Anglers are constant users of worms for bait, and the profit to the catchers is substantial. The only outlay is for a shovel for the shallow bay flats, and a pair of pincers for the clean ocean beaches, and travelling expenses. Worm-catching is certainly more profitable at present than many other descriptions of work, but it is not everyone who can make a success of it, because, as the expert will tell you, "it takes brains and greased lightning to catch 'em."

Rough Trips from Manly.—Passengers from Manly to Sydney had a very rough passage on Friday morning. Mountainous seas were coming in through the Heads and breaking with tremendous force on the cliffs at Dobroyde. The waves appeared to travel in a narrow circle, and it was only at a certain point, right from South Head to Dobroyde, that the effect of the seas was felt. The Kuring-gai had a very rough trip on the 9.15 a.m. from Manly. The waves broke right over the top deck, and seats were thrown from their positions in all directions. The Spit to Manly tram was largely patronised, intending passengers by the boats having been warned of the heavy seas by the force of the breakers coming in on the Ocean Beach.

A service will be held in Macquarie-place at 3.30 p.m. to-morrow in commemoration of the first religious service in Australia.

Saturday next will be the last day for lodging income tax returns.

A notice concerning a circular issued to electors of C Riding, Kuring-gai Shire, appears in this issue.

We have received calendars for 1911 from F. Cunninghame and Co., Limited, and H. T. Dunn and Co., printers. Mr. Young Hook has forwarded the Chinese Australian Mercantile Calendar designed by him.

A copy of a pamphlet on "Some Phases of Preference in Imperial Policy," by Mr. E. Norris Miller, published under the auspices of the Imperial Federation League of Australia, has been forwarded to us.

BATHURST WATERSPOUT.

A FALL OF 3½ INCHES.

FARMER'S HEAVY LOSSES.

BATHURST, Friday.

Almost the full force of the water spout on Wednesday night appears to have concentrated itself in the vicinity of Cow Flat and Dennis Island. Mr. John Soden, of Dennis Island, lost about £200 worth of crops. For three-quarters of an hour hail, more correctly speaking large lumps of ice, fell, followed by torrential rains. Within that time three and a half inches were registered.

In the morning Mr. Soden found that two large paddocks of corn, standing five feet high, and giving promise of a splendid crop, were cut to the ground and ruined. Lucerne flats were covered with debris and silt carried off the hills, and also from the overflow of the water from the creek. Heavy rain must have fallen higher up the creek, for immediately following the storm a flood, exceptionally high, came down, breaking over the banks and covering the land for a considerable distance. Mr. Soden has been particularly unfortunate already this year. Recently, while handling a colt, the animal threw itself down, falling on Mr. Soden's foot, seriously injuring the ankle. He prides himself on breeding horses, and has some beautiful draught stock. Last week a grand colt fell down the bank of the creek, breaking its back, necessitating its destruction. A few days later another foal, while playing about, struck against a sharp axe, cutting itself badly.

NEW BIPLANE.

VICTORIAN INVENTOR'S RECORD.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A young Victoria engineer, named J. R. Duigan, who lives at Springvale station, near Kyneton, has invented and built a biplane.

He has made several successful flights, the longest being about 200yds, at a height of 20ft.

PERSONAL.

Their Excellencies the Governor-General and the Countess of Dudley returned in H.M.S. Powerful to Melbourne yesterday from Hobart.

The Premier of South Australia (Mr. Verran) and his colleague (Mr. Vaughan) left by express last evening for Melbourne. They are due to reach Adelaide on Sunday.

The Rev. F. D. Kilgallin, who was assistant priest to Monsignor Meagher, V.G., at Singleton, for 17 years, and lately appointed administrator of Scone parish, was presented on Wednesday night with a cheque for £174, several addresses, and a set of vestments. In his reply, Father Kilgallin announced that he would give £40 to diocesan charities, £30 to the Father Hand Memorial Bursary, and £30 to the poor of Singleton. There was a very large attendance, including the Mayor of Singleton and a number of aldermen.

A farewell dinner was given on Thursday evening to Mr. E. D. Gray, managing director of Messrs. Paul and Gray, Ltd., who is leaving by to-day's mail steamer for a tour round the world. Amongst those present were Messrs. E. Alcock, A. George, W. Leitch, W. Lambert, J. Meeks, F. A. Peters, J. J. Rouse, Angus Stewart, and T. E. Tillock.

Mr. J. C. Robertson, captain of the East Sydney Tennis Club, was recently entertained by the members at a launch picnic at Middle Harbour, and presented with a Winchester repeating rifle.

There is now hanging in the Highland Society's rooms a portrait of the president, Colonel James Burns, M.L.C., from the brush of Robert S. Clouston. The picture, which presents the subject in oils life-size and three-quarter length, is finely painted, in addition to which a vivid likeness has been achieved. Colonel Burns is shown in an easy attitude, the right hand in the trousers pocket of a grey suit, the head modelled with life-like accuracy, and the warm flesh-tones in contrast with the silvery hair and moustache against an especially felicitous blue-grey background. The Highland Society will not be able to retain this work, but will be fortunate in the possession of a small replica of it which Mr. Clouston is now preparing.

Inspector G. E. Goulder, who has been in charge of the Newcastle police for the past nine years, was yesterday presented with a handsomely-fitted dressing case and three volumes of poems, on the occasion of his departure for Sydney, where he will take charge of No. 2 Division. The presentation was made by Sub-Inspector M'Hardie, on behalf of the members of the force in Newcastle and the surrounding district. Sub-Inspector Banks, of Orange, will fill Inspector Goulder's position in Newcastle.

The death is announced of Mr. Ernest Joshua Hennessy, police magistrate at Blackall (Queensland).

Mr. G. F. Hutchinson, the retiring Mayor, who is leaving Forbes after a residence of 48 years, was the guest of a gathering held in the Forbes Town Hall on Thursday evening, when he was presented with a purse of sovereigns. Mr. Alfred Stokes occupied the chair, and referred to the unique record of Mr. Hutchinson in the municipal history of Forbes. He entered the council in 1872, and, with a break of four years, during which he represented Ashburnham in Parliament, he had held a seat at the council table. He filled the position of Mayor 12 times. Other speakers referred to the faithful service Mr. Hutchinson had rendered the municipality during his 35 years as an alderman. Mr. Hutchinson, in reply, said he was sorry to leave Forbes, for which he predicted a great future, not the least of which would be the success of its mining. When in Sydney recently he had interviewed Mr. Edden, Minister for Mines, who promised to consider the sending of a boring plant to Forbes to test some of the deep leads at Victoria Lead. Mr. Hutchinson, with his family, will reside in Sydney in future.

Alfred Corbett, secretary of the Hay Shopkeepers' Association, and a prominent shopkeeper of that town, was found dead in his bed at the Royal Mail Hotel, Booroorban, yesterday morning. The deceased had travelled by coach to Deniliquin to attend the Anniversary Day races, and when returning, being exhausted with the journey, got off the coach at Booroorban, a wayside village, intending to come on to Hay in the following coach, 24 hours later. When the hotel servants went to call him on the arrival of the coach yesterday morning, he was found to be dead. He was 38 years of age and unmarried. His only relative is a sister, Mrs. Llewellyn Jones, of Pymble, near Sydney.

CONTINUATION SCHOOLS FAILING.

MINISTER THREATENS COMPULSION.

TRADES CLASSES NOT PATRONISED.

The Minister for Education told a deputation yesterday that the continuation schools already established in the suburbs had not been sufficiently patronisedd, and he threatened to make attendance compulsory.

The deputation, which represented South Sydney, renewed a request made twice previously for the establishment of a continuation school in the district, and the provision of further playing areas.

Mr. Beeby, in reply, said that the department had picked out certain localities where it was thought the voluntary continuation schools would be most beneficial, but he regretted to say that so far the attendance had not been up to expectations. One had been established at Balmain, which was regarded as a most promising centre, but the response had been unsatisfactory. While he did not feel pessimistic on the subject, he, nevertheless, thought the department should receive more encouragement. If, however, the continuation schools were neglected, the Ministry would certainly be asked by him to consider the advisability of introducing compulsory attendance. It had been decided to make education continuous, so that from the age of 14 to that of 18 a pupil might continue to learn both mentally and practically by manual training. If compulsion became necessary, the Ministry would introduce it. If South Sydney would guarantee that 50 boys would attend a continuation school would be given it. Commercial schools, for some reason, appeared to be more popular than trade schools.

Respecting additional playing areas, Mr. Beeby pointed out that this was the most difficult matter he had yet had to deal with. He hoped to be able to convince the Treasurer that a large vote for the purpose would be necessary. The suggestion that the Government should allow the taxation of all the school grounds by the local governing authorities did not meet with his approval. He strongly favoured the exemption of playing areas. That taxation would mean an additional expenditure of £60,000 a year to his department.

Alderman Leitch (Mayor of Redfern): "I don't care who pays, so long as the rate is paid. The owner ought to pay, whoever he is."

DRAGGED BY THE STIRRUP LEATHER.

BRISBANE, Friday.

John Whittaker, aged 16, was riding a horse at Ipswich yesterday, when the animal took fright, throwing the boy off. His left leg was caught in the stirrup leather, and he was dragged along fully a quarter of a mile. When the horse was brought to a standstill the boy was dead, and his head was fearfully knocked about.

UNCONSCIOUS FOR TWO MONTHS.

After being in an unconscious condition for two months Mrs. Frances Emma Stevens, who lately resided in Australia-street, Newtown, died at St. Vincent's Hospital on Thursday. Deceased was crossing Oxford-street, Woollahra, on the afternoon of November 28, when she was struck and knocked down by a passing motor car. She was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital by the Civil Ambulance, and admitted, suffering from a fractured skull.

AMERICA AND CANADA.

TARIFF RECIPROCITY.

TERMS OF THE AGREEMENT.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S MESSAGE.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27.

In the Dominion House of Representatives, Ottawa, Mr. W. S. Fielding, Minister for Finance, made an official announcement regarding the reciprocity agreement arrived at between Canada and the United States. The agreement is as follows:—

Wheat and other grains, dairy products, fresh fruits, fish, eggs, poultry, cattle, sheep, and vegetables to be reciprocally free.

Canada to place cottonseed oil on the free list.

The United States to place lumber on the free list.

Canada to remove the restrictions on the exportation of pulpwood.

Raw materials, mica, gypsum, etc., to be free.

Reduced rates to be granted on secondary food products, and also on an extensive list of manufactures.

Canada to lower the tariff on agricultural machinery.

THE PRESIDENT TO CONGRESS.

President Taft, in his message to Congress, expresses the belief that the agreement will materially reduce the cost of living in the United States. He also emphasises the friendship existing between the United States and Canada, and states that they are likely to be drawn still closer following on the tightening of the commercial bonds, financial gain being not the only result that is desirable.

Finally, the President says: "Canada has cost us nothing in the way of preparations for defence against her possible assault, and she never will. She has sought to agree with us quickly when differences disturbed our relations."

DIVIDED OPINION IN CANADA.

Conservatives at Ottawa express the opinion that British Columbia's fruit industry will probably be ruined by reciprocity with the United States.

The supporters of the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, express satisfaction with the agreement.

THE SIGNIFICANT FEATURE.

A BRITISH PRESS VIEW.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

Commenting on the agreement between Canada and the United States, the "Morning Post" says: "Though Canada has avoided the entanglement of a treaty, the new agreement with the United States will not tend to cheer the British people. The reciprocal free list is not of vital importance, since it mainly affects articles in which Britain does not compete, but the manufacturers of tinplates are apparently going to lose preference.

"Of far greater significance is the fact that Canada is realising that the American market is more promising, and that the agreement will give America a leverage to force the door further at a later stage."

ANNIVERSARY DAY.

ADDRESS BY SIR G. REID.

PEOPLING OF AUSTRALIA.

LONDON, Jan. 26.

Sir George Reid, High Commissioner for Australia, addressed a meeting of commercial men in London to-day, being the anniversary of the foundation of Australia. He recounted the pastoral, agricultural, and financial progress of Australia, and quoted the statements of Mr. Fisher (Prime Minister of the Commonwealth) and Mr. M'Gowen (Premier of New South Wales), in reference to the peopling of Australia.

A large assemblage was present, and Lord Desborough presided.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

The "Morning Post" comments on a statement made by Sir George Reid in addressing the gathering of commercial men, to the effect that if reciprocity with the mother country could be arranged Australian opinion would heartily welcome it.

The "Post" ridicules the Liberal assertions that the Dominions are turning from Imperial reciprocity, fearing that it would mean death to their autonomy.

A SECRET MARRIAGE.

ACTRESS AND SON OF A LORD.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

Miss Zena Dare, the actress, was married on Monday to the Hon. Maurice Brett, second son of Lord Esher, at a Paddington registry.

It had been intended to keep the marriage secret until Miss Dare's present theatrical engagements are concluded, when she will leave the stage.

Miss Zena Dare gained some distinction as a musical comedy actress, and achieved considerable postcard fame. Her most recent appearances have been in vaudeville theatres in musical sketches. She has a sister, Phyllis Dare, who is equally well known.

SAVING INFANT LIFE.

LARGELY REDUCED DEATH-RATE.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

The death-rate of children in England and Wales for 1910 was 10.6 per thousand, constituting a record.

The figures represent a saving of 151,000 lives during the year, as compared with the death-rate in 1904.

NEW STRAUSS OPERA.

A BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

Richard Strauss has attained a great success at Dresden with his new comic opera "Rosenkavalier." It was brilliantly produced, and the audience was most enthusiastic.

The composer had 18 calls before the curtain in the second act.

THE FIGHT WITH THE LORDS.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S VIEWS.

THE REFERENDUM QUESTION.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain stated at Birmingham that it was unthinkable that the House of Lords would pass the Parliament Bill. It would, he added, be unconstitutional for the Government to advise the wholesale creation of peers in order to coerce the House of Lords.

Mr. J. A. Simon, Liberal member for Walthamstow Division of Essex, in a speech at Braintree, said the Government bill was definite and precise. It did not involve the abolition of the second Chamber, but submission to the deliberate and reiterated will of the nation.

The referendum had a democratic air about it, added Mr. Simon, but it involved Connemara peasants voting on English education, and it would destroy the responsibility of members to Parliament and of Ministers to the Crown.

IRELAND'S DEMAND.

REITERATED BY MR. REDMOND.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

Mr. J. E. Redmond, leader of the Irish party in the House of Commons, states in a magazine article that he declines to assent to the postponement of Home Rule until England, Scotland, and Wales want separate Parliaments.

The Irish Nationalists, he says, do not object to federalism as the ultimate aim, but Ireland must have a Constitution immediately.

INVASION OF FRANCE.

KING LEOPOLD'S PLAN.

FRENCH ARMY MANOEUVRES.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 26.

The "Independance Belge" says it has obtained confirmation of the plan of the late King Leopold to aid Germany to invade France through Belgium.

PARIS, Jan. 26.

The manoeuvres of the French army next autumn will be at the mouth of the Oise, on the natural route of a German invasion, via Belgium.

LOOKING AHEAD.

PROTECTING THE PANAMA CANAL.

AN OFFER TO ECUADOR.

GUAYAQUIL, Jan. 27.

The United States Government is pressing a proposal to lease the Galapagos Islands, belonging to Ecuador, for the purpose of a base to protect the Panama Canal.

The sum of £7,000,000 is offered for a 99 years' lease, and the sovereignty of Ecuador is guaranteed.

The Galapegos Group consists of five principal and eight small islands, the largest being 60 miles in length by 15 in breadth, with an elevation of 4000ft. No attempt was made to colonise the group before 1832, which accounts for the fact that most of the islands still retain the names given to them by English explorers and surveyors, the principal five being named Albemarle, Indefatigable, Chatham, James, and Narborough. In 1832 the islands were taken possession of by Ecuador, and small plantations have been formed on some of them. The area of the whole group is 2950 square miles.

ATTEMPT TO "BUY" A NEWSPAPER.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 26.

Mr. Alfred W. Dodsworth, business manager of the "New York Journal of Commerce," giving evidence before the Ship Subsidy Committee of the House of Representatives, related an attempt, which he said had been made to buy the editorial support of his publication in favour of the purchase by the United States Government of the Panama Canal property from the De Lesseps Company.

UNITED STATES GUNBOAT.

SUPPOSED EXPLOSION.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 26.

An unconfirmed report has been received stating that an explosion has occurred on the United States gunboat Wheeling, while en route from New York to Guantanamo, Cuba.

Wireless calls to the gunboat have not been answered.

A DETERMINED TERRORIST.

THREAT AGAINST THE CZAR.

BUDAPESTH, Jan. 26.

Serafinoff, a Russian Terrorist, who was sentenced to death at Moscow, but escaped, has been arrested here.

He admitted his antecedents, and added that if necessary he would assassinate the Czar.

PLAGUE IN CHINA.

CONTAGIOUS AND VIRULENT.

WORST IN WORLD'S HISTORY.

PEKING, Jan. 26.

Doctors of the various legations consider that the present outbreak of plague is the most contagious and virulent in the world's history.

There are scarcely any recoveries, and the Yersin serum has no effect.

The outbreak is spreading rapidly towards Hankau.

Twenty-six bodies were found along the railway south of Tientsin.

There is an exodus of foreign women and children from Peking.

The epidemic has been propagated by Chinese hunters who shipped furs to Vancouver.

One hundred foreign experts are urgently needed.

WORKMEN'S PENSIONS.

THE FRENCH SCHEME.

CONTRIBUTIONS OBLIGATORY.

PARIS, Jan. 27.

A debate on the question of workmen's pensions took place in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. It was shown that 12,000,000 persons would benefit under the scheme.

Contributions will be obligatory on men and women earning below £120 a year, but pensions, supplemented by a State grant, may be secured by workers earning below £200, or their wives, by means of voluntary deposits.

PRICE OF CONSOLS.

THE DEPRECIATION DISCUSSED.

FEATURE AT BANK MEETINGS.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

Consols to the value of £23,000,000 are held by 164,000 depositors in the Savings Bank.

At many of the bank meetings in London the depreciation in consols has formed a feature of the discussions, the speakers favouring the popularising of the security.

Lord St. Aldwyn, presiding at the meeting of the Joint Stock Bank, favoured £5 bonds, issuable at the post-offices.

A great proportion of the savings bank deposits in England are invested in Consols. It was stated a few days ago, on the authority of the "Daily Chronicle," that the Government would shortly convert part of the national debt into bearer bonds as low as £5, for the purpose of attracting small investors.

UNION STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

NEW VESSEL LAUNCHED.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 26.

The Ihumata, the new vessel of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, has been launched at Antwerp.

This probably is the steel screw steamer which the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand purchased in course of construction by the Antwerp Shipping Company, Hoboken, near Antwerp. The vessel is classed as having a dead-weight carrying capacity of about 2000 tons on a draught of 15ft 10in. Her dimensions are 229ft 3in by 35ft 6in by 16ft 10½in. Her engines are 17in, 28in, and 46in by 33in stroke. She has two boilers, 11ft 9in by 10ft 3in, and is guaranteed to steam about 9¾ knots. The vessel will be ready about February next. It is believed that the price, including a large number of extras, was about £18,000.

INTENDED FOR A SYNDICATE.

AUCKLAND, Friday.

The steamer Ihumata, referred to in to-day's cables, is intended for a syndicate which recently acquired the J. J. Craig line of sailing vessels.

DEATH OF REV. DR. PATON.

A DISTINGUISHED CHURCHMAN.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

The death is announced of the Rev. Dr. John Brown Paton, M.A., Emeritus Principal of the Congregational Institute for Theological and Missionary Studies, Nottingham, at the age of 81.

The Rev. Dr. Paton received his early education at London Parish School, and afterwards at Spring Hill College, Birmingham. He took his B.A. degree at London University in 1849, being then 19 years of age. He was Hebrew and New Testament Greek prizeman the following year. In 1854 he was gold medallist in philosophy, and in that year became Congregational minister at Wicker Church, Sheffield, remaining there till 1863, when he was appointed First Principal of the Congregational Institute, Nottingham, a position he held till 1898. From 1858 to 1861 Dr. Paton was joint editor of the "Eclectic Review," and from 1882 to 1888 he was associate editor of the "Contemporary Review." He assisted in founding the system of university extension. In 1892 he founded the Bible Reading and Prayer Union. He was founder and hon. secretary of the National Home Reading Union, Social Institutes, and English Land Colonisation Society (now Co-operative Smallholders' Association). From 1898 till 1902 he was president of the Licensing Laws Information Bureau. In 1900 he founded the Boys' and Girls' Life Brigades, and in 1906 the Boys' and Girls' Guild and League of Honour. He was vice-president of the British Institute of Social Service in 1904, and of the British and Foreign Bible Society in 1907. Dr. Paton's publications include "The Twofold Alternative—Materialism or Religion." "The Church, a Priesthood or a Brotherhood;" "The Inner Mission of the Church, describing the inner mission of Germany, etc;" "Church Questions of To-day;" "The Apostolic Faith and its Records," and many booklets and articles in reviews.

HOUSES FOR MINERS.

AGITATION AT CLIFTON.

CLIFTON, Friday.

At a public meeting held at Clifton on Thursday night, it was decided to appoint a deputation to interview the Minister for Lands and the Minister for Mines on the question of scarcity of house accommodation, and ask that immediate action be taken by the authorities to resume land on which miners would be enabled to erect suitable homes close to their work. A sub-committee was appointed to complete arrangements for the interview.

SHIPPING DISASTERS.

TWO STEAMERS ASHORE.

ESCAPE OF THE PASSENGERS.

ONE BOATLOAD MISSING.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27.

The Pacific Coast Company's steamship Cottage City, bound from Seattle to Skagway, grounded at Cape Mudge, British Columbia, during a blinding snowstorm. The vessel sank soon afterwards.

The passengers escaped in the boats, and all the boats except one landed at the lighthouse.

It is feared that disaster has overtaken the missing boat.

Another steamer, the Tees, belonging to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, is ashore in Berkeley Sound, Vancouver Island. The passengers have been rescued.

The Cottage City was a wooden screw steamer of 1885 tons and 181 n.h.p., built in 1880 by the New England Ship-building Company of Bath, Me., U.S.A., and owned by the Pacific Coast Company. Her length was 233 1ft, beam 40.6, and draught 23.2.

The Tees was a steel screw steamer of 679 tons, built in 1893 by Richardson, Duck, and Co., of Stockton, and owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The vessel, which was fitted with wireless telegraph apparatus, had a length of 165ft, beam of 26ft, and draught of 10.8ft; the engines, which were of the triple expansion type, developed 95 n.h.p.

THE MILLENNIUM.

WEIRD FINANCIAL PROPOSITION.

AN INNOCENT ABROAD.

LONDON, Jan. 26.

The King's Bench Division of the High Court has been occupied several days in the matter of Jenson, a company promoter, who was connected with the Nelson Tea Swindle, and two other men, who induced a man named Alfred Davis, an innocent African contractor, to invest money in a weird scheme to prepare the world for the coming of the millennium.

The Judge allowed a settlement of the case by the defendant paying £300 for costs.

EASTERN AGROUND.

SEVENTY TONS OF RICE JETTISONED.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPTS TO FLOAT OFF.

BRISBANE, Friday.

"One of the heavy rain squalls caused a mix up of the leaders, and the consequent mistake of one buoy for another." Such was the explanation tendered by Pilot Maxwell in reply to a question put to him by a pressman as the latter clambered up over the side of the Eastern yesterday morning.

The steamer Eastern had left Pinkenba on Wednesday at 1.30 p.m. for her final port, two days ahead of schedule time. The afternoon was dull and squally. Just about 4 o'clock the ship was making its way through the north channel, when she ran into a heavy rain squall with thick haze. It lasted only some seven or eight minutes, but there was disaster in every minute. The leading lights at Talgalooma and Cowan were obscured by the haze, and the Junction buoy at Freeman's Channel was mistaken for No. 7 buoy. The ship consequently steered further to the west than would have been the case but for the error. She bumped on the southern end of Salamander Bank, one of those shifting sandbanks which abound in the vicinity, and make it a spot for most careful navigation. It was the very irony of fate to come through the dangerous waters of the north and north-east coast, and then to pile up on a sandbank within three miles of open water. The point where the vessel took the ground is about eight miles inside of Cape Moreton. She has on board 20 saloon passengers, travellers from New Guinea, the Northern Territory, and the Far East, 24 second saloon passengers, two steerage, and 35 Chinese deck passengers, and in addition a large cargo of rice and Eastern produce.

When the ship bumped there was some little confusion amongst the passengers. An effort was at once made to get the ship off the bank by the force of the engines, but they failed, and word of the mishap was then sent to Brisbane. It was about 8 o'clock when the news reached Brisbane. Arrangements were made at once to despatch the tug Beaver, but owing to a search for the crew, who had dispersed to their homes and places of amusement, it was not 'till midnight that the boat left Brisbane. When the Eastern was reached it was found she was lying with a big list to port. She had evidently run well up on the bank. Before the arrival of the Beaver the pilot boat Llewellyn had tried unsuccessfully to tow the ship off. The ship was drawing 18 feet of water when she struck, and had a tug been available to aid her at an earlier hour the trouble would probably have been overcome at once.

Several unavailing efforts were made to get the stranded steamer off, and it was then decided to jettison portion of the cargo of rice, upwards of 30 tons of rice were sacrificed, until quite a little island of rice mats arose beside the vessel, and around it swarmed several large sharks. Several tanks of water were pumped out in order to lighten the ship as much as possible. Shortly before 1 p.m. the Beaver again essayed to tow the vessel off. Meanwhile the dumping of rice mats was resumed, until upwards of 70 tons were thrown overboard. Weather conditions remained overcast, with frequent falls of rain. The Beaver tugged in great style, but there was no apparent result from her efforts. The passengers, ladies in particular, made a request to Captain Hood to have them conveyed to Brisbane, if possible, in order that they might continue their journey south by the mail train. It is stated that during Wednesday night the ship bumped a good deal, but during Thursday she settled on the sand without any movement. An anxious night was passed by the passengers during last night.

As the passengers left the ship they each and all went to the captain, shaking his hand, expressing sympathy. And, viewing the Eastern from the Beaver, it was plainly evident that, despite all efforts, she was further on the bank than on Thursday morning. Her list was also increased. With the weather getting worse, the position of the ship was anything but satisfactory. The passengers were safely landed at Brisbane.

At 2 o'clock this morning the Beaver made fast again, and held the ship up to her position while the tide rose. The Beaver continued pulling through the early morning hours. As the engines pounded away a voice came: "She moves." Truly there did appear to have been a forward movement of the ship for three or four feet. "Hard astern" went the order to the engine-room. Again there seemed to be a slight move. "Ahead" again, but this time there was no result.

The services of the Greyhound were now added to those of the Beaver. At 7 o'clock this morning the passengers left on the Beaver for Brisbane. When the Chinese deck passengers saw the white passengers being transhipped they at once displayed concern at their own position. One of their number was told off as spokesman. This speaker said to Captain Hood: "You going take up?" "No," replied Captain Hood. "You are right." "Suppose big wind blow, what then?" asked the representative of the Celestials. The captain replied: "Suppose big wind blow, then I put you off on tug."

CAPTAIN GREEN GOES NORTH.

Captain Green, the superintendent of the Eastern and Australian Company, left Sydney last night by the express for the scene of the mishap.

NATIONAL SERVICE.

TIME FOR REGISTRATION EXPIRES JANUARY 31.

TO ALL BOYS.

(BY FRONTIERSMAN.)

Once upon a time there was a nation whose empire embraced most of the known world. It had colonies, wealth, and luxury. Its ships traded into countries far away, its navy was the mistress of the sea. Its people were able to pay for armies and navies, without having to serve themselves. So they spent their time trading and getting rich. And they prided themselves on their liberty. They sent viceroys to rule their possessions. When they disapproved of what their viceroys did, they recalled and disgraced them. By and by a quarrel arose in a foreign port, between the empire's people and some rough traders who were poaching on their preserves. It seemed a trifle, and the rulers of the world scarcely gave it a thought. But the strangers set to work to build ships (about which they knew nothing) and to train crews, much to the amusement of the rulers of the world. But one day a most surprising thing happened. The strangers defeated and destroyed the great navy. The empire was no longer mistress of the sea. Still the people did not believe in danger. Only one man, Hamilcar Barca, saw that the strangers would one day destroy his country, and understood that because they were now rulers of the sea they could come across and make an invasion. One way only was left—to train up a big army in Spain, where the Romans would not notice it, so that in case of trouble it could invade Rome by land, without being destroyed by the Roman navy.

So Hamilcar went as viceroy and commander-in-chief to Spain (the Carthaginian India), and spent his life building up a great army, because Hamilcar knew that a crowd of armed men is not an army, but an army is only made by long years of hard work in peace. Hamilcar took with him his 9-year-old son, Hannibal, after making him swear solemnly to devote his life to the struggle against Rome which he foresaw.

In the course of time Hamilcar died. Hannibal succeeded to the command of the army, and when the time came he led it all through Spain, across the Pyrenees, and over the Alps down into Italy. The Romans had no army fit to meet him, and for years he marched as he pleased through Italy, defeating every general who dared to stand against him. So the genius of Hamilcar and Hannibal gave one more chance to the people of Carthage, who had done nothing to deserve it.

But their selfishness, blindness, folly, and jealousy were incurable. They were too fond of "liberty" to serve as soldiers; too fond of comfort to make any sacrifices; too fond of riches to pay for defence; and too jealous of a great man to risk making him greater still. So they sent Hannibal no reinforcements and no help. The Romans could not defeat him, but Fabius Maximus taught them how they could wear him down, without ever coming close enough to risk another battle. In the end time, disease, and death so weakened Hannibal's army that he could do no more.

So the Carthaginians made the best terms of peace they could, and turned again to their selfish concerns, and lived a few more years at ease, until the end which Hamilcar had foreseen occurred.

The Romans crossed the sea and invaded Carthage. Then, when it was too late, the Carthaginians rushed to arms, and fought to defend themselves. It was one of the most awful sieges in history. For 17 days fires raged in the city, and when all was over the few inhabitants, men, women, and children, who were not killed were carried away as slaves.

Rome, Babylon, and Nineveh have been great cities, and have passed away; but we can dig amongst their remains and find out something of what they were. Carthage has been so completely blotted out that there is nothing to dig for.

In a few years (very few it seems to older men) the boys at school to-day will be the men of to-morrow. Each of you will have to decide for yourselves, and to help to decide for your country, which example will you follow, Rome or Carthage? In the history of the world nations and empires appear and disappear like slides on a magic lantern screen, and the motto of each is "Ich dien"—"I serve." So long as each nation is willing to serve, by hard work and sacrificing pleasure for duty and comfort for service, that nation keeps its empire and its place in the world. Venice, Spain, and Holland have held it in turn quite lately; we hold it to-day.

Whether we shall still hold it, even during the few years that it takes you to pass from boys to men, is on the knees of the gods. But you can do your share in trying to hold it. And your first step is to register. You only have a few days left, so if you have not already done so, do it now. And see that your friends do it. Your next step is to make yourself efficient, and the unit to which you belong efficient, for efficiency is the keynote of success. And efficiency is only obtained by the constant practice in peace of what must be done in war, so much so that it becomes a habit. In battle habit is everything.

It may be that when the time comes we shall be given one more chance; then you who have helped to be ready for it will have your reward. It may be that the chance is past; then you will have the satisfaction of having done your best, and if you live to see England humbled and despised, you will at least know that you have no share in her shame.

Bacon said, "Above all, for empire and greatness; it importeth most that a nation do profess arms as their principal honour, study, and occupation."

A BOLT IN THE CITY.

POLICE USE A MOTOR CAR.

A bolting horse was responsible for John Purdy, a carter, living in Neville-street, Marrickville, being injured yesterday.

Purdy was leaving John Bardsley and Sons' warehouse in Castlereagh-street with a van loaded with groceries, when the animal took fright and bolted. The bit came out of its mouth, and Purdy was unable to put any check on the horse. The animal turned down Liverpool-street, and headed towards Darling Harbour, when it attracted the attention of Constables M'Bride and Holmes. The constables hailed a passing motor, and jumping in tried to head the animal off. Seeing that it would be useless to attempt to stop the runaway, the occupants of the motor drove ahead and warned pedestrians of the approaching danger. Pitt and George streets were passed, but at the corner of Kent and Liverpool streets the vehicle collided with a telegraph post, smashing the front and throwing Purdy out on to the blocks. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and conveyed to Sydney Hospital by the Civil Ambulance, where he was admitted suffering from injuries to the head and shock. The horse was caught by the police within a few yards of the collision.

GERMAN EMPEROR'S BIRTHDAY.

RECEPTION AT THE CONSULATE.

At the German Consulate-General yesterday a reception was held by the Acting Consul-General, Herr W. Muenzenthaler, in celebration of the birthday of the German Emperor. A continuous stream of visitors flowed in and out of the inner room, where they were welcomed by the Consul, amid a perfect bower of fragrant blossoms, while a fine bust of the Emperor, half-buried in flowers, faced the doorway. The entire staff of the Consulate assisted in the reception, and from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. the arrival of visitors was almost unceasing.

Amongst those present, in addition to representatives of the Consular body, were Mr. Fisher, Prime Minister; Mr. J. L. Trefle, representing the Premier of New South Wales; Mr. Donald MacDonell, Chief Secretary; Mr. F. W. Coghlan, Under-Secretary; Mr. T. R. Johnson, Chief Commissioner for Railways; the Ven. G. A. D'Arcy-Irvine, Archdeacon of Cumberland; Alderman Allen Taylor, Lord Mayor; Mr. R. R. P. Hickson, president of the Harbour Trust; Messrs. C. C. Lance and T. W. Keele, Commissioners of the Harbour Trust; Mr. W. Ridley, Deputy Registrar-General; Brigadier-General J. M. Gordon, Lieutenant-Colonel C. F. Bartlett, Commander Brownlow, Sub-Lieutenant L. L. Bracegirdle, Mr. F. H. Winchcombe, M.L.C., Captain Campbell, Mr. Arthur Schute, Mr. Otto Bauer, Dr. Oscar Sonnenthal, Mr. F. Stoltenhoff, Captain Raegener; Mr. G. H. Knibbs, Government Statistician, Mr. T. Baxter Bruce, Major Z. C. Rennie, Mr. E. Shirley Chapman, Mr. Richard Entz, Mr. D. A. Madden, Mr. F. Erhard, Mr. Richardson Clark, Dr. Schneidel, Mr. Gustav Reiner, and Mr. J. P. Frankl.

LABOUR CONGRESS.

SUPPORTS THE FEDERAL REFERENDUM.

STATE MINISTRY IN A MINORITY.

A VIGOROUS DEBATE.

The State Labour Conference discussed last night the attitude to be adopted by the party towards the Federal referendum proposals.

The meeting excited tremendous interest, and resolved itself into a fight between the representatives of the Federal Parliament and those of the State in the persons of several members of the State Labour Ministry.

The referendum proposals of the Federal Government were in the end almost unanimously carried.

The main speakers on behalf of the Commonwealth Government were the Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher), the ex-Prime Minister (Mr. Watson), and Mr. Lamond; while the advocates of leaving the principal State powers as they are were Mr. Holman (Attorney-General), Mr. Nielsen (Minister for Lands), and Mr. M'Gowen (Premier).

The chief champion for State rights was Mr. Holman, who expressed himself forcibly against the absorption of legislative powers now exercised by the State Parliament. Mr. Nielsen also made a vigorous defence of State rights, as also did Mr. Griffith.

While Mr. Holman favoured giving the Federation power to acquire monopolies, he was strongly against the proposed amendment of the Constitution to enable the Commonwealth gradually to absorb the most important of the State's legislative functions.

The audience, however, was strongly in favour of the surrender of the present powers of the State in industrial matters, and the eloquent periods of the Attorney-General and the other State Ministers fell upon deaf ears practically, while the remarks of Mr. Fisher and Mr. Watson aroused great enthusiasm.

The speeches of Commonwealth and State legislators were interspersed with addresses from delegates, all of which were strongly in favour of carrying the referendum proposals. Although it was predicted that Mr. Holman was in for a hot time at the hands of the conference, the debate was conducted in a good-natured and courteous manner, each of the speakers being listened to with the utmost attention, there being nothing in the way of a demonstration against the State-righters.

At one stage of the proceedings it looked as if the debate would have to stand adjourned, as at the conclusion of every speech there was quite a general chorus of "Mr. President" on the part of those wishing to catch the chairman's eye. But after the debate had proceeded for three hours it became apparent that the meeting of delegates was solidly with the views enunciated by Mr. Fisher and Mr. Watson.

In the vicinity of 11 o'clock a vote was taken as to whether the conference should or should not support the request of the Commonwealth Government for increased constitutional powers, and the delegates, with only one or two dissentients, decided the matter in the affirmative.

Although the conference has carried the resolution outlined, it is still open for members of the Labour party to take the platform against it, there being nothing in the platform to prevent them doing so. And it is expected that, after the opposition offered by the majority of the State Cabinet to the extension of the powers sought by the Commonwealth, some of them will take the field against the referendum vote being decided in the affirmative on April 26.

Nearly all the members of the State Ministry were present, including, besides those mentioned, Mr. Donald Macdonell (Chief Secretary), Mr. Edden (Minister for Mines), and Mr. Trefle (Hon Minister). Besides the Prime Minister there were several Federal members present, who were much elated over the overwhelming majority secured against the retention of State rights.

The press of course had to glean its information from official sources after the meeting. The attitude taken by Mr. Holman, though it did not receive the endorsement of the conference, was still regarded by delegates as a valuable contribution to the debate on this important subject, and was the general theme afterwards amongst the delegates of both sexes as they filed out of the hall. One delegate remarked, "He'll beat them all yet, like 'Billy' Hughes beat 'em in the coal strike."

Though he was in an unfavourable atmosphere for the airing of State rights, Mr. Holman is described by old Parliamentarians as having spoken brilliantly, and he was most convincingly combated by Mr. Fisher and Mr. Watson.

STATE GOVERNMENT CONDEMNED.

ENDANGERING SOLIDARITY.

APPROVAL OF THE REFERENDUM.

A. W. U. CONFERENCE.

Representatives of the Australian Workers' Union commenced their twenty-fifth annual conference at the Trades Hall yesterday morning, under the presidency of Mr. Spence, M.P.

In an address by the president, he welcomed the visiting delegates, and congratulated members on having reached the silver jubilee of the union. He outlined their progress since the union had been formed 25 years ago, and emphasised that they had not only been able to do a great deal for the good of rural workers, but had also been a potent force in the political world. The A.W.U. had taken a prominent part in the industrial movement, and much of the success of the Federal and State Labour parties was due to the strength and scope of the union. He believed that it would become even more powerful in the future. (Applause.)

A report presented by the general secretary stated that they now had a membership of 48,000, and the finances were in a most satisfactory condition. A sum of £25,000 had already been collected towards starting the proposed Labour daily newspaper. Reports from branches were all of a progressive nature.

There are 450 motions set down for discussion on the business paper, but as many of them are of a similar nature a number will probably be struck out, and it is expected that the business this year will be finished by a shorter sitting than that of last year.

Among the motions carried was the following:—"That this conference regrets the necessity of placing on record its great disappointment at the action of some members of the New South Wales Ministry in that they are showing a tendency to fall away from the movement that has placed them in power, thereby tending to endanger its solidarity."

The Federal referendum was also the subject of a resolution which read:—"That the A.W.U. conference, representative of the whole of Australasia, heartily approves of the proposals submitted by the Federal Labour Government on the referendum, and strongly urges the adoption of same."

The delegates present were:—Bourke: Senator Rae, Messrs. E. J. Bowman, T. J. Lonsdale, T. White, J. Andrews, C. Last. Victoria—Riverina: J. Barnes, E. Grayndler, D. M'Loughlin, J. M'Pherson, F. Richardson, T. Macintosh. Central: J. Bailey, A. Dawson, L. T. Maher, E. Kenneally, J. Howard, W. A. Lambert. Adelaide: F. W. Lundie, W. J. Dunstan, J. Murphy. Charleville (Q.): W. M'Lean, J. M'Niell. Longreach (Q.): A. Bow, J. Laracy. Tasmania: J. Mooney. Western Australia: T. L. Brown.

The conference was held behind closed doors, but the secretary supplied the press with a statement of so much of the business as it had been agreed to make public. The Chief Secretary, Mr. Macdonell, who is also secretary of the A.W.U., was present.

ROUGH VOYAGE.

ARAWATTA IN STORMY WEATHER.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Barely, if ever, during her prolonged career in the coastal trade has the A.U.S.N. Company's Arawatta undergone a more trying ordeal than that which marked her present trip from Sydney to Melbourne.

Almost immediately after clearing Port Jackson on Tuesday night the Arawatta encountered a hard south-easterly gale. It was accompanied by squalls of great violence, whilst the high, confused, and dangerous seas caused the vessel to labour heavily. To make matters worse a thick rain rendered it difficult to see further than a few ship's lengths distant, and it was this obscurity which gave Captain Cowie and his officers more anxiety than the storm and sea.

Big billows broke over the vessel, flooding the decks and necessitating the passengers, of whom over 120 were on board, remaining under shelter. Naturally, the speed of the vessel had to be reduced, for the greater comfort, if not for safety, and for a considerable time she hardly averaged three knots an hour. As she approached Cape Everard the weather began to moderate, and a comparatively fine trip was subsequently experienced.

Ill-fortune, however, again overtook the Arawatta. Before daybreak to-day an accident happened to one of her pumps, necessitating a stoppage of a couple of hours to effect repairs. The vessel ultimately reached the A.U.S.N. wharf at 10 o'clock this morning, about 20 hours behind time.

RADIUM ORE.

SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT IN AUSTRALIA.

YIELD £160 PER TON.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Radium Hill Company, held yesterday, Mr. S. Radcliff, of the Bairnsdale District School of Mines, Bairnsdale, who has been treating this company's ore, with a view of determining its commercial value, attended the meeting, and submitted a report of his work to date. In the course of it he referred to the treatment of a bulk parcel of ore, in the following terms:—

"The fusion of the whole parcel has been completed with eminently satisfactory results. Three tons of fused product, representing one ton of ore, have been further treated, resulting in the recovery of 400 grammes of radium barium sulphate, which will yield, on further treatment, eight milligrams of pure radium bromide, worth at the present price £20 per milligram, i.e., the recovery per ton of ore, irrespective of by-products, will be £160.

"In addition, it will be possible to recover about 30lb of uranium oxide per ton, worth 10/ per lb. The process presents no special metallurgical difficulties, and the total treatment costs, based on a weekly output of 10 tons, would not exceed £20 per ton.

"In view of these results, it having now been demonstrated conclusively that the ore is amenable to treatment on commercial lines, I have no hesitation in recommending the board to at once proceed with the erection of a plant, specifications of which I enclose herewith."

CHARGES AGAINST PRIESTS.

A MISSIONARY'S REPLY.

FRENCH GOVERNOR AS WITNESS.

Rev. Father Chevreuil, S.M., procurator of the Marists' Mission in the South Sea Islands, said yesterday:—

"In answer to the article headed 'Charges against Priests,' which appeared on January 26, I would like to say, first, that I should prefer to answer antagonists who are not afraid to put their names to anything of the kind. In the present instance, I have to deal with anonymous 'officers of an unnamed little inter-island steamer.' Many clear memories are evoked by these words 'inter-island steamer,' or 'trading ship in the islands,' in those who, like myself, have spent 20 years of their lives in the South Seas. These memories are better left alone. With regard to the new charges against Marist missionaries in Wallis Island, let me pass the following remarks:—The Governor of New Caledonia went to Wallis Island to investigate personally and officially the charges of clerical intolerance made against the priests. What was his verdict? He condemned the commissioner's action, and blamed him publicly, and eulogised the work of the missionaries. Against that official decision, what weight have the assertions of the anonymous officers of the unnamed 'little inter-island steamer?'

"I will deal with the charges separately. First, it is reported 'that no act of the native authorities seems to be binding unless it has priestly approval.' As a matter of fact, the King and his Ministers make any law or regulation that is regarded as necessary quite independently of the priests, who are not members of the Ministry. If sometimes they think it advisable to consult the priests, so far from being to blame for this, they show their intelligence.

PROTECTING NATIVES.

"In fact, the King and his Ministers have enacted some stringent laws to protect the commercial interests and the honour of the women of the island against trading adventurers, and those who do not behave properly expose themselves to the danger of receiving privately a sound thrashing, besides being fined by the native Judges. This is not a very enjoyable prospect for those who are looking forward to 'a lively time ashore.' This is the main reason why many object to the laws of the country.

"The second statement is as follows:—'The passage of any priest along a public road is the signal for every native of whatsoever degree to drop on his knees until the priest passes.' This is untrue. During my stay at Wallis Island I met many natives who saluted me most cordially, but the kneeling-down performance never took place. According to the old customs of the islanders, the natives, when they met a chief, had to stoop and sit on their heels as a mark of respect. That custom is no longer enforced, though many of the older natives still abide by it, and pay that mark of respect to their chiefs, and to the priests who are considered as chiefs.

"The third accusation is:—'The natives feel their abject condition keenly, and seize every opportunity of trying to run away.' Another untruth, and a proof of the ignorance of the anonymous 'officers of the unnamed little inter-island steamer' concerning the customs of the natives. From time immemorial, the Wallis Islanders have been of a roving disposition. They used to sail in their little native boats, unmindful of wind and wave, to satisfy their love of adventure and desire to see other islands. The present generation has inherited the tastes of their ancestors, and this explains their longing to travel to strange lands. Now they travel freely by steamer, and they can afford to do so, being very well off. I may add, however, that most of them return to their island."

POLLING TO-DAY.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

Polling for the election of aldermen and councillors will take place to-day in every municipality and shire throughout the State, except the city of Sydney. The hours of polling will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The electors will be owners, occupiers, and lessees of all ratable property. The lodger will have no vote. The occupiers who vote will be those who have been continually in possession since June 7 last, and whose names appear on the municipal roll.

In addition to the election of aldermen a referendum will be taken in a number of municipalities on questions of local interest. Those on the ratepayers' roll alone vote on these matters. The ratepayers' roll is made up of persons who directly pay the rates, such as owners and lessees. The remainder are styled the electors, and they join with the ratepayers in selecting the aldermen.

Many people are under the impression that their rates must be paid before they can vote, as under the old Municipalities Act, but under the present Act it is not a bar to the exercise of the franchise.

In all cases the voting will take place locally. If the municipality is in wards each ward has its own polling-place. If there are no wards, the local Town Hall is generally the polling-place for the whole municipality.

CITY POLLING PLACES.

For the convenience of business men and non-residents, some of the municipalities and shires have arranged for polling-places in the city. The following have been announced:—

Ashfield.—Shop, ground floor, Queen Victoria Markets.
Bankstown.—Room 5, second floor, Queen's Hall, Pitt-street.
Burwood.—Basement, Sydney Town Hall.
Drummoyne.—35 Queen Victoria Markets, York-street entrance.
Enfield.—Basement, Sydney Town Hall.
Glebe.—Basement, Sydney Town Hall.
Granville.—Basement, Sydney Town Hall.
Hunter's Hill.—17A Pitt-street, Circular Quay.
Katoomba.—First floor, Victoria Arcade, Elizabeth-street.
Leichhardt.—Queen's Hall, Pitt-street.
Mosman.—Custom House-chambers, Loftus-street, Circular Quay.
Marrickville.—Basement, Town Hall.
Newtown.—Queen's Hall, Pitt-street.
North Sydney.—Over Bank New South Wales, Macquarie-place.
Petersham.—Basement, Town Hall.
Paddington.—Basement, Town Hall.
Redfern.—Basement, Town Hall.
Randwick.—Manchester Unity Hall, Castlereagh-street.
Vaucluse.—Basement, Town Hall.
Waverley.—Room, Victoria Arcade, Elizabeth-street.
Woollahra.—Victoria-chambers, 68 Elizabeth-street, first floor.
Willoughby.—22 Pitt-street.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—To-day will, I believe, see one of the keenest of struggles in the history of New South Wales as far as municipal government is concerned. Labour, having gained the reins of power in Federal and State Governments, is making a strong bid for municipal control, which may seem little or nothing to some, but in reality means much to all broad-minded men, whom I urge to give full consideration before casting their vote to-day. The referendum and the heavy taxes which are the foremost planks in the party's platform ought to set all broad-minded men thinking, and that to such a degree as will settle the question, Which party shall control our municipal affairs?

I am, etc.,
JOHN GAGER.

COAL DUST IN MINES.

A DANGEROUS EXPLOSIVE.

LEGISLATION SUGGESTED.

The results of a series of experiments carried out in Great Britain by and on behalf of a Royal Commission of inquiry into the danger arising out of the presence of coal dust in mines are set forth in a lengthy report, and on these experiments is based the following definite statement:—"The fact that coal dust, in the complete absence of fire damp, is explosive when raised as a cloud in air and ignited, has, in the opinion of all who have witnessed the experiments, been definitely established. The information which the Royal Commission on Accidents in Mines desired the members of the Mining Association to furnish has thus been obtained, and the controversy which has existed for more than a quarter of a century has been finally set at rest."

Mr. Edden (Minister for Mines), speaking yesterday with reference to the foregoing, said:—"Since I have been in office inspectors have furnished several reports on the subject of coal dust explosions, and pointing out that managers have been asked to take steps to remove the danger. The report of the English commission shows there is danger of an explosion taking place from a blow-out shot even where no gas is noticeable. I often hear it said, 'Our mine is free from gas,' the obvious inference being that where there is no gas liberties may be taken. I feel sure that the report of the English commission will have the effect of prompting all careful colliery managers to adopt means of preventing explosions through the presence of these gases. This department will take steps suggested by the report to ensure safety in the mines. If it is necessary legislation will be proposed to compel managers to keep their mines as free from dust as possible."

TIMBER INDUSTRY.

SITUATION IN WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

PROPOSED ROYAL COMMISSION.

PERTH, Friday.

Mr. M. L. Moss moved in the Legislative Council last night,—"That it is desirable that a Royal Commission of five persons be appointed to inquire into the conditions appertaining to the production, exportation, and distribution of timber in and from Western Australia; and in case of members of either House of Parliament being appointed on such commission that their services be rendered gratuitously."

The mover said he believed the bulk of the 300,000 acres in the timber areas held in the various names were the property of the Millar's Karri and Jarrah Company, and it was obvious the regulations in many cases were not being complied with. He had been told the price of jarrah in Western Australia had for some time been greater than in Sydney or London, and the Government were paying £150 more per mile for the construction of the railways owing to the advance in timber rates. The cost of building had increased 30 per cent., partly as a result of the increased rates for timber, and it had been stated that it was cheaper to import timber from Melbourne than to buy it locally. If the monopoly existed, and if such heavy prices were being charged, it was time some law similar to that passed by the Federal Government in connection with other monopolies was enacted in Western Australia.

The debate was adjourned.

WORKMEN'S TRAINS.

MINERS FORCE THE SITUATION.

OTFORD, Thursday.

Passengers travelling down the Illawarra line by the 1.35 p.m. train from Sydney on Wednesday had a somewhat novel experience. When the train pulled up at Clifton, Scarborough, and Coledale, large numbers of miners, all covered in coal dust, crowded into the train. In conversation with some of the men, they apologised for coming into the carriages in their dusty clothes, but said that they had no option. These men come off the front shift, and leave the mines about 3 p.m. All of these men have workmen's weekly tickets. Previous to Wednesday the railway authorities had a special car on this train labelled "for workmen only," but for some reason this car had not been attached.

On Tuesday a railway official boarded the train, demanded the men's tickets, and took their names. The men naturally asked the inspector for the return of their tickets. This was refused, and the men were charged excess fare for the journey. The same thing was done again to-day at Bulli station. A workmen's train leaves Clifton at 4.50 each day, but the men say it is not right that they should wait two hours after their work, when they can get a train 1½ hour earlier. The men state that the Commissioners want to prevent them returning home by the passenger trains, and compel them to wait for the 4.50 p.m. train. They contend they have the same right to return home from work by any train on a weekly ticket as their more fortunate brother-workers have in the suburban area.

The matter is to be fought out, and the men are determined to return home by that train.

RACECOURSE FATALITY.

While riding exercise on a Machine Gun filly at Randwick yesterday a son of the well-known trainer L. C. Want received fatal injuries. The filly was working slowly on the sand track, and when at the back of the course she became restive, reared up, and, falling over, came down heavily on the lad's head and chest. He was picked up by H. J. Robinson, and removed to the Pines Hospital, Randwick, where he was attended by Dr. Reddall, but died about 1.30 p.m.

THE CORONATION.

FEDERAL MEMBERS GOING.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Speaker of the Commonwealth Parliament, Mr. M'Donald, to-day announced the names of those Labour members in the House of Representatives who had been chosen by ballot to proceed to England upon the invitation issued for 18 members of Parliament to attend the Coronation festivities. It was arranged some time ago that 11 Government supporters and 7 Opposition supporters from the whole Parliament should be chosen. The names of four Labour senators and seven members of the Liberal party from both Houses have yet to be made available, in addition to the Ministers and a large number of members who are going privately. The official list so far consists of the following:—Labour: W. G. Spence (N.S.W.), F. Bamford (Queensland), T. Brown (N.S.W.), W. G. Higgs (Queensland), Dr. W. Maloney (Victoria), W. O. Archibald (South Australia). Independent: Sir William Lyne (N.S.W.).

CHIEF COMMISSIONER'S POWERS.

SERVICE ASSOCIATION'S CRITICISM.

AN ADJUSTMENT NEEDED.

"The Chief Commissioner of Railways has the legal power to severely punish an employee without either stating the charge on which such punishment is based or allowing an investigation." The above complaint is given a prominent place in the annual report of the Amalgamated Railway and Tramway Service Association, which has just been published.

The Chief Commissioner's powers are severely criticised in the report, which goes on to state that—"The Appeal Board is a mere appanage of the Chief Commissioner's will, to be set aside at his pleasure. Not only is this actual power a menace to the staff, especially in the case of a Chief Commissioner of Mr. Johnson's strong prejudices, but the threat of its exercise either direct or implied has the effect of tyranny. We have two instances of this. As reported by Mr. Brown recently, the Chief Commissioner, at an interview, left the impression on his mind that if he should exercise his discretion in informing the staff of the doings of the Appeal Board upon which he (Mr. Brown) sits as an elected representative then pains and penalties would follow. The effect is shown by the fact that our representative considered it wisdom to defer to the Chief Commissioner's prejudices, rather than assert his undoubted right of independence whilst sitting on the board. Another instance occurred in which a proposal was being considered by the Superannuation Board to pay its secretary £100 per year, when the Chief indicated that if more than £50 was paid, he would reduce the secretary's salary as a railway officer by the difference of £50 per year.

"Whilst Mr. Johnson is an able administrator in many ways, he is undoubtedly autocratic to a degree. It is just here that his powers under the Railway Act call for reconsideration. For the public to gain the full benefit of the Chief Commissioner's business integrity and undoubted abilities, he should be given ample scope for their untrammelled exercise in a field where the rights and privileges of Australian citizenship cannot be menaced. But it is apparent that his training and temperament are unsuited to an acknowledgment of the economic and industrial rights of the large railway and tramway staff under his control, and his powers under the Railway Act should be adjusted accordingly."

HAND OVER THE RAILWAYS.

TO THE COMMONWEALTH.

"THE DAY OF COMPLETE CONTROL."

In the annual report of the Railway and Tramway Service Association reference is made to the impending transference of the State railways to Federal authority.

"There is no doubt," it is stated, "that circumstances are hastening the day when the railways will be under the complete control of the Commonwealth.

"The Commonwealth has power to assume control of the State railways for transport purposes in connection with defence. Should a war cloud overshadow the Australian sky, and the people come to realise that Federal troops could not be taken from one State to another without detraining at the border—giving us only one-third of transport efficiency—a demand for Federal control of railways may at once become one of the foremost of public questions.

"It is estimated by the Defence Department that with the present break of gauge at Albury and Wallangarra, it would take 63 days to transport 30,000 troops from Melbourne to Brisbane, whereas, if a uniform gauge were in existence, it would only occupy 23 days 10 hours."

QUEENSLAND.

FIRE AT CLIFTON.

BRISBANE, Friday.

As the result of a fire yesterday at Clifton five shops owned by Mr. J. Logan, were destroyed. They were: J. Muir, fruiterer and hairdresser; W. Arnold, fruiterer; Denis Twoomey, saddler; a grocer's shop (empty), and shop occupied by a Chinese fruiterer.

AMBULANCE TROUBLE.

In reference to the petition, asking for a special meeting of subscribers to be called to consider the position of the men dismissed from the Ambulance Brigade, it has been arranged that the meeting take place on February 7.

HAILSTORM AT CUMNOCK.

CUMNOCK, Friday.

A very heavy hailstorm occurred on Wednesday afternoon, the stones ranging from the size of marbles to walnuts, 110 points being registered in about 40 minutes, but the gauge could not take the hail, which lay about many inches deep, the whole face of the country being white. It cut corn and gardens to pieces, but fortunately did not extend far. Hardly any rain and no hail fell more than four or five miles from the town. The creek in the town came down rapidly, and was flowing hard about a foot over the bridge. Many fences were washed away. It was the heaviest hailstorm seen here for many years.

AUSTRALIAN BANK OF COMMERCE.

INCREASED DIVIDEND.

OLD DIRECTORS DEFEATED.

The second half-yearly meeting of the above bank was held yesterday at the Y.M.C.A. rooms, Mr. P. H. Morton presiding. The report and balance-sheet, particulars of which appear in our financial columns, were presented. In moving the adoption of the report, the chairman said they saw that the directors proposed to pay the shareholders an increased dividend at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum. The directors have been able to do this, notwithstanding that a considerable sum, estimated to be sufficient to pay half this current year's Federal land tax, has been put aside and held in suspense. The figures for the past half-year showed an all-round increase. The amount of capital paid up had increased by £187,761, £148,651 of inscribed deposits having been converted into capital and £39,110 paid up by shareholders. The current accounts and fixed deposits had likewise increased by £251,771, and notes in circulation by £30,000.

The advances made by the bank appeared in the balance-sheet as having been increased by about £123,000, but as a matter of fact there had been a total increase of £180,000 in the new advance business of the bank during the half-year. In addition to realising old bank securities, the directors had adopted a policy of selling vacant lands not required for office premises, and it was expected that the amount realised would provide the bank with a sum sufficient to pay for the erection of new branch premises where required, so as to bring the accommodation up to date in places where the bank was represented. The States of New South Wales and Queensland, in which the bank did business, had had a most prosperous season. The prices of wool and other primary products had been satisfactory, and the present good season which they had entered upon made the outlook a propitious one.

The report was adopted, and a resolution was carried,—"That owing to the large number of transfers of shares in the company that had to be recorded, it was necessary, for the purpose of enabling the officers of the company to record such transfers and make the necessary entries in the register, to limit the hours during which the register shall be open for inspection. It was therefore resolved that the register of members should be open for inspection between the hours of 11 of the clock in the forenoon and 1 of the clock in the afternoon of each day, and that inspection of the register might be refused at any other time."

The election of six directors was then proceeded with, but a poll being demanded the chairman stated the election would be by ballot, and shareholders could record their votes up to 3 o'clock.

At the conclusion of the voting the chairman declared the following elected:—Dr. George James Sly, Sir Wm. P. Manning, Chas. H. Myles, Mark Sheldon, Arthur S. Barton, and Frank N. Yarwood. The other candidates were Messrs. P. H. Morton (chairman) and Sir Francis Suttor.

PARRAMATTA QUARTER SESSIONS.

At the Parramatta Quarter Sessions, before Judge Docker, John Stein, who was found guilty of assault, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment with hard labour in Parramatta Gaol. His Honor said the Court would deal leniently with the prisoner because of his age, and because of his previous good character. But some punishment would have to be inflicted.

MR. DOWN'S SINGING EXERCISES.

Mr. Frank E. Down has now issued a new and revised edition of the "Vocal Exercises" he originally prepared for the students of his classes in 1874, which, since that date, have been republished again and again with only small alterations and amendments. This new eighth edition, however, presents a considerable extension of the features so widely appreciated in connection with the crescendo exercises, and those for "trills." Moreover, in place of merely giving directions to transpose the examples in C major to suit the various classes of voice, the author has been at the trouble of absolutely reprinting the transpositions. Strange as it may appear, Mr. Down's long experience as a teacher has repeatedly confirmed the fact that students frequently failed to obey the instructions, pleading inability to carry out the simple operation required. In the general scheme this admirable singing-tutor follows the old Italian masters as far as modern research enables such to be done. The "Singing Exercises" are published by Messrs. W. H. Paling and Co.

BATTING STYLES.

M'ELHONE AND BARDSLEY.

NEW SOUTH WALES SETS VICTORIA 337.

MATTHEWS FIGHTS FOR TEST HONOURS.

After a period of seemingly endless rain the sun managed to break through the cordon of clouds. A brisk south-easter cleared the heavens and gave promise of a spell of fair weather. The recent rains had covered the lawns with a carpet of green, while the cycle track, freshly painted, added its quota of green to the landscape. In spite of its recent drenching the wicket was good, Jennings' patch again showing its wonderful powers of recuperation. At midnight it was like a lake; at dawn it was muddy and sodden; at noon it was again almost a perfect wicket. A few hours of sun and wind had made it so presentable that it was a forgone conclusion that he who won the toss would bat.

Trumper won, and his side aggregated 337, which, considering that the wicket was a shade on the soft side at the outset, was by no means a bad performance. Only a couple of batsmen failed. The rest treated the onlookers to an exhibition of batting styles. Trumper's brilliancy was nipped in the bud. Bardsley continued his wonderfully consistent run-getting career by compiling 78 in faultless style. M'Elhone carried off the honours of the day, for he registered an invaluable century. He is not a stylist. He does not look a cricketer. He has a couple of unorthodox strokes; but he piles on the boundaries while the critics are wondering how he does it. He batted for 118 minutes, and found the boundary line 14 times. Kelleway is after the style of Bannerman and Quaife. But yesterday he was rather more aggressive, with the result that he got out at 24, which is much less than he has been in the habit of getting lately. Macartney did not stay long enough to show what style of a bat he is. The spectators would willingly have seen more of Waddy. His is the aggressive electric style. Barbour also retired before the crowd wanted him to. As usual Cotter delighted all except the bowlers during his short life, but gay one.

Matthews was the best of the bowlers. He is fighting hard for the position of eleventh man in the next test. He is tired of being twelfth man. Yesterday he bowled 23 overs for 85 runs and three wickets. There was more sting in his attack than in Armstrong's, though the latter's average of three for 55 was better. But the big Victorian's fielding was absolutely bad. He missed a couple of catches, and failed to stop several that should have been gathered in. Kyle kept a length and swerved in splendidly for a few overs. He got two wickets for 7. Then he pitched them short, and had 83 runs knocked off him for no further reward. Laver never looked dangerous, though the ball that got Trumper made a bit off the pitch. Altogether the visiting attack was not up to Sheffield Shield standard. But their fielding on the whole was.

This is the last of the Sheffield Shield matches this season. It was the eighty-sixth encounter between the rival States. Victoria has been victorious 39 times. The Welshmen have emerged triumphant 46 time. So since the first intercolonial contest of 1856 the mother State has more than held her own.

The umpires were Messrs. Jones and Curran.

Having been favoured by the spin of the coin, Trumper went to the wickets with Bardsley, as usual. But the locals were in for a most inauspicious opening. Laver and Armstrong opened the attack, but when the skipper had scored four he tried to play Laver to the on, and hit the ball on to his wicket. One for four was the record when the Glebe all-rounder joined his clubmate. Kelleway's promotion to first wicket down is the reward of some wonderfully consistent scoring this season. He opened by scoring the first boundary of the match by a clean on-drive at Laver's expense. The left-hander played cautiously until he had gauged the pace of the wicket. Then he opened out, cut Laver to the grandstand, and lifted him to the newly-painted cycle track. Kelleway followed suit, and lifted the same bowler high to the ladies' stand. A little more force, and it would have been a sixer. He followed this up by nicely glancing Armstrong for a brace. Bardsley moved briskly along, scoring singles from both bowlers, and reaching the twenties. Then once more he lifted Laver to the fence. Again it only wanted an extra pound to convert the fourer into a sixer. The all-rounder now brought the half-hundred into view by driving Armstrong cleanly to the sight-board, and glancing him prettily for three. Twice again Kelleway opened his shoulders to Laver, but each time the bowler earned applause by blocking what would certainly have been fourers. Matthews, the Victorian test candidate, now relieved Armstrong, and Bardsley, relishing the change, hooked the newcomer high to the pavilion. Kyle came on at the Paddington end, and his second over saw the dismissal of Kelleway, who tried to lift a fast one, but was caught and bowled for 24. Macartney now joined Bardsley, who was playing carefully, with 32 against his name. This the Glebeite increased to 42 by late-cutting and driving Matthews. After a quarter of an hour's inactivity Macartney again failed to get going. He touched one from Kyle, and Kenny in the slips made no mistake. Barbour succeeded, and when he had made three touched one from Kyle, but Armstrong failed to finish the job. When the luncheon adjournment came the score was three for 84, Bardsley being 45.

Bardsley reached his 50 shortly after dinner, the stroke that hoisted the half-hundred being a lovely late-cut—almost a chop—off Kyle, which sent the ball skimming along the ground to the boundary. The hundred came after 99 minutes' play. Bardsley now played more freely; cutting and glancing both bowlers prettily, and entering the sixties. Getting a short one from Kyle, Barbour cut it crisply to the bob stand, and reached double figures. A no-ball from Armstrong was banged to the boundary. Kortlang—usually so safe—failing to gather. The next ball was despatched in hot haste to the sightboard, and Bardsley was 72, batting brilliantly, and continually winning applause from the crowd. When 125 appeared Laver took the ball from Kyle, and Matthews relieved Armstrong. The change was immediately successful, Bardsley being caught at mid-on by Healey, in Matthews' first over, for a brilliant 78, which included 11 boundaries. The vacancy was filled by E. L. Waddy, who opened briskly with a couple of neat strokes to leg, and soon got to double figures. The pair provided brisk cricket, and the score reached 153, with Waddy 14 and Barbour 26. Then the Grammarian succumbed to a fine catch at cover by Kyle off Matthews, and five wickets were down for 153.

M'Elhone followed, and started his journey by twice driving Laver to the off-boundary. Waddy found safety in jumping out and lifting Matthews to the fence, and then driving him to the sightboard. Diverting play marked Waddy's occupancy of the crease, but at last he skied one of Matthews', and Carkeek, running half-way up the crease, took the catch. The Cumberlander had compiled 36. Hordern joined M'Elhone, and a stolen run hoisted the second century. M'Elhone now sparkled somewhat, and when teatime came the board showed six for 211. M'Elhone was 34, and Hordern 2.

Bright play followed the resumption of hostilities, Hordern for a while keeping pace with the 'Varsity bat, and scoring with a variety of strokes, and entered the twenties with a clean pull to the leg-boundary. Armstrong relieved Matthews, and got his first victim, Hordern getting in front of a straight one, and retiring for 27. The Waverley keeper filled the breach, and saw M'Elhone forge ahead towards the century. He passed Bardsley's total, and gained top-score honours of the day. Applause greeted his effort, and they were renewed when four-score appeared against his name. Then Carter, having banged a fourer, and reached 10, took some of his own poison, being caught behind by Karkeek off Armstrong. The board showed eight for 293 when Cotter came upon the scene, and remembering his Adelaide sensation the crowd cheered. He saw M'Elhone enter the nineties, and the third century came in 238 minutes. Cotter then faced the music, and three fieldsmen made for the boundary line. He tapped a single amid laughter. Facing Kyle he glanced the first ball for four, all run, cut the next for two, drove another to the off-boundary, and took a single to complete a very fruitful over. A dozen had come to the lightning conductor in five minutes. Laver now came on to entice him to slog. Cotter needed no enticing; he lashed out, and the ball flew skyward behind the wicket. Armstrong missed, to the delight of the crowd. Facing Armstrong the Glebe slog again opened his shoulders, and he lifted the big Victorian to the leg boundary, and the ball bounced among the crowd. The next ball he was out lbw to Armstrong for 22, and Emery, the last man, entered. M'Elhone was 92, and it looked as if he would be robbed of century honours. He therefore slogged out at Laver, and the ball went high to the sight-board. Kenny got in the way, but failed to hold a not too-difficult catch. Facing Armstrong, M'Elhone once more lashed out, and Smith in the long-field had his chance. He ran in and dived for the catch, but he also failed to dislodge the 'Varsity lad, who reached 99. Emery kept his end up, and a single gave M'Elhone his century. The crowd cheered. It was a well-deserved honour. Shortly afterwards he was caught in the long-field by Ransford for a brilliant 101. The innings closed for 337.

With only 10 minutes to go, Kyle and Carkeek opened up for the visitors, and made seven before stumps were drawn.

LABOUR TROUBLES.

WHARF-LABOURERS' STRIKE.

MEN WANT 1s 6d AN HOUR.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A strike of wharf-labourers occurred to-day. The men engaged in unloading the steamer Arawatta claimed that they should be paid 1s 6d instead of the ordinary rate of 1s 3d for handling cement. The men stated that they had been promised this increase some time ago, but the company stated that it was a misunderstanding on the wharf-labourers' part, and pointed out that in the agreement recently drawn up, when the ordinary rate was increased from 1s 2d to 1s 3d an hour, cement was exempted from any special rate.

The wharf-labourers working on the steamers New Guinea and Marloo struck in sympathy with the Arawatta men. The companies, in order not to inconvenience the public by delaying the departure of the vessels, offered to pay the increased rates under protest. The men declined to agree to this. They wanted a promise in writing that they would always receive 1s 6d per hour for handling cement. The men will meet again to-morrow morning, and if the agreement in writing is not forthcoming the strike will be continued. About 160 men are affected.

ANOTHER TRAMWAY DISPUTE.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

Another dispute has arisen in connection with the Silverton Tramway Company. Since the threatened strike an employee has either resigned or been dismissed, though he had notified in writing that unless he secured a certain position he would resign. He belongs to the fitting shop. A meeting of the employees will be held on Sunday to consider the position.

The company's argument is that the man resigned because he could not get full smith's wages. The union people state that the dismissal of the man is a victimisation, because he took a prominent part in the late trouble.

His tentative resignation, however, is dated before the threatened strike. He is alleged to have resigned, and not to have been dismissed.

BODY EXHUMED.

AN ANALYSIS TO BE MADE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The body of Stephen Moodie, father of Olive Moodie, who is charged with the murder of her mother, was exhumed at Avoca to-day.

The internal organs and brain were in an excellent state of preservation, and the whole of these were sealed and taken by Dr. Mollison, pathologist, to Melbourne for analysis. A quantity of earth immediately under the centre of the coffin was also taken for analysis.

TRADE WITH SINGAPORE.

REQUEST FOR A SUBSIDY.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Captain Currie, of Messrs. Archibald Currie and Co., interviewed the Minister for Agriculture to-day, and asked that the subsidy of £2000 a year formerly paid to his firm for a shipping service between Melbourne and Java, Singapore, and other Eastern ports should be renewed. The Minister promised to place the question before the Cabinet for consideration.

RUNAWAY TRUCKS.

SMASHES INTO STATIONARY TRAIN.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A peculiar accident happened on Wednesday at Tanti Hill, outside Mornington. A trolly loaded with posts and rails, in charge of M'Donald and Maloney, two railway officials, bolted from the top of the hill, owing to the propelling stick breaking.

The trolly went wildly down the hill, and dashed into the railway gates at a point on the Nepean-road crossing, smashing them to matchwood. The runaway, continuing its career, next ran into a stationary train, severely damaging a first-class carriage. When nearing the station M'Donald and Maloney jumped off, and sustained slight injuries.

TRUANT'S ESCAPADE.

FOUR DAYS FROM HOME.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

During last night a lad named Burchell, who has been missing since Monday, arrived home at Mirboo. Although large numbers of searchers have been scouring the country, the boy had been in hiding in some scrub within a short distance of his home.

He says he "wagged" it from school, intending to return home that evening, but on seeing the master go to his home at midday he became frightened and hid. He admits seeing the searchers, and also their lights at night. On two occasions he started to return home, but seeing so many people about he became afraid, and went back to his hiding-place. Although suffering from hunger, he is otherwise well.

FOUND SHOT.

AN OLD-TIME CATERER'S DEATH.

Tomaso Compagnoni, 68, a widower, and well-known caterer, who carried on business in Pitt-street, city, a number of years ago, was found dead in an outhouse at the rear of his residence, Rosa-street, Oatley, yesterday. He had been ailing for some time past, and had been unable to sleep at night. His son, William, who had been on a visit from Queensland, played a game of chess with his father until midnight, and then put him to bed. Early this morning he went to wake his father, but found the bedroom empty. The laundry at the rear was searched, and deceased was found lying fully clothed beside a box, on which a candle was still burning, with a bullet wound in the right temple. A five-chambered revolver was lying close at hand. Dr. M'Leod was sent for, but on his arrival life was extinct.

HORSES CRASH INTO FISH SHOP.

A sensational bolt occurred in William-street, Darlinghurst, at about 5.30 yesterday. Herbert Blackall was driving a two-horse lorry up the hill, and when near Duke-street, the horses became restive, and, getting out of the control of the driver, dashed across the road on to the footpath. The frightened animals then crashed into a fish shop, kept by Isaac Fernandez, on the corner of Duke and William streets. The window of the shop was smashed, and the grating of the cellar broken, whilst the woodwork of the shop was severely damaged. One of the horses, too, was badly cut by the broken glass.

RAIN SHIFTING.

HEAVY WEEK'S RECORD.

ROUGH COASTAL CONDITIONS.

Rain has been recorded almost generally east of the Darling, but so far as the week's falls are concerned they have been heaviest on the coast. Byron Bay had 1084 points, Bodalla 899, and Seal Rocks 687. On the tablelands, Katoomba's total for the week was 639 points, while the biggest of other inland records was 287 points at Yetman. The easterly tendency of the winds gave cool temperatures over practically the whole of the State. The forecast at 9 o'clock last night indicated that the rain was clearing to the north-east, that it would be temporarily fine, and that there would be rain and thunder inland, with a continuance generally of the north-east winds.

YESTERDAY'S REGISTRATIONS.

The rainfall registrations in New South Wales for the 24 hours ending at 9 a.m. yesterday were the following:—

Adaminaby, 45 points; Albury, 6; Araluen, 207; Armidale, 26; Ballina, 311; Balranald, 3; Barraba, 32; Bateman's Bay, 20; Bathurst, 5; Bega, 26; Blackheath, 250; Bodalla, 8; Boggabilla, 11; Bombala, 3; Boomi, 32; Bowral, 104; Braidwood, 123; Brewarrina, 35; Broken Hill, 98; Bungendore, 39; Byrock, 34; Byron Bay, 448; Camden, 73; Camden Haven 93; Candelo, 15; Canonbar, 30; Cape Hawke, 113; Carinda, 35; Casino, 134; Clarence Heads, 131; Cobar, 3; Condobolin, 57; Cooma, 38; Crookhaven, 35; Crookwell, 34; Cudgellico, 74; Dandaloo, 60; Delegate, 3; Dungog, 80; Euabalong, 87; Euston, 37; Germanton, 19; Gilgandra, 5; Girilambone, 19; Glebe Point, 180; Glen Innes, 7; Gloucester, 25; Gongolgon, 74; Goulburn, 47; Grafton, 268; Gresford, 55; Gunnedah, 28; Gundagai, 25; Gunning, 10; Hay, 2; Hill End, 8; Hunter's Hill, 182; Ivanhoe, 40; Inverell, 2; Jervis Bay, 33; Jindabyne, 40; Junee, 8; Katoomba, 273; Kempsey, 55; Killara, 158; Kiama, 90; Kiandra, 67; Kosciusko, 184; Kunopia, 21; Kurrajong, 280; Lawson, 329; Lismore, 174; Maitland, 183; Manilla, 8; Manning Heads, 257; Marrickville, 225; Menindie, 26; Michelago, 41; Millie, 15; Moruya Heads, 3; Mossgiel, 28; Moss Vale, 120; Mosman, 161; Mount Victoria, 210; Mullumbimby, 235; Mungindi, 10; Murrumburrah, 18; Murrurundi, 38; Murwillumbah, 450; Nambucca, 50; Narrabri, 1; Newcastle, 69; Nimitybelle, 25; Nowra, 110; Nymagee, 11; Nyngan, 34; Orange 1; Parramatta, 138; Paterson, 106; Penrith, 170; Picton, 192; Port Macquarie, 80; Port Stephens, 155; Raymond Terrace, 164; Rockley, 3; Seal Rocks, 150; Singleton, 29; Springwood, 305; Strathfield, 204; Sydney, 176; Sutton Forest, 120; Tabulam, 140; Taralga, 78; Taree, 257; Tenterfield, 51; Tocumwal, 2; Trangie, 80; Tumut, 2; Tweed Heads, 32; Ulladulla, 53; Uralla, 3; Walcha, 5; Warren, 12; Wee Waa, 50; Wentworth, 26; Windsor, 152; Wollongong, 128; Woolgoolga, 95; Wyong, 87; Yass, 15.

COASTAL CONDITIONS.

The weather on the coast continued fresh, in some places the wind having the force of a gale. The records at 8 o'clock last night were the following:—

Tweed Heads, ESE, strong gale, thick rainsqualls, sea heavy.
Byron Bay, SE, gale, squally, showery, sea heavy.
Ballina, E, moderate gale, showery, sea heavy.
Clarence Heads, S, strong, cloudy, sea rough.
Woolgoolga, ESE, fresh, cloudy, sea very heavy.
Bellinger Heads, E, fresh, cloudy, bar rough.
Nambucca Heads, E, fresh, cloudy, sea heavy.
Port Macquarie, E, strong, cloudy, sea rough.
Manning Heads, E, fresh, cloudy, sea rough.
Seal Rocks.—SW, fresh, showery, sea moderate.
Port Stephens, E, strong, cloudy, sea moderate.
Newcastle, SE, moderate, fine, sea moderate.
Lake Macquarie Heads, ESE, fresh, fine, sea rough.
Catherine Hill Bay, ESE, fresh, fine, sea rough.
South Head, ESE, moderate, cloudy, sea moderate.
Wollongong, SE, fresh, cloudy, sea moderate, heavy.
Kiama, SSE, fresh, cloudy, sea very rough.
Crookhaven Heads, E, fresh, cloudy, sea rough.
Jervis Bay, SE, fresh, cloudy, misty, moderate easterly swell.
Ulladulla, S, light, cloudy, sea moderating.
Bateman's Bay, SE, light, cloudy, sea moderating.
Moruya, NE, light, cloudy, sea slight.
Eden, NE, moderate, cloudy, sea moderate.
Green Cape, ENE, moderate, cloudy, sea moderate.
Gabo Island, ENE, fresh, cloudy, misty, sea moderate.

The Howard Smith liner Bombala, which arrived last evening from Melbourne with 100 saloon and 81 steerage passengers, encountered strong south-east winds and heavy seas as far as Gabo Island. From there she had north-east winds, which detained her for several hours.

DELUGE AT SEA.

Captain Whitton, who yesterday brought in the barque Daniel from Kaipara, New Zealand, reported having encountered an extraordinary rainfall, which lasted for three days and nights. The deluge, as he describes it, commenced on Tuesday afternoon, and continued with terrific force until the vessel was approaching Sydney Heads.

BARRIER WATER SUPPLY.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

At 4 p.m. to-day the reservoir had risen 1ft 10½in, equivalent to two months' extra supply. All fear of a water famine is thus ended.

CONDOBOLIN.—Late on Friday afternoon heavy rain fell; 51 points being registered.

EMMAVILLE.—Reports to hand from Strathbogie and Rocky Creek show that Saturday's storm was the severest experienced in these centres for many years, and a considerable amount of damage was done to crops and fencing along the river frontage. At Strathbogie in the space of two hours 4in of rain was recorded, and the fall appears to have been equally as heavy right down to Rocky Creek. In a few hours the whole of the country was in a state of flood. Miles of fencing were damaged, and in places swept clean away, whilst all the crops suffered more or less, some of them being completely ruined. A few sheep were also drowned, but considering the suddenness of the storm, it is a wonder the mortality was not greater.

LAWSON.—Thursday was the wettest holiday for many years, rain falling in torrents all day; visitors were conspicuous by their absence. The rainfall for the Thursday was 339 points, and 2114 points have fallen for the month, constituting a record for the district.

OTFORD.—Heavy rain set in late on Wednesday night, and continued without intermission throughout Thursday. The Port Hacking River, already swollen with the late rains, overflowed its banks. At the railway dam the water is four feet over the top of the wall, and rising fast. The roadway, 16 feet wide, with a concrete surface, constructed butting on to the dam wall, and connecting Otford with the Lady Carrington-road, has been washed completely away. A substantial foot bridge over the river on the Otford-Helensburgh-road, was carried away in the flood. Another bridge, lower down, was washed away. A solid nine-inch brick wall at the Otford fan fell bodily in, and did considerable damage. The roads are in an impassable condition. Never in the recollection of the oldest residents has the river reached such a height in flood time.

PICTON.—Rain fell continuously throughout yesterday, 192 points being registered, making a total of 1545 points for the month so far.

RICHMOND.—Fortunately, the rain has ceased again, Friday being somewhat bright. The river rose rapidly on Thursday night, rising altogether 23 feet, being 4 feet from covering the bridge. Rickaby Creek is again a banker, and communication is cut off between Windsor and Richmond. Farmers will benefit by the recent rains, but a flood is dreaded.

WINDSOR.—Another 260 points rain have fallen since Wednesday locally, but up at Robertson nearly six inches were recorded. Other falls along the watershed are reported. The river at Windsor has risen 19 feet, and is within two feet of the floor of the Windsor Bridge; but still well within the banks. Some of the lowlands on South Creek are again flooded, and the water is deep over the road between Windsor and Richmond, but the road is still clear to Parramatta.

WOLLONGONG.—Now that the flood waters have gone off the lands, it is possible to form an idea of the amount of damage done to the roads and bridges throughout the length and breadth of the district. The Bulli Shire Council has suffered very considerably throughout its extensive area, and perhaps more particularly in the Scarborough and Clifton districts. North Illawarra is hit pretty badly, and the Mayor (Alderman Porter) has asked the Works Department for a special grant of £200. In Central Illawarra the damage has been very heavy, and it is estimated it will take £2000 to effect repairs. The rainfall this week has totalled 319 points, making a fall of 1744 points since January 1.

SOUTH AFRICA TEAM.

MATCH AT HAMILTON.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A two-days' match between a Hamilton Sixteen and the South Africans was commenced at Hamilton to-day, in fine weather. There was a good attendance. The local team was disposed of for 97. Schwarz took seven wickets for 15, Pegler three for 15, and Vogler five for 31.

The South Africans lost eight wickets for 186, Stricker being the top scorer with 97.

SENATOR RAE AND THE "SUICIDE PLEDGE."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your report in this morning's issue of the Political Labour Conference I am charged with making the following statement in the debate on the proposal to devise a pledge for Labour nominees to the Legislative Council:—"Senator Rae said it was absurd to ask a member of the Council to take a pledge to abolish his own position."

Permit me to state that I said exactly the opposite to what I am reported. The substance of my statement was "that in order to constitutionally abolish the State Legislative Council it was necessary to swamp it with new members, and that every Labour nominee to the Council should be pledged to vote for political suicide, by supporting a bill to wipe that body out of existence," and suggested terming it "the suicide pledge."

The acoustic properties of the meeting-place of the conference are so defective that it is marvellous under the circumstances how well the reporting generally was done, but the foregoing error is serious enough to warrant me in asking for a prompt correction, otherwise my reputation for consistency and moderation may materially suffer. I am, etc.,

NEWCASTLE WALLSEND COAL CO.

The half-yearly meeting of the above company was held yesterday, Mr. C. H. Myles presiding. The report and balance-sheet, particulars of which have already been given, were adopted. Hon. F. Jago Smith, M.L.C., was elected as a director, and Messrs. J. H. Stephenson, M.A., F.C.P.A., and T. B. Frith auditors.

THE CHARLEY COAL MINES PROPRIETARY, LIMITED.

The first report of the above company was presented at the statutory general meeting on Wednesday. Under authority of clause 3, subsection (a) of the memorandum of association, the company has acquired from the Government of Queensland 23 coal areas of 640 acres each, and the instruments of title have been received. Four coal-mining leases of 320 acres each also were duly applied for, and the warden at Rockhampton recommended that they be granted. These leases are exempt from labour conditions for a period of six months from November 29, 1910. The company has also the right of purchase of the leasehold rights of grazing farm No. 2125, having an area of about 5102 acres, which covers a large proportion of the surface of the collieries, and which may be utilised for the purpose of settling miners in permanent homes. Prior to the registration of this company the property now acquired had been prospected by nearly 9000 feet of diamond drill boring, which included bores sunk to the respective vertical depths of 2006ft, 1507ft, and 1506ft. And the true line of strike and the exact direction of dip of the coal measures were determined by a series of shafts. The ultimate aim of this company is to open up these mines to produce 2000 tons of coal per eight-hours day. Not only is such a quantity essential to create and maintain an oversea trade, including 16 naval stations within selling distance, but such an output would bring costs of production and railway freights to the minimum. Moreover, this output would justify the Queensland Railway Commissioner in providing modern shipping facilities at Rockhampton, Broadmount, Port Alma, and Gladstone. It has been resolved that for a period of one year no transfer of shares shall be made unless it be deemed expedient to sell a large interest to approved capitalists. Mr. R. Logan Jack, LL.D., has been appointed consulting geologist and secretary to this company.

CINEMATOGRAPH SAFETY APPLIANCE CO.

A prospectus of the above company appears elsewhere in our columns. The capital of the company is to be £10,000 in £1 shares, of which 3333 fully paid up shares go to the inventor of the patent, 600 to the promoters, and 3000 £1 shares are offered to the public, 2000 having already been applied for, the balance of 1067 to be held in reserve. It is claimed that the invention will prevent the films catching fire.

MUTUAL LIFE OF NEW YORK.

The general manager for Australasia of the above company reports the receipt of a cable message from the head office containing the following information regarding its business for the year ended December 31, 1910:—

Assets	£117,690,000
Total income	17,244,000
Payments to policy-holders	11,663,000
Total expenses	1,861,000
Bonuses apportioned for 1911	2,780,000
New insurance issued and paid for	34,791,000

The new business written in 1910 shows an increase of £3,380,000 over the amount written in the previous year, and the amount apportioned for bonuses payable in 1911 shows an increase of £224,000 over the amount apportioned for distribution in 1910.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

Distributing houses reported yesterday a very brisk business, and all were engaged making up the leeway due to the holiday. Country orders are coming in well, and in most lines there is no change in quotations. Dried fruits are moving quietly. There has been a good trade in sugar, according to requirements, at quotations. The attention of the tea market yesterday was centred in the auctions. A Colombo cable stated that the market was firm for all kinds. A cable from Java states that no prime Java coffee is obtainable, and similar advices have been received regarding the Jamaica crop. In both cases the crops have been delayed or destroyed by heavy rains.

The wheat market is dull, quotation of 3/6½ being only nominal. Flour is unaltered.

There has been some movement in chemicals. Owing to the non-arrival of the barque Houth, now 124 days out from Liverpool, the market for soda ash has advanced about £1 a ton on spot. With a strong demand for phosphorus in the country, makers of rabbit poison are hard pressed, and prices have gone up to 3/6, whereas 10 days ago it could be obtained for 1/9. Rosin keeps firm at about £14/15/ for G grade, and about £1 more for N grade. There is a strong market for carbide, prices being from £14/10/ to £15/10/, according to brand. Eight tons of Pernix brand sold at £14/15/. In metals wires continue active and firm at late quotations. Of barbed wire stocks would appear to be small. Ten tons of 12-gauge and ten tons of 14-gauge genuine American Iowa, ex Drachenfels, sold at £14/17/6 and £16/10/ respectively. The demand for wire-netting has not abated. A good deal of business has transpired in imported 42—1½in. and 1½in. gauge. Rabbit traps are moving freely, I. and L. at 10/6 for distributing and 9/9 between houses. Jump traps, which came into favour last season, are meeting with strong demand at 19/ for wholesale lots. Stocks are low. A little business is doing in cement. Importers of tinplates by the Everton Grange have been inconvenienced by the steamer not being allotted a wharf, owing to the block of shipping. In consequence those who have tinplates on spot are making some profit, and there have been dealings at 18/3.

The oil market continues excited. Cabled advices were that Blundell and Spences had moved up another 1d, being now quoted at 3/11½, which makes the price landed here 5/3½ for raw and 5/5½ for boiled. In consequence of the high price of imported there is good business in local linseed oil. Whale, fish, and cod oils and castor and all seed oils are very firmly held, and no reduction can be looked for. The position of turps is extremely strong. For Pratt's or Pinetree 5/3 to 5/6 is asked, according to the size of the order. A cable from Bombay quotes whole linseed at £20/5/ f.o.b., and only a small parcel obtainable.

In jute woolpacks were quoted at 2/2 3-16 c.i.f., Sydney, April, May, and June shipments. Cornsacks the mills will not quote for next season's supply, refusing an order for 500 bales at 4/6 c.i.f. In Hessian there is a disposition for an easier market, a fall of 2½ per cent. for February-March shipments being noted; but the mills cable that the market is not likely to go lower. Some movement is expected shortly in branbags, as prices here are below Calcutta.

BREADSTUFFS.

There was little to report in breadstuffs yesterday. Wheat was dull, the nominal quotation being 3/6½, but there was not a great quantity offering, and there was no inquiry for shipment in consequence of the depressed condition of the London market. Flour remains unaltered at the convention price, but bakers are slow at entering into contracts, there being a general belief that millers will shortly lower prices.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 3761 tons of wheat and 303 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

SUGAR.

German beet sugar, 88 per cent. net titre, is quoted at 9/, and first marks granulated at 11/ (both unchanged for the week).

BRADFORD TOPS.

The Bradford top market is cheerful, and shows a hardening tendency.

The week's quotations are:—64's, /25¾; super 60's, /25½; common 60's, /24¾; 56's, /21; 50's, /18½; 46s, /14½; 40's, /13½.

CHEESE.

Cheese is firm and unchanged. The Australian shipment by the Cornwall arrived in good condition, but is at present unsold. Consignees consider it worth about 2/ to 3/ below New Zealand.

WHEAT.

The wheat markets are quiet, and the demand for cargoes is restricted. Holders are steady; 37/ is asked for and 36/6 is obtainable for South Australian shipments off the coast; 36/ is asked for South Australian, Victorian, and New South Wales, steamers, January-February shipment; 36/3 is asked for a Victorian sailer, October; 35/ and 35/1½ have been paid for Australian parcels, January-February. There is a small demand for Australian on spot at 37/3 a quarter.

The shipment by the barque Auldgirth has been sold at 36/7½.

FLOUR.

Flour is steady and inactive.

OATS.

The market for oats is quiet. La Plata, March-April, selling at 13/3.

GRAIN FREIGHTS.

Freights are firm. Steamer fixtures from four ports for February have been made at 26/3 and 26/6, and a sailer from Adelaide on spot at 24/.

BUTTER.

Danish butter is unchanged. Choicest Australian, salted, sold at 100/ to 102/, unsalted 104/ to 106/, secondaries 96/ to 98/; choicest New Zealand 104/ to 106/, secondaries 98/ to 100/.

There was a dull trade all the week, closing steady at a decline.

Dalgety and Co., Ltd., report the receipt of a cable from their London office, advising that the total imports of butter into the United Kingdom last week were 88,000cwt., as compared with 87,000cwt for the corresponding period of last year, an increase of 1000cwt. The official quotation in Copenhagen is unchanged, but in the United Kingdom prices are weaker owing to heavy arrivals. In London finest Danish is quoted at 116/ per cwt: finest New Zealand, 100/; finest Australian salted, 102/; ditto, unsalted, 106/.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

A cable received yesterday by Dalgety and Company, Limited, from their head office state that prices for wool in general at the London wool sales at present in progress are at par to 5 per cent. higher as compared with the opening rates.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

The wheat market is quiet at 3/6 farmers' lots, Port Adelaide. There is no demand for shipping. Parcels of flour are having a small turnover at £8/10/ to £8/15/ for local trade. Export business continues dull. Bran is firm, with a good turnover, at 1/2. Pollard is quiet at 1/1. Oats are steady at 2/1 to 2/2. A small sale of dun peas was effected at 3/9. Traders are not disposed to operate on shipping account, pending freer deliveries. Butter is firm; factory /11 to /12½, dairy /9 to /10½, stores /7 to /7½. Eggs are steady at /8. Cheese is in better demand at /4½ to /5½. Bacon is cheaper owing to a decline in value of live hogs.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Wheat was quiet at 3/6½. Flour, new, brought £8/10/; old £8/15/. Bran and pollard sold at £4/15/. Malting barley, prime, brought 4/3 to 4/4, good 4/ to 4/2, fair 3/2 to 3/8. Malting, Cape, realised 2/3, feed 1/8 to 1/10. Algerian milling oats brought 2/0½, heavy feed 1/11½ to 2/, fair feed 1/10½ to 1/11. Maize was temporarily firm at 2/5½ to 2/8. Chaff, choice green wheaten, sold at 65/, good 57/6 to 62/6, best oaten 57/6 to 60/, good 52/6. Manger hay made 80/ to 90/, manger sheaves up to 55/, chaffing sheaves up to 45/, Victorian straw 30/ to 35/, Tasmanian 55/ to 60/. Potatoes were in heavy supply, with no demand. The market was weak. Warrnambools brought 25/ to 35/, Colacs nominally 50/ to 60/, choice Carmens up to 75/. Onions sold at 45/ to 50/. Business in tea includes 120 packages Ceylon up to /10, small sales of Java and Indian, and 50 half-chests of Northern China tea for export. The demand for tinned fish shows improvement. Cornsacks made 4/8. Branbags brought up to 3/7. Fair business was done in woolpacks, forward delivery. Quotations for linseed oil were raised by /2, making Blundell's raw and boiled 5/6 and 5/8 respectively.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

SMALL TURNOVER AT UNCHANGED RATES.

Being practically the last day of the week, and following a holiday, there was very little activity in the produce markets. It was too near the end of the month for any big orders to be put through, so that a really hand-to-mouth trade was transacted. It was expected that Tasmanian potatoes would be a trifle cheaper on Monday. It would all depend on what came forward from the local districts, and what was expected to arrive on the Tuesday by the Victorian steamers. Choice qualities of oats were in fair request at late values. Only the best brands of chaff found attention, and medium sorts were dragging, as retailers had too much of it already on hand. Small supplies of maize came to hand from the Northern river districts. The trade did not take much notice of it, and those who wanted a load inspected the Victorian grain which was free from weevil. Onions were clearing up a little better than last week end. The lighter shipment was the cause of this. The demand for barley was improving. Quotations stood at the same levels as before the holiday.

FEED GRAIN AND OFFAL.

Current quotations were:—

Maize.—Victorian: Prime yellow 2/10 to 2/11; best northern river yellow 2/8 to 2/9, white 2/8 to 2/9 per bushel.

Barley.—Victorian: Cape for seed 2/9 to 3/, feed 2/2 to 2/5; English feed, 2/3 to 2/6 per bushel.

Peas.—Tasmanian: Prime blue boiling 5/3 to 5/6, others from 4/9, grey 5/ to 5/3 per bushel.

Oats.—Tasmanian: Best milling whites 2/9, good stout 2/8. Algerian, milling 2/4 to 2/5, feed 2/1 to 2/3 per bushel.

Bran (Association price).—£4/5/; pollard, £4/10/ per ton.

FORAGE.

Chaff.—South Australian: Wheaten, prime £4/5/ to £4/10/. Victorian: Wheaten, prime £4/5/ to £4/10/, medium £4; oaten, prime, £3/15, good £3/10, second quality £3 to £3/5/ per ton.

Derrick Straw.—Tasmanian: Wheaten, best £2/15/; oaten, £2/7/6 to £2/10/ per ton.

Oaten Hay.—Victorian: Prime £4/5/, lower quality £3/10/ to £4 per ton.

Onions.—Victorian: Best brownskins, £3/10/ to £3/15/ per ton.

Swede Turnips.—Tasmanian: Best £4/5/ to £4/10/ per ton.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

EGG VALUES HIGH.

BUTTER SELLING WELL.

There was a big margin in the values of eggs. This was caused through a big difference in present qualities. The demand was mainly for the very best brands. Rivers ranged from /8 to /11, and southerns and railways from /11 to 1/2. New laids sold best of all up to 1/6. Cheese was quiet, and so was bacon. The prices for both of them ruled steadily. Butter was in good request. The grocers operated freely, and the London buyers were making a number of inquiries for substantial quantities. Lard was in small demand.

Butter.—First grade 90/, good to medium 86/ to 88/, secondary 80/ to 83/, pastry 70/ per cwt.

Lard.—Bulk, /6; packets, /6½; special packets, /6½; bulk, /6½ per lb.

Cheese.—Prime /6 to /6½, good /5 to /5½, inferior /4 to /4½, special /7½ per lb.

Bacon.—Prime factory, sides /7 to /7½, flitches /7 to /7½, middles /8½; special, sides /8, flitches /7½, middles /8½.

Hams.—Bacon, /8 to /11; prepared, /10 to /11½; special, double covers 1/1½, single cloth 1/0½ per lb.

Eggs.—Northern river, /7½ to /9; South Coast and railway, /10 to 1/; suburban, new-laid 1/ to 1/4, choice 1/5 to 1/6; duck eggs, 1/ to 1/3 per dozen.

J. W. GRAY and CO., 120 Sussex-street, Auctioneers and Produce Salesmen.—Advt.

FOLEY BROS., Ltd., Sussex-street, for Choicest North Coast Factories, Butter, Cheese, and "Crown" Bacon and Hams.—Advt.

Ellis and Co., Live Stock and Produce Merchants.—Sale of Hay, Chaff, etc., held at Redfern daily.—Advt.

KAMERUKA CHEDDAR CHEESE was awarded the Grand Prix at the Franco-British Exhibition.—Advt.

POULTRY.

Poultry was in light supply, and good birds met with a brisk demand.

The following values were ruling:—Old hens, extra choice 3/6, good 3/ to 3/3; roosters, extra choice 5/, good 4/ to 4/6; chickens, large 2/, small 1/ to 1/6; mixed coops, 3/ to 3/6; English ducks, 2/6 to 3/; Muscovys, 3/6 to 4/; geese, 4/6 to 5/; drakes, 4/ to 5/, extra choice 6/; turkeys, choice hens 7/6, good 5/6 to 6/; guineafowls, 4/; pigeons, 1/3 to 1/9 per pair.

Messrs. Mossman and Ellis report having obtained the following prices at their auction sale yesterday:—Eggs, case to /12, new-laid /17 to /18, choice suburban /19, duck /17 per dozen; fowls, young roosters 2/6 to 4/ (choice sub. 6/3), small from 1/9, fat hens 3/6 to 4/3 (choice sub. 5/1); ducks, English 2/6 to 3/3 (choice sub. 4/3); Muscovy 3/ to 3/3 (choice sub. 3/6); drakes, 3/9 to 4/6 (choice sub. 5/3); geese, to 5/; pigeons, 1/6.

APIARY PRODUCTS.

There were big supplies of honey on hand, which were clearing very quietly at weak values. Wax was quiet.

The following were the ruling values:—

Honey.—Choice western /2¾ to /3, special /3½, good northern /2½ to /2¾, dark and candied /1½ per lb.

Beeswax.—Prime clear 1/1 to 1/3, dark 1/ to 1/1 per lb.

FIREWOOD.

There was a fair supply of firewood offered at the auction sales, and good values were again secured.

Best boxwood 16/ to 17/, good 15/ to 15/6; ironbark and stringy, 12/ to 15/; best bakers' lots 13/6, good 12/6 to 13/ per ton.

AUCTION SALES.

THE RAILWAY MARKET.

LOW PRICES STILL RULE.

The principal feature of Friday's sales at Redfern was the number of lots that were disposed of privately. The low prices that have been the rule for some time past evinced no sign of improvement; in fact, the prices of some commodities suffered a further depreciation.

Chaff had fallen another 5/ per ton, choice commanding 4/3 to 4/6, prime 3/9 to 4/2, good 3/ to 3/6, and medium 2/ per cwt. Lucerne hay was 6/8 per ton cheaper, prime small bales going for 3/, and medium for 2/3 and 2/4. The single lots of lucerne chaff and oaten and wheaten hay were disposed of, the former of medium quality bringing 2/8, and the latter 3/ per cwt. Prime dry yellow maize found a purchaser at from 2/7½ to 2/10, while prime chick wheat was knocked down for 3/2 to 3/3¾ per bushel. Potatoes had decreased in value another 10/ per ton, prime "Brownells" realising 5/ to 5/1, and good at from 4/1 to 4/8 per cwt.

Offerings were as follows:—Chaff, 29, 16 passed; lucerne hay, 6, passed 2; lucerne chaff, 1; oaten and wheaten hay, 1; maize, 2; wheat 3, passed 1; potatoes 6.

Further details are subjoined:—

FRUIT MARKETS.

CHEAPER PEARS.

PASSIONFRUIT PRACTICALLY UNSALEABLE.

Passionfruit were extremely dull of sale. Local supplies of fruit were light, but they were equal to the demand. Plums were slow. Local illiams' pears sold up to 6/. This was a reduced price because they came into competition with Victorian varieties, which were selling up to 7/. Elberta peaches were plentiful and slow of sale.

Current quotations were:—

Apples.—Local: Dessert, extra choice 11/ to 12/, choice 9/ to 10/, medium 5/ to 6/, small 3/ to 3/6; cooking, choice 4/6 to 5/, medium 3/ to 3/6, small 2/ to 2/6, jam lots 1/6.

Apricots.—Choice 5/ to 5/6, medium 3/6 to 4/ per half-case, small 3/6 to 5/ per gin-case. Victorian: 6/ to 8/ per case.

MINING.

COPPER STOCKS LEAD FIRMLY.

SILVER SHARES WITHOUT STRENGTH.

BULLFINCH GROUP MORE BUOYANT.

An unexpected feature of the market yesterday morning was a buoyant movement in copper stocks, with values in nearly every case on the up-grade. The puzzling circumstance about the affair, however, was the fact that this demand, as well as a better feeling on the London Stock Exchange on Thursday for Australian copper propositions, took place in the face of a drop in the price of the red metal.

The local movement appears to have been controlled by a strong London demand on Thursday for Mount Elliotts, for which there were buyers at £5/8/9, whilst the last sale in the Sydney Stock Exchange was at £5/2/6. Buyers locally sprang in the morning to sales at £5/6/6, and this seemed to start a movement which embraced improved sales in Chillagoe, Hampdens, Mount Morgans, and Queen Bee, with firm sales of Budgery, and an improved demand for Tolwong Mineral. Altogether the tone of the market in this division was the most buoyant that has ruled for some time past.

The position of affairs was not so satisfactory in the case of silver shares. Seeing that the price of spelter for a long time past has been as steady as British Consols, a decline of 10/ per ton, though small, had a depressing effect upon operators. The persistent drop in the value of Zinc Corporation, Amalgamated Zinc, and Sulphide Corporation during the past eight or nine days has been coincidental with the receipt from London of large selling orders of those stocks, and it has caused local operators to come to the conclusion that something is going to happen to spelter the other side of the world.

The decline of 10/ in spelter referred to in Thursday's issue is regarded as a straw that shows which way the wind is blowing. Certainly, with lead coming below £13, a drop in spelter to, say, £20 would make a serious hole in the profits of the metal-producing mines of Broken Hill, hence the weak feeling abroad. The business recorded in the morning disclosed weakness in British (old) and B.H. South Blocks. North Broken Hill repeated the late sale on a reduced plane, but B.H. Junction North firmed a shade. On the other hand, there was no strength in the buying offers for other silver shares.

A much better feeling existed for Bullfinch stocks, but the transactions recorded were on limited lines, holders standing out for better rates. Bullfinch Proprietary sold at improved rates, whilst Rowan's Find hardened a fraction, with inquiries for Great Chaffinch, Great Finch, Bullfinch South, and Bullrush Gold Estate. Tin shares were very quiet.

An extremely quiet market ruled during the afternoon in all sections. It will not be agreeable news to investors to learn by this issue that our cable advices fully bear out the statement made in Thursday's issue that there are signs of spelter weakening, our London correspondent stating that, on the week, it has receded from £24/1/3 to £23/8/9, a decline of 12/6 per ton; whilst lead has fallen 1/10½ in the same period.

MINING NOTES.

Mr. R. N. Kirk states he has received a telegram from the head office of the Broken Hill Proprietary Company stating that the company has declared its 155th dividend of 1/ per share, payable on February 18. The transfer books will close on Monday, February 6. This will bring the total amount distributed to the shareholders in dividends up to the sum of £9,752,000.

The Central Red White and Blue Company (Bendigo) has declared another dividend of 2/ per share.

The Araluen Central Gold-dredging Company reports that No. 1 dredge won 10oz 13dwt in 118 hours, and No. 2 dredge 20oz 18dwt in 86 hours. The Araluen Redbank dredge did not clean. She has been employed during the past fortnight clearing the paddock of the sand and silt brought into it by the late flood rains. It is now cleared away, so dredging will be resumed in the coming week.

THE GOLDEN WEST.

MORE RUMOURS CIRCULATED.

TREND OF THE BULLFINCH LODE.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

Regarding the Butterfly, this lease comprises only 5½ acres, but has a promising-looking quartz reef exposed for a length of some hundred feet. It is unofficially reported the Butterfly property will be increased in area at an early date by acquiring another lease, or portion of one, from the Kookynie Option Syndicate.

The balance of the purchase consideration in connection with the Bird in Hand lease was paid over yesterday to Delainey and Styles, by the representative of the Resella Option Syndicate. This lease is situated four miles north-west of Bullfinch.

The possible trend of the Bullfinch lodes still furnishes food for discussion. The Bullfinch East Company seem not anxious to help to solve the problem, at any rate, for the present, as little or no work has been done since the property was acquired by London. The Young Bullfinch, South Bullfinch, and Birthday Gift, on the south-east of the Bullfinch Proprietary, are all vigorously working at shaft sinking and costeening.

Reports of rich developments in the Chaffinch and Golden Butterfly mines were current here during the past few days, and these prompted the despatch of a few buying orders. Inquiries concerning the former company elicited the fact that only two men are working on the lease since the expiration of the general exemption.

MOUNT LYELL MINE.

LAUNCESTON, Friday.

The crosscut from No. 1 North drive, at the 1100ft level of North Mount Lyell, has reached the ore body, and regular production from this part of the level will be started at an early date.

WAIHI GOLD-MINING COMPANY.

AUCKLAND, Friday.

The London directors of the Waihi Gold-mining Company, acting on a special report on the mine furnished by their engineer, have decided to reduce the crushing to one thousand tons per day, and a quarterly dividend of two shillings.

PROPERTY MARKET.

During the few days on which no rain fell this week good business was transacted in real estate, but otherwise the market was unsettled. Inquiries are beginning to come forward for country land, and the demand is getting very keen for suburban properties, particularly for sites in the marine suburbs. The letting departments of the different firms have been busy, furnished houses near the watering-places being in strong request. A big inquiry is existing for city offices and shops. An important event next week will take place on Monday next, when the second subdivision of the Oxford-street resumption will be placed under the hammer; also the Devonshire-street reclamations.

Arthur Rickard and Co., Limited, report having sold the following:—Hilltop Estate, Balgowlah-Manly, lots 102, 50, 74, 75, 76, 103, 104, 49, 96, 97, 98, 30, 28, 29, 39, 120, 101, 64, £634; Factory Estate, Merrylands, lots 49, 50, 51, 63, 64, 65, £90; By-the-Water Estate, Como, lots 32, 115, 159, 160, 161, £210; Waterside Estate, Cabarita, lots 9, 11, section 1, £49; Waterview Estate, Longueville, lot 1, section 3, £107; Arabi Hills Estate, Enfield, lot 37, section 1, lots 20, 29, section 2, £170; Hillcrest Estate, Hurstville, lot 35, section 1, £35; Sorrento Estate, Woy Woy, lot 53 (camp block), £30; Emerald Hills Estate, Punchbowl, lot 24, 25, section 5, lot 38, section 1, lot 58, section 3, £184; Greenacre Park Estate, Bankstown, lot 77, section 4, £61; Tramway Estate, Cronulla, lots 90, 101, £52; Bayview Heights Estate, Burraneer Bay, lot 123 (camp block), £11; Spit-Manly Tram Estate, Balgowlah, lots 3, 4, 5, £195; Anderson Estate, Belmore, lot 42, £60; Dellwood Park Estate (first subdivision), Granville, lot 13, 14, section 2, £32; Renwick Park Estate, Abbotsford, lot 22, £53; Troy Estate, Campsie, lot 19, £32; Longfield Estate, Cabramatta, lots 48, 49, section 1, £14.

Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., report having sold by auction and private contract during the week the following properties:—Three allotments, Eskbank estate, Lithgow, £975; 14 allotments, second subdivision, North Manly estate, £620; three dwellings, Church-street, Newtown, £510; freehold property, Charles-street, Marrickville, £356; shop and dwelling, Botany-road, South Waterloo (in conjunction with Medcalf and Co.), £300; allotment, Northwood-road, Northwood, £100; allotment, Lymerston House and grounds subdivision, Tempe, £68; allotment, Lewers' subdivision, Freshwater, Manly, £125; allotment, Macdonald estate, Lakemba, £37; allotment, Dudley Park estate, Hurstville, £27.

Messrs. Hugh Duff and Co. report having sold by public auction and private treaty the following properties during the week:—Allotment, Cox's estate, Woy Woy, £178; cottage residence, Waverley, £650; block of land, Help-street, Chatswood, £175; seven lots, Peat's Ferry Township estate, £230; five lots, Castle Rock estate, £162; two allotments, Terrigal estate, Gosford, £36.

Messrs. H. W. Horning and Co. report having sold by auction 82 lots of the Deewhy Beach estate, Manly, at prices ranging from 15/ to 45/ per foot. Total sales, £3512/17/. Rain greatly interfered with the attendance, but nevertheless the above result was obtained.

FORTHCOMING SALES.

City.—Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., in conjunction with Messrs. Raine and Horne, will sell by auction, at the rooms, 98 Pitt-street, on Monday morning, at 11.30, the Devonshire-street resumption, which is a subdivision of the City Council lands. There will be about twelve large building sites offered. In addition to this area the second subdivision of the Oxford-street resumptions will be placed under the hammer, thus submitting a selection of splendid business sites.

Maroubra.—The Surf Bathers' estate will be offered at auction this afternoon by Messrs. Hardie and Gorman. The property contains a large number of week-end blocks.

Manly.—Murray's Roslyn Hall estate will be sold this afternoon by Arthur Rickard and Co., Ltd. The estate consists of ten big allotments, and a 12-roomed store and brick building.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Metropolitan racegoers will this afternoon have the choice of horse-racing at Randwick or pony and galloway racing at Victoria Park. Victorian sportsmen are catered for by the Geelong Racing Club; the summer meeting of the Tasmanian Racing Club will be brought to a close at Hobart; the Queensland Turf Club holds a reunion at Eagle Farm; and the Wallsend Jockey Club provides sport for northern sporting folk.

The postponement of the second day's racing of the A.J.C. Anniversary Meeting until Monday is responsible for the time for receiving nominations for the Moorefield February meeting being extended until the following day, when, at 4 p.m., entries close with the secretary, Mr. E. L. Johnson. The prize money for the half-dozen items on the card aggregates £650, of which £125 each goes to the Flying Handicap and February Handicap.

The Victoria Park Racing Club holds a pony and galloway race meeting this afternoon on its well-appointed course at Zetland, and a programme comprising seven events promises to furnish exciting and interesting sport. The customary means of transit by special trams to the racecourse gates and the ordinary service to Zetland will be in vogue, and the first race is timed for 2.15 p.m. The track is first-rate going, and due preparations have been made for the requirements of a large gathering.

The January meeting of the Wallsend Jockey Club takes place this afternoon, and metropolitan visitors can reach the scene of operations by the early trains for the north this morning.

The Positano horse Monobel has been taken in hand by R. E. Howie at Caulfield, and may be given a chance to earn distinction over the battens. He has proved a sad disappointment on the flat.

The Gossoon horse Gossine, who has been treated to a lengthy spell, has resumed work under the supervision of J. M'Cabe at Brisbane.

Training matters were very quiet at Randwick yesterday morning, when all the grass tracks were closed, but several horses were out and did useful work only. Among those that exercised were Something Irish, Nangar, Maltchester, Sylvander, Poi Dance, Lady Vanity, Royal Merv, Gigandra, Miss Luna, Grist, Maltster Maid, Torquay, Flavigny, Little Lill, La Pistol, Nancy Stair, Bel Sorel, Torula, Diabolo, Sir Simpleton, Leuron, Xanthippus, Exsul, Orea, Adjacent, True Spec, Idyia, Haze, Blue Robin, Posaune, Swagger, Bran Jan, Jinnee, Blue Gem, Crown Derby, Footlace, Black Prince, Quentin, Zilper, D.S.O., Hot Air, Poinard, Terragong, Marnghi, Beebeeru, Snowfoot, Marie Brook, and several others.

The following scratchings were notified yesterday in connection with the second day's racing of the A.J.C. Anniversary meeting:—Second Nursery Handicap: Good Cheer and Rippon. Flying Handicap: Nancy Stair, Queen Foote, and Terragong.

Yarraman Amateur Racing Club (April 17), Trunkey Jockey Club (February 25), and Warren Jockey Club (March 14 and 15) race meetings have been granted registration by the A.J.C.

Lady Pamela and Kate Barlass have been withdrawn from the A.J.C. Sires' Produce Stakes and Champagne Stakes, 1911.

The scratchings recorded yesterday in connection with the Rosehill January meeting were:—George Gunn out of the Three-year-old Handicap, Toni out of the Granville Stakes, Proportion out of the January Stakes, and Neirbo and Ayreline out of the Carlingford Mile.

Messrs. William Inglis and Son announce that they will, during the currency of the A.J.C. autumn meeting at Eastertide, hold their annual sale of thoroughbred yearlings at T. Payten's Newmarket stables, Lower Randwick, and that after the meeting the customary sale of brood mares, stallions, untried racing stock, and racehorses in training takes place. Intending vendors will do well to advise the auctioneers as early as possible in order to facilitate the issue of the catalogues.

Mr. Arthur Cutler had a severe loss on Thursday (wires our Bathurst correspondent) through the death of a valuable trotting mare. The mare was running in a paddock at Kelso, and indications of sickness manifesting themselves, attention was paid, but she died. It is thought that she accidentally got some poisoned wheat. The mare had thrown a beautiful foal by Huon Junior a week previously. Mr. Cutler estimates his loss at over £75.

The Pilgrim's Progress horse Sojourner, who (wires our Adelaide correspondent), among other races, won the V.R.C. Hotham Handicap and the Adelaide Cup, and ran fifth in Victory's Melbourne Cup, died on Thursday. He was for some considerable time located at Native Valley, where he did stud duty. He was owned by Mr. J. Mullins.

ROSEHILL RACING CLUB.

JANUARY MEETING.

An attractive bill-of-fare has been prepared by the Rosehill Racing Club for its January meeting, which this afternoon furnishes what promises to be a pleasant outing for patrons of the turf. The transit service includes special trains, starting from the Central Railway Station at 11.45 a.m. (horses and attendants), 12.7 and 12.23 (mixed), 12.44 (first), 12.51 (mixed), 12.56 (second), 1.6, 1.18, 1.22, and 1.35 p.m. (mixed). The 12.7, 12.51, and 1.6 p.m. trains stop at Strathfield to pick up passengers. Though a bit holding after the late rainfall, the track is sound going, and the surroundings are bright and fresh. As usual, the management have anticipated the requirements of visitors in every department.

The sport commences at 2.15 p.m. with the Three-year-old Handicap, which should bring about a good race among Royal Merv, Zilper, Strathroyale, and Lady Vanity, and the numbers may be hoisted for Zilper, Royal Merv, and Lady Vanity. Chaste, Mullengeen, and Fremebunda may get home as named in the Granville Stakes; while Grist, Vicomte, and Crown Derby may fill the places in the January Stakes. Torquay, Maltster Maid, and Miss Luna may claim the attention of the judge at the end of the contest for the Flying Welter; while Pan Out, Crown Derby, and Chevron may pass the post in that order for the Rosehill Handicap. The Carlingford Mile should provide an interesting finish among La Pistol, Bran Jan, and Vicomte, who may divide the honours. The programme is appended:—

Burtt, 60s; A. Chamberlain, 64s; W. Donnellan, 64s; E. Gaymer, 72s; C. Searle, 74s; A. Chapman, 74s; W. Whitehurst, 74s; H. Parkes, 75s; R. Callaghan, 90s; E. Kent, 90s; J. Jarvie, 100s; W. Whitehurst, 100s; L. Hardy, 110s; E. Westhoff, 123s; S. Bradley, 120s; V. Chernich, 128s; A. Dunk, 210s.

ANGLING.

THE ANGLERS' MONTH.

February may be regarded as the best month in the year for anglers of the estuaries, perch rivers, and ocean. This year the season has altered, and those who expect to catch particular species on old grounds may find their quarry not present. Making allowance for the heavy rainfall, however, men should not be surprised at anything unexpected on the coastal rivers, and in the bar-harbours and salt-water lakes that they empty into. Perch have been carried down by the floods, and the extra freshening such streams as the George's River, the Nepean, the Parramatta, and the Lane Cove have received will mean the sweeping away of aquatic growths that in many places threatened to do serious damage to the fishing.

Lake Macquarie and Tuggerah Lakes have received a useful drenching, which it is to be hoped will carry out some of the weed patches. Brisbane Water has also shown a fierce ebb tide at the Rip, a fact which a few recent visitors discovered afresh. During much of the wet weather of the past month the Rip out-tide has been so strong that very few boat parties could pull against it. A few who did not take the tide into consideration learned more in one hour about the tide work of such places than they had learned all their lives before. Fish are plentiful at the mouths of all these salt water lakes. Tuggerah is one of those contradictory grounds which yields fish to anglers during a southerly, but one has to go out to the Step for them, and the sea there makes inexperienced boat fishermen seasick.

The Australasian amateur championship figures put up for distance-casting with trout rod and fly by Dr. H. L. Maitland last winter were not touched by any of the competitors in the British Amateur Fly and Bait Casting Club competition at Hendon on December 17 last. The best cast was achieved by Mr. D. E. Campbell Muir, who, limited to two minutes, covered 98ft. Possibly had each competitor been allowed three or four minutes the figures would have been better. If the wind blew hard, and a man got a tangle, or lost a fly, he would have no hope of reaching Dr. Maitland's figures of 113ft 3in.

The sea-channel of Narrabeen Lake has been so deeply cut, and the supply of water from the watershed so copious, that unless an unprecedented series of heavy seas come to bank up the ocean beach sand, the entrance will remain open for at least a month. It is recorded that it was open for three months several years ago, and that the fishing then was better than it had ever been. Messrs. J. W. Atkin, F. Le Clerc, and G. and J. Cormack, who frequently fish the lake, advise that the best time to fish at the mouth is during the first hour of the incoming tide, and the first hour of the ebb.

Sea-fishermen may note the existence of trevally shoals, king-fish, and jew-fish close to the various headlands. Sportsmen at North Head have had exciting fishing lately.

Mick Simmons, Ltd., report that a party at Tweed Heads caught 700 whiting and tarwhine in one outing. This is quite possible, as a result of the spate in the Tweed.

Brief Mention.—Messrs. Reynolds, Cormack, Atkin, and others, at Narrabeen, good takes of whiting and sand mullet. Mr. S. White, kingfish at Port Hacking. Mr. Serbutt, at Port Hacking, reports several catches of whiting and bream. Mr. R. J. H. Jenkins, at Cape Three Points, good schnappering. Messrs. Cruickshanks, Dyson, Gordon, and others, at Jerusalem Bay, jewfish, schnapper, and bream. Blackfish at Watson's Bay, Parsley Bay, and Cabbage Tree. Messrs. Tombs and Whitehead, at Green Flats (North Head), a fine lot of trevally and bream. Mr. M. Moss, out with a party of 25 in Couche's launch, had his usual satisfactory sport. This party secured a good haul of red-fish and flathead in spite of a rough sea and four seasick passengers. Messrs. Langford, Thomas, Draper, and Wheeler, at Woy Woy, 36 bream, whiting, and flounder. Mr. Priestman at Cronulla on Tuesday, 21 whiting up to 1¼lb. Messrs. C. Wall and J. Jackson, at Pretty Beach, Woy Woy, 2½ dozen flathead and whiting, largest flathead 8½lb. Messrs. A. Spence and A. Pauley, in a motor launch, off The Colours, a haul of flathead and squire. Messrs. W. Hampson, Croft, and party, off Bottle and Glass, a night haul of black-bream and flathead. Plenty of whiting are being caught from all the ocean beaches.

BOXING.

DOUGLAS v SULLIVAN.

At the Stadium to-night Arthur Douglas, of South Africa, will meet Sid Sullivan, of Sydney, in a 20-round contest. This is the first occasion on which this pair have met, and as there will not be more than a few pounds difference in their weights, a first-rate contest should result. The men will be in the ring at 8.30.

SMITH v HART.

Les Smith, of Redfern, and H. Hart, of Newtown, will box the best of 20 rounds at the Gaiety Athletic Club to-night. The pair contested the final of the recent lightweight tournament, and proved a very evenly-matched pair. Sporting and dramatic pictures will be screened prior to the contest.

NEW ZEALAND HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Friday.

Napier advices state that the fight for the heavyweight championship of New Zealand, between Rudd and Blackmore, took place at Hastings. After 2 minutes 55 seconds Blackmore went down. Rudd struck him, and the referee awarded the fight to Blackmore on a foul.

THE MONTEFIORE JEWISH HOME.

The "Sir Moses Montefiore Jewish Home" has reached its 21st anniversary in Sydney, and the report for the year 1910 shows a satisfactory amount of work done. The number of inmates is 4 men and 4 women, and applicants have been afforded temporary shelter. Provisions, fuel, salaries, etc., have increased the cost of maintenance at a rate of 1s 9d per diem for each inmate. Two hundred applicants have been relieved at the weekly rota, and over £334 was distributed. Infirmary wards, at a probable cost of £350, have been added to the Home. The annual ball in aid of the funds was held last June at the City Town Hall, and resulted in a sum of £500, including a special donation of £25, while two other donations of £100 each were received on separate occasions.

UNITED DENTAL HOSPITAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Replying to Professor Anderson Stuart's letter of January 27, we, as honorary dental surgeons to the above institution, take exception to the Professor's remarks.

Firstly.—Lack of support to the hospital by the dental profession. This is not due to a low ethical standard, but to the chaotic condition of affairs in regard to the management of the hospital.

Professor Stuart would have the public believe that the dental profession is centuries behind the medical profession in regard to philanthropic zeal; in short, we are nothing less than callous, unsympathetic individuals where the suffering public is concerned. We happen, however, in many cases, to be drawn from the same families, to have had similar environment, to fathers, brothers, or relatives in the medical profession, and we claim that the dental profession inherently have the same sympathy towards the necessitous poor. The correct reason for the paucity of honoraries is to be found rather in the fact that the committee is absolutely out of touch with the hospital. They are not fussy about accepting any little kudos attaching to the publication of their names as hon. dental surgeons, but they fail to put in an appearance in this capacity, which, to say the least of it, is anything but a good example to the rank and file of the staff.

Secondly.—The committee's attention has frequently been called to the lack of system and proper supervision in the work of the institution, but with very little result. Hence the present reaction, so lightly disposed of by Professor Stuart in his letter as dissensions "of quite young people."

But we would remind Prof. Stuart that these "quite young people" are not without round professional training. If indeed they are all "quite young," and have had the benefit in many cases of the best hospital experience obtainable. We cannot, therefore, understand why Prof. Stuart should resort to ridicule, instead of answering the charges direct, especially when he himself admits that he is not a practical dentist.

Thirdly.—In the matter of unfounded statements. These were substantiated by an ex superintendent of the hospital and honorary dental surgeons. The fact of some of these men being subscribers for the first time was due to a concerted effort to uplift the institution, and not to damage it as imputed by Professor Stuart. Apparently they are in good company as far as recent subscribers are concerned, for the name of Professor Stuart is not included in the subscription list attached to the annual reports of the years ending December 31, 1907, 1908, or 1909. We are, etc.,

ERNEST DECK,
ARTHUR L. LYELL.

27th Jan.

By a new regulation of the Army Council commanding officers may issue fresh pork instead of fresh beef to the troops once a week from October 1 to March 31, provided there be no extra expense to the public. The pork, which will be subject to strict inspection, is confined to that bred and killed in the United Kingdom.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"Our Miss Gibbs" enters this evening upon a new week with its 127th performance at the Theatre Royal. Interest in the new Gaiety piece is admirably sustained by the Royal Comic Opera Company, chiefly by the comic misadventures surrounding the hunt for the Ascot Cup, in which Messrs. Bertie Wright, Leslie Holland, and Fred. Leslie are concerned, and also by a variety of vivacious songs, amongst which the favourite numbers seem to be "Arms and the Man," by Miss Alma Barber, and "The Little Farm," duet by Miss Blanche Browne and Mr. Wright. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

CRITERION THEATRE.

"Tom Jones" opens up a vista of the long ago, when the fox-hunting squire and the barber-surgeon still figured in the rustic life of old England, and all the old-world scenes of the period are prettily placed before the audience at the Criterion Theatre. Edward German's charming music, with its country dance-rhythms and melodies of simple grace, delights the ear, and Miss Winifred O'Connor in the dainty song "Dream o' Day, Jill," and Miss Gertrude Gilliam in the dashing "Green Ribbon," join with Messrs. Harold Thorley, Cromwell, and Walls in a successful representation. The second matinee will be given on Wednesday.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

At her Majesty's Theatre the J. C. Williamson Dramatic Company is still attracting consistently large audiences with "The Whip," which, on its English record, should have a long run before it. At Drury Lane "The Whip" was carried right on through last year to 380 performances, when it made way for the annual pantomime, and as soon as the Christmas piece has reached its limit, the popular melodrama will again be revived. The rescue of the favourite from the horse-box in the cutting, and the collision with the locomotive, which then emerges from the tunnel, always win approval. There will be the usual matinee on Wednesday.

PALACE THEATRE.

The final matinee of "The Girl from Rector's" is announced for next Wednesday, after which only three more performances can be given of this uproariously diverting musical farce. On Saturday next Mr. Hugh Ward will produce "Seven Days," a new American farce the stage history of which is referred to in our "Music and Drama" column. The cast will include:—James Wilson, Mr. Ward; Dallas Brown, Mr. Mallalieu; Tom Harbinson, Mr. Wy Reham; Officer Flanigan, Mr. Greig; Burglar M'Girk, Mr. Wallace; Hobbs, Mr. Hardinge; Kit MacNair, Miss Palotta; Bella Knowles, Miss Baxter; Ann Brown, Miss Chetwynd; Aunt Selina, Miss Ghiloni. The plan will open at Elvy's on Monday.

MR. ALLAN HAMILTON'S ATTRACTIONS.

The Hamilton, Plimmer, and Denniston Company will shortly conclude a successful twenty weeks' tour of New Zealand, and on March 11 will open a twenty-two nights' season at the Palace Theatre in Somerset Maugham's comedy "Smith," which will then be produced for the first time in Australia. This combination will open at His Majesty's Theatre, Perth, on Easter Saturday.

Allan Hamilton's new dramatic company, with Mr. Conway Wingfield as leading man, and a new leading lady, now en route from England, will commence a tour of the Commonwealth at the Princess Theatre, Melbourne, on March 4, when "Why Men Love Women" will be the initial production.

"The Message from Mars" Company, headed by Mr. Gregan MacMahon, has passed through the various centres of this State towards Queensland, and will this evening open at His Majesty's Theatre, Brisbane, prior to a far northern tour.

In readiness for European novelties, the first of which will be introduced in September, Mr. Hamilton has secured long leases of the Palace Theatre during the present year and 1912.

MISS NELLIE SETWART'S TOUR.

Miss Nellie Stewart arrived in Sydney yesterday by the Wimmera from New Zealand. The popular actress is looking remarkably well, and bears no trace of the fatiguing tour of the one and two nights' stands of the Dominion with "Sweet Nell of Old Drury." This departure has been to her both an interesting and a profitable experiment. It took Miss Stewart and her company to many places off the beaten track followed by the first-class theatrical attractions. Everywhere the welcome accorded was apparently by the whole population, for the local halls were booked out in every instance. On February 3 the star actress will open the new theatre at Hobart with Paul Kester's romantic historical drama. Miss Stewart will then enter upon a tour, lasting until August, which will embrace the country centres of Tasmania, Victoria, New South Wales, and Queensland, in all of which "Sweet Nell of Old Drury" will be staged.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

This afternoon and evening at the Tivoli Theatre Mr. Harry Rickards will introduce direct from the London Hippodrome Wild, Willie, and West, comedy acrobats known as "The Three Bounding Navvies." Another new attraction will be Miss Ethel Loftus, a young English comedienne, and there will also be the first appearance of Lorna and Toots Pounds, "mimetic artists." Star turns already popular will be Mr. Julian Rose in "Levinsky at the Wedding," the six American dancers (five farewell nights), the Blessings, Frank Harwood, Mlle. Yetta, the Harmonious Huxhams, and other favourite artists.

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

At the National Amphitheatre, both at the matinee and in the evening, new artists of importance will join Mr. James Brennan's combination. There will be Harland and Rollison, eccentric comedy musicians and concertina players from London, and Geo. Harris and Edythe Vernon, a smart comedy duo from America. The famous Staig troupe of "daredevil cyclists" will introduce a new act, "Motoring on the Devil's Table," the sensational effect being due to the fact that the said table is suspended in midair at a slant of 45 degrees. The full strength of the company will appear, and there will be some of the latest features by the Miorama.

GLACIARIUM.—WEST'S PICTURES.

At the Glaciarium, where Mr. T. J. West notifies a children's holiday matinee to-day, the central attraction of the new programme will be "One Thousand Miles of Europe in a Motor Car," with the "Abbey of Pavia," the dramatic stories of "Simple Charity," "The Rough Rider's Romance," "Henry the Eighth and Catherine Howard," and "A Modern Knight Errant." The topical "Gaumont" subjects are popular, as also such comic incidents as "Papa's First Outing." Entries are now being received for the "Sirens of the Surf" competition. Mr. L. De Groen's Orchestra will play.

LYCEUM.—SPENCER'S THEATRESCOPE.

At the Lyceum, both afternoon and evening, Mr. Chas. Spencer's Theatrescope Company will present the latest star films, including the dramatic stories entitled "The City of Her Dreams," "Simple Charity," "An Incident in the Life of Henry VIII.," the educational series "A Day on a Poultry Farm," and "A Chameleon," and such comic episodes as "Foolshead Takes Precautions," and "The Valet's Vindication." The chronomegophone will be shown (new series on Monday). In Tuesday's complete change, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" will be included.

MR. N. J. GEHDE'S CONCERT.

To-morrow afternoon Mr. N. J. Gehde will submit an attractive sacred and miscellaneous programme of music at the Town Hall, when the assisting artists will be Misses Elsie Peerless, Ivy Allen, Ella Abbott, Messrs. M. Chenoweth, Roy Allen, E. J. Davidson, C. Harrison White, A. Torzillo, and the Angelus Choir.

THE BENTLEY-ANCELON RECITALS.

Messrs. Bentley and Ancelon, of the Walter Bentley College of Elocution and Dramatic Art, will hold their next costume recital on the third Thursday of next month, February 16, in the St. James's Hall.

BIJOU THEATRE PICTURES.

There will be a change of programme to-night, and a matinee to-morrow, at the Bijou Theatre, where the dramatic stories of "The Renunciation" and "Silvercloud's Sacrifice" have assisted to draw large audiences.

THE COLONIAL THEATRE.

At the Colonial Theatre, Mr. J. D. Williams gives continuous entertainments from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m., with an attractive list of the latest pictures, including the Indian romance of "Silvercloud's Sacrifice," "False Love and True," and many other subjects.

THE EMPIRE THEATRE.

At the Empire Theatre, the new programme will comprise "The House of the Seven Gables," "Simple Charity," "Beautiful Scarboro'," the "Cowboy's Mother-in-law," and variety turns by favourite artists.

COLISEUM THEATRE.

The new Coliseum Theatre, at Ridge-street, North Sydney, which was successfully opened on Thursday night, will present the latest star films every evening under comfortable conditions, with matinees to-day and on Wednesday.

THE OLYMPIA THEATRE.

At the Olympia Theatre there will be many changes in a programme which has included "Henry VIII. and Catherine Howard," "A Visit to a Poultry Farm," "The Valet's Vindication," and Elizabeth's Avoirdupois."

SYDNEY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

The prospectus of the Sydney Symphony Orchestra for the season 1911 has now been issued, and is obtainable from all the leading music warehouses. A new series of programmes has been arranged, and many works new to Australia will be introduced under the conductorship of Mr. Joseph Bradley. The success achieved last season has induced the management to extend the number of concerts from four to six, the chief of which will be held in conjunction with the world-famed Sheffield Choir. An important notice to intending subscribers appears in our advertising columns. Messrs. Blandford Wright and George Plummer are again the hon. secretaries.

MISS ELSIE ROBERTS'S RECITAL.

Miss Elsie Una Roberts, a pupil of Mr. Ernest Truman, will give a piano recital in the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Thursday, February 16. An attractive programme has been arranged, and leading artists will assist.

ELITE SKATING RINK.

At the Elite Skating Rink, King-street, Newtown, three skating sessions are held daily, with music. Entries close next Saturday for the half-mile open handicap to be run on February 8. The date of the poster carnival is March 1.

THE MAORI VILLAGE.

Iwa, the Maori songstress, continues to be one of the leading attractions of the Maori Village at Clontarf. This week new hakas and poi dances will be introduced. A Maori regatta will be held off Clontarf to-day, when Harry Pearce, the Australian champion, will compete in Maori canoes, and afterwards endeavour to lower the mile record. Well-known lady oarsmen will take part against the Maori girls, and altogether an interesting programme has been arranged.

On Sunday Maggie Papakura and her people will be at home as usual, when the band will play and the choir will sing.

CHORAL ASSOCIATION OF N.S.W.

Early last month the Choral Association of New South Wales was formed under that title for the purpose of arranging Eisteddfods and generally fostering the art of music. The membership consists of members of affiliated choirs, each choir being entitled to send the conductor and two delegates to the management, and an additional one for every 25 members in excess of 50. So far, about 12 choirs have joined the new association, which proposes to organise an Eisteddfod in Sydney for the end of May. All information in regard thereto will be found available, as notified in another column.

MISS WANDA RADFORD.

Mr. R. Radford, who has been manager of the A.B.C., Pitt-street, for a number of years, is leaving to-day by the Gneisenau for Paris to take charge of his daughter, Wanda's affairs for the London syndicate. It is his intention to reside in Paris for some years, as the young artist has entered the Conservatoire there.

TOWN HALL ORGAN RECITAL.

The City Organist, Mr. Ernest Truman, will give a "5th" "Wagner" recital this evening at 8 o'clock. The items selected are:—"Vorspiel" ("Die Meistersinger"); duet, Elsa and Lohengrin ("Lohengrin"); "Spinning Chorus and Legend" ("The Flying Dutchman"); "Vorspiel" ("Parsifal"); Walther's "Preislied" ("Die Meistersinger"); Introduction, Act 3, "Tannhauser;" "The Entrance of the Gods to Valhalla" ("Das Rheingold").

DENTAL INSTITUTE.

WAITING HIS TURN.

A correspondent, Mr. Daniel Brodie, referring to the recent criticism of the Dental Institute in the "Herald" of the 24th, complains that, having had 11 teeth extracted on July 4 and 7, 1908, he has been waiting to be attended to by the institute, but he has not yet received attention. He wrote repeatedly to the superintendent, Mr. F. G. Hardwick, and also called several times in person, requesting that his case might be attended to, as he was 70 years of age, but always received the reply that, as there were hundreds of applicants in similar circumstances, he would simply have to wait his turn, which was not yet come.

SUPPOSED DROWNING.

NO BOATS FOR POLICE.

MURWILLUMBAH, Friday.

A young man named Boyd Fowler is supposed to have been drowned at Dunbible this morning. Fowler left the railway camp riding and later his horse was found near the fence in a flooded gully leading into the creek.

It is supposed that Fowler was riding along the flooded road, and missed the culvert, and, getting into difficulties, became unseated. The police are unable to make a search for the body, owing to the absence of boats and the impossibility of reaching the locality, as there is a heavy flood in the Dunbible district.

ATTACKED BY A HORSE.

COLLARENDABRI, Friday.

A lad, 15 years of age, eldest son of Mr. Thomas Rolls, of Collymongle, was savagely attacked by a young horse he was holding. The horse struck him with his fore feet, knocking him down, and when picked up he was unconscious. His left arm was shattered, pieces of the bone sticking through the skin in several places. The lad was brought into town. His medical attendant advised his removal to Sydney. It is thought it will be necessary to amputate his arm.

WIRELESS TO NEW ZEALAND.

UNION STEAMERS TO BE FITTED.

Australia will, in the course of a little time, be in communication, not only daily, but to all practical purposes hourly, with New Zealand by means of wireless telegraphy.

The announcement by Sir Joseph Ward, published yesterday, that New Zealand was to be equipped with two high-power and five low-power stations has, it seems, been anticipated by the Union Steamship Company. For some time this company has had in train a scheme for fitting up its passenger steamers with this necessary adjunct to the already up-to-date conveniences which it provides for ocean travelling. Usually among the first to adopt modern methods, the company has applied wireless telegraphy to its steamers running between Sydney and Vancouver—the Makura and Moana. Wireless installation has also been fitted up on the Marama, which for the time being is off the Canadian route, and running between Sydney and New Zealand ports. But the introduction of oversea ethergrams, in so far as the company's regular service between Sydney and New Zealand is concerned, is now only about to be established.

It was officially announced yesterday that a scheme to have all the passenger liners fitted up with wireless installation was already in train, and that before very long it would be given practical application. Not only will this be a great boon to the travelling public, as proved by the installation on the Huddart, Parker liner Ulimaroa), but it will give Australia and New Zealand a means of direct communication other than that now provided by cable. With the high-power land stations at Doubtless Bay and the Bluff, and steamers always on the water, messages might be exchanged effectively at all times.

BAND ASSOCIATION OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

CHAMPIONSHIP CONTESTS.

The annual band contests promoted by the Band Association of N.S.W. were advanced another stage at the Sydney Sports Ground, Moore Park, last night. Great interest centred round the competitions, as they carried with them the championship of Australia and the Besson Cup. The weather conditions were almost faultless, and as a result there was a large attendance. No less than nine country and metropolitan bands competed.

The N.S.W. Government Tramways Band was first into the rotunda to play the test piece, "Samson and Delilah" (St. Saens), but were rather unfortunate when half-way through, owing to the wind blowing one of the stands over. The tempos were fair, and the performance as a whole was fairly well balanced. In the solos the soprano cornet was rather weak, and the basses were out in the second movement.

The performance of the Metropolitan Band was of a very high standard, although the last movement, which is set very high, at times appeared too much for the cornets. The soprano, however, shone out in the solos. In the moderato movement with semiquaver accompaniment the horns and second cornets were slightly crossed, but not to any appreciable extent. The tempos and light and shade were very fair.

The Newcastle City Band played up to their reputation. The ensemble throughout was almost faultless. Some of the tempos, according to the metronome, were rather on the slow side, but the interpretation apart from that was beautiful. The soloists in each movement were fine, and the basses showed great unanimity. The performers were loudly applauded on leaving the arena.

For a new band, Kurri Kurri gave a creditable performance. The basses were good, but in the florid passages the cornets appeared to be overtaxed. Little fault could be found with the interpretation and the tempos.

Broken Hill A.M.A., winners of the "B" grade competition on the previous evening, gave a very good performance. A slight unevenness between some of the instruments was noticeable in some of the subdued passages, the cornet and trombone being notoriously weak in this respect.

The performance of the Orange Town Band was amongst the best of the evening. They opened up rather roughly, but, on settling down, rendered the piece with admirable sympathy. The duet for cornet and trombone was one of the features of the performance. Rockdale Municipal Band, which followed, gave a very moderate performance. The soprano cadenza was essayed on a B Flat instrument, with the result that the solo failed.

The St. George District Band's performance failed in the cornet and semi-quaver passages.

The adjudicator (Mr. E. Coade) placed the bands in the following order:—

Manly Borough Band (conductor, J. Pheloung), 108 points.

Newcastle City Band (conductor, F. J. Healey), 101 points.

Metropolitan Band (conductor, J. Palmer), 99 points.

Kurri Kurri Band (conductor, G. Nichols), 94 points.

St. George District Band (conductor, J. S. Watson), 91 points.

Broken Hill A.M.A. Band (conductor, E. Summerton), 91 points.

N.S.W. Tramways Band (conductor, G. O'Shea), 87 points.

Orange Town Band (conductor, O. Johnson), 86 points.

Rockdale Municipal Band (conductor, J. C. Walker), 82 points.

The contest will be concluded to-night, when the final of the championship will be played.

The Sydney Professional Band, of 40 performers, under Mr. Alfred O'Brien's baton, will play a fine programme of music in Hyde Park on Sunday evening at 8.30, as a compliment to the Broken Hill, Corrimal, Peak Hill, Newcastle, and other visiting amateur bands.

The story is told that at the last general election Cardinal Logue spoiled his voting paper. He made a special journey to Dundalk to vote for Mr. Healy. The Cardinal, when signing his name, always makes the episcopal cross, which he follows with his initials. We are all the slaves of habit, and the Cardinal followed his habit. In going through the voting papers, the scrutineers came across one which bore the following inscription: "+M.C.L."

KIAMA SHOW.

KIAMA, Friday.

Kiama show was concluded to-day, when lovely weather prevailed, after the boisterous conditions of the previous day. Notwithstanding the sloppy conditions of the ground generally, there was a good attendance, although considerably less than last year. General disappointment was expressed on account of the grand parade of the champion cattle having to be omitted. This is the principal event at Kiama shows, and no doubt the fact of no cattle being present on the ground tended to lessen the attendance to a considerable extent. Although the sun was shining brightly the greater part of the day, the show ring, after a few hours, was chopped up like a cowyard, and in the high jump and hunters' contest the riders took a great risk in negotiating the hurdles. Fortunately, notwithstanding a number of slips on the part of the horses, there were no accidents to record. O'Connor Bros.' Bay Eagle was successful in carrying off the high jump, with 6ft, the 14-stone hackney, and the hunting contest. The conditions of the last-named event were that the hunters had to leap six fences not less than 4ft high, the exhibitors to reside within the boundaries of the Illawarra Federal division. O'Connor Bros. were also successful with Benlock in the maiden high jump and maiden hunter. A beautifully-actioned grey hackney, Prince, by Shah-en-Shah, owned by Mr. John Love, of Kiama, was unbeaten in all the hackney classes.

Clarke.

BUILDING DISPUTE.

POSITION IN QUEENSLAND.

LABOURERS STILL ON STRIKE.

BRISBANE, Thursday.

The Builders Labourers' Union held a meeting to-night, at which the secretary read a wire received from Mr. Jones, representative at the conference, asking that the branch should pass a resolution to authorise him in writing to sign on its behalf the agreement arrived at by conference. This was carried. A further motion that members of the union should not return to work until the agreement had been signed was also carried.

PAINTERS' WAGES.

BRISBANE, Thursday.

At the annual meeting of the Master Painters' and Decorators' Association to-night, it was stated that before the wages board award came into force the men asked for 1s a day extra to men on swinging stage work. The masters would not entertain the request, and the men then notified that stage work would not be done after January 1 last, unless the request was acceded to. The committee in their report to-night congratulated members on resisting what was considered to be an unjust demand.

POSTAL CONFERENCE.

GRADING OF TELEGRAPHISTS.

HOBART, Thursday.

The sittings of the Postal Conference were continued at the Customs-house to-day, under the presidency of the Postmaster-General, Mr. Josiah Thomas. When seen at the close of the sitting Mr. Thomas said the Deputy Postmasters-General unanimously expressed the opinion that the proportional grading of telegraphists should be abolished. In view of the decision of the conference, Mr. Thomas said he felt it only reasonable that a scheme in substitution should be put forward. He had therefore asked the Deputy Postmasters-General to prepare such a scheme, and they were now engaged upon its consideration. When their deliberations were completed their suggested scheme would be submitted to the Public Service Commissioner, who for some time had been considering the question and collecting information which would enable him to come to a final decision on the matter.

The conference will resume its sittings to-morrow.

THE CHANNEL SWIM.

Mr. T. Heaton, the Liverpool swimmer, after being in the water for 16 hours and getting to within four miles and a half of the French coast, was compelled to abandon the attempt to swim the Channel. Late in the night (reports a London journal) he showed signs of weakness, and was attacked with sea sickness, but he continued swimming until 1.21 a.m., when he was compelled to leave the water. Heaton entered the water from the Shakspeare Beach, Dover, at 9.20 on the morning of September 1, after being covered from head to foot with lard. He struck out with his side stroke, and got well away. The tug Champion accompanied the swimmer, on board of which were his wife, his father, Burgess, and Weidman. On clearing the Admiralty pier the flood tide took him up Channel quickly, and after one hour's swimming he was two miles off the South Foreland, and was making good headway. Just after 11 o'clock Mr. W. H. Walton entered the water, and 20 minutes later Heaton was reckoned to be three and a half miles on his direct course. Several large steamers passed close by, and made things very uncomfortable for the swimmer. The temperature of the water had dropped from 64 to 62. The water about this time became choppy. Heaton, however, continued to make good headway, and at 12.20 he had covered nearly five miles. He had got well clear of the South Sand Head lightship. The incoming Ostend boats passed him about half-past 2, and he was then about seven miles out. The flood tide having finished, the water then got a little calmer. By 3.30 he was reckoned to be eight and a half miles on his journey, and the ebb tide was now setting in, which took Heaton down Channel. By half-past 4 he had got over the half-way line, and was in a good position. Darkness came on about 7.30, but the swimmer pluckily kept on. Towards midnight he showed signs of weakness. The weather was somewhat cold, and although Heaton did his utmost to continue he found himself beaten. Burgess helped the swimmer into the boat, and Dover was reached about 4 o'clock next morning. The swim was the finest seen for the last year or two.

Two girls, aged 6 and 5 years respectively, the daughters of English parents residing in Strathcona, Alberta, travelled recently all the way from England unattended. They were put on the train at Sheffield with a broad leather belt surrounding the waist of each, with painted letters reading, "To Mr. M—— H——, Strathcona, Alberta, per s.s. Empress of Britain, care of Canadian Pacific Railway." The little pilgrims arrived safely with a cartload of toys given them by the passengers.

Mr. J. Garstang has discovered at the buried city of Meroe, on the Nile, a palace, a bathroom in perfect preservation, the walls of an acropolis, quays, and a harbour. A bronze head with inlaid eyes, larger than life—an excellent piece of Greek art—was also unearthed.

AUSTRALIA'S DUTY.

WHILST THE NATIONS ARE ARMING.

DEFENCE MINISTER'S APPEAL.

MUDGEE, Thursday.

Senator Pearce (Minister for Defence) was present at a smoke concert held last night in connection with the annual matches of the Mudgee Rifle Association. Replying to the toast of his health, he said he was pleased to see the fine spirit of enthusiasm which riflemen and others had been putting into their rifle meeting. The majority of the men were animated with a desire to make themselves better rifle shots in case their services would be needed at any future time. Many people said there was no real necessity for a defence force. They considered such a thing a relic of ancient barbarism, and that there should be international arbitration. The nations had not yet reached that stage, and he was doubtful whether they would submit certain issues to peaceable arbitration. As a matter of fact, he was certain that on some questions even Australia would not be prepared to arbitrate; and unless they were prepared to say they were ready and willing to submit every question to a third party international arbitration could not be brought about. Other countries were going in for universal conscription. They were arming to the teeth; they were drilling their millions, making their war materials, charging their cartridges, filling their shells, and stocking their magazines to the doors. Australia would be foolish to sit down and pass nicely-worded resolutions about international arbitration while the other fellow was busily engaged sharpening his sword. (Hear, hear.)

EIGHT DAYS' SAIL.

Australians realised the priceless boon that had been passed on to them. A magnificent heritage had been given to them without a shot being fired in anger and without the dispossession by force of any other nation. Australians rested for 100 years with their priceless heritage in their hands, unmolested by any devastating war; but what guarantee had Australians that that great privilege was going to be theirs for ever? Why should Australia, of all peoples of the earth, be exempt from the price nations had to pay for being worth conquering? Teeming countries were within eight days' sail of Australia, and their vast populations were on the verge of subsistence. Other nations were prepared to bar the advance of these hordes with a front of steel, but Australia lay open and almost unoccupied. When Australians thought over these questions did they not see the importance of having a defence scheme? (Hear, hear.) No country ever retained its position as a nation unless it was prepared to sacrifice individually its money, time, and leisure. (Hear, hear.) All these demands were being made on Australia to-day, and must be made on Australia in the future. The sooner the Australian who growled and grumbled at the price he had to pay left these shores the better it would be for himself and for everyone else. (Applause.)

ARMY AND NAVY.

Two schemes—naval and military—were being inaugurated. The military scheme was now practically commencing, and it only remained for the officers in charge to loyally carry it into effect to make it a success. It remained also for parents, particularly for parents of lads who were called upon to register, to say that scheme was going to be a success by giving their hearty co-operation and support. The Empire's naval policy was the policy that Australia required. Australians wanted a navy maintained and manned by Australians to collaborate with the home fleet and defend Australian shores should occasion arise. On that day in Sydney the hammers were clanging on the plates and bolts of the first of those armed boats. The Federal Government intended to give Australia an opportunity to do something. A protected cruiser and three destroyers would be constructed in Australia. But they had something more to do than merely build ships. Australians had to man them. Some said that Australians could not be persuaded to volunteer to man the ships. Shame on the person who said that. As Australia had responded for military purposes, so would Australia respond to the call to man the ships of war. (Applause.)

He wished to say to members of rifle clubs that he intended to make the department of more use to the riflemen of Australia than it had hitherto been. (Hear, hear.) There were many things that caused friction in regard to management of rifle clubs, and also in regard to rifle ranges. The riflemen were on paper said to be reserves for the fighting line. In actual practice, however, he believed they were not, because the riflemen at present were neither clothed nor uniformed. He proposed that riflemen should be drilled, and supplied with uniforms and side-arms by the Government. They could then call their riflemen a real reserve.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

RAILWAY PROPOSALS.

PERTH, Thursday.

In the Assembly this afternoon the University Bill passed the third reading.

The Minister for Works, Mr. Daglish, moved the second reading of the Wongan Hills to Mullewa Railway Bill. This proposed line is 190 miles long, and is estimated to cost £328,000. Mr. Daglish said it would serve 1,717,000 acres of land within 15 miles on either side, as well as 428,000 acres of the Midland Railway Company's land. The Midland Company had petitioned against the proposed line, urging that the Government had no right to take from the company's railway the traffic of the Murchison goldfields. The Minister said the company's claim was not sound, as when it secured the right to build its line the Murchison goldfields were not in existence.

The Minister for Mines (Mr. Gregory), replying to a question in the Assembly, said the inspection and report on the proposed railway from Southern Cross to Marvel Loch would be made at an early date, and that a supply of fresh water for domestic purposes at Marvel Loch was being arranged for.

The Colonial Secretary stated in the Legislative Council that a pipe line recently laid down from Southern Cross to Bullfinch, at a cost of £7100, could supply 6000 gallons daily at both Bullfinch and Corinthian, or 10,000 gallons at Bullfinch only. The consumption at Bullfinch is 2500 gallons daily, and the price charged 5s per 100 gallons.

[The above appeared in our second edition of yesterday.]

2,773,986 DAYS LOST BY STRIKES.

Labour disputes last year numbered 436, and affected 300,819 workpeople, the total stoppage of work amounting to 2,773,986 days, or just over 9 days a head. This is the main feature of the annual report on strikes and lock-outs issued by the Board of Trade. It is a noteworthy fact, however (states a London journal), that the disputes affecting coal-miners, which were largely due to the introduction of the Dear Coal Act, accounted for 272,754 workpeople and 2,229,487 working days. This was an increase of nearly 200,000 miners in the number affected by disputes as compared with the previous year, and had it not been for this the year would have been one of the best on record. Emphasis is laid on the steady increase which is taking place in the number of disputes settled by conciliation. "Methods of conciliation and arbitration," says the report, "continue to be more and more generally employed, the number of disputes settled by these means in 1909 being the highest on record." In the past 10 years 385 disputes affecting 320,893 workpeople have been settled by conciliation. The progress which has been made in this direction is indicated in the following figures:—

	1908.	1909.
Workpeople affected by disputes	188,535	300,819
Workpeople affected by disputes settled by conciliation	13,501	92,372

Taking the whole of the disputes of the year it is found that the results were as follow:—

Workpeople successful	11.2 per cent.
Employers successful	22.2 per cent.
Compromise effected	66.0 per cent.
Indefinite	0.6 per cent.

The effect of the greater use of conciliatory methods is seen in the fact that the percentage of the disputes which resulted in a compromise is the highest for the past 10 years.

A DOCTOR'S STRENUOUS CAREER.

Dr. Charles Otto Gustavus Becker, who has died at Colchester in his 84th year (states a London journal) fought in the Mexican war, which lasted from 1845 to 1848, with the man who afterwards achieved fame as General "Stonewall" Jackson. In 1864 he was taking part in the Schleswig-Holstein campaign, and in the course of it he was cut down in a cavalry charge while attending to a wounded man and taken prisoner by the Danes. He was also wounded in the Crimean War, where he served on the staff of Omar Pasha, and rendered excellent service in the cholera camp at Varna. When the Crimean War broke out he was principal medical officer at Colchester, and he subsequently returned to that town, where he remained in medical practice until two years ago.

Probably the oldest elector to record his vote during the recent English general election was Major Edward Ledwich Osbaldeston-Mitford, of Mitford, Northumberland, who exercised his franchise in the Hexham Division. Major Osbaldeston-Mitford was 99 last October.

COUNTRY NEWS

SOUTH COAST.

CLIFTON, Friday.

Heavy rain set in on Wednesday night. The streets are flooded, all the roads are in a dreadful condition, and it will take thousands of pounds to restore them to the condition they were in prior to the recent severe storm. The Cliff-road is strewn with earth and boulders from the cliffs which overhang the roadway, and the heavy rain coming on top of the fallen debris has converted the whole stretch of road into a quagmire. It is now practically impassable for vehicle traffic, and dangerous for any traffic, as the rain has caused a large quantity of stone to become loosened on the various ledges of the high cliffs, and very little is required to precipitate it on to the road. Many of the residents at Clifton new mine preferred to risk prosecution, and come through the Clifton railway tunnel to walking round via the Cliff-road. To-day's rain has caused a great falling off of passenger traffic on the Illawarra lines. Usually on holidays this district is thronged with tourists, but to-day very few visited here, and those who did venture out returned by the next train.

THE HOSPITALS.

PARKES, Friday.

At the annual meeting of subscribers to the Parkes District Hospital on Wednesday the report presented showed that 349 patients (including 65 outdoor) had received attention. The number of operations was 76. The income for the year exceeded the expenditure by £150.

WAGGA, Friday.

At the annual meeting of the Wagga District Hospital, it was reported that the actual credit balance was £618. The total money received during the year was £1700, and the Government subsidy £1157, which, together with about £300 from paying patients, made a total of £3148, the largest sum on record received in one year. The expenditure for the year totalled £2120, and the number of patients treated was 657. The total cost of the new building was £15,663, of which £8480 was received from the Government in the form of grants.

MUNICIPAL.

MOSS VALE, Friday.

At the fortnightly meeting of the council a communication was received from the Fire Brigades Board notifying the council that the annual assessment was fixed at £147, and asking for their share to be forwarded. This amount is an increase of £30 on last year's assessment, and it was decided by the council to protest, and to inquire into the cause of the increase. The town clerk submitted a report on the state of the finances on the completion of the first triennial period, showing a credit balance of £1090.

BLAYNEY, Friday.

Mr. C. W. Oakes spoke here on Thursday night to a good audience against the Federal referendum.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

A fire occurred on Thursday in a five-roomed house, Lane-street, owned by J. Heron, and occupied by several bachelors. The ceilings of three rooms were slightly damaged, but the fire was soon extinguished. The contents were not insured.

COLLARENDABRI, Friday.

A young man named Boyd took ill on his selection on the Watercourse a few days ago. His brother went out to run in a horse for the purpose of bringing him into town for medical treatment. The horse he was riding bolted over a wire fence, the rider being rendered unconscious, and was found lying in the bush about two hours afterwards. He subsequently revived sufficiently to bring his brother into town.

SINGLETON, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hyde left Singleton on Wednesday on a visit to England. Prior to his departure, Mr. Hyde was the recipient of a handsome present from the Singleton cricket club.

WALCHA, Friday.

Several local pastoralists are preparing to visit the old country in order to witness the King's coronation.

THE BLIND WORKER.

A VISIT BY THE PRIME MINISTER.

During a visit to the Industrial Blind Institution in William-street yesterday the Prime Minister was introduced to the men employed in making matting.

"Who is this?" said one of the blind workers as Mr. Fisher went forward to shake the man heartily by the hand.

"This is Mr. Fisher," said the Manager of the institution.

"What Fisher? The Queensland miner?" said the blind man.

The Prime Minister reflected for a moment, and then said:—"Yes; Fisher that was in the Queensland Parliament."

"Oh, you are the Prime Minister. Give us your hand, old man. I am glad you are at the top of the tree. I was a miner myself."

At the adjoining machine was a man whom the manager described as the champion tradesman of the room.

The Prime Minister was delighted to discover the dexterity with which the man, without his sight, used his hands in the process of matmaking.

Mr. Fisher visited the various branches of the institution, and expressed pleasure at all he witnessed. "There is one thing," he remarked, "that I admire about this work, and that is its solidity. It's plain, good, honest work, faithfully executed, and that's everything. With respect to helping these people, personally I favour a bounty, but of course I must submit the matter to my colleagues, and these gentlemen in Parliament," pointing to Mr. Catts, who accompanied him, "will also have something to say about the matter."

For some days a conference of the managers of the blind industrial institutions of the Commonwealth has been sitting in Sydney, and these gentlemen are formulating a scheme to absorb the blind in the different institutions, and thus keep the blind beggars from the streets. It is proposed to open up fresh avenues of employment—even to establish a college of music—and the Federal Government will be asked to assist. The Lord Mayor of Melbourne has decreed that the blind shall not be permitted to beg in the streets of Melbourne, but the difficulty is that in the blind industrial institutions of the Commonwealth better conditions are required for the inmates, and uniformity of action is sought. The present conference will formulate the scheme, which will go before the committees of the various institutions in the States and also in New Zealand. There is no complaint as to the institution in Sydney. It has 103 blind people at work, all of whom are supporting themselves. The output of work last year was £9000, and the wages paid to the blind exceeded £5000; but it is to bring up the kindred institutions in other States to the same level of usefulness that the conference is being held.

Professor Anderson Stuart and Mr. Louis Phillip, members of the committee, accompanied the Prime Minister on his tour yesterday.

COMO WATER FRONTAGES, 10/- FT.

What do you think of that? Blocks with 50ft absolute frontage to George's River, handy to Como station, 10s a foot. Look at the terms, too—£1 down, 10s monthly. These blocks are on BY THE WATER ESTATE, one of the most desirable week-end properties near Sydney.

BY THE WATER ESTATE fronts George's River some ten minutes' pull from the station. The water frontage blocks include all kinds—sandy beaches, low-level frontages, and rocky bluffs. Such blocks are not to be had elsewhere—no wonder inquiry is keen and the blocks are selling freely. Better run down to Como and look over this estate—you will be glad you did. Plans free from the managing agents.

BANKSTOWN LOTS, 6/6 FOOT.

What do you think of an offer like that? Lots at Bankstown, on the Belmore Line, at under 6s 6d a foot.

These Blocks are on GREENACRE PARK ESTATE, which occupies the only really good position in this coming suburb. It is right at the Station, on both sides, just 35 minutes from the heart of Sydney.

The Blocks have 132ft frontage by the exceptional depth of 330ft (full acres). The price is £42 10s, under 6s 6d foot. Terms £1 deposit, 10s monthly. Managing Agents:—

RIGHT AT CRONULLA BEACH.

The property that will increase most in value as a result of the early opening of the Sutherland to Cronulla tram line is KEY OF CRONULLA ESTATE. This splendid business and week-end estate is right at the terminus of the new tram, and within a minute of Cronulla's glorious surf beach. Gunnamatta Bay, with its fishing and its facilities for boating and sailing, is close to the estate. All the new shops that will spring up there as soon as the tram is running will be built on Key of Cronulla. Values MUST increase. 40ft lots, now 40s a foot. Terms: £3 deposit, 10s monthly.

IT'S SIMPLY MARVELLOUS

how all the land around the Haberfield tram, and lying between the Long Cove Canal and the Iron Cove Creek, in the Borough of Ashfield has been taken up and built upon. You have recognised that for yourself. But are you aware that the only land left in that area that is now available at anything like the old prices consists of a few lots in the Dobroyd Park Estate? You didn't know it? Well, you had better awaken to the fact quickly if you want a block. They are all good Lots, and right in the midst of projected improvements. They are Torrens Title, each 50ft by 150, and the terms are easy enough for anybody. Mind! They are the only ones available in the locality at the price. You had better be sharp if you want one, and get a plan from THE HAYMARKET P.L.B. AND I. CO., LTD., 750 GEORGE-STREET, HAYMARKET.

ST. KILDA POINT, SANS SOUCI.

The drawback to this beautiful Marine Suburb is that a lot of the land is low-lying. We mentioned this in an advertisement just before the Auction last Saturday. In to-day's papers you might have noticed that the country between the tram line and Lady Robinson's Beach yesterday presented the appearance of a huge inland lake. On the St. KILDA side they were all high and dry, overlooking this saturnalia of cold water. There is one part of SANS SOUCI, and one part only, which is above weather considerations, and that is ST. KILDA, which is an ideal place for a Marine Suburb. The Beautiful Homes are all on the one side, the ST. KILDA side. Considering the situation and surroundings there is no better or cheaper land around the city. There are eleven quarter-acre Lots left for Sale, and if you get a plan and inspect to-day you can see that they are ideal sites, and beyond weather considerations, and simply dirt cheap at the money asked for them. Title Torrens. Terms Easy.

THE HAYMARKET P. L., B., AND I. CO., LTD., 750 GEORGE-STREET, HAYMARKET.

KENSINGTON: CLOSE IN—CONVENIENT.

Kensington, the suburb of beautiful homes, at the Eastern Gates of the city, is growing faster than any other of Sydney's suburbs. This growth is a direct result of the many advantages that Kensington suburb—and KENSINGTON ESTATE—offer you. Two of these will suffice to-day.

1. KENSINGTON ESTATE is close in—is on the 2d tram section, 20 mins. from the G.P.O. Could you find any desirable allotments closer in than that?

2. KENSINGTON ESTATE is conveniently located. It adjoins Kensington Golf Links and Moore Park—is close to Centennial Park, the Show Ground, and Sydney Cricket Ground. Coogee Beach is within 10 minutes' tram ride—the fare is one penny. The Oxford-street Shopping District is a penny section away.

Fine 50ft lots, 50/ a foot. Six years' terms. See Mr. Moore, Resident Manager of the Estate, at his office, corner Todman-avenue and Lenthall-street. He will show you over the Estate and explain the easy terms on which the vendors will build for purchasers.

INVEST YOUR SAVINGS WISELY.

Double your savings by investing them in desirable real Estate. Here is a splendid investment—one we can recommend—RIVERSIDE HEIGHTS ESTATE, AUBURN. This fine Property adjoins the New Abattoirs at Homebush Bay. Any lot you select at present prices will double your savings within the next year or so. The Abattoirs, when completed, will require over 1000 men in all departments. These men must have homes—many must be built on this Estate. Choice Lots, £25 each. Terms: £1 down, and 10/ monthly. The Cottage you seek in the suburb you'll like.

Whether you purpose purchasing a house or not, there is so much unusual merit and beauty about a Haberfield Cottage that it at once impels your interest and creates a desire to own it.

They are places of quite distinctive design, built on original lines, embodying all the most desirable features of pretentious mansions. They are away ahead of the times in architecture, construction, decoration, and interior effects.

And these beautiful homes are situated in an ideal suburb. Recreation reserves, tennis courts, bowling greens, swimming baths, and the splendid "lay-out" of the whole suburb make it practically a huge garden. All the streets are tree-lined, and the fine undulating nature of the whole suburb lends itself admirably to the carrying out of this Garden Suburb scheme—a scheme in which every property-holder has a co-operative interest.

Haberfield stands in strong contrast to Sydney. It points the way to fuller enjoyment of life, splendid investment for your money, and makes it easy to OWN the cottage you want in a suburb you like. A pleasant tram ride of 30 minutes, of 10 minutes by "through" train to Summer Hill, and then a few minutes' walk brings you into your home from the city.

COME OUT THIS AFTERNOON. All the new cottages are thrown open for inspection, a motor car is ready to take you round, and salesmen will be pleased to give you fullest particulars. You incur not the slightest obligation to purchase by inspecting and obtaining information. It is because of the want of knowing ALL about Haberfield—"The Place of Beautiful Homes"—that you do not own a charming Haberfield Cottage NOW. The terms are easy. Ask for booklet.

LOT 1.

IMPORTANT PROPERTY SALE AT GOULBURN,
on
WEDNESDAY, 22nd FEBRUARY, at 3 o'clock.

1721 ACRES. BURRANGURRALONG. 1721 Acres.

O. H. FURNER and CO., Ltd., in conjunction with DE LAURET and CO., have received instructions from the Estate of the late Mr. George Faithfull to sell by auction, on WEDNESDAY, 22nd February, at 3 o'clock,

The Valuable and Well-known Property,
BURRANGURRALONG,
situated 3 miles from the city of Goulburn.

This property was until recently the family home of the late Mr. Andrew Gibson, and was sold to Mr. George Faithfull a few months before his death.

The Estate comprises an area of 1721 acres of freehold land, with one of the finest palatial residences out of Sydney, having extensive grounds, with avenues of choice trees and shrubs, and a beautiful stretch of river at the foot of the enclosed land to house, making the whole surroundings most picturesque. The rooms are large and lofty, with every convenience for comfort.

Splendidly built stables, coach or motor house.

The land comprises a fine stretch of river flats, good grazing and agricultural land, eminently suitable for breeding crossbreds.

This Property is for Absolute Sale, and the Auctioneers will be pleased to show buyers over it.

LOT 2.

SOUTH HILL.

O. H. FURNER and CO., Ltd., have received instructions from the Executors of the late William Chisholm to sell by auction, on WEDNESDAY, 22nd FEBRUARY, at 3 o'clock,

The above desirable Property.

South Hill stands on an eminence, almost overlooking the City of Goulburn, with a commanding view of Gundary Plains, and surrounding country.

AREA OF LAND, 80 ACRES, on which is built a beautiful Suburban Home, 2 stories and balcony, with every convenience for a Gentleman's Residence. Splendid garden, and the land is subdivided into useful paddocks.

We can specially recommend this Property to anyone desirous of living in a city with a splendid climate. Four hours trip to the metropolis, and a great possibility of making the property interest returning.

Inspection invited.

LOT 3.

SALE OF ONE OF THE BEST BUTCHERING AND SLAUGHTERING ESTABLISHMENTS IN THE STATE.

O. H. FURNER and CO., Ltd., Goulburn, have received instructions from the Mortgagees in Mr. J. M. Slocombe's Estate,

TO SELL BY AUCTION,
at their Rooms, Auburn-street,
WEDNESDAY, 22nd FEBRUARY, at 3 o'clock,

All that Splendid Frontage in Auburn-street, being Lots 4 and 5 of Subdivision of Allotments 14, 15, 16, and 17, of Section 1, City of Goulburn, containing in all 1 rood 7 perches, having a frontage of about 66 feet to Auburn-street, upon which are erected splendidly built premises, utilised by Mr. John Slocombe in the butchering business,

Undoubtedly these are the most up-to-date premises in the city, with every requirement necessary for the carrying on of an extensive business, and are eminently suitable for a butchering business, hotel, or any general business.

The building is brick, with 18in walls, splendidly appointed shop, with a fine residence of 10 rooms, large balcony, bathroom, laundry, kitchen, etc. The outhouses are substantially built of brick, and include cart sheds, stables, and icehouse. Everything is in first-class order and repair.

SLAUGHTER YARDS,

comprising an area of 303 acres 3 roods 5 perches, being Lots 34, 35, 36, 37, and 38, Subdivision of Garoorigang Estate, and Lots 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15 of Subdivision of 200 acres of the same estate.

These slaughter yards have long been recognised as the most up-to-date outside of the metropolis. A lot of expense has been incurred by Mr. Slocombe in making these yards all they should be, and every facility and convenience necessary for the working of abattoirs will be found here.

The land, of 303 odd acres, is splendidly situated, partly in and partly outside the municipality, but almost adjoining the Goulburn Sale Yards. The land is well subdivided, and comprises excellent grazing paddocks, with small areas of good cultivation. There are also some of the finest outlooks of the city to be found on the land, and should be a most valuable area for subdivision. The two properties are in the market for Sale, and Metropolitan and Country Butchers, Speculators, and others are invited to inspect.

Goulburn is progressing rapidly, and an investment of those properties must be remunerative.

FOR SALE.

TO WAREHOUSEMEN, MANUFACTURERS, AND OTHERS.

PART OF THE PALMER ESTATE IN TWO BLOCKS, REGENT AND LEE STREETS, CITY.

That Magnificent Estate known as "THE VINE," occupied for 20 years by F. Arnold, Monumental Mason, having a frontage of 85 feet to Regent and Lee streets.

There are 10 well-built Houses on the rear block, and one substantial House on the block frontage Regent and Lee streets. The land is divided by a lane, the whole being bounded on the south by Outram-street, and on the west by Kensington-street (Tooth's Brewery).

The position of the property is unparalleled, and is within a stone's throw of the Railway Station. It also presents a bold and aggressive front to the many thousands of travellers who use the trains daily, and is worth a fortune, if only for advertising purposes.

A strip, containing about 5 perches, was recently resumed by the City Council, at a cost of £1265, for the widening of Regent-street, which is now 100 feet wide.

Buyers are not offered the bare bones of a 50 years' lease, but the property may be purchased right out for £8500 cash.

Brock's Surf Beach Estate.

Quite a number of prospective buyers braved the pouring rain of Thursday rather than miss securing the superb beach frontages and other splendid week-end lots on BROCK'S SURF BEACH ESTATE. But it was decided to postpone the sale till NEXT SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4. If you are in the market for some of the very finest week-end lots ever offered in Sydney you should attend the Sale. BROCK'S ESTATE is at Mona Vale, in the beautiful Pittwater district, between Narrabeen and Newport.

AUCTION NEXT SATURDAY—FEBRUARY 4.

The Auction will be held at 4 p.m. Coaches leave Manly at intervals from 12.30 to 2.30 p.m. Afternoon tea will be provided. Return coach tickets at this office, 2/6. Tickets unused on Thursday will be available next Saturday.

BROCK'S ESTATE fronts one of the best and safest surfing beaches on the Manly to Newport Coast. It adjoins a fine nine-hole golf course and a spendidly equipped hydro. The main coach road passes the estate. Along this road the Newport tram, now being so strongly agitated for, will pass. The inquiry for this estate is so keen that we expect to dispose of a great deal of it by auction. Better come out Plans and Booklets from the managing agents.

IMPORTANT AUCTION SALE

OF

MAGNIFICENT PASTORAL & AGRICULTURAL ESTATE IN HIGHLY FAVOURED DISTRICT.

GOLDSBROUGH, MORT, & COMPANY, LTD.,

SYDNEY,

IN CONJUNCTION WITH

MESSRS. ZEITLER AND HOYLE OF SYDNEY,

have received instructions from the Trustees of the late WILLIAM MONTAGU ROTHERY, and of the late ST. GEORGE FREDERIC ROTHERY, to offer by PUBLIC AUCTION,

AT THE ROYAL EXCHANGE, BRIDGE-STREET, SYDNEY,

ON THE 17th DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1911, AT 3 P.M.,

THAT MAGNIFICENT AND WELL-KNOWN ESTATE,

"CLIEFDEN."

SITUATION:—The homestead is within 4 miles, and the boundary about 1 mile, from Waugoola Railway Siding, on the Blayney-Harden line, 20 miles from Cowra, and 15 miles from Carcoar.

The country comprised in this Estate consists of gently undulating Box forest country, and rich, deep river flats of the very best description of lucerne land. The greater part of the back country is high-class agricultural soil, and the balance sound and fattening sheep country, suitable for the production of a high class of wool.

The whole Estate is permanently and very abundantly watered by the Belubula River, Limestone Creek, Liscombe Poole Creek, Davis Creek, Sugarloaf Creek, Copper Mine Creek, permanent springs, and large tanks and dam. The average rainfall is 26 inches.

The improvements are most complete. Nearly the whole area has been ringbarked, and has been subdivided into 41 paddocks. The whole Estate is wire-netted. The homestead buildings comprise a very comfortable brick house of 11 rooms, brick kitchen, wool shed for 14 shearers, brick wool-room, 60 feet square, coachhouse, and harness room, stables, store-room, butcher's shop, hay lofts, 3 stone men's huts, shearers' huts, and kitchen, and rouseabouts' huts. There are all necessary drafting yards, situated in convenient position on the Estate.

The Auctioneers have great confidence in recommending investors to inspect this choice and highly-improved property, the greater portion of which has been in the Rothery family for over 80 years, and is now only submitted to auction in terms of the wills of the late owners, and for purposes of distribution under the provisions thereof.

The prospective value of the lands of this Estate for subdivision is very great. There is a large area of deep soil frontage believed to be equal to anything in the State for lucerne [illegible]. [illegible] offered in one lot.

The Estate consists of about:—

Ac.	r.	p.
17,900	1	20	FREEHOLD.
8,141	1	0	CONDITIONALLY PURCHASED LANDS.
2,984	3	0	CONDITIONALLY LEASED LANDS.
686	0	0	ANNUALLY LEASED LANDS.
94	0	0	SPECIAL LEASE.

It will be noted that the district is a particularly favoured one in regard to climate, average rainfall, and convenience of access by rail to the metropolitan and other principal markets of this State and Victoria.

TERMS:—25 per cent. cash, and the balance by five equal payments at one, two, three, four, and five years, bearing interest at 5 per cent. payable half-yearly.]

THE BOTTLE-NECK

at the Redfern Station has been the source of much worry to the Railway Department, and has tended largely to block settlement in many places. No line has suffered more in this respect than the Illawarra Suburbs. That line is now to be quadrupled, and the men are already at work on it. What does this mean? A greatly improved service to these suburbs, and greatly increased land values. In fact, values are rising rapidly in contemplation, and will be much higher when the new service becomes an accomplished fact. NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY.

THE HAYMARKET P.L.B. and I. CO., Ltd., will sell by PUBLIC AUCTION EIGHT CHOICE SITES, right at the BANKSIA STATION, between Arncliffe and Rockdale, on SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18th NEXT, at 3 p.m., on the Ground. These Lots are good ones, right at a Railway Station, in a closely populated district, and are safe buying. There are frontages to Rocky Point-road, Kimpton, Lauff, and Rockdale streets, and two or three of them are right at the railway gates, and particularly adapted for business purposes. The TITLE is TORRENS, and the terms are the easiest.

AUCTION SALE, on the GROUND, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18th, at 3 p.m.; and plans and particulars may be obtained from the HAYMARKET P.L.B. and I. CO., Ltd., 750 George-street, Haymarket. Telephone, 707 Central.

THE RECIPE
for perpetual ignorance is:—
Be satisfied with your opinion and content with your knowledge.
Some think they know all about VIAVI.
Do you?
VIAVI work is educational and curative.
The Education it gives does not merely teach people what they do not know.
It teaches them how to behave as they do NOT behave when in search of Health.
It trains them in good exercise of THE WILL, to put forth the proper effort to make themselves well by proper use of the Mental, Physical, and Material Aids in which we instruct by precept and example.
Our Talks are worth hearing!
Our Literature worth reading!
Our Thoughts worth practising!
For we think, express, and practise
HEALTH!

WE CLOSE AT ONE TO-DAY.

HIGH-GRADE SEWING MACHINES,
AT NOCK AND KIRBY'S
FOR £4/17/6 AND £4/15/6.

The price is revolutionary—gauged by the prices asked for sewing machines hawked round, from door to door and all over the country.

But the machines are GOOD, mind you—perfectly made for years of hard wear, and guaranteed by the maker—paying more won't buy you better.

Come and examine them—see the work they do—the heaviest as well as the lightest.
Read this description of the BUSY BEE TREADLE MACHINE.

They are set up on a handsomely-designed black japanned iron stand, with table and case of polished oak or walnut. When not in use the machinery drops out of sight into a recess, and the table extension folding over gives one a writing desk or stand ornamental enough to earn a place in any well-furnished room.

Four-drawer Machine (two each side, one centre), polished oak or walnut case— £4/17/6. Three-drawer Machine, table and case of polished oak or walnut— £4/12/6. Portable Sewing Machine, identical with above, but treadle and table replaced by neat iron base on short legs. With stained walnut cover— £2/12/6.	Complete set of attachments for hemming, quilting, etc.—Pressure regulator for light or heavy work. Accurate stitching at any distance from edge of cloth. Ample provision under arm for bulky work—double lockstitch that never unravels. Self-threading cylinder shuttle—automatic bobbin winder—self-setting needle—Number of stitches to inch can be instantly regulated.

WE'LL SEND THESE MACHINES ANYWHERE.

Yes; to any part of Australia at these prices, plus freight. Enclose with your order remittance for machine and freight.
Of course, we'll deliver free in city or suburbs.

VALAZE
FOR FRECKLES AND SUNBURN.

It is at this time of the year more than at any other that Valaze proves its worth as a nourisher, cleanser, and beautifier of the complexion. With our fierce winds and duststorms some definite treatment is necessary.

Prevention is better than cure. A course of treatment with the Valaze preparation will purify, strengthen, and beautify your skin, and so enable it to withstand all onslaughts of the coming summer.

Valaze will improve the worst skin in one month. Will eradicate pimples, blotches, freckles, wrinkles, tan, and sallowness. Valaze stands for the most perfect complexion preparation that Science has ever had to her credit.

The skin that feeds on Valaze can bear the brunt of all weather and climatic conditions of heat, cold, and of atmospheric damp and dry. Valaze, in jars, 3s 6d, 6s 6d, and 6d postage.

NOVENA SUNPROOF CREAM is an excellent auxiliary of Valaze, inasmuch as it protects the skin when out of doors from the beauty-marring effect of the sun, wind, and heat. It shields the complexion from the elements, and prevents freckles, sunburn, tan, and sallowness, and imparts a soft, fresh appearance to the skin. 2s and 3s 6d.

VALAZE FRECKLE PASTE, Mlle. Rubinstein's new remedy for dark and obstinate freckles. From the first application the skin commences to whiten, the freckles fade, and all discolouration disappears. 5s 8d posted.

NOVENA CERATE, a delightful preparation for summer use. The most natural skin cleanser in the world. Should be applied instead of washing the skin during the day. Cleanses, nourishes, whitens, and beautifies the skin. 2s and 3s 6d.

VALAZE POWDER, a pure dainty powder for greasy coarse skins; and Novena Poudre an excellent powder for dry parched skins. 2s and 3s a box.
All Valaze preparations obtainable from HELENA RUBINSTEIN PROP., Ltd., Valaze Institute, 158 Pitt-street, Sydney.

MISS BISHOP'S CAKES

are so good that they could not be better. The choicest, purest, and best quality ingredients only are used—and these are mixed and baked by a process which no other pastrycook has succeeded in emulating. Dainty—light—digestible, and deliciously pleasing to the taste, they stand alone in a class by themselves.

"VIAVI," WHAT IT IS.

THE HISTORY OF VIAVI IS A NATURAL ONE.

IS THE RESULT OF LONG, CAREFUL STUDY BY AN INTELLIGENT PHYSICIAN.

Viavi has proved to be an efficient assistant to Nature in developing and building up the body, eliminating diseased conditions, and restoring nutritive balance, and, therefore, HEALTH.

Viavi reaches the blood and nerves, making use of the absorptive power of the skin, mucous membranes, and, therefore, more directly than by way of the stomach.

The Viavi Organisation is established the world over, employing over 15,000 representatives, daily talks being given at all Viavi Rooms, explaining free to all "HOW" and "WHY" Viavi cures are permanent.

Every right-minded man and woman is made welcome, and incurs neither charge nor obligation for the knowledge which is gladly given.

Viavi stands for clear complexions, bright eyes, wholesome bodies, radiating health, and happiness.

VIAVI IS NOT FOR INDISCRIMINATE SALE,

but its use is permitted for such conditions ONLY which hold out reasonable assurance for benefit to follow.

Good literature on the subject or full information is at your service.

WE HAVE A LENS
FOR EVERY SIGHT.

Long sight, short sight, weak sight of every description can be remedied immediately by one of our special glasses.
We have

KRYPTOK LENSES The latest Bifocal lens—where the reading lens is enclosed within the distance lens, not merely attached to it, and liable to chip, collect dust, irritate the eyes, and finally drop off. TORIC LENSES— that give a far greater angle of vision than any glasses previously made. CHLOROPHYLLE LENSES— a boon to outside workers whose eyes feel the need of slightly tinted glasses in addition to an improvement in focal power.	Ask our advice (free of charge) on your eyesight. We do all our business personally or by letter. We have no country travellers.

MY METHOD

FOR THE TOTAL DESTRUCTION OF SUPERFLUOUS HAIR AND MOLES.

The writer of this advertisement went "home" to London, Paris, and Vienna to study the last developments for the total destruction of Superfluous Hair, and after making every inquiry in the beauty centres of Europe, found out that it is absolutely dangerous to employ either Radium or X Rays for Superfluous Hair, since it destroys the whole structure of the skin to such an extent that the disfigurement is worse than the complaint. This is the reason why I prefer "my own method," and offer you the first treatment absolutely free, with a written guarantee to pay the sum of one hundred pounds in case of failure.
